As you probably know by now, the Bay of Quinte Theatre Managers' Association which embraces Belleville, Picton, Napanee and Trenton is responsible for the starry array of talent which will appear on the Variety Show. The entire proceeds will go to Variety Village, a compact institution that caters exclusively to the needs of crippled young citizens. It is situated on the eastern outskirts of Toronto and is financed by the Variety Club of the Queen City, a service organization, and proceeds such as the entertainment being offered here November 17.

The line-up if one can call it such, between theatre men and Variety is that Variety originated in Pittsburgh twenty-five years ago when a group of showmen responded to the call of a mother to take care of her child. The result was, she met an eager show of ambition but the warm pulsating act of tender hearts who looked for the moment no further than using a kindly deed for a helpless infant.

Later eleven young men of the amusement world met in a room in the William Penn Hotel in Pittsburgh and decided to carry on the good work. They acquired the name "Variety" as being descriptive of the men of the club representing all branches of show business. The club now has "tents" as the branches are known, in thirty-four cities of the world including Toronto.

But their work started in an unexpected fashion. At first glance and on afternoon a short time later, Jean O'Healey, manager of the Sheridan Square Theatre, Pittsburgh, stopped into the theatre nursery after the matinee was finished, and was fell on as the infant occupant of the bassinette slothes. Next to the baby was a paper package containing five clean diapers. A note was attached to the package.

It said, "Please take care of my baby. Her name is Catherine. I can no longer take care of her. My husband is out of work. She was born on Thanksgiving Day. I have heard of the goodness of show business and I pray to God you will look after her. Signed 'A Heart-Broken Mother.'"

The club adopted the baby. She was named Catherine Variety Sheridan.

Variety Clubs wherever they are located have become a dynamic part of the community. They have helped restore hope to otherwise hopeless lives, and are engaging in humanitarian activities designed to alleviate misfortunes that be fall the underprivileged or handicapped child.

We hope the foregoing explanation answers the question of the curious one. It can be readily seen, why the members of the Bay of Quinte Theatre Managers' Association, are taking such a deep interest in the activities of Toronto's Variety Village. For they are show people engaged in show business, and are taking their part in a humanitarian gesture that all whole, healthy people should support.

In sponsoring the Variety Show here on November 1 these men are not only assisting something for nothing. They have secured the best stage and screen attractions available, all of them "top billing" to use theatrical parlance, in show business.

They say, and they should know, that the variety offering is one of the best ever brought to a Belleville audience. And . . . the "dramatis personae" would seem to substantiate their statement.

They hope a capacity "house" will greet the show. Performers will not only enjoy two hours of enjoyable entertainment, but will, through their presence, aid a very worthy humanitarian work.

With Jean Beliveau Injured 'Rocket' Joins Old Power Line; Leafs Hook Up With Boston

By The Canadian Press

The crippled Montreal Canadiens will try the old-tried-and-true remedy against Detroit Red Wings tonight.

Together again, by force of circumstances rather than popular demand, will be high-scoring Maurice Richard and crafty Elmer Lach, the 32-year-old centre who has had passes to the Rocket through most of his illustrious National Hockey League career.

Lach and Richard have played on different lines this season for the first time since the sharp-shooting right-winger joined the Habitants 11 years ago. Rookie Jean Beliveau moved into Elmer's spot between the Rocket and Bert Olmstead while Lach and Floyd Curry, Geoffrion and Eddie Mazur into a potent second line.

But Beliveau was taken out of Thursday night's tussle against Chicago Black Hawks with an injured ankle. Lach moved alone on the sidelines and leaving Lach and Ken Mosdell as the only healthy centres in camp.

May Call Mazzuck

So manager Dick Irvin reunited the Lach-Richard-Curry combination some and cast about for a suitable second-line centre. Fern Gauthier, Paul Masnick and Norm Dussault moved to Montreal Royals of the Quebec Hockey League but are not likely to get the call.

That left first Glen Mortimer and Detroit have taken lop-sided decisions from each other in their first two games of the 1953 campaign. The Canadiens won 4-1 at the Forum, but took a 5-0 shellacking in Detroit.

Boston Bruins, demoted to fifth place when they lost in New York Thursday night, visit the third-place Toronto Maple Leafs in Sunday night's second fixture.

All three are leech-like checkers and the new combination is calculated to provide rookie goaltender Johnny Bower with better protection against the top attacking threesomes of rival clubs.

The Leafs spend Sunday night at Detroit while the Bruins travel to Chicago for a date with the winless Black Hawks.

Eddie Mathews Sophomore King Of National

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Mathews, baseball's new home-run king, couldn't keep pace last season with Babe Ruth's great record but he did well enough to win the National League sophomore-of-the-year honors in a breeze.

The 22-year-old Milwaukee slugger, who poled 47 home runs to end Ralph Kiner's seven-year reign, was named on all but five of the 179 ballots cast by members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America in the annual Associated Press poll.

Only three other second-year men were named in the National. Outfielder Frank Thomas of Pittsburgh, who batted only .253 but smashed 30 home runs and drove in 102 runs, received three votes. The other two went to Jimmy Greengrass, Cincinnati outfielder, and Hoyt Wilhelm, New York Giants' relief hurler.

SHOCK TREATMENT

LONDON (CP)—Councillor R. Scott told the Royal Society for Preventing of Accidents that safety propaganda, will not succeed unless it hits people "smack in the eye." He said a dummy corpse with imitation blood should be displayed at every danger spot.

INVESTIGATE THEFT

KINGSTON, Jamaica (Reuters)—Police are investigating the theft of $21,500 from a mailbag during a customs examination. The money was in bundles of $100 bills.

GOOD START

CLACTON, England (CP)—Basil Bragg, 25, and Mary Wickham, his fiancee, will move into a bungalow after building a house they got married. Mary is tackling the "odd jobs" while Basil lays the bricks for the house, which they estimate will be worth at least double the £1,000 it is costing them.

Eskys Open Final at Home

EDMONTON — (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos will break precedent and play the first game of the WIFU Western Football Conference final at home.

Walter Byrnes of Edmonton, conference president, announced the first game of the best-of-three final will be played in Edmonton Nov. 7, the second Nov. 11 on the home field of the winner of the semi-final playoff and the third, if necessary, in Edmonton Nov. 14.

Since the best-of-three final started in 1949, the schedule winners have always opened the series away from home.

Saskatchewan, not Winnipeg will engage in a two-game, total-point semi-final series Oct. 28 and 31 with the winner getting the home field of the second-place finishers.

Byrnes also confirmed the champions of the Ontario Rugby Football Union will travel to the Prairies for the Grey Cup semi-final game at the home of the Western champions. In past years the ORFU champs met the Big Four champions in an Eastern semi-final.

Basketball Notes

The 2nd Annual Y.M.C.A. Youth Basketball House League, for members 11 to 18 years of age), starts on November 7th, at 7.30 p.m. Teams for the league will continue till the end of March, with two games played each Tuesday evening.

Another Basketball House League for Junior members (boys under 15 years of age), starts on Saturday, November 14th, at 2.00 p.m. This League too will continue through the winter months with games played every Saturday between 2.00 - 4.00 p.m. Emphasis during the first few weeks for this group will be on fundamentals, clarifying the rules and on coaching.

As a result of requests by a few young men, to add a third House League for those 18 years or age and over, the Sports Dept. of the Y.M.C.A. is calling an open meeting of all those interested, on Monday, October 26th, at 8.00 p.m., to discuss the possibility of conducting such a league. All young men and seniors interested in organized basketball are invited to attend this meeting. The number showing up at this meeting will determine whether there will be a league or not.

Remember When

By The Canadian Press

Joe DiMaggio, whose bat helped the New York Yankees to a fourth straight world series tilt, was voted the most valuable player in the American League 24 years ago today. That Yankee string ending in 1936 was eclipsed this season when Casey Stengel led the Yankees to their fifth straight world series title.

STAR PERFORMERS

LONDON (CP)—Five 24-inch garpike sent to the London zoo from the Quebec biological station are already favorites with visitors. The speed with which they seize a small fish at feeding time, turn it around until it's in line and then bolt it down, has made them a "star turn."

Lacrosse Low On Britain's Sports List

By Arch MacKenzie
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — They're still playing lacrosse in England, although chances are slim that Canada's great summer game will ever pack Wembley Stadium. If the old Indian game achieves that hallmark of popularity, the teams could be female.

Speaking for the male side of the sport, publicity man Cosford Cooper of the South of England Men's Lacrosse League agrees "we're down at the bottom of the sports list." But he and his small group of devotees are confident they're holding its own.

About 28 lacrosse clubs are clustered in the London and Manchester areas, fielding some 60 teams, counting of squads at Cambridge, Oxford, Manchester and schools in the north are more prone to favor Canadian-type sports courses, but their number is far exceeded by girls' schools where the popularity of lacrosse is topped only by field hockey.

English game is field lacrosse and it's played through the winter, ending up with a north-south final for the Iroquois Cup. The opposition, of which Cosford can call on Canadian Rhodes scholars, also have a trophy and award a half blue to team members.

Played at Lord's

Few would consider that cricket grounds would be suitable for lacrosse. In most things they don't, but the north-south lacrosse classic and all-star team vs The Rest are played at Lord's, London's historic home of first-class cricket.

Lord's has figured in English lacrosse ever since the N. W. G. Rovers of Montreal sold the Canadian sport in this country by bringing Canadian Indians over in 1876 and 1883. There had been a tour in 1867 as well.

Previous to that, the game was copied by British soldiers from the French or Indians, or introduced at a few English schools by Canadian students.

Lacrosse clubs here would like to get another Canadian tour. They haven't played against Canada since the 1928 Olympics when the Canadians were lost, although United States teams have been over here twice since the Second World War.

One of the Canadian touches still evident in the English game, which operates under the rules of the Canadian Lacrosse Union, is a number of Canadian-made lacrosse sticks from an Indian reservation at Cornwall island, Ont. Some of these are purchased every year.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

By The Associated Press

SKATING TONIGHT AT THE ARENA

Humez Blasted By Durando

PARIS — With a smashing left hook to the jaw, Hugger Ernie Durando of Bayonne, N.J., knocked out highly favored Charles Humez of France in the sixth round last night at the Palais des Sports.

Humez, world's fourth ranking middleweight contender, failed to rise from his knee in time to beat the count. But he immediately protested the referee's knockout verdict.

The Frenchman, who had lost a close decision to Randy Turpin of England for the European title at London on June 9, was leading three rounds to one, with one even, going into the sixth round.

After one minute of the sixth round, however, Durando staggered the stocky Frenchman with a hard right to the chin and followed with a solid left hook that floored Humez for the count. It was the first time in Humez' six-year career he had been knocked out.

Durando weighed 159½ pounds; Humez, 161.

Indians Edge Maroons 4-3; Move Into Lead

By The Canadian Press

Stratford Indians moved into sole possession of first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series Friday night by edging the second-place Chatham St. Clair Maroons 4-3.

Herve Dejordy scored the tie-breaker with only 39 seconds left to play in the game at Chatham. Stratford went ahead in the first period on George Aiken's goal. Mickey Roth and Tommy Walker added to the margin in the second period, with Jim Campbell tallying for Chatham.

Seven of the 10 penalties went to Stratford.

Eight teams are in action tonight with Windsor at Niagara Falls, Barrie at Owen Sound, Chatham at Hamilton and Stratford at Kitchener.

Softball Heads To Decide Junior Final

TORONTO. — An executive committee meeting of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association will convene in Hamilton Nov. 30 to decide the outcome of the Junior A final series between Oshawa Lake Seymours and Hamilton Community Centre.

The teams broke even in the first two games of the final playoff here Thanksgiving Day, Midnight Oct. 12, but were unable to get together for the deciding contest for the best-of-three series the following week.

Toronto convener, Mel Fraser, had requested to think Fraser, O.A.S.A. secretary, a default by Kirkland Lake for not appearing for a five o'clock game on the Tuesday. Fraser had instructed that the game be played at 2:30 p.m., in accordance with O.A.S.A. regulations which call for games to be played either two hours before sundown or two hours after.

Fraser, when contacted at his home in Hamilton yesterday, said no formal protest had been received either from the Dunlop team or from Dovercourt League President Phil Caldwell. The protest, if made, will stand or fall on the basis of either team's appearance at the 2:30 game, Fraser added.

GEOLOGIST DIES

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)— Prof. Maurice Lugeon, one of the world's foremost zeologists, died last night. He was 83.

Wildlife Research

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT, Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Sehnar Tables.

Every now and then I find myself involved in an argument. Believe me, it isn't because I like to argue. However, I do happen to own a rather exaggerated sense of fair play, and it goes against the grain to hear a man or a group of men unfairly accused or condemned.

This particular argument happened, of all places, in the pleasant lobby of the Rod and Gun club at Everglades, Florida. I was sitting there, minding my own business, when a stranger plumped himself down in the chair next to me.

Regardless of the fact that I was reading a good book with what should have been accused an evil-ent enjoyment, he asked me if I had been fishing. I answered, politely but briefly, that I had. The next thing I knew, I had the role of unwilling audience of fishing photographs.

The fellow had a walletful of them, taken at camps all over the United States and Canada. He handed them to me, one at a time, explaining each one in detail. When it came to the last one, I protested. Promised Land. It is my sincere and devout hope that an all-seeing Providence excludes therefrom all persons who carry with them a handful of dead-fish pictures.

Turns To Hunting

In due time, possibly half an hour later, the illustrated dead-fish lecturer began to run out of gas. He turned somewhat furtively to the neglected pages of my book, he started in on that thing, by showing pictures, praises be, had been left at home but that is no way stopped the flow of verbiage.

I was told about South Dakota, pheasants, Koffer pheasants, Mexican moose, ducks of the Mississippi delta, and so on, endlessly. At last —I was sure it would happen—he got around to wildlife. Now, wildlife didn't talk about much, the actual hunting. Instead he settled down to a scathing denunciation of the Conservation Departments of the various states.

Now I come from a deer state, one of the best—Pennsylvania. Being an outdoor writer, I make it my business to find out the whys and wherefores of deer management. It took only a very short time to learn that this fellow knew almost nothing of his subject matter.

I had about all I could take, anyway, and this groundless condemnation of hard-working game technicians was the last straw. I'm afraid I wasn't very polite. In any event, I blasted his ears back with enough facts and figures to give him plenty of food for thought. Then I retired to the solitude of my room, where a fellow could read without being bothered by displayers of dead-fish pictures.

Many Ignorant Critics

The sort of thing is in no way an isolated instance. Among the followers of the outdoor sports there are all too many amateur conservationists who know all the answers. Few, if any, of these verbose critics know what they are talking about but does that stop them from mouthing off? No indeed!

On the desk beside me lies a Fish and Wildlife publication titled "Waterfowl Populations and Breeding Conditions, Summer 1952." There are 303 pages in this report; each page 7-6 inches by 10 3-4. Its contents are made up, mostly, of 48 detailed reports from all parts of the United States and Canada.

To obtain the data for these reports, dozens of trained observers, or most of them entitled to write Ph.D. after their names, spent literally thousands of man-hours cruising the marshes or sitting in blinds, regardless of weather, watching birds.

The work is not sporadic in any sense. Instead, it is a steady job, some of the observation stations operating every day throughout the entire year. Now, instead of guessing, the seasons and legal shooting limits are fixed each year so that the Nation's gunners can harvest the surplus birds without endangering the basic supply.

Yet every now and then, you will hear loud and solid condemnation in a manner in which our conservation agencies conduct their affairs.

All Game Watched

Ducks are not the only game under constant study. All of our game birds and animals are watched, studied and counted. Food supply is taken into consideration. When the data has been collected and carefully reviewed, then—and not until then—are the shooting regulations decided upon.

Admittedly some of our wildlife research can stand improvement. That, however, is to be expected and in line with all forms of human endeavor. Gradually the fund of general knowledge increases and the methods used in obtaining this information are keeping pace in the improvement.

In the next time you hear one of these amateur conservation experts sounding off, you can be reasonably sure of one thing, namely, there stands a man who doesn't know what he is talking about.

Braves Clean Up Cool Million

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP) — Lou Perini, owner of Milwaukee Braves, has revealed the Braves made more than $1,000,000 profit in the club's first year at Milwaukee.

Perini said at the Milwaukee Association of Commerce annual dinner Thursday night the Braves lost "just a little bit over $1,000,000" in the last three years at Boston before the franchise was transferred to Milwaukee. He said the Milwaukee Baseball Co. set a National League attendance record of 1,826,397 this year, had completely wiped out that loss in one year's operation.

Argonauts, Rough Riders Are on Spot In Big Four Week-End Grid Battles

TORONTO — Toronto Argonauts and Ottawa Roughriders must be squirming with indecision as they contemplate the upcoming Big Four football week-end.

Each is fifty points behind Montreal Alouettes and Hamilton Tiger-Cats, the two teams favored to fight it out to produce the East's challenger for the Grey Cup.

Unless you wish to dabble in mathematics, you must admit that Argos and Roughriders have astronomidals task if they hope to supplant either or both of those teams Then there is always the question, is it worth it?

Even last place in the Big Four isn't to be scoffed at nowadays. The team finishing in last place has first crack at the college draft and will also be permitted a ninth import for the 1954 season. Nine imports, in case you hadn't noticed, didn't exactly handicap Alouette this season.

So the Argos and Roughriders with the stakes what they are it is more important to beat their brains out this week-end or to relax and keep in cash in on the sentiments of last place.

But then, anybody demand a pregame saliva test, Frank Clair's Argonauts are convinced that a playoff spot is still within their grasp. Naturally they have to whip Hamilton in Varsity Stadium this afternoon to make it possible.

The Roughriders will go into their game in Montreal Sunday afternoon with similar sentiments. If Argos and Roughriders lose how-ever they will watch the Grey Cup parade from the spectators' seats.

Tiger-Cats have already plotted the strategy they will employ to dispose of the Argos. Their plan to keep Nobby Wirkowski flat on his back most of the afternoon and thus remove the threat of his long passes.

This game will feature a re-union between Argos' Lily Curtis and Tiger-Cats' Rocky Mazza, both of whom exchanged verbal rights and lefts in a previous game. Both are still rather annoyed that they weren't permitted to settle their differences in a private fashion.

This is also an important week-end for Balmy Beach, Argos' farm team in the OFRU. Beaches travel to Sarnia Saturday and return home to meet Brantford Redskins in Maple Leaf Stadium Sunday afternoon.

The game in Sarnia is the big one for the Beach. At present they are tied with the Imperials, two points behind K-W Dutchmen. A win in Sarnia would put Balmy about contenders, last year's champions, from the running.

The Imps have only one remaining game after Saturday's tilt with Balmy. The RB's have two more, both with the winless Redmen.

For their game here with Redmen Sunday, Beach Coach Clair will introduce Miss Balmy Beach to the multitude. She is Bobbie Allison of Mt. Clemens, Mich. Bobbie also holds the title of Miss Red Feather. The way Balmy will also be in attendance.

The Western Intercollegiate concludes its schedule today with

Piersall Voted Best Sophomore

Nine second-year men received recognition on the 179 ballots cast by the experts. Sammy White, catcher for the Red Sox, received six votes. Two each went to outfielder Bob Hazle of Milwaukee and third baseman Andy Carey of Yankees. Single votes were cast for pitcher Hector (Skinny) Brown of the Red Sox and outfielder Billy Hoeft of the Tigers.

AT THE CAPITOL — Liberace, famed "Poet of the Piano", who is musical master-of-ceremonies of NBC Radio's musical and comedy feature "Merry Mirthmakers." On the radio show, the season's biggest laugh-getter, Merry Mirthmaker Jonathan Winters, appears each month. Keith Andes and Arthur Tunnicliff. Both hits are first showings on the screen. Monday for a three day run only.

Liberace, the "Pen of the Piano" whose musical success on TV, and in theatres, and night clubs rates him as America's most popular pianist, heads a versatile cast of stars in one of the season's most musical pictures, "MERRY MIRTH" a feature-length musical and comedy film "Merry Mirthquakes," now running in the screen of the Capitol theatre on Monday, October 26 for a three day engagement.

With Liberace acting as master of ceremonies in what is described as "an omnibus of mirth and melody," "Merry Mirthquakes" offers the motion picture patron sixty minutes of unravelled music comedy.

While playing the compositions of Chopin, Liszt and Strauss, Liberace lends his inimitable charm and personality as the backdrop in introducing three hilarious RKO Radio two-reel comedies.

Playing five selections by these notable composers which have been designed to appeal to all tastes, Liberace combines his keyboard virtuosity with clever introduction of top-flight stars of comedy. The combination is said to result in a comedy and musical treat for everyone.

The foregoing classical selections in "Merryquakes" are presented in such a manner as to add up to sixty delightful moments of mirth and melody.

On the same program and having its first Belleville showing Dick Powell's debuts as Director with "Split Second" and turns in a suspense drama which may rank as one of the season's finest thrillers. "Split Second" stars Stephen McNally, Alexis Smith, Keith Andes and Arthur Hunnicutt.

AT THE BELLE

Very few motion pictures in the history of film-making have received as careful advance preparation, research or loving care as has been lavished on Paramount's Technicolor production "Houdini", which moves into the Belle Theatre today, matinee daily.

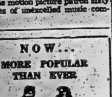
Produced by George Pal, this thrilling story of the world's greatest escape artist and daredevil, Harry Houdini, was in active preparation for more than a year and was doi pal before the cameras until every phase of the fabulous personality's career could be fully explored and every facet plumbed.

"Houdini's" producer George Pal and director George Marshall, after being highly enthusiastic over the scientific script presented to them by Phillip Yordan, had next to search for a sparkling, star combination to portray the roles of Bess and Harry Houdini. They came up with Hollywood's most exciting young romantic team, Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh.

This is the first time that the immensely popular young couple have appeared together on the screen, and all advance reports, it will not be their last. The supporting players were chosen with equal care and fidelity to type with Torin Thatcher heading the featured cast of Houdini's loyal assistant.

The world knew Harry Houdini as the greatest living escape artist. Not so generally well known is the dramatic love story of Harry and Bess Houdini.

As told via the incomparable talents of Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh, "Houdini" reportedly offers one of the most touching and tender love stories ever unfolded before the motion picture cameras. But the story of Houdini certainly does not end there, for here was a personality who was as colorful as any human being in modern history.



In "Houdini" all of the amazing stunts that Harry Houdini did in real life are duplicated with stunning authenticity. The dangers and suspense connected with the performing of these amazing escapes are vividly brought out with pulse-pounding vibrancy.

"Houdini" starting today at the Belle Theatre is the spectacularly filmed real life thrill story of the greatest daredevil of all time.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, OCT. 25, 1953

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Healthy activities, serenity of mind and soul — emphasized this day. Necessary duties should be done without complaint. Be grateful for all God's blessings, keep well the Sabbath.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Be mindful when making promises or agreements as that you will be able to keep them. Start today at church and you will have the right spirit and encouragement all day. Friendly rays.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Your Mercury and Mars aspects warn of irritability, contention in the air. By all means avoid both. Day can be pleasant, constructive; help keep it so. Pray.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — This day is quickly sandwiched in between two excellent planetary days so rest, relax and pray when you can. Have some wholesome fun, too. Daily tasks need not be hard. Lift up to you.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Be sociable and somewhat in between activities and entertainment favored. Caution is advised, however, home interests highly prized.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Social affairs, family gatherings, artistic professions and religious services among most favored. Be careful in signing papers, making promises. Take rest in leisure hours.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Good advice to Taurus. The more serious and agreeable you are today the better will you feel and the better others will co-operate with you. You will find comfort in prayer, good deeds.

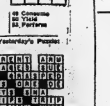
October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Be especially calm and reasonable. Contention is in the air and you should not become involved. No need to fret over responsibilities; do your best; pray for guidance and you will be all right.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Carefully scan plans for day and see if they meet with God's and family's favor. It won't be difficult to have a fruitful, wholesome time if you seek just that. Start with prayer.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Not over-stimulating nor unfriendly but some restful activity is advised. If you work, make it a pleasant day and time will pass quickly. Remember spiritual development spends success.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Your Uranus augurs for a satisfactory period if you start it right and keep up good work. Necessary tasks, home, family affairs first after religious services. Wholesome fun counts, too.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Your favorable Neptune rays now favor your personal interests and promising new openings; good for future security. Attend day's duties cheerfully and include church services.



YOU BORN TODAY like life and the great outdoors. You like humanity, too, and will do your share to better living conditions for all—if you live up to your innate characteristics. You are ambitious to earn a place in your community. You have gifts for (practical) work at a skilled trade or you may do well in an artistic field. Birthday: Georges Bizet, French composer. Also, Sabiniano Lord Macaulay, English essayist, statesman; Adm'l. Richard E. Byrd, Amer. explorer, aviator.

One-Third of U.S. Motorists Driving Pre-War Automobiles

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT (AP) — Nearly a dozen years after Pearl Harbor approximately one-third of all motorists in the United States are driving pre-war automobiles.

Investigation of statistics are about correct that means more than 14,000,000 cars are in use over-age. It also means the auto industry has a huge replacement market.

The industry, of course, counts heavily upon its replacement market for new car business. Most recent research indicates something like 5,000,000 cars are scrapped annually in the United States. Some of these are replaced by more recent model used cars.

The auto industry's sales experts say retail deliveries of 5,250,000 new cars next year may be expected.

Big Backlog

When production was resumed after the war there was a big backlog of unfilled orders that in some quarters of 1946 estimated as totalling up to 17,000,000 units. This was not a fact, no passenger cars were built from early 1942 to mid-1945.

At the same time the estimated backlog looked somewhat exaggerated. Yet production got under way slowly and it is more than possible the figure was not too far off. Every week the industry has built approximately 94,000,000 cars since the war. It will wind up this year with field stocks of about 500,000 cars.

All industry sources agree there is no backlog of unfilled orders now. There is unsatisfied demand but a substantial part of it is based on the desire to own something newer than last year's car. Actual need is fairly well represented in the vehicles overthis at the scrap pile.

Obsolete Vehicles

Aside from the replacement of obsolete vehicles the industry also counts upon a further increase in the number of families owning more than one automobile. Its spokesmen point out that 85 per cent of the families possessing cars in the United States own only one automobile.

Interesting also are figures designed to show that 17,000,000 Americans will reach the age of 65 and that nearly 30 per cent of the people between 60 and 64 years of age still don't drive.

These are just a few of the facts the industry calls to attention. It still is a large market for new cars aside from replacement needs generated. Yet production got under

Knows Enough To Go Home for Fuel

An electric robot "animal" resembling a tortoise is used by Dr. W. Grey Walker, of London, Eng., and his researchers into the nature and function of the brain. The "tortoise" are controlled by a mechanism which reproduces some of the elementary functions of the human brain. They are stimulated by light and touch so that a beam of light in a darkened room will draw the tortoise toward it and any obstacles in the machine's path will be rounded. If the machine is offered several alternative courses of light it will investigate each in turn, losing interest in each as it becomes too bright. Perhaps the most astonishing thing is that these machines can do is to return to their "hutch" and plug themselves into a battery charger when their portable batteries start to run down. Here Dr. Walter activates the tortoise by the beam of a flashlight.—Central Press Canadian

Gratuities, Rehab Grants Revoked Says Newspaper

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says today it has learned that Canadian servicemen who embarked for Korea after the cease fire will receive neither gratuities for overseas service nor discharge benefits such as clothing allowances and rehabilitation grants.

An Ottawa dispatch the newspaper says the cabinet, as an economy measure, passed an order-in-council Sept. 24 to cut off Oct. 21 practically all the extra compensation given those who volunteered for Korea.

"Consequently, those in Canada who volunteered for Korea between the cease fire date, July 26, and Oct. 14 (when the order-in-council was published in the Canada Gazette) have taken service in the Far East with a false notion of their terms of employment," the paper says.

In Ottawa, a defence department spokesman said notices have gone out to the men in Korea telling them the gratuities and discharge benefits will be cut off from Oct. 21. The decision makes conditions of service in Korea similar to those in Germany.

Canadian Ships Carry 1,659 Cargoes of Grain

PORT WILLIAM (CP)—Canadian ships carried a record 1,659 cargoes of grain out of the Canadian ports of Fort William and Port Arthur, the board of grain commissioners for Canada announced Friday.

Altogether, Canadian, United States and foreign vessels loaded 1,850 cargoes holding 493,190,000 bushels during the 1952,53 crop year.

Grain was unloaded at 16 Canadian ports, 19 American ports, and 1,500,000 bushels went direct to Europe. Grain went to the following Canadian ports: Collingwood, Midland, Owen Sound, Port McNicoll, Goderich, Sarnia, Walkerville, Port Colborne, Humberview, Toronto Kingston, Prescott, Montreal, Sorel Trois-Rivieres and Quebec.

Dutch Elm Disease Hits Essex County

AYLMER — White elm trees in the Belle River beach area of Essex County have been attacked by Dutch elm disease and have been marked for removal.

Dutch elm disease was first discovered in the United States in 1930 and in Canada in 1944, though it may have been in Canada ten years before its discovery and identification, biologists believe.

The disease was first reported in Ontario in 1946 in Prescott County and by 1950 had been identified in nine other counties in Western Ontario it has been found most commonly in the environs of Windsor and occurs intermittently throughout Essex County, in Chatham, Kent County, where at least nine trees have been removed sparsely in Welland County and on one instance, in Middlesex.

All three native elms, as well as English and Scotch elms sometimes planted here, are susceptible, the latter white elm especially. Trees affected may show some of the following symptoms: Wilting of foliage on one or more limbs in the upper tree crown, discoloration of leaves, downward curling of ends of twigs and premature shedding of leaves.

D. W. Omand, district forester, says: "Wilting of foliage may take place so rapidly that the green color is retained, but the color usually changes to yellow or brown. The ends of the twigs may curl downward, resembling a shepherd's crook. Some leaves may persist after the normal fading of leaf fall.

"Discoloration of wood appears in discontinuous streaks in a longitudinal cut or as a more or less brown ring in the sapwood of a cross-section.

"The symptoms of Dutch elm disease, both internal and external, are so similar to those of two fungus diseases that a careful identification in the field is not possible without assistance. Laboratory culture is necessary to determine the fungus involved.

"The disease is believed to be spread mainly by small bark beetles. Trees known to be diseased should be burned or sprayed thoroughly with DDT spray made by mixing eight pounds of DDT with each 100 gallons of No. 2 fuel oil, or both sprayed and burned."

Association Calls on Merchants For 'Hold-Line' Stand on Credit

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Prairie merchants are wrestling with the growing problem of retail credit, which they say has been stretched to the danger point because of wheat storage difficulties.

The Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta branches of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada have placed briefs before the Canadian wheat board, making suggestions to remedy the situation, and have called on merchants for a "hold-the-line" stand on credit.

M. M. Weeks, secretary-manager of the Manitoba group, said "this is really getting to be dynamite."

Meanwhile, a Bank of Canada survey shows that Canadians from coast to coast plunged deeper into debt in the first six months of 1953, the bank's consumer credit bill rising to a new high of $1,732,000,000, a jump of more than $500,000,000 in a 12-month period.

Mixed Blessings

But the crux of the difficulty on the prairies is that farmers are receiving enough cash to pay their bills. The 1953 record wheat crop and this year's heavy yield came as mixed blessings in that elevators are plugged and the farmers must store grain on their land.

In its brief to the wheat board, the Alberta retail merchants' organization urged that the government guarantee bank loans of up to $1,000 on grain in farm storage "in elevators cases of particular distress, and thereby make it possible for the farm trade to be in a position to pay their retail accounts."

The brief also recommended that all merchants adopt a rigidly-controlled credit policy, and in all cases advise the farm trade to secure a loan from the banks to pay its commitments."

The earlier Manitoba brief said the 1,700 association members in that province "view with alarm" the situation where "more and more of our towns and villages are being forced into doing business strictly on a cash basis."

Long Arctic Night Slowly Creeps South

OTTAWA (CP)—The long Arctic night is creeping southward. Ice is forming in the rivers and floods of the Arctic mainland and the northern archipelago. Temperatures are below zero now.

Government administrators of the Barren Lands, just back in Ottawa, paint this picture of the descent of winter on the 1,518,782 square miles of the Northwest Territories and Yukon—more than a third of Canada:

Freezing will reach northern Baffin Island in early November. The sun will disappear Nov. 10 and be absent in early February. There will be only one or two hours of daylight—but soon that will give way to hazy twilight, then blackness.

Really Cold

At Pond Inlet on northern Baffin it will be a steady below zero in January and February, sometimes nearly 80 below. In 1942-34, the temperature there just broke zero for 85 days. Winter lasts eight months. Eight feet of snow may fall there.

It often gets colder in the western sub-Arctic. Temperatures in the Yukon have fallen to 85 below. In the eastern Arctic, it is not much the cold as the wind that makes the winter almost unbearable for a 200 white men who man radio, radar and weather stations, RCMP and trading posts and church missions. Blizzards may last for days.

The eastern Arctic is north of the tree line and comprises the Arctic Islands and mainland north of a line from Ahlavik near the southeast to Churchill. The country is known as the Barren Lands.

Northern Population

There are 8,600 Eskimos in the northern wastes, 2,500 of them in Ungava. Some 6,000 of the rest of Eskimos live in the eastern Arctic. Total population of the Northwest Territories is some 16,000 but nearly all the whites live in the western sub-Arctic around Great Slave lake. The Yukon has a population of 8,000.

The Eskimos have finished putting up supplies along their trap-lines and many have moved to winter camps. The boats have been put away and by mid-November there will be enough snow to travel by dog team and snowshoe (sledge).

The Eskimo knows the warmest clothing comes from animal hides and carefully has learned that a closed dome of snow blocks—with an interior platform—and the low opening for ventilation is the easiest home to heat.

Hands Year Round

He hunts the year around for caribou, seal, walrus, whale, muskox, and polar bear. How he is getting ready to trap the white fox, his only source of income, except family allowances and old-age pensions.

The northern supply boats have made their final calls. The eastern Arctic is supplied from Montreal, the western from Tuktoyaktuk near the mouth of the Mackenzie. At Churchill, the RCAF is gathering supplies for its fall airlift to northern outposts including Alert—the Canadian community closest to the North Pole, near the northern tip of Ellesmere island from where Admiral Peary launched his spurt to the North Pole in 1908.

Eight Canadians Hold Tickets On Co-Favorites

MONTREAL (CP)—Eight Canadians—five from Toronto—hold Irish hospital's sweepstakes on both two co-favorites for the Cambridgeshire Handicap, to be run Oct. 28 at Newmarket, England.

In all, 174 Canadians drew tickets, as stabled Athlone Castle when using a noon de plume.

The co-favorites are Skittyre and Jupiter Island. A three-pronged ticket on the winner will be worth about $137,500 for second place $25,000 and for third $27,500. There are smaller "participating" prizes.

Those with tickets on the co-favorites from Ontario:

Jupiter—Hiladale, PS 87196; Lock 3, AM 27888, both of Toronto; Sweet, PY 13288, Windsor, Ont.

Child Killed

DETROIT (CP)—Hilary Mason, 56, Cathedral, Ont., was killed to suburban Highland Park with her family several days ago to join her grandmother. On the trip to Scotland, was killed Thursday night when struck by a car.

Mrs. McLaughlin, with Hilary, her mother, Ian, and the children's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Mason, were to have left for their native Scotland Tuesday for a visit.

Driver of the car, Richard Crane, 16, was the father of Hilary darted from between two parked cars and into the path of his vehicle.

Short Sentences And Hard Work Recommended

TORONTO (CP) — Short sentences with plenty of hard work were recommended Friday in Ontario's first offenders by Rev. Martin Pinker of London, an expert on the after-care of prisoners in England and secretary of the International Prisoners' Aid Society.

But Mr. Pinker agreed with the legislature's committee on reform institutions that consideration should be given to expunging a single conviction from a person's record.

After hearing the complaints of jailers from Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox and Addington counties in Belleville Thursday, the committee called the wages paid jailers by Ontario county jails "scandalous."

Two Army Officers Given Military Crosses

KINGSTON (CP)—Two army officers Friday received the Military Cross for action in Korea from Governor-General Vincent Massey presented the awards to Lieut. A. M. King of Sorel, Que., attached to the 1st battalion Royal Canadian Regiment, and Lieut. D. G. Loomis, of London, Ont., platoon commander of the RCR's 1st battalion.

Artillery Band Going to Korea

OTTAWA (CP)—Another Canadian Army band is going to Korea.

The army announced Thursday that the Royal Canadian Signals Band, 40-strong, will fly to the Far East in mid-November. It will replace the artillery band now in Korea, but returning to Canada soon on rotation leave.

The signals band is directed by Lt. B. F. Lyons of Kingston. It has been based at Barriefield, Ont.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Lionel A. Forsyth, president of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation Ltd., said here Friday Canadians are a "wasteful, unthrifty people in the main."

In an address to the Canadian Exporters' Association Mr. Forsyth said Canadians practise a "degree of thoughtless extravagance which would surprise and dismay us if it could be expressed in dollar and cents or some other measurement."

He said the mining industry of Ontario is paralyzed by a strike which will "undoubtedly" result in severe economic loss to all directly concerned with it "and will adversely and most seriously affect thousands whose interest is indirect."

CONTROL PROHIBITION

TOKYO (Reuters)—The Japanese welfare department stated today that a prostitution control bill will be submitted to the next session of Parliament. A spokesman said "a public morality council" will be established within the cabinet shortly to deal with proposed legislation.

ADVICE TO USED CAR BUYERS
That Is Worth HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS!!
There are basically two kinds of Used Cars on the market today. Those that will save you money, and those that will keep you spending money for costly repairs.
How can you tell them apart? Well, to be truthful, in some cases it is difficult to do so. You must rely to a great extent on the honesty of the dealer with whom you are dealing.
When you are buying a Used Car from Trudeau's you can rest assured that the car has been thoroughly checked and reconditioned in our own Car Rehabilitation plant at Station Street, one of the most up-to-date plants of its kind in Ontario. The body has been checked, tires examined, motor gone over, and all the points that need repair have been reconditioned.
By dealing with Trudeau's you will get a car that will last you longer, and give you more enjoyment and service. For your own sake, when buying a Used Car, call at one of the 3 Big Trudeau Used Car Lots in Belleville.

Effort To Arrange Korea Peace Talks Runs Into Snag

Reds at Once Voice Demand Neutrals Attend Conference

By GEORGE McARTHUR

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Communists today raised an immediate threat to the success of preliminary Korean peace talks at their opening session by demanding the admission of neutral nations to the big Indian-Japanese proposal opposed by the United States.

Despite the ominous first day of the preliminary talks, Arthur Dean, U.S. ambassador representing the United Nations, expressed hope that an agreement could be hammered out and "a political conference will be held."

Dean and the Communists met together head on over an agenda for the preliminary talks. The Reds insisted on discussing composition of the political conference first. Dean has no authority to negotiate the make-up of the political conference. He can discuss only administrative matters, time and place.

FOW TALKS MAY END

Meanwhile, the strife-torn Communist armistice parade 22,400 ex-Red soldiers to go home appeared near the end of a month of an open spill in the prisoner repatriation commission's chamber to force the PoWs to listen to the Red persuasion.

Lt.-Gen. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the commission, said the communist-directed explanation of his mission are "very small."

SITUATION SERIOUS

"The situation now is very serious," Thimayya told reporters after a two-hour, eight minute commission meeting dictate on a letter stating the rival Communist and non-Communist views.

Thimayya said the letter would not be made public for several days.

Observers have speculated that the communists may be seeking a way out of the commission before two days of talks with 81 Chinese Reds on the commission had to the Red fold.

The commission is split over whether to force the prisoners to listen to the Red interviewers.

Thimayya's decision to be called against the Reds, ruling that force can not be used, means the commission agrees to it unanimously.

FIRST MEETING BRIEF

The opening session's talks lasted one hour and 15 minutes. The negotiators meet again tomorrow at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. Sunday, EST).

The Reds were represented by Huang Hua, counsellor of the Chinese Communist foreign affairs ministry, and Gen. Nam Il, chief of the same position in North Korea.

The Red delegates hastily opened the meeting with a prepared statement declaring that the commission's neutrals—particularly Asian—to the political conference. The Chinese representative immediately echoed the arguments.

WANTS START NOV. 22

Dean next noted the Red statement and in answer proposed that the conference start on Nov. 22. He proposed an agenda listing time and place as the first order of business. Then the neutrals and the UN agenda left the door open for later discussion of who should attend the conference talks.

Reporters were allowed to watch much of the first session and the impression was voiced that although the Reds had succeeded in doing most of the talking, the Chinese Communists were not running the show, as they did in the long armistice discussions at Panmunjom.

SOCIETY GOES BROKE

TOKYO (Reuters)—One of the biggest financial sensations since the war was announced here when the investment association with $10,000,000 capital announced it is suspending business because of a $1,500,000 deficit. The Nippon Dai Investment Association announced that its liabilities amounted to $11,500,000 and its assets to $10,500,000.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Most of Ontario enjoyed sunny, pleasant weather on Sunday, although by evening scattered showers had spread into regions north of Lake Superior. These showers will extend across the rest of northern Ontario today with a few drifting down into southern regions tonight or Tuesday. Northerly winds will bring cooler air to the northern districts today and into the rest of the province Tuesday.

Three Bears Likely Will End Up as Floor Rugs

SMITHS FALLS (CP) — Three bears, in quest of honey, likely will end up as floor rugs.

The 225-pound mother bear and her two 65-pound youngsters were shot and killed Friday night as they returned to plunder a number of beehives on the grounds of a florist, two miles north of this eastern Ontario community.

They had been there the night before, knocking over five of 25 hives.

Dan Row of Augoro brought the bears to another bear and three shots. His companion, Meyd Michol Smiths Falls Taxidermist, bagged the trio with another shot.

The bears were taken to Mr. Michol's home where they likely will be turned into rugs.

Two Survivors Of Welland Crash In Serious Shape

WELLAND (CP)—Condition of two survivors of a head-on automobile crash which claimed the lives of three persons Sunday on highway 20 was described this morning as serious.

In critical condition is Mrs. Olga Reid of Detroit, who is being x-rayed today to determine the extent of skull, pelvis and back injuries. Her husband, Clifford Reid, 33, was killed in the crash.

The Reids were struck head-on with a machine travelling east, on the highway on the outskirts of Fonthill, by a car driven by a woman in the latter car, Mrs. Elsie Sack, 35, and her mother, Mrs. Nelle Fessenden, 63, of Dehli, were killed.

Elizabeth Sack, 20, who was also in this car, is in Welland county General Hospital with a broken arm, knee and head injuries.

Forced to Cut Wood In 50-Below Weather

BERLIN (Reuters) — A Norwegian who was forced to cut wood 16 hours a day, often in temperatures 50 degrees below zero, while serving in a Siberian forced-labor camp, told Oslo newspapers Sept. 30, was only woman in a group of seven Norwegians — prisoners handed over here Sunday to the Norwegian military mission by Soviet authorities.

Miss Samuelsen said she was arrested by the Russians in May, 1945, while visiting her fiance's parents in Vienna. She said she lived in 10 years' hard labor for alleged espionage.

She said she had to walk 12 miles a day to cut wood. If any of the 1,000 women in the camp failed to fulfil compulsory working-quotas, they got no food.

BERLIN (Reuters) — An East corp.

Berlin Romeo who strayed into the bedroom of the father of his Juliet instead of her room, has been described Sunday in the East Berlin Communist newspaper Neues Deutschland.

Konrad Mueckebein, a young law clerk, appeared before an East Berlin court on charges of theft. His Juliet was Julia Knopp, a Communist newspaper reporter.

Told in the classical story, it all began at a ball. There, 'Romeo' danced with Juliet and whispered sweet nothings into her ear. Juliet's father concentrated on the lavish array of drinks and at 2 a.m. Romeo and Juliet guided father Knopp home to bed.

Romeo spent another hour telling Juliet how wonderful she was. She invited him to have a cup of tea in her bedroom but said he would have to enter by way of the ballroom. Romeo followed the instructions and found himself in the bedroom of Juliet's father.

Romeo proceeded his innocence by telling the court that he was fearing her father's anger. 20 many matters worse, father Knopp entered the room and gold watch had been stolen. Romeo was taken to prison.

A few days later police arrested a pickpocket, who confessed he had stolen the wallet and watch at the ball. A judge heard the story and ordered Romeo's release.

But it was not a case of love's labor lost. Juliet was awaiting her Romeo outside the court with a bunch of pink roses.

HUNTERS BELIEVED NEAR TO GOLD HID BY JESSE JAMES

Diving Rod Locates Treasure in River

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)—Seven farmers turned treasure-hunters believe they are only five feet from a suitcase full of gold supposedly flung in the Black river near here by Jesse James.

George Emerson of Popular Bluff, Mo., said his divining rod—a forked stick believed to have mysterious power to water and gold—indicated the treasure lay 30 feet under the sandy river bank, some three miles east of Corning, Ark.

The diggers, who reached 25 feet Sunday, are charging $1 a person to sightseers who want to watch the operation.

Floyd Sells, whose 68-year-old father L. C. Sells earlier attempted to remove the gold treasure, believes the suitcase will be uncovered Wednesday.

Sells says James and his gang tossed the loot from a Missouri River train into the river while fleeing from a posse—some time before the turn of the century. The weighted bag disappeared into quicksand.

SAW INTO SAND

Then, 27 years ago, the elder Sells and 12 other farmers—after consulting a diviner—began digging at a spot 30 feet from the river bank. They explained that the river had changed course.

They claim that after two months of digging they hit the suitcase but when they attempted to recover it, the sand fell into quicksand at the bottom of the pit.

Sells said they decided to postpone further excavation when "for some teller told us that two of the men had planned to kill the remaining 11."

Thinks Decision On CPA Service 'Vital' To Future

OTTAWA (CP)—C. H. (Punch) Dickins, president of the Air Industries and Transport Association, said today that trailing accident decision on Canadian Pacific Airlines' application to operate Canada cargo service is "vital" to the future of the country's air development.

Mr. Dickins, a former northern bush pilot who is one of the most colorful pioneers, recalled in his presidential address that Transport Minister Chevrier at last year's annual meeting of AITA announced the government's permit limited competition in certain fields.

CPA has applied for a licence to run a transcontinental cargo service in competition with Transcanada Air Lines' combined passenger-freight service, which has been given exclusive cross-country rights. Mr. Dickins said he also discussed the question at length but Prime Minister St. Laurent and Mr. Chevrier is still a difference of opinion.

VITAL DECISION

The decision is prepared for the AITA annual convention, Mr. Dickins said that on the cabinet decision depends the whole question for the future." The AITA has 116 airline and aircraft manufacturing companies on its membership, including CPA and TCA.

BELGRADE (Reuters)—Edvoard Kardelj, one of Yugoslavia's four vice-presidents, said today that Yugoslavia is ready to announced its new sacrifices for a just solution of the Trieste problem.

But he repeated Yugoslavia's rejection of the Italian proposal that negotiations to settle the dispute should begin after both Italian and Yugoslav troops withdrew from the border areas.

Kardelj said in an article in the Communist party newspaper Borba that the most important thing is to clarify whether Italy wants diplomatic contacts between the governments involved before holding a conference.

NOT OPPOSED TO MEET

Yugoslavia is not against a five-power conference, he said, but it is likely to fail if it tries to settle the Trieste issue as a whole.

The best solution, Kardelj said, was President Tito's proposal rejected by Italy—that Trieste city be "placed under Italian sovereignty, with the exception of Zone A and zone B under Yugoslav control.

SEE MOSCOW'S HAND

ROME (AP) — President Tito may be talking tough to the West over Trieste because of pressure from a pro-Soviet fifth column inside Yugoslavia.

That possibility is being considered seriously by Western diplomats here. It was brought on reliable authority today.

Top separate informants said pro-Moscow organizers have been linked with recent Belgrade demonstrations in which British and U.S. establishments were attacked. These excesses were intended to embarrass Tito, it was said.

ABOUT FACE

Tito's pressure is described as the most logical explanation for Tito's about-face in Trieste. It came since he visited England last spring. At that time Tito led Yugoslav Secretary Anthony Eden to believe that the present Trieste solution—Zone A to Italy and zone B to Yugoslavia — would be accepted by Yugoslavia after only a few protests, informants said.

Western diplomats, especially in Rome, were shocked by Tito's action after Oct. 8. They had expected a few speeches of protest and then tacit consent. Instead, the Yugoslav dictator said he would start fighting if 14 Italian troops entered zone A.

Diplomatic quarters of more than one country believe that a large pro-Soviet fifth column likely has existed in Yugoslavia ever since Tito's 1948 break with Moscow.

Economic Terror Campaign Is Revived in Red China

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG (AP)—The Chinese Communists are reviving the dread "Wu Fan"—economic terror campaign of last year.

Arrests already have been made and so-called "people's" trials started.

In 1952 there was a national movement against the Wu Fan.

In practice it turned out to be a terror campaign to collect more money for Peiping through fines.

It was called a "tiger hunt" and became so unpopular in mid-year 1952 that the Reds had to call it off because of the staggering production in private industry—still about half of all China's industry.

Recently stories in Peiping propaganda have hinted that a new "tiger hunt" was about to start against backsliding private owners. The communist charge was tax evasion. Later in a story covering Manchurian production, the Reds stated the campaign of excess profits.

BOUGHT LOW, SOLD HIGH

In one of the first trials, a private factory manager in Mukden was charged with buying scarce raw materials too low and selling finished products too high. He was given eight years' imprisonment.

Why are the Communists reviving this most-feared of all their so-called reforms? Reports from outside knows, but one guess is that the Reds are sure the crops are fallen off and must be made up some place.

There was some opinion by observers here that the Communists intend to use the campaign to discussed the question at length but Prime Minister St. Laurent and Mr. Chevrier is still a difference of opinion.

U.S. Capital Now in Canada Five Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Private U.S. capital has a $5,000,000,000 investment stake in Canadian industry, the department of commerce said Sunday.

No other single country has received as much private U.S. capital. Figures went into development of natural resources and industries, the department said in releasing the results of a survey on foreign investments of the United States.

Th favor in which Canada is held by American investors is reflected in the rate of investment growth of more than $500,000,000 a year since 1950, the survey showed.

In 1952 alone, a year for a complete census by the department, figures went into development of mines, the private American investment stake in Canada was $1,600,000,000. It is about $5,000,000,000 now.

Fishing, Hunting Best in Years Due Clubs' Work

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Ontario secretary Arthur Welsh told 150 members of Zone 5 of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters Sunday the support of conservation clubs helped make hunting and fishing in the province this year the best in many years.

He said conservation cannot be achieved by legislation or policing, but only through the cooperation of terest of conservationists. Their interest in conservation extended to Ontario-research laboratories also to wildlife research.

Mr. Welsh cited conservation of Ontario's natural resources as a fourth factor attributed to the province's growing number of tourists each year.

Extensive War Crimes Charged In New Book

BUENOS AIRES (CP) — A book just published in Germany here accuses Allied soldiers in the Second World War, particularly the Americans, of extensive war crimes including the slaughter of surrendered German soldiers and the rape of many German women.

The book was printed in Germany by the Dueres-Verlag publishing house, whose monthly magazine Der Weg circulates widely in Germany and Austria by Allied occupation authorities and by officials of those countries. The English translation of the title is "Allied crimes against Germany and against Humanity (Documents of the Second World War)."

The editor says the material was based on sworn statements by German soldiers and prisoners in Darmstadt prison in 1946, taken down primarily for the defence of Hermann Goering before the international military tribunal which tried war criminals at Nürnberg.

Each prisoner who is supposed to have signed charges against the Allied troops is identified only by number, there is no list which discloses where or when the alleged crimes were committed.

EAST GERMAN POLICE BATTLE PARTISAN GROUPS

Big Manhunt Launched For Anti-Communists

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin newspapers say police of the Soviet East zone have launched a new big manhunt for fighters of the anti-Communist underground and have clashed with them in several gun battles.

Up to now police have been killed 56 wounded and 18 partisans arrested in the last two weeks as a result of the arrest, courting in wooded areas southeast of here, according to the reports.

West Berlin's Socialist-edited newspaper Telegraf Sunday said the latest outbreaks are reported to have taken place in the Cottbus district, near Poland. Der Tag another West Berlin daily, said 1,200 police converged on the area, 60 miles southeast of here, to start a big search.

The papers admitted their reports were unconfirmed.

SEE NO NEW REVOLT

Western intelligence sources said such clashes as have been officially confirmed "do not indicate that East Germany is on the verge of another June 17 revolt."

Der Tag reported that 8,000 police and Soviet troops formed a cordon around Berlin to block possible escape routes for the so-called sectors.

Rumors were that the underground fighters included partisan gangs which had slipped out of Poland and Czechoslovakia and were making their way through the East zone to political asylum in West Berlin.

The bus walkout came as a protest over the high transport system of trop-developed gasoline, labelled by bus union men as "black petrol."

The truckers began returning to their jobs after a meeting in the western part of the city Sunday, although an east-end meeting voted to continue the walkout.

The Transport and General Workers Union, to which the truckers belong, refused to support the strike by the men in spite of their demands for the closed shop and a 10-shilling weekly raise.

Hung Up by Hands For 30 Minutes

By Red Coverts

SEOUL (AP)—The second Republic of Korea soldier to renounce Communism said today he was tortured by Red interrogators for 30 minutes because he had torn down a Communist picture in a PoW compound.

Pvt. Kim Kyu Mun, 21, told his story after he was turned over to the Allies at Panmunjom today by the Communist Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

He said in an interview that the Communists have been sneaking propaganda newspapers into buildings at the compound, numbering where 333 ROK prisoners are held for "explanations."

Jo said his hands were tied behind his back and a rope was looped around the hands and down over the limb of a tree. Jaco he was hoisted and left hanging for 30 minutes.

Face Three Charges

HAILEYBURY, Ont. (CP) Three convicts who escaped the weeks ago from Kingston penitentiary will face charges in police court, Percy and Joseph Coe and Walter McGoye have been charged with breaking custody, breaking and entering, attempted escape and assault.

PoW Says He Pretended He Was Red To Prove They 'Are Rotten to Core'

By STAN CARTER

TOKYO (AP)—A young American soldier today said he refused repatriation from a Communist prison camp as he could gather more evidence to prove to the people at home that the Communists "are rotten to the core."

Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, 23, formerly of Big Stone Gap, Va., remained behind with 22 other Americans when most Allied war prisoners were repatriated at the end. of the Korean fighting.

Last Wednesday he left the compound north of Panmunjom, where he had been subjected to Communist explanations about why they should come home, and told the Indian guards he had changed his mind — that he wanted to be repatriated.

Dickenson, in a press conference today at Tokyo Army Hospital said he never believed in communism, though the other Americans to prison camp 3 at Pyoktong, North Korea, considered him a "progressive," who co-operated with the Communists.

He said he wanted to learn all he could about the Communists so he could "get revenge for what they did to me and my buddies."

"I just thought I would play along with them and get even with them. I didn't intend to go to China."

Dickenson said the Communists told them, over and over again, that they would be repatriated "but I was fooled on that one."

"From the standpoint of the ordinary motorist, the crisis is over," said a spokesman for the automobile association. "Traffic on the roads leading into London this morning is back to normal."

But while the return movement of Communism, some 600 London bus drivers and conductors walked off the job in sympathy with the strikers.

PROTEST "BLACK PETROL"

The sympathy strike cut into the UN commuter rush, with the effect on the sprawling nationalized transport system was negligible.

The bus walkout came as a protest over the high transport system of trop-developed gasoline, labelled by bus union men as "black petrol."

The truckers began returning to their jobs after a meeting in the western part of the city Sunday, although an east-end meeting voted to continue the walkout.

Oil Truck Drivers Decide To End Wildcat Strike

Troops Restore London's Gas Supplies to Normal

LONDON (CP)—Oil truck drivers, who began an unauthorized strike a week ago, decided today to resume work Tuesday. Their decision to end the wildcat strike came as London's oil and gas supplies returned to normal with the aid of 4,000 soldiers and airmen who manned trucks around the clock. Some of the strikers had begun trickling back to their jobs today.

A mass meeting of the strikers accepted a back-to-work resolution drafted earlier by 150 leaders.

The meeting heard the return of 2,600 drivers without the 10-shilling-a-week pay increase they had demanded.

Even before they made their decision, the effects of the strike had dwindled sharply.

From the standpoint of the ordinary motorist, the crisis is over," said a spokesman for the automobile association. "Traffic on the roads leading into London this morning is back to normal."

But while the return movement of Communism, some 600 London bus drivers and conductors walked off the job in sympathy with the strikers.

New Downpour Drives Refugees From Moutains

REGGIO CALABRIA, Italy (AP) Heavy rains fell in southern Italy throughout southern Italy's Calabria province, where flood last week caused 35 known deaths and vast damage.

The new downpour drove more refugees from mountain-towns and hamlets down into Reggio Calabria for shelter. Rivers and streams were again rising rapidly.

An Italian air force helicopter which was to have set out for Africa was diverted to bring flood aid supplies had to delay its take-off because of the rain.

Heavy rains, falling in the northern Italy during the last 48 hours, have begun to push rivers and streams to near flood levels. Landslides were reported in several mountain valleys.

Escaped Korean Claims Reds Hold 600 at Suman

SEOUL (AP)—A South Korean who recently escaped from North Korea said today that the Reds are forcibly holding 600 South Korean prisoners-of-war at Suman, in North Korea.

The soldier, Sgt. Whang Se Woo, said he escaped from Suman, about 10 miles northeast of Pyongyang, late in September and reached Seoul 10 days ago. He said the Reds are using the South Koreans—many of them officers—for road reconstruction jobs.

The Communists turned over to the Indian command at Panmunjom last month 335 South Koreans listed as unwilling to return home, but 83 others were the only South Koreans left.

CLAIM THOUSANDS HELD

Both the United Nations command and the South Korean government have claimed the Reds are still holding back several thousand other Allied prisoners. The UN command asked the Reds for an accounting of these prisoners in a meeting of the military armistice commission at Panmunjom last month.

All the Red still held in the Suman area were anxious to return to South Korea, said the sergeant.

KILL 21 IN MOP UP

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — A French army spokesman announced today that French Union troops have killed 37 Communist-led Vietminh soldiers and captured 22 others in minor mop-up actions in the Red river delta.

THIRTY FIVE NOBLES ATTEND CEREMONIAL AT WATERTOWN

Upwards of thirty-five nobles of the Belleville District Shrine Club attended the fall ceremonial of Media Temple at Watertown, New York last Friday.

The shriners were addressed by Remmie Arnold, Richmond, Virginia, Imperial Potentate of the 185 shrine clubs in North America. He stressed the importance of continued effort on behalf of the crippled children and the maintenance of the present Shrine hospitals.

Nobles from Madoc, Tweed, Deseronto, Bannockburn, Picton and Napanee accompanied the Belleville contingent. The Belleville district was officially represented by Dr. Grant Fraser, Madoc, past potentate of Ramses Temple, Toronto.

62.3 Per Cent Of Objective Now Realized.

The latest release from headquarters of the Community Chest campaign reveals that the general campaign in Belleville is well in front of the other divisions with a total of $5,033.64 reported for an objective donation of $1.95 per person. This amount has been raised through contributions from 2,584 persons. Other reports also show that well over 1500 people have for various reasons declined the opportunity to support the services of the sixteen agencies of the chest viz: the Navy League, St. John Ambulance, the Children's Aid Society, the Boy Scouts, the Victorian Order of Nurses and the Young Men's Christian Association.

During the past two days the business division has moved from third place into second place with contributions from 254 firms totalling $3,493.50 for an average donation of $13.76. The industrial division reports $3,805 collected from 26 industries for an average of $135.85. The special names division now stands at $2,385 on the basis of an average gift of $44.16 from 54 sources. The professional division reports $2,220 collected from 244 persons or an average of $9.09 per contributor.

The special raised to date is $12,843 or 62.3 per cent of the goal of $20,000.

Good Behavior By School Pupils Pays Dividend

Good behaviour on the part of pupils at Prince of Wales School in the Collegiate District has paid off.

Last spring when a new four-room addition to the school was started the contractor had every appearance that he would have to make a nuisance of themselves by interfering with construction activities.

But School Principal Mrs. Orma Sisk had different ideas and she assured the contractor, Ross Greenley of Peterborough, that the children would cause no trouble. Mr. Greenley was still not convinced and he expressed his doubt by "betting" the children would misbehave.

The big pay-off was on Saturday afternoon when new school additions were officially opened. Mr. Greenley admitted the children had caused no trouble at all. He was ready to pay off his "bet". He was as good as his word and handed over $10 to Mrs. Sisk, who accepted the money on behalf of the pupils.

Oshawa Mayor Gives Address On 'The Prodigal Society'

Laymen's Sunday was observed in the Holiday Street United Church, when, in the morning service, addresses by the Belleville City Council, Aldermen C. L. Hyde, G. B. Hyde, Bryson Reid and Clifford Tice, and His Worship Mayor A. McLean King, attended the services and His Worship Mayor John Naylor, of Oshawa, gave an address entitled "The Prodigal Society" and brought greetings from the citizens of Oshawa to the citizens of Belleville.

In his address, Mayor John Naylor said, our Christian profession must be superseded by the life in the ministry of what might appear to be the little things of life" The speaker told his hearers that public servants serve at a great sacrifice and that democracies function about as efficiently because it has been purchased at the cost of millions of lives.

Belief, Revelation to Mankind

"When Christian men place their names before the electorate it is for the purpose of seeking to appreciate his franchise." His Worship continued, "Democracy is the only system in God's complete revelation to mankind, who revealed Himself in Jesus Christ. Nicodemus was a political leader, well trained in the law of the land, but he lacked something that would have made him a more efficient servant of his people.

"Nicodemus felt a sense of need and came to Jesus to have that sense satisfied. It was not what he knew, but what he was, that mattered. The Academic education can be a hindrance to the spirit if it is not used as a tool, or as a means to the end of serving.

Emotion Intellect Union

"There must be a union of both emotion and intellect. We must work to the Cross and not from it.

The speaker concluded his inspiring address by saying, "We may not have been to college, but we may be to Calvary."

The minister, Rev. Sidney E. Larman, welcomed the guests and introduced the choir, which conducted the service. Mr. Clifford Tregent was the organist and music, presided at the organ and the senior choir sang, "O For That I Have," was shown under the auspices of the Missionary and Maintenance committee. The senior choir sang a selection entitled "Now," and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Digby presided over the social hour held in the Sunday School auditorium during which time new members were welcomed. New members received into the church during the past year.

The Energetic Club provided refreshments.

Thanks Tweed Crowd

Mr. Arnold Campbell, chairman of the Missionary and Maintenance committee, thanked the members for their consistent support of the Missionary and Maintenance side of the duplex envelope.

The successful day concluded with a friendship circle singing, "Bless Be The Tie Bind Our Hearts in Christian Love."

Arnprior Mayor Presents Chests To Shrine Club

Three beautiful jewel chests have been presented to the Belleville Shrine Club by Noble R. M. Simpson, mayor of Arnprior, Ont.

Superimposed on the gleaming top of polished birds-eye maple is the royal coat of arms. Shimmering white satin effects the rich scarlet of the interior. It measures approximately eighteen inches in length.

Also presented to the club by Noble Simpson is a beautiful Shrine flag, rich in colors of green, red and gold with a golden fringe outlining the whole. The Shrine insignia is displayed on the flag in a special design.

The remaining two jewel cases are richly colored and are of impressive beauty.

The chests will be disposed of at a Christmas time raffle, the entire proceeds of which will be devoted exclusively to the club's crippled children's work.

Fire Destroys 1952 Model Car, Double Garage

A double garage owned by H. Gist, 256 Dufferin Street, and his 1952 model car went up in smoke Sunday noon when fire caught fire and burned before firemen could extinguish the flames.

The roof of a nearby garage, situated only a few feet from the burning structure was also damaged by the fire.

Cause of the fire, which destroyed the Gist garage, was not determined. Mr. Gist had put the car in the garage Friday night and had locked the garage at that time. It was not seen in the garage, it was stated.

The dry plant in the old cement factory here burned rapidly and sent heavy columns of smoke and flames high into the air.

Two other alarms were answered by the department over the week-end, one for overheated stove pipes on Trent Road, and the other for a pile of leaves on the East Hill.

TORONTO STOCKS

Bell, Brazil and B. C. Power were actively traded. Manufactures and papers showed some slight strength.

Western oils were trading lightly. Most price drops were slight. Several standard issues were down small amounts.

Golds were up a little with sentiment and holding companies showing some slight gains. Rumors were mostly over or contradicted.

Base metals were lower. Several juniors made small gains, like Eastern Metals, East Rim and Dominion Asbestos, but not enough to outweigh the senior losses by Steep Rock, Sherritt-Gordon and Quemont.

Uraniums were active, mostly in lower-priced issues. Farther was the featured performer with a gain of 4½ cents. New Richlaurum and New Delhi traded actively but lost slightly. Bathurst-area issues drew little attention.

Fred Mitchell, Thurlow Reeve, Officially Opens Addition To Prince of Wales School

School accommodation problems in one of the fastest growing residential communities in Hastings—the College Hill district—have been solved for at least a couple of years.

That was the feeling Saturday afternoon on the part of members of School Section No. 5, Thurlow, as their new four-room addition to Prince of Wales School was officially opened.

Chairman of the board, John Sproule said the new school addition would only partially solve their problems. "In another two years there would have to be further expansion," he said.

College Hill ratepayers take a keen interest in their school as was indicated by the big turnout for the new school addition. Opening ceremonies that saw Thurlow township reeve, Fred Mitchell, officially turn the key, were well attended by parents and ratepayers of the area. After the opening classrooms were inspected and the visitors were served tea and sandwiches by members of the Prince of Wales Home and School Association.

Paid In One Year

The new two-storey four-roomed addition at Prince of Wales School is unique in the Belleville area in that it was built and paid for all in one year. With the approval of the Ontario Department of Education ratepayers by one special levy raised the school section's share of the cost or the $65,000 structure. A capital grant of 72 per cent will be received from the department.

The school section went further than paying for its school in one year thereby saving debenture costs, for the school board also acted as its own contractors and saved another slice of money.

Taking part in Saturday's official opening were John Sproule, chairman of the board, and board members Peter Murray and Geo. Miller.

Andy Gray, College Hill resident for over 40 years, and chairman of the school board when the Prince of Wales school was built, called for a vote of appreciation to school board members who, he said, had worked hard to complete the new school addition.

"And the school addition was all paid for this year," Mr. Gray said.

A special vocal number was sung by senior pupils, while a skit by the Little Red School House," was played by another group of pupils. Music for the opening program was under the direction of Mrs. M. Badgley, school teacher, with music teacher Miss Betty McConnell presiding at the piano.

Brief Greetings

Greetings were brought by Mr. Frank Grandame from the Belleville public school board and Mr. Gil Eells, public school inspector for the city of Belleville. Other speakers included Roscoe Robson, M.L.A. for Hastings East, and Mr. Mitchell, who officially opened the school.

The new addition to Prince of Wales School has four rooms on two floors, with principal's room and teachers' room in addition. Classrooms have all modern appointments and are well lighted.

Mrs. Andrew Gray, social convener of the Home and School Association, with Mrs. Bessie Clarke, room mothers' convener, assisted by room mothers, arranged the tea and refreshments. Chairman of the Home and School Association is Mrs. J. Sproule, wife of the board chairman.

Picton Chapter Of Film Councils Wins Award

The Picton chapter of the Federation of Film Councils of Eastern Ontario has won the film council award of the year. Dr. H. W. Curran of Kingston, honorary president of the federation, made the presentation at the annual conference on Saturday. The award is made to the council in Eastern Ontario which has made the greatest contribution and accomplished the most in council work during the year. The award this year took the form of a film entitled "Neighbors". A trailer was attached to the reel explaining the picture to be the film council's 1953 award.

A report from the nominating committee on Saturday revealed the 1954 federation officers and directors will be the same with the exception of three new directors. The following is the list. The last three names mentioned will be the new directors. Dr. H. W. Curran, Kingston, honorary president; Mr. William Craft, Petterborough, president; R. Mackellen, Belleville, 1st vice-president; Carman Dowton, Oshawa, 2nd vice-president; Miss K. Healey, Queens University, Kingston, secretary-treasurer. Directors: Mrs. J. W. Iredell, Battersea; A. Holton, Bancroft; C. Kerr, Claremont; Byron Bennett, Grenville; Miss Bird, Picton; Lloyd Kerr, Leeds.

Welcomed By Mayor.

Registration was held at Queen Elizabeth school on Friday evening with guests attending from many Eastern Ontario cities and towns including Kingston, Peterborough, Oshawa, Cornwall, Prescott, Claremont, Pembroke, Picton, Port Hope, Belleville, Stormont and others. Mayor McLean Haig extended a welcome to the film council representatives. He was introduced by Mrs. Wanda Cline, president of the Belleville Film Council.

On Friday evening also, a special showing of the film "Shadow on the Prairie" was presented. Mr. R. Flemming, staff composer for the National Film Board, introduced the picture and conducted a discussion around it following the showing.

At noon on Saturday members were treated to a luncheon in the Golden Acre Inn. It was here announcement of the film award was made. Guest speaker following the luncheon was Gerald Pratley, CBC commentator. The speaker discussed the standards of motion pictures criticisms. Mr Pratley conducts two weekly radio broadcasts out the week, one in which "the criticizes current movies. He said that the life of a movie critic was not a happy one.

Three Types of Critics

He said there are three types of critics. The first is the newspaper critic. This type does not take his work seriously and is usually a reporter, who is taken from either the social or sports pages.

"Secondly," the speaker said "he knows little about reviewing movies and has little interest in the work."

The second type Mr. Pratley stated was known as a "highbrow reviewer." He translated this to mean, a reviewer who spends his time reviewing films or plays which are by unknown authors and difficult to understand anyway.

"In the middle" the critic said, "we have the type like myself who is a film lover and likes reporting on movies."

Mr. Pratley suggested the trouble with newspaper reviewers revolved around the fact they have done other work and were accustomed to this type of work rather than to film reviewing. He did, however, grant that his remarks did not include all newspaper-employed critics. His main criticism of newspapermen was that they had done other things before they became critics. Mr. Pratley, however, was a continuity writer for the CBC before becoming a critic.

Mr. Pratley was introduced by

THE JEHOVAH WITNESS CASE

The Supreme Court of Canada, in a recent decision, interpreted a Quebec City by-law prohibiting the distribution of literature in Quebec's streets. In the case the Supreme Court ruled that the by-law did not apply to the pamphlets and tracts distributed by the Witnesses of Jehovah.

The whole issue has been clouded by the implications of the situation. The Supreme Court did not rule on the legality of the brand of religion practised by the Jehovah Witnesses. Nor did it rule on the content of the pamphlets and tracts which this sect distributes.

The Supreme Court's ruling merely made it possible for the Witnesses to distribute pamphlets in Quebec City by stating that the Witnesses were not included in the interpretation of the by-law. Five of the nine Justices ruled that the by-law was valid. Four of them did not even mention the Witnesses in rendering their decision, stating merely that the by-law was constituted for the regulation and use of the streets and therefore they were not concerned with the question of religious freedom. Four of the Justices in rendering their decision mentioned the right of the individual to practise his religion, but there was no agreement in the Court that the issue of religious freedom was to be decided.

It is important to remember that one of man's foremost civil liberties is his right to be wrong. The Supreme Court, in its decision of the use of Quebec's streets for the distribution of pamphlets, has happily reaffirmed the individual's right to differ from a majority that affirms that it is right.

It must be remembered that Quebec City authorities passed the by-law in the first place following incidents in which speeches by Witnesses attacked the anger of the local population to a point where the physical well being of the Witnesses was endangered.

Quebec City officials were aware that the maintenance of law and order on city streets was jeopardized by the actions of a minority, and to protect that minority, they were forced to pass a by-law to control the use of the streets. It was given the power to rule on the nature of organized activities taking place on city streets. The Supreme Court has ruled that the by-law is valid, but that the application of it by which would restrain the Witnesses from distributing pamphlets is not justified. The issue of religious freedom at no time was at stake and the Supreme Court has not gone on record as ruling on the issue of religious freedom.

However, it is impossible to separate the implications from the reality because the Witnesses will not have it otherwise. The issue, despite the confusion, is that in a democracy the right of a man to be wrong is a right which the courts recognize and uphold despite the consequences which might devolve upon a militant minority whose very methods of professing their belief endanger their own physical welfare.

WHITTON SPITTIN' MAD

The city of Ottawa, led by its diminutive but dynamic mayor, Miss Charlotte Whitton, has been making a strong bid to retain the headquarters of the National Film Board in the capital city.

The federal government, however, has decided to move the NFB to Montreal. When the move becomes effective Miss Whitton points out that approximately 450 employees will have to leave Ottawa if they wish to retain their jobs. The situation, in addition of persons, and the loss of population and business is a serious matter to Ottawa city officials who fear that such a move would be the forerunner of a trend to decentralize the ancillary branches of government. So great was the city's concern that the federal government was offered a site by the city for a new NFB quarters and for a housing development in which film board employees would be given preference.

The government has turned down the offer and approved the move. Miss Whitton is angry, and according to reports is going to retaliate by asking council to pass a by-law permitting the construction of a $3,000,000 brick office building right in the middle of the Parliament Buildings unit in violation of the Federal District Commission's plans for the beautification of the capital.

There appears to be no interest to embarrass the government by competing it with a business enterprise, but rather to embarrass the capital beautifiers by sticking an unbeautiful commercial enterprise among the beautiful but non-commercial structures that house the commercial but non-beautiful operatives of the federal government.

One of the chief reasons given for the shift of the Film Board's activities to Montreal is that it is Canada's largest and most cosmopolitan city it will have ready access to a much larger pool of talent than is available in Ottawa.

We don't believe Miss Whitton is miffed because the loss of the Film Board jeopardizes her chances to become a film star. But one of Canada's most colorful political figures might look good in technicolor at that. The running skirmish with which Mayor Whitton harasses the federal government might swell to proportions which would justify the first Canadian Cinemascope picture. And it is undeniable that Miss Whitton against the federal government would be sensational in Stereophonic sound.

Government-Controlled Pump

By JOHN GOULD
(Is The Christian Science Monitor)

My serene contemplation of the vicinity was interrupted by a loud exhortation from the house, and I went up to learn that the water pump had failed again. A long time have that pump I doubt if television will intrigue me, and yet it has been a reliable servant and well worth every cent. This time I had to buy four nuts at a cost of 21 cents.

It is a mail-order pump, provided very early the mysterious free-enterprise indirections of a benevolent corporation, from which we can buy either direct by post or by attending their agency in retail outlet ten miles away. Since most of their retail service appears to be centralized at the factory itself with themselves, the difference is best approached in a spirit of amusement, and thus the reference to the inferior pleasures of television.

From the beginning this pump dealt in situations. I needed a new pump back in the days of war restrictions, and being remote and inadequately served, one day to buy one. I found, of course, that the manufacturer of this pump had gone out of that business. They suggested that after the war they would again be in a position to help, but as long as the this-and-that and one-other articles such as such, etc. I went from place to place, only to be being handed back with which I had dealt many times, and our sad predicament concerned them not at all.

We weren't without water. The manufacturer sent us a pipe like the house acts as it Moses and Gross had smote in unison, and also furnished us with a distant sea. All we had to do, evidently, was to get a pump and hook it on, and this would win the war. I was, at first, sympathetic with my friend who said was needed for military purposes, but shortly I went into the city and found a whole floor covered with exactly the same pump. The shrink said they had a lot more in the warehouse out back. I said we would have to wait. He said he couldn't sell them. He spread his hands and sighed. Restrictions, he said.

I looked at the bevy of pumps, and reformed my opinions about needed restrictions. There was a deputy of pumps waiting out the way, and still more were arriving. I began to come the peace, and on good coming either to the tank pump or the manufacturer, and I pondered and ruminated. I asked the shrink if he could see his way clear to let me have a pump. He had complied with the regulations. He said he supposed so, but he didn't know much. I know much about it. He seemed sad.

I went to the bureau who knew which blanks to use, and started in. I filled in the blank forms. When it said, "Status of applicant," I put down, "Dry." Under "Trade," I put, "Citizen" in which appliance will be allocated," I put down, "Pump." I advocated in hydraulic manipulations agreeable to customary domestic requirements on the home front." I went out on the sidewalk and got the number of the house. All the official forms were duly executed.

I was authorized as a prospective buyer of a pump, one of the requirements being that, I had to know where the pump was to be serviced was actually located and for sale. I paid cash, took the pump home, and had it hooked up that evening. It was, I believe, the only pump sold and installed in that trade area at that period. I felt quite proud, only because the public and the manufacturer believed that making a political job was tantamount to technical. Now, in reference to buying a pump—there was only the necessity of getting a pump filled out. Having decided that I put the machine was to pump water, a purpose intended by industry and trade, and to which the government assented completely. Anybody could have had one.

The whole history of the camp has been in keeping. It costs me about $1.50 annually to make minor adjustments and repairs, mostly for new leathers and rubbers. It is a good pump, efficient and reliable. I did buy a heavy-duty motor for it, to replace the little one that came attached, and I've had to keep about $5 worth of replacement parts on hand, but the purchase of the ten-days-to-two-weeks delay of the mail-order business.

The other day when the pump failed to get out my weekend fishing paraphernalia I scratched my head, and found the trouble at once. Four of the impellers rusted or corroded. One of them was completely gone, and this had interrupted the flow. Complete rehabilitation would be effected by putting on four new impellers, which, in the quarter-inch size, with standard thread, I asked the shrink if he had any of them, writing the requirements on a slip of paper so he wouldn't forget.

Time ran on. The hot afternoon sun sank into the haze in the western sky. A rustle of the honey locusts in a fresh current. The evening meal was late and had changed. People began driving by on their way home from the city. Lights went on through the trees. Then came a telephone call from the shrink. He had the number on the pump, just get the nuts." "Nuts?" I said. "Yes," he said, "nuts for the man does. He's got to order them."

"Doesn't he have nuts in stock?"

"Yes, but he won't sell them to you. You'll have to order. It will take two weeks, and he needs the number on the pump."

"Look," I said, "just for fun, you let him order them, and we'll see what happens. But after he does $3 worth of work to get four nuts, you go to a hardware store and get four quarter-inch nuts, standard thread, and come home and put in the nuts. I need a bath tonight, and no fooling."

We've had no pump for days now, but no new mail-order pump. Instead, a letter from the mail order, and from the hardware dealer. The latter man didn't ask what we were going to do with them; he didn't have to, for the long history of this government-controlled pump unfolds, I hesitate to give it the simple treatment, it deserves the more detailed and complicated. The number incidentally is 1,753,421.

I assume there are at least 25% 000 other pump people who will appreciate this story. Probably a good average for any given subject.

Baby Sitters Given Advice

(Timmins Daily Press)

Are you a competent baby sitter? You are? Perhaps you might review your qualifications by carefully reading "A Guide For Baby Sitters," published by the Department of Health for Ontario.

The average teen-ager regards baby-sitting as something to do when the infant doesn't cry. It's a matter of picking out the easiest job in the living room, settling down with a book and listening to the radio for strains of a swing band on the radio.

That may be the youth's idea of baby-sitting but not the parent's. The booklet contains almost two pages of instructions, suggestions and concludes with a form card on which the sitter is asked to write information such as phone numbers, names of children, age of neighbors, also numbers of fire, and police department, taxi, hospital and family doctor.

The timid but conscientious baby-sitter might get a twinge of misgiving almost from the opening paragraph which says in part: "You should be willing to furnish certificates of good health and good character if your mother who wishes to hire you, if you ever act or intend to act as a baby-sitter, be sure to have a chest X-ray."

A great deal of other acceptable advice is given, then the booklet reaches the chapter on manners and says "It is one thing to explore but quite another to disrespect the privacy of a grown-up's desk by looking into desk and bureau drawers when the family is away. Just idle curiosity but not manners by!"

The booklet really gets its teeth into the subject in the chapter on general procedure. It suggests getting acquainted with the children in advance and, better still, to see the parents in order to advise when information can also be obtained as to family peculiarities, such as "Johnny always buys" lists games and concludes with a suggestion about a baby sitter's kit. This should include, it appears, needs the tools of his trade such as a bag containing the following: paper, pencils, colored construction paper, paste, scissors, picture books and boring. The book concludes with the statement: "and now, you're on your own. You're responsible for caring for someone else's small fellow man."

Interesting, instructive and sensible? Yes, but that booklet might have come of the kids into another profession.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

TO NEXT A GRAND A MONTH.

First of all I want to thank you for the fine things you said in one of your recent columns about me. I feel there are still a lot of us who try to treat our patients with the most scientific and high pressure tactics. . . .

M.D., F.A.C.S.)

Dr. Brady

It is remarkable to receive such a friendly letter from a surgeon of such high repute.

I know nearly all of my patients have to work for a living. Unfortunately some of the men coming out of medical and dental schools believe that in a couple of months they should net $1,000 per month. (. . . M.D., F.A.C.S.)

This Fellow may be right about it, but I seldom hear from such doctors, these days. Sometimes I feel that the graduates in their patients are just the misfortune they do not choose to put on the dog.

A doctor told me about his son, lately graduated from medical school and presently an intern. The young doctor had to wish to fill his father's shoes. That would be a mistake, for his father was just a general practitioner. The most successful professors had warned the prospective doctors against getting bogged down in general practice. Only way they could make any money was by engaging in special practice from the beginning. This overspecialist spirit instilled in the minds of medical students by their professors is consistent with the aim of medical education today.

The outrageously high cost of medical care today is just one result of this top-heavy medical education. We in this country needs 1/2 medical schools that will turn out general practitioners.

Graduation from high school should qualify the student to begin the study of medicine. Four years of medical school and then one or two years of internship should qualify the young doctor to enter practice. Then he should be required to practise general medicine for at least five years, before he before he or she withdraws from general practice to practise as a specialist.

But, no, a hundred million dollar medical school must put on the dog, and so we have more specialists than we need doctors, and expensive car and cocktail people drive great satisfaction they give to their patients throughout can afford all the luxuries.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE THIRD EYE

The greater part of our lives is spent out in the open, before all sorts of people and each with an eye upon us! We cannot escape being watched. But this fact should not bother us in the least. We should so live as to welcome the eye of anyone.

Not always is the eye of a stranger a friendly one. But there is an eye that is forever upon us that is friendly and solicitous—God's eye! No matter where we may be, no matter how we guides us, gives us hope in the midst of trouble, and assurance when the lights of day disappear.

Often we become the third eye-sight of knowledge and a friendly hand. We never know the time or place that this friendly eye will greet us. We just have to be watchful and patient. Life is filled with surprises. Our two eyes often fail to note the significant things about us. But the third eye comes in—the eye of someone else, or perhaps it may be our unseen spiritual eye!

A wonderful control and courage of a blind person have always fascinated and amazed me as well. Often times we have to see more than we do with our perfect eyes. We feel that have a cheer and a hope that so many of us lack. We need a third eye to be able to look by lucky we are, and how fortunate to have been born in a free land, with opportunity at such a abundant that jobs cry for the man or woman, and to see all of the jobs we need this third eye to point out what our two eyes fail to reveal to us. How rich we could be if we obeyed this third eye faithfully, and that wisdom that it brought to our attention.

This third invisible eye is forever calling to our attention what our two natural eyes have missed seeing. Emerson, the sage, once said that there was no place in his theatre where God could not see.

A STARTLING ALTERNATIVE

What are you trying to do—solve the problems of life or evade them? treatment, but treatment is but one Christianity has a lot to say about treatment, but treatment is but one step in the process of cure. God will not save His children against their wills, and making them a bit better. He is interested only in giving us new life.

The realization that new life is the basic need of humanity should undoubtedly the most thrilling fact in the religious life. The Bible is full of statements of transformed people —Moses, fugitive shepherd being transformed by the power of God into a great national leader; Isaiah, seeing God high and lifted up in the temple and being changed from an unclean man into a saint that has blessed the ages; the disciples, unlettered men, transformed into historically influential leaders; Paul, the persecutor, being changed into the most influential Christian leader of his time.

You and I have problems in our lives. Do we want more food for, remedy or cure? Do we want pain killer which will make us forget cheer up," or do we want to hear stupendous words of the mouth of God Himself, which will underglird us and give us new power? While there are needs for treatment for our ailments or cure?

TRENTON (Special) — A cool-headed theatre manager averted a disaster here on Saturday when 500 adults and children were lined up and marched out of the smoke and gas filled Century Theatre on Dundas St.

E. F. Ginsburg, replacing regular manager, Ralph Cole, now on holidays, noticed smoke in the building and sped to the fire-hall a block away to seek assistance.

Fire Chief Harry Fulton found a lot of smoke and the rank smell of coal gas fumes was easily noticeable. "I wasn't taking any chances," he related. "I know how easy it is for a child to topple over from one and it was more afraid that somebody would holler 'fire' and start the grown-ups and children to panic."

Chief Fulton, who was ably assisted by local policemen, paid special credit to the children. "I must commend them for being so well disciplined," he said. "They remembered the fire drill taught them in their schools and formed up and filed out of the theatre in a very orderly manner."

A fireman said he could hear children coughing and choking when he started down one of the aisles. A Mrs Albert Defossi, of Trenton, said she was out in the open before she realized what had happened. "I felt dizzy and sleepy afterwards," she recalled.

With firemen and police standing at both front and back exits the adults and children moved calmly outside into the fresh air. Chief Fulton ordered the auditorium emptied, then experienced a few anxious moments expecting someone to cry out and cause the people to stampede the exits.

The trouble was located in the theatre heating unit. Coal was thrown on the furnace and the attendant apparently overlooked switching the stoker on. A downdraught caused smoke and gas to back up and spread through the building.

The fire chief answered the alarm at 2.35 p.m. and by 2.39 the building had been aired and the customers were back in their seats, watching the double bill, which included "Girls on Pleasure Island" and "Wild Bill Elliott."

Seaman Walks Into Car Front, Eye Lacerated

TRENTON — A Navy seaman walked in front of a car driven by Douglas Whitley on Saturday night and suffered a deep laceration over the right eye and bruises needing attention at the Trenton Memorial Hospital. Later seaman Eric Kingsley Collins, 20, of the HMCS Bytown and stationed at the RCAF Station, Trenton, was transferred to the hospital at the airbase.

The car was proceeding east on Dundas Street, while the sailor attempted to cross from the northwest corner of Marmora and Dundas Sts.

Mrs. Whitley and Frank Weaver were passengers in the car and witnesses to the accident.

POLICE BLOTTER

Just how a car reported stolen happened to turn up again on the used car lot is being investigated by city police.

Sometime last night a 1953 car disappeared from outside the garage at Trudeau Motors on Station street and the theft was reported to police. This morning the car was spotted in the centre of the used car lot where it had been left during the night.

Children at play were believed responsible for the breaking of a truck window and a window pane in an East Hill residence.

A local dairy complained to police that a rock had broken the windshield of a truck while it was parked in their garage. An East Hill resident living near a playground reported that a stone had gone through her window.

Personal and official tribute, and congratulations were paid to the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals, one of the Commonwealth's oldest units, at a banquet held in its honor at Vimy Barracks, Kingston on Friday night.

The banquet ushered in a two-day observance of the fiftieth anniversary of the corps. On Saturday nearly 1,000 members of the reserve and permanent force units from London, Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa and Montreal paraded before Minister of National Defence Brooke Claxton in a colorful marchpast. Bands from the 2nd and 8th Signals Regiments of Toronto, the 3rd of Ottawa and from the Signals Schools and Corps in Kingston took part.

Introduced by Brig. Genet

He was introduced by Brigadier J. E. Genet C.B.E., M.C., of Rosemore, honorary-colonel commandant of the corps and chief signals officer of the First Canadian Army, World War II. Brigadier Genet said in his introduction that the Governor General could be considered a member of the Royal Canadian Signals as he had once served as signals officer of the Queen's Own Rifles of Toronto.

The vice-regal general expressed his pleasure at being present on the 50th anniversary of the corps. "I count it 'our corps', he smiled, "as I deem it a great privilege to have been even associated with you."

In tribute to the corps, His Excellency said, "You have played no small part in the history of Canada. Intercommunications have developed greatly in civil life during this period of time and what has been learned in civil life has been applied to warfare.

"Fifty years is a long time in the history of an individual and it is a long time in the history of an organization especially in such a young country as ours," he said.

Still a Stand-by

He touched on the development which had taken place since the close of the nineteenth century pointing out that while wireless had been discovered in 1896, it was still a stand-by for land line in 1918. When the Canadian Signal Corps was formed in 1903, it was the first independent signal corps in the British Empire.

He touched briefly on the exploits of the corps both in war and peace, stressing particularly the work done by its earlier officers, and on the achievements of the corps in two World Wars and the Korean theatre.

Among the presentations made were the Brigadier Genet Trophy awarded for officers' proficiency, which was won by the Third Divisional Signals Regiment of Ottawa. The award was made by its donor, Brigadier Genet. The same regiment was awarded the Malloch Trophy for general proficiency and presentation was made by Col. F. G. Malloch, OBE, MC, VD., of Hamilton. The Corps Association Trophy, also went to this regiment. It was presented by Lt.-Col. A. G. Breneman, association president. The independent signal trophy was won by No. 8 Squadron, Edmonton.

Messages of congratulation and greeting were received from the direction of signals War Office, London, England, and drom the Royal Signals Association of England. Brigadier Emil Lenzer, representing the United States Army chief signal officer, presented a plaque from his corps.

Many Special Guests

Among the special guests were: Brigadier Don R. Agnew, commandant Royal Military College, Kingston; Lt.-General Sir Archibald Nye, British High Commissioner to Canada; Lt.-Gen. Guy Simmons, CB, CBE, DSO, CB, chief of the Canadian General Staff; Air Commodore H. M. Hendrick, OBE, ED; Brigadier M. S. Dunn, OBE, ED, eastern area commander; Col. Elroy Forde, OBE, DSO, VD, CG, first commandant of Vimy Barracks and commandant of Barriefield Area; Lionel Massey, ADC to the governor general, and many other high ranking officers of the district.

Quinte Belle Lodge Sponsors Attractive Autumn Tea

On Friday afternoon the attractive assembly room of the YMCA was filled with the hum of happy conversation of friends of the Quinte Belle Lodge, 260, of the Brotherhood of Local Firemen and Engineers, gathered for the autumn tea, homecoming and to locate the exclusive Christmas gift.

Receiving the gifts was the president, Mrs. Wesley Grey, whose cheery smile and warm handclasp afforded a most gracious welcome.

Pretty Tea Table

The tea table was prettily arranged with a Scotch lace cloth, centred by a crystal bowl of wine, bronze and yellow 'mums, flanked by tri-branched silver candelabra with cream and pale green tapers. Sparkling silver services added their gleaming touch, while the little quartet tables, each with its white or green cloth, centred by a golden containing more wine and yellow 'mums, occupied the far end of the assembly room.

Presiding at the tea table were: Past presidents, Mrs. W. Adams, Mrs. J. W. Dougherty, Mrs. Millar and Mrs. W. S. Hammett.

Those who served were: Mrs. D. Brown, Mrs. G. Spring, Mrs. A. Fitzgerald and Mrs. H. Thompson. Assisting in the kitchen were: Mrs. S. Robinson, Mrs. A. Hanney, Mrs. L. Franklin, Mrs. M. Bonter and Mrs. L. Watson while those who convened the tea tables were: Mrs J. Kingston and Mrs. D. Brown.

Fine Homecooking

In charge of the homecooking table and candies were: Mrs. S. White and Mrs. J. Milligan. Here were many fine samples of the culinary art; rich strawberry pie with lattice work; delicious apple pies; date squares; tea biscuits; hermits; many kinds of cookies; Northwest pickles; peach jam; raspberry jam; marmalades; canned pears and other

In yellow; tea towels; little cushions made in slipper form; satin heart cushion; hot plate pads in red rose design; a little dusky "Topsy"; crystal; tea towels in design of cream, blue, green and rose; dolls' clothes; little aprons; bridge sets and potted plants.

Lovely Knit Afghan

Behind this attractive table was a lovely knit afghan in squares, which would go to the holder of the lucky ticket, who was Helen M. Wallace, 299 Dufferin Ave., city. The conveners were: Mrs. H. Fisher and Mrs. H. Trapnell.

The apron table, under the direction of Mrs. G. Bishop and Mrs. J. M. McCormick, displayed a great variety of aprons, in various colors, designs and materials, including ginghams, handkerchief aprons, mature aprons with scalloped borders, outlined in orange bias binding; grey and white plaids, both for grown-ups and for children.

Children's Table

On the children's table were two dressed dolls, one a little boy in white silk rompers, with pink knit jacket and little white corduroy peaked cap. He wore white socks with little white sockees, and the other, a little girl doll, with pretty green coat and bonnet, white embroidered nylon dress and completing her costume, little green shoes and stockings.

There were also children's dresses, jumpers in fawn with embroidered pussy cat pockets; white knit bonnets, mitts, flannelette pyjamas, knit green sweaters; pretty blue, a lovely pink knit set of sacque, bonnet and mitts. Mrs. G. Prechette and Mrs. D. Dewey had charge of these.

Set of Dishes

A set of dishes, convened by Mrs. K. Shortt, went to Mrs. Kertzulah, 39 Holloway St., and the needlepoint picture, to Mrs. J. McCormick, 16 Reid St.

Mrs. R. Turner acted as treasurer for the afternoon.

A dainty tea, nicely convened by Mrs. R. Turner and Mrs. J. McCormick, to whom appreciative thanks are extended, and to all others actively engaged in its successful culmination.

LAUNCH MEXICO FLIGHTS

MEXICO CITY (CP)—A Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star airliner arrived here Saturday night on a pre-inaugural flight of TCA's new scheduled Montreal-to-Mexico run. Aboard were Health Minister Martin and a party of prominent Canadians who will be guests of the Mexico City before returning home. The new run is expected to boost tourist trade between Canada and Mexico and aid in facilitating trade relations.

All-Round Development Road To Success In Life

"Adjust yourselves, determine your objectives, and try to live your life so that when you come back to a reunion like this, a very fine report will be made of what you have accomplished," J. Alex Edmison, assistant to the Principal of Queen's University, urged delegates to the 22nd annual provincial conference of Anglican Young People.

Mr. Edmison, one of Canada's distinguished scholars, and a noted authority on the prevention of crime and prison reform, addressed nearly 300 delegates, who gathered at Trinity County Gardens, for the AYPA banquet and dance on Saturday evening. His topic was "Life Objectives".

The speaker stressed the importance of helping and advising young people developing in an all-round way. Those who developed on one or two lines, however brilliant they are, are more apt to become failures in life, than those who are less brilliant but more determined.

Cites Local Examples.

To illustrate his three main points—keep trying, work hard and keep up will power—Mr. Edmison cited examples of what had happened in the lives of girls who were young with him more than 30 years ago. He said he had signed their names with amusing verses in his own autograph book.

Among the signatures which appear in the books are those of our own mayor, His Worship, Mr. McLean Haig, and Ven. Archdeacon L. B. Creeggan of Grace Church.

"It is not surprising that Mr. McLean Haig has become mayor of the great City of Belleville, for anything that Mac ever did there was well done, said Mr. Edmison.

He went on to talk of Morley Callaghan, now one of Canada's best known authors and radio commentators, who had the diligence and foresight to keep trying as a writer, although he received many many rejection slips, and of George Dulty, athletic director of the Canadian National Exhibition, whose work in sports as a youth, fits him so well for the position he does.

But all these boys were not successes in life. One chap who was probably one of the great athletes of his time, thought sport was his passport to success in life. He didn't learn much about school grades and didn't bother to learn a trade. "He is about the most miserable failure I know," stated the speaker.

Many have succeeded in life, which is far more important than succeeding on the football field, Mr. Edmison said, in speaking of the old Queen's football team, whose members signed their names on one of the pages. One of the players is an outstanding authority in the medical field in the United States today, and others have become doctors and civil engineers.

Must Think of Future

Tragedy followed one youth who was going to be an engineer but who quit university to marry. When Mr. Edmison last saw him the fellow had been married and divorced, and had no career to follow. He advised young people not to get "too involved" while going to university, before thinking about the future life ahead.

He told the story of Jimmy, a bum on the streets of Brooklyn, who could not keep a job. Jimmy enlisted as the Black Watch, became a good soldier, but was blinded in both eyes. He went to school in England, worked for his matriculation and a degree in philosophy from the University of Toronto, and later became a social worker in Saskatchewan. The motivation behind Jimmy was will power. Sir Frederick Banting, when still a young unknown doctor wrote, "Will alone is great."

Mr. Edmison was very much impressed with the representatives from other denominations, including Roman Catholic, who were present at the banquet.

Tolerance Grows.

"We in this country are growing in tolerance, and what a wonderful thing it is," he said, "I think we are more tolerant now than in the days back at Queen's when we were pushing football games." Other denominations would not have been seen 20 or 30 years ago.

The speaker referred to an address "Have You Anything to Declare", given by Dr. W. E. McNeil, in 1947 at the convocation at Queen's University, following his retirement as vice-principal and treasurer of the university.

"I think it is the finest challenge to youth I have ever seen," stated Mr. Edmison.

The declared reference not to drinking or tobacco but to moral and intellectual worth, to character, skills or knowledge, and cultural heritage. All these combined help to make an all-round person, and lead the way to success in life.

"God give you strength and happiness for down future's broadening years," Mr. Edmison concluded.

He was introduced by Ven. Archdeacon J. B. Vreeggan and thanked by Roger Spaack of Hamilton.

Toasts Are Given.

In charge or the program for the evening was president Gerry Kileeg of Toronto, who acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the guests and the head table. The toast to the church was proposed by Ven. Arthur Kilcheney, and responded to by Rev. W. J. Robinson. Floyd Green of Lyn, proposed the toast to the AYPA and Mary Tasker of London, and Dominion president, replied.

Mr. Gerald Hyde, representing the mayor, extended a sincere welcome to the delegates from the city of Belleville.

Prizes for the name plate contest were presented by Mr. Robinson. Winners were: individual name plate, Dorothy Lye, of St. Marie; branch name plate, St. Matthew's, of Toronto.

Special thanks were given by the president to Ron Lane and the local committee for conference arrangements and also to Mrs. John Jeffries, past vice-president and provincial convener.

Seated at the head table were: Rev. John Jeffries and Mrs. Jeffries; Peggy Graham of the Presbyterian Young People's Society; Ken Jaggs of Kitchener, vice-president in charge of promotion and extension; Mary Tasker; Rev. W. J. Robinson and Mrs. Robinson; Archdeacon Creeggan and Mrs. Creeggan; Gerry Kileeg; J. A. Edmison; Jerry Campbell of the Baptist Young People's Union; Floyd Green, of Lyn, treasurer; Doug Foley, Roman Catholic representative; Ron Lane and Mrs. Lane and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hyde.

Morning Session Held

At the morning session at St. Thomas' parish house the convention was addressed by Rev. L. F. Hatfield, Dominion Chaplain on "Sunday School by Post and Radio."

Sunday School by mail is the largest Sunday School in the world and more than 40,000 boys and girls receive religious instruction this way, is some what the discovery Rev. Hatfield made when families are more or less isolated.

A national Sunday School on the air is now being prepared in Edmonton and tape recordings will be sent to the country for a 20 weeks" free trial period.

Mr. Hatfield spoke of the need for mission workers, either full or part time, in children's vacation schools and mentioned the mission projects of the AYPA.

John Kilcheney, executive vice-president of the Dominion Council, was chairman for the presentation of the report on the Dominion Conference which was held in Winnipeg in June. He replaced John Lidgerwood, of Winnipeg.

Others assisting in giving various part of the report were: Marjorie Clough, of Fort Credit, "Wider Horizons" Dominion AYPA magazine; Rev. L. F. Hatfield, who discussed the outlines for devotional daily exercises; Tom Barnes, of Ottawa, research chairman; Phyllis Milsom of Toronto, leader training course; Isobel Davis, Dominion treasurer; Eileen Lanes, only paid AYPA Dominion secretary; Fred Yeakes, of Kitchener, Junior AYPA; Barbara Randall, of St. Catharines, publicity; Walter Jones, of Toronto, international relations convener; Mary Tasker, of London, advisory committee and future policies committee.

Harold Shall, of Schumacher, was winner this year of the $100 annual bursary presented to a deserving person. He is attending St Chad's Theological College in Regina.

The morning session closed with a sing-song led by Walter Jones and noonday prayers conducted by Rev. Robert Mackie.

The delegates had time to themselves on Saturday afternoon to explore the city and see friends, before attending the banquet which brought to a close a successful conference at which much was accomplished.

Friends, Relatives Honor Anniversary

A large number of relatives and friends tendered Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Wood a surprise party at their home recently on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

After spending the evening playing games and euchre, they were presented with some lovely gifts in honor of this special event.

Included in the presentation was a chest of silver, coffee table, lazy susan and a cheese and cracker dish.

Mrs. W. Babcock was hostess during the evening and was assisted in serving by Mr. and Mrs. Wood's four daughters.

V.O.N. Gives Monthly Report

The October meeting of the local branch of the V.O.N., was held in the Y.M.C.A. with the president, Mr. E. E. Fridwell, in the chair.

The secretary, Mrs. S. E. Morton, presented her report and reports of the standing committees were received.

Monthly Report

Miss Dorothy Connor, nurse-in-charge, then gave her report for the month of September.

Eighty-two patients received care during the month; 34 of the patients cared for were admitted in September; the nurses made 293 home visits; 318 of the total visits were for nursing care, and 262 of the nursing care visits were to the medical, surgical and chronic patients, and the remaining 51 visits were for the baby health service.

Special Activities

A total of 42 hours were spent in special activities. This represented 17 visits to St. Michael's Academy, Holy Rosary, and Cannifton Schools. Also two half days assisting the Department of Health, at the clinic at Kiwanis Centre.

Miss Doris O'Brien, staff nurse, attended the refresher course on modern Rehabilitation Nursing, which was held at the Western Hospital in Toronto.

The course, which was sponsored with a Scotch lace cloth, conducted by Miss Helen Anderson, assistant professor of nursing at the University of Washington, fruits; maple creams; fudge and chocolates.

The miscellaneous table was filled with many lovely articles including needlepoint framed pictures; handmade purses in silk plaids, were pretty, useful also for crochet bags; luncheon cloths

Women of Moose Hear History Of Mooseheart's 'Child City'

On Sunday, Oct. 18, Mooseheart Day was celebrated by the Women of the Moose, Belleville Chapter 432, at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Front Street, with Senior Regent, Ruth Milne presiding. Representatives from Brockville, Kitchener, Port Hope, Peterborough, and Trenton were present. An open meeting was held with members of the Loyal Order of Moose and visitors attending.

The meeting was opened by Belleville Senior Regent, Ruth Minic, presiding. Guides Margaret Mallette and Hilda Dunbar Donovan brought the former Deputy Grand Regent, Alice McKelvey of Kitchener Chapter 634, escorted by College Regent Jessie Hamilton McClintock, into the chapter room. The Senior Regent welcomed both Past Deputy Grand Regent, Allen Smith Kelvy, and College of Regents, Zella McCann Hall to Belleville and the entire chapter extended them the hen of courtesy.

Three Candidates Initiated

Three candidates, Annie Haley and Mildred Priddle, sponsored by Mabel Moon, and Pearl Stiles, sponsored by Ida Conard, were initiated in honor of the Past Deputy Grand Regent, Alice McKelvy. Past Deputy Grand Regent McKelvy congratulated the new candidates and presented them with their law books.

The charter was then draped in black in memory of the late Director General Malcolm G. Gilles, of Moosehart, Illinois, who passed away in September.

Toy Donation

Guide Margaret Mallette brought Past Grand Regent, Peoples Salvation, George Elbey, to the altar where Senior Regent Ruth Minic presented him with a cheque for $50 to help purchase toys for Christmas baskets for Mar. Sgt. Major Elbey then thanked the ladies of the organization and told that their work was on the general outlay of that of the Women of the Moose, in caring for dependent children and the aged.

The guide then brought Chaplain Mollie Jeffrey, of Trenton, to the altar where she was presented with a cheque for the Trenton Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Luella Downen, Chaplain Jeffrey thanked the Chapter and the organization towards such a worthy cause.

The guide also brought Past Way to the altar who accepted a cheque from Senior Regent Hillcrest School for which Mrs. Way thanked the ladies.

Senior Regent Ruth Minic asked Past Deputy Grand Regent Allie McKelvy to tell the members about 'Mooseheart' since it was Mooseheart Day, which was being celebrated.

James J. Davis, Founder

"October 27, is actually Mooseheart Day. This day is set aside commemorating the establishment of Mooseheart—the world's famous Child City—and the birthday of Mooseheart's founder and leader, Hon. James J. Davis, former United States Senator from Pennsylvania. Mr. Davis was also the Director general of the L.O.O. Moose, and the 'Pilgrim Father' of the Women of the Moose.

It was his idea that originated the ideal of Mooseheart and whose leadership and executive ability is responsible for bringing this ideal into reality. Mooseheart is living memorial to him. A memorial service was held at Mooseheart on August 15, 1946, and an Eternal Flame was lighted in his memory.

Million Membership

"The Moose organization is now approaching the million mark in membership. This child city which has won world-wide recognition from leading educators and authorities in the field of child welfare, as a model home and a school for children, was founded on July 27, 1913, by James J. Davis. It is an estate of 1,200 acres, 25 miles west of Chicago, Illinois. Instructions in about 65 trades, including agriculture, are given.

"It is a community in itself, and comprises over 200 buildings. Mooseheart has—it own schools, post office, department stores, hospital, scientific laboratories, dentists, dairy and farm, its own canning plant, green houses and nursery. It has its own swimming pool and stadium.

"Mention must be made of the 'Baby Village' at Mooseheart. Visitors never fail to visit the 'Baby Village' as the baby is the foundation stone of Mooseheart. A new House of God was recently erected at Mooseheart, with a Catholic chapel on one side, and a Protestant chapel on the other side. This church will serve all faiths, and will stand as a memorial to the brotherhood among men.

"At the Mooseheart high school five of our Canadian girls and boys received scholarships this past year of which we should be so proud. One cannot visualize the beauty of Mooseheart. You must see it to know its beauty which a little bit of work on our part can be brought about."

Past Deputy Grand Regent, Allie McKelvy then brought her speech to a close by asking members if they somedays some of the Belleville members would pay a visit to Mooseheart.

The Senior Regent called on Clive Nixon, of Peterborough, who expressed his pleasure of being here to celebrate with the Women of the Moose.

Belleville Senior Regent, Mrs. Saunders, of Peterborough, also extended her thanks for being invited to be here this day.

Senior Regent, Phyllis Kennedy of Kitchener Chapter 634, escorted by College Regent Jessie Hamilton McClintock, into the chapter room. The Senior Regent welcomed both Past Deputy Grand Regent, Allen Smith Kelvy, and College of Regents, Zella McCann Hall to Belleville and the entire chapter extended them the hen of courtesy.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The big boss gland of the human body seems to have a super-boss, scientists are finding.

The so-called master gland is the pituitary, located at the base of the brain. It secretes potent hormones, some of which control or prod other glands into action.

But evidence is building up that another area of the brain, the hypothalamus is a super-boss over the pituitary.

The hypothalamus, sometimes called the seat of the emotions, has long been a mystery area of the brain. It is directly connected with the back portion of the pituitary gland.

The latest bit of evidence of the powerful role of the hypothalamus comes from Dr. Arthur Mirsky and associates of the University of Pittsburgh school of medicine.

Stress-Free Chemical

They found that fear, pain, loud noises, or other mental or physical stress bring a quick increase of a certain chemical agent in the bloodstream. Real or imagined pain boosts production of this chemical, which is made in the brain.

It has been thought that the pituitary gland manufactured this chemical. But Dr. Mirsky found that animals still produced it even when their pituitary gland had been removed, or when other glands had been removed.

The only possible factory for it seems to be the hypothalamus, Dr. Mirsky reports. The back part of the pituitary gland may be only a storehouse for the chemical made and released by certain cells in the hypothalamus.

Brake Control Centre

Emotional stress or strain begins in the brain, from the way you think or react. Physical stress is telegraphed to the brain along nerves.

When these stresses reach the hypothalamus, it goes into action and begins turning out the chemical agent at a rapid rate.

The boost in this chemical is believed to stimulate production of other hormones by the pituitary, and that in turn effects the activity or reactions of various body organs and tissues. Dr. Mirsky says.

One of the big ailments of modern man is psychosomatic troubles, actual physical pains, aches and disorders of the body caused by emotional upsets or strains. It's beginning to look as though the mysterious hypothalamus is responsible for these diseases.

Learning how to control or stay friends with your super-boss hypothalamus might have a big benefit upon health.

English Writer Paints Picture Of Canada's North

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh was given an Englishman's overview today of what he may expect to find when he visits Canada's frozen north next year.

A British columnist, writing of the land of the midnight sun and the country of Dangerous Dan McGrew, predicted: "There'll be a hot time in the town of Yellowknife, N. W. T., when word of the duke's projected visit gets through."

MacDonald Hastings, who visited Yellowknife 18 months ago, said in the Daily Express that the duke will probably stay in Ingraham's Hotel—"the last place with a bath before you hit the north pole."

"Yellowknife to me was the surprise of a lifetime," added Hastings. "I went there dressed like a hairy caterpillar, ready to dig myself an igloo. Yet (soon) I was sitting in a centrally-heated hotel suite."

The fact is, Hastings confessed, the arrival of women has caused civilization to come to the country Britons know chiefly through the works of Robert W. Service.

Meanwhile the duke, back from a holiday in Scotland with the Queen, is big news. Almost everything he does causes a flutter. The other day he spoke of the need for an improved road system in Britain, and shares of road-making companies promptly experienced a stock exchange boom. About $55,000 was added in the market value of six firms.

Historian Roger Fulford, in a pen portrait published this week, called the duke a man "of outstanding vitality who is in step with the march of the modern world."

The duke goes to Canada next summer.

SAFE FROM RAGWEED

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP)—Fears of one councillor that ragweed, bane of hayfever sufferers, was invading the north were allayed when Timmins town council received a letter from an Ontario agricultural department official at Matheson. He reported no evidence of common ragweed in areas north of North Bay.

Wellington on the Lake

OCTOBER

October is a gipsy maid
Dressed in a scarlet gown,
Of frosty days she's unafraid
But wanders up and down
The village streets and country roads
Wearing her crimson crown.

She wanders by the meadow stream,
And in the water clear
She sees as in a passing dream
Her picture oft so dear;
But still she is not wholly vain,
For by the dusty way
She spreads her colors all aflame
To gladden those who stray.

She flaunts her colors in the woods,
And over vale and hill.
Where summer's spirit seems to brood
The summer birds are still;
And as she waves her flaming flags
Beneath a cloudless sky,
In the soft breeze we seem to hear
Her sweet and sad goodbye.

—Helen B. Anderson.

WELLINGTON—Wellington is very beautiful at this season with its avenues of flaming autumn trees deeply illuminated by a mellow sun. And the sparkling water of Lake Ontario completes a radiant picture.

W.A. Meets

The October meeting of the W.A. of Wellington United Church was held in the church parlors on Tuesday afternoon with a fine attendance. The president, Mrs. Harold Nash, occupied the chair, and Mrs. Thos. Pillingham presided at the piano. The devotional was ably conducted by Mrs. Lewis. A reading "The Death of the Flowers" was given by Mrs. Arthur Goodmurphy. A beautiful vocal solo by Mrs. T. S. Townsend of Rednersville, was much enjoyed and appreciated. Mrs. J. L. Ross spoke impressively on Thanksgiving. A reading "The Patchwork Quilt" one of Edna Jaques' delightful articles, was given by Mrs. Arnold Vandewster. Another vocal solo by Mrs. Townsend closed an interesting program. A social hour with refreshments followed.

Dinner guests at Grahamsnor on Tuesday included Mrs. Lewis McFaul, Wellington, with Mrs. Townsend and Mrs. Cecil McFaul of Rednersville, also Miss Nellie Arthur, Miss Clara Anderson and Mrs. Dyer of Belleville.

Rev. A. Poulter was guest speaker at the Centennial service in Stirling on Sunday. In his absence Rev. Mr. Robins conducted the service of Wellington United Church with Mr. Donald Baxter of Bloomfield, giving the message in an impressive address.

Mrs. Patterson, week-end guest of Mrs. Mabel Bell returned to Belleville on Monday.

Miss Mary Lamb who has been holidaying with friends in Springfield and Bowmanville, returned home on Sunday.

Mrs. Alex. Tait was a recent tea-hour guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Dorland, Consecon Street.

Miss Martha Steward, Mrs. A. Shore, Mrs. Edna Platt and Mrs. A. Goodmurphy spent Friday in Belleville.

Mrs. W. Thompson is enjoying this week with friends in Toronto.

Mrs. Ernest Crippen, Hamilton, spent a few days guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morton.

Mrs. Mabel Bell will spend a week in Toronto guest of her son, Mr. John Bell and family.

Historical Site

At an impressive ceremony, October 13, conducted by the Canadian Historical Society, a commemorative plaque was placed on the wall of the Decou House near Thorold the dwelling to which Laura Secord brought her famous message on the morning of June 24, 1813, resulting in the rout and capture of the American invaders at Beaver Dams. At the ceremony the Decou House was declared an historical monument by Prime Minister Louis Frost. The house was built by John Decou, who came from Vermont to Canada as a U.E. Loyalist. Mrs. Smith (nee Miss Alberta Decou) of Wellington, is a descendant of the late John Decou and is naturally much interested in the honor conferred on the Decou House which she knows very well.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gerow, Port Hope, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. Morden.

Mrs. R. C. Gerow, Port Hope, spent Sunday at Grahamsnor, with Mrs. Edna Platt, as her guest.

"Will you always live at your present address?"

No one really likes moving, although most of us do move at one time or another.

When we do, we hope it will be to something approaching our idea of a "dream house". This is likely to be pretty expensive.

This doesn't apply, of course, to those few people whose taste runs to an igloo or a tent.

If you are one of those people who want to own their own home... or want to move to a bigger or better one... or even to be ready to move if you have to, shouldn't you take steps now?

Not everyone wants to save for a house, of course. There are probably a thousand and one things you want. Saving is the way to get them.

To save there's no surer way than with Canada Savings Bonds. It's the safe, convenient and systematic method.

They're easy to get through your bank, investment dealer or through your Company's Payroll Savings Plan. Better do something about it today!

Sasky Riders, Blue Bombers Open Western Grid Playoffs With Home-and-Home Series

By GRAHAM TROTTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Saskatchewan Roughriders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers start Canadian Major football along the playoff trail this week when they open their home-and-home, total points Western Interprovincial Union semi-final in Winnipeg.

The teams battled down to the wire for second place before Frank Filchock's galloping Riders won it by one point as the WIFU ended its 14-game schedule Saturday night. Saskatchewan was held to a 13-13 tie by the cellar-dwelling Stampeders at Calgary and Winnipeg thumped the first-place Edmonton Eskimos 17-6 at Edmonton.

Bombers, pre-season favorites who now appear to have shaken the mid-season slump that relegated them to third place, face a formidable foe against Saskatchewan in the second game of the WIFU's hottest clash.

With the veteran Filchock taking over ably at quarter for the injured Glenn Dobbs in late season, Riders were unbeaten in their last five games, winning four before flopping in the WIFU's only 1953 tie game Saturday.

Bombers Free Jinx

During schedule play, Riders beat Bombers four times in six meetings although being out-scored 92-84, Both Bomber wins came at home. Sir George Trafton charged have a jinx to beat when the semi-final shuffle to Regina next Saturday.

The semi-final winner meets Eskimos for the WIFU championship in a best-of-three series opening Nov. 7 in Edmonton. The WIFU champion then takes on the Ontario Rugby Football Union titleholders in a two-point-break sudden-death playoff Nov. 21 in the West.

Edmonton won 13 of 16 games for an easy first-place finish. But their loss through injury of halfback Billy Vessels was nerve shattering.

Vessels, winner of the Heisman Trophy last year as the most valuable U. S. college football player, was injured early in the Saturday game and was carried off the field on a stretcher. He is under observation in hospital.

Korchak Top Scorer

Homebrew flying wing Bud Korchak of Bombers kicked two converts in the game to win the league scoring championship with 66 points. 11 more than Vessels' backfield mate, Rollie Miles, who led in touchdowns with 11. Calgary's Field Mate Theodos, a Vancouver halfback product, scored a major to give him 10 for the season, same as Vessels, and third place in the scoring race.

Eskimo tackle Wilbur Snyder, second-year import from Idaho, kicked his 31st convert without a miss Saturday, believed a league record.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show that Korchak who came up through Winnipeg minor ranks, connected on one touchdown, one field goal, five two singles and 29 converts. He was the first homebrew to top WIFU scoring since Vern Graham of Calgary Stampeders and a native of Calgary won the honors four years ago.

Frankford Bowling

FRANKFORD — The Frankford Bowling League finished another week of bowling with both division leaders tightening up in the fight for points.

The schedule and rule books were distributed last week and those who have not received their copy should get in touch with their team captain. Team standings for the last week are shown in the following:

Win Chess Games

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—Isaac Boleslavski of Russia defeated Max Euwe of Holland and Laszlo Szabo of Hungary defeated Alexander Kotov of Russia in the last two adjourned games of the elimination tournament for the world chess championship Saturday.

The two games ended the two-month tournament, won earlier by 32-year-old Vassili Smyslov of Russia. Samuel Reshevsky of the United States and Paul Keres of Russia tied for second place.

Smyslov won nine games, tied 18 and lost one for 18 points in the 29-round tournament. Reshevsky won eight, tied 18 and lost four for 16 points. Keres and Bronstein had the same won, tied and lost figures. Tigran Petrosian of Russia was fifth with 15 points.

Three Teams Tied for Top In Quebec Loop

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Another heavy week-end schedule for the Quebec Hockey League failed to knock in the way of scoring out the teams.

Chicoutimi Saguenens, Valleyfield Braves and Springfield Indians are tied for the top slot with eight points apiece. Ottawa Senators follow with seven points, Montreal Royals and Quebec Aces follow with six and Sherbrooke Saints bring up the rear with five.

On Sunday, Royals shaded Valleyfield 3-1 while Quebec Aces overcame Ottawa 3-1 and Sherbrooke edged on Springfield 4-3.

Saturday's results went the other way with Royals going down 3-1 to Valleyfield, Springfield edging Sherbrooke 4-3 and Quebec and Ottawa tieing 1-1.

At Montreal Sunday defenceman Roger Leger scored an overtime goal to give Royals the victory. Dick Wray was the other Montreal scorer while Andre Corriveau connected for Valleyfield.

At Sherbrooke, the Saints won in a "last-minute" spurt. Ed Slasinkiwicz and John Bowness scoring in the finale. Marcel Bonin and Roger Roberge counted the earlier Sherbrooke goals while Hartley, McLeod and George Power registered for Springfield.

At Quebec veteran Adam Brown was Aces' star, figuring in all his side's three goals. The 33-year-old former National League forward scored first and last for Quebec and assisted Larry Keegan get the game-winning tally. Jack Gleaebrecht was the lone Ottawa goalgetter.

Lay Groundwork For Minor Hockey At City Meeting

At a minor hockey meeting held in the arena on Sunday afternoon it was decided that a later meeting will be called to which all players of Junior age wishing to play this season will be asked to attend.

There will be a discussion on whether Belleville should enter a junior team in the Trent Valley League or form a league with from two to four teams participating. The players' opinions are needed.

It was also decided that all persons interested will be welcome to come to the arena next Sunday when the executives of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association will be elected.

"Red" Doran, Recreation Director for Belleville said that there was a good turnout by young hockey stars of the future, stating there are 152 persons, 30 boys in a new group for lads of 7 and 8 years of age, 123 bantams, 80 midgets and 10 juveniles. These figures are taken from the schools and the majority of juveniles are working so many more can be expected before the season opens.

All those at the meeting agreed that a charge of one hundred dollars will be the fee for all sponsors This will buy the sweaters and what ever is left will be used to further minor hockey in the city.

There were eleven persons at the meeting. They were: "Boller" Lloyd, chairman of the meeting, Bert Hubbard, Hugh Jones, Frank Grandame, Mel Richards, Bill Brennan, Jim Musgrove, Red Doran, Harry Rollins, Walter Atkinson and David Jones.

London Central Collegiate Triumphs In Red Feather Football Tournament

By DON PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—London Central Collegiate Saturday night won the first golden rule award of Red Feather football.

As 500-bare-legged cheerleaders led more than 15,000 fans in applause, team captain Don Dyckman received the trophy and the fifth annual Red Feather football tournament of champions, billed as the biggest two-age extravaganza in the country, was over.

During its two-day stand, the tournament attracted more than 35,000 fans. The thousands of dollars they paid for tickets goes into the Toronto and Ontario Community Chest funds for charity.

Eight teams from Ontario secondary schools competed under unique rules.

Each team played four games and there were four winners. But to take home the trophy, a team had to do more than win: It had to "play the game for the game's sake" and "be fair at all times."

The coaches had a code, too, including a reminder that "no advantages are to be sought over others, except those of superior skill."

Sportsmanship Counts

London central white-washed St. Catharines Collegiate 19-0, as the tournament opened Friday night, but in taking over the Red Feather championship from North Toronto Collegiate, 1952 winner, it got marks for sportsmanship as well. Judges marked the teams for winning ability, field generalship and play-as-coach departments.

The tournament, sponsored by the Ontario Federation of School Athletic Associations in co-operation with a Toronto newspaper (Telegram) and department store (Eaton's), is held annually to raise funds for the Toronto and Ontario Community Chests. When all returns are in, some $60,000 is hoped for.

Indicative of the fair play inspired by the tournament is the fact Oshawa Collegiate, which won the right to represent central Ontario, voluntarily relinquished its privileges when it realized it had the makings of a better team by strengthening its team with outside high-school players.

As a result, Alliston Memorial High, the team Oshawa had beaten came to the tournament.

Sedbery Defeated

Saturday night, Ottawa Fisher Park High blanked Alliston 24-0 and Etobicoke Collegiate defeated Sudbury Tech 20-5. Friday night's second game saw Hamilton Westdale down Toronto Danforth Tech 26-6.

Halfback Jim Butler led Ottawa with three touchdowns, five converts and a field goal. Jack Young and Gord Johnson scored the other majors. Johnson also booted a single.

Don Guest, who is also an outstanding Canadian schoolboy scullar, scored two touchdowns and kicked a convert for Etobicoke. Lorry Stacey made two touchdowns for Sudbury Tech, one for the other major.

Glen Ping took Arne Kaldin's nine-yard pass for Sudbury's touchdown.

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Terry Sawchuk, Detroit, who chalked up his second shutout of the season as the Red Wings blanked Toronto Maple Leafs 3-0 Sunday.

Leo Blakey, Boston, who tallied twice in the Bruins 4-3 decision over Chicago Black Hawks Sunday.

Rookie defenceman Frank Martin whose first NHL goal Saturday gave Boston a 3-2 decision over Toronto.

ORFORD WIN TITLE

COBOURG (CP)—Peterborough Orfuns won the championship of the Ontario Rugby Football Union Intermediate A group Saturday by defeating Cobourg Galloping Ghosts 19-0. Peterborough led the game total-points series 34-5 after Cobourg won the first game 5-5.

Next time you watch a construction job, remember — you may have a closer connection with it than you think!

If you own life insurance, that connection could be very close. Some of your premium money might be helping to pay the cost of digging that gaping pit. For, every year, hundreds of millions of dollars are invested for policyholders in ways that provide many kinds of buildings.

Homes, schools, power plants, waterworks . . . these are but a few of the projects which life insurance money helps develop. It's really amazing how those dollars get around!

All this building creates jobs too. Not only jobs for builders, but for workers in new or expanded industries from coast to coast.

Canadiens Trim Wings, Rangers To Maintain Lead; Boston Wins Pair

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

The Oshawa Truckers unleashed potent power, it seems in their opening tilt of the Senior "B" group on Saturday night when they handed the revamped Peterborough Petes an 8-3 defeat in Bowmanville. It would seem the Truckers' power is not altogether on paper, for we hear the Petes have added some needed strength to their club. However, that 8-3 victory should be a warning to Kingston, Belleville and Orillia that the Motor City squad will be a force to be reckoned with.

The Oshawa crew, however, it must be admitted, have the jump on the rest of the squads in condition for they have been practising for nearly a month, besides tucking away a few exhibition games beneath their belts. However, they have given a edition of plenty of strength and after the other teams whip themselves in shape and playing condition, the predictions all around the loop that this year's Senior "B" race will be the wildest since its inception, seem to be fairly accurate ones.

The summary would indicate that condition played a big part in the Oshawa victory... The Truckers whipped in three in the first period, and it was 4-3 going into the third. The Petes ripped in another to make it 4-3. Oshawa ten took over and scored four with nary a return.

The Belleville Memos open their home stand here next Friday night with the champion Kingston Goodyears as the opposition, and that should be a battle. On the same night Orillia tackles Peterborough in the Littlock City. The Memos will likely sandwich that postponed tilt with Orillia between now and Friday.

OOF-WOOF!

Those Orillia Terriers may prove greyhounds, plus a dash of bulldog and mebbe mastiff, according to their showing on the track.

They're growling plenty of warning that they're going to be one of the toughies in this senior "B" loop, despite what the other clubs have stacked up.

And after looking over the Terrier line-up we are inclined to buy that one.

Look who's here!

A former Maple Leafer, Vic Grezz, is the playing coach, and the team has no less than five goalies to choose from. These include Jack Navior, Bob Shropshire, Bruce Hook, Bill Vollick and Bill Miller. (Who said newspaper advertising was sloppiar?)

Behind the blue line Grezz has lined up Lloyd Fearnall, Al Shewchuck (now there's a name to conjure memories); Aubrey Percival (never heard of him), and Bruce Gapp (ditto.). Not forgetting Miles Grezz.

But relax a moment. Get a load of the front teeth of the Terriers. There are Ab Reeves, Hugh Jack Davidson, trusty Earl McCrone, Murray Richardson and—Oops, lookit! Roy Comacher, yeah the same guy of the same name, Danny MacDonald and a couple of others from the Camp Borden area. Bruno Favero belongs to the litter, but the Owen Sound Mercurys are after him and Bruno may yet wind up with the northern team.

The Kingston Goodyears must be practicing under wraps, for there's nary a line about the 1953 edition of the Senior "g" champions. "Ole Major Hoople" is apparently up to his ears in pigskin and that's all there is to it. However the grapevine has it that Coach Johnny Carr-Harris, always the canny one, who scouted the Memos' workout the other night (whoever heard of selling an insurance policy in a hockey rink during a practice?) has a few players which may prove a surprise to "we-uns" of the rest of the league.

HE BEED IT!

That perennial championship fight-poor, Harry Robinson, was up to his old tricks again. He pulled stakes and vanished his way down to Gotham, got himself a couple of tickets ($25) and viewed the "results" match between Gene Turpin and a character named Berl. It seems Berl was the third man in the ring.

Harry dropped us a line from New York the day before the fight and the ole bloke's hopes were pinned on the Britton.

Saturday he postponded us from Schenectady while he was on route home. Said Harry: "Well, we lost again. But it was closer than the one Judge and the referee thought. The two knockdowns did it while the referee thought he was arbitrating a wrestling match. But it was interesting and a sell-out.

"All Turpin needs is American experience to win in the U.S.A. I scored it 7-4-4 for Olsen."

We'll go along with Harry to some extent. As we said in a previous piece, Turpin not only needs American experience, but the ability to outpoint by a decisive margin, or throw a knockout punch at this American opposition.

Harry, who next to his three squares a day, likes boxing, especially where the big boys are concerned, probably holds a lofty record at seeing more championship fights than any other beak-bust fan hereabouts. Comes the day of a big fight, no matter what class as long as it involves a world title, and Harry quietly departs from his editorial duties in the show. He has been "hooked," although he doesn't think so, but shucks, it's all in the game, as far as Bobby is concerned.

Albert Returns To Frisco

CALGARY (CP)—Frankie Albert after 'a disappointing Western Interprovincial Football Union season with the tail-end Calgary Stampeders, flew back to San Francisco Saturday night. It is believed he won't be back.

Frank McCool, sports editor of the Calgary Albertan, said that after pre-arrangement Albert stated he would take a crack at Canadian football for one year only and that no matter what happened he would be going back to San Francisco and his TV show at the conclusion of the season."

Albert did not live up to his press clippings, partly because he operated behind the weakest line in the WIFU. But on the few occasions that line did give him protection he ranked with the best in his field generalship, passing and running.

Habitants Blank Champions Who Take It Out On Leafs; Bruins Edge Toronto, Chicago

By Ed Simon
Canadian Press Staff Writer

If you were a National Hockey League coach with a home engagement coming up, would you rather face Detroit Red Wings or Boston Bruins?

Pick the Wings, five-time NHL champions, holders of a flock of league records, the most powerful scoring machine in hockey today—and you'd be right.

Choose the Bruins, a collection of youngsters and oldsters a team that hasn't won an NHL title in 13 years—and you'd be wrong.

In four road appearances this season the Red Wings have lost three games and tied once. The most powerful scoring machine in hockey today! Have scored more than one goal in any game on foreign ice.

Read Record Good

In four out-of-town trips the Bruins have broken even and invariably scored when they have more.

Again, during the week-end, the Wings travelled to Montreal and were shut out 1-0 Saturday by the Canadiens after they came home and trimmed Toronto Maple Leafs 3-0.

Meanwhile, the Bruins whipped the Leafs 3-2 at Toronto Saturday night and on to Chicago and beat the Black Hawks 4-3 Sunday.

In the only other league activity, the Canadiens edged New York Rangers 3-2 Sunday to bring to five-point lead over the second-place Wings. Boston's double victory moved the Bruins into a third-place tie with Toronto.

The list of Wings' goal-scorers looked like a mixture of a high-school graduation class and candidates for the old men's home.

Anyone Can Score

Frank Martin, 20, and in his second year of pro hockey, fired the goal that beat the Leafs. Joe Klukay, who broke in 10 years ago, scored twice against the Hawks and Milt Schmidt, who wore a bandage on his head Saturday was four years old, tallied once.

Ted Kennedy held the Leafs in front in the Toronto game eight seconds after the opening whistle, tying an NHL record. Tod Sloan made it 24 five minutes later.

Martin's goal, his first as a Bruin, climaxed the Leafs in the third period.

Against the winless Hawks, Klukay and Peirson connected in the first period before Bill Mosienko scored the first of two for Chicago. Jimmy McFadden tied it up briefly, but Schmidt and Klukay whistled home their tallies while the Hawks were a man short. Mosienko scored again in the final period.

Masur Fires Winner

Saturday at Montreal, a first-period goal by Eddie (Spider) Mazur stood up all the way.

Gerry McNeil stopped 28 shots to record his second shutout of the year in the Montreal nets. Terry Sawchuk handled 23 drives at the other end.

First-period goals by Gordie Howe and Vic Stasiuk gave the Wings their victory over the Isafs.

Bisons Trim Barons' Lead To One Point

By The Canadian Press

Cleveland Barons remained atop the American Hockey League during the week-end but their margin over the second-place Buffalo Bisons was cut to one point.

Buffalo clipped Hershey Bears 4-2 for their fourth victory in eight games Sunday night while in the only other Sunday night contest, Pittsburgh Hornets vaulted into third place, two points behind Buffalo and one above Providence Warriors and Providence Reds.

Saturday night Buffalo goalie Gil Mayer chalked up his first shutout of the season as the Horton Boys, Ed Litzenberger, Parker MacDonald and Ray Timgren were the goalgetters.

At Buffalo, the Bisons paced by right-winger Ken Hayden's two goals, came from behind to defeat the Bruins, Gaye Stewart and Steve Wochy were the other Buffalo goalgetters. Jack McIntyre and Norm Corcoran were the Hershey marksmen.

Here's the day Saturday's scores went: Cleveland 5 Providence 1; Syracuse 5 Pittsburgh 3; Hershey 15 Buffalo 3.

Hawks Trim Teeps As Cits Triumph; Toronto Clubs Win

By The Canadian Press

The homers stood out like sore thumbs in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series during the week-end.

St. Catharines Teepees suffered their second defeat in seven tries Saturday when they lost 5-4 to Galt Black Hawks.

Quebec Citadelles broke their string of bad luck with a 7-2 runaway over the visiting Hamilton Tigers Sunday. It was the second victory for Quebec, last-place squad in the nine-team league.

In a doubleheader at Toronto Sunday, Toronto Marlboros sprung into first place in the standings with a 5-0 shutout over Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts. In the second half of the twin-bill St. Michael's College Majors downed Guelph Biltmore 6-3.

Hawks Win In Finale

The Hawks came from behind with two goals in the last period to put down the Teepees. Ron Halstead, who fired the winner, Eddie Switzer, Phil Bottell, Pete Kawalchuk and Hillary Menard scored for Galt. Brian Cullen bagged two goals and assisted on two others for the Teepees. Hugh Barlow also notched two markers.

George Faulkner rapped home three counters in order to pace the Citadelles. Ray Cyr, Charles Beaumont, Mike Hatchford and Carl Wandowich added to the downfall of Hamilton Tigers. Marc McMeekin and Conrad Burton scored for the Tigers.

Western Mustangs Trim Queen's 19-7 As Redmen Rally to Beat McMaster

By The Canadian Press

Western Mustangs are galloping towards their second straight Senior Intercollegiate Football League championship at a relentless pace.

The Mustangs rolled to their fourth straight victory of the year by defeating Queen's Golden Gaels 19-7 in Little Memorial Stadium Saturday to keep a stranglehold on first place.

In the week-end's other game, McGill Redmen moved into a second-place tie with the idle Toronto Varsity by coming from behind to trim McMaster Marauders 13-7 at Hamilton.

Queen's gave the Mustangs their toughest opposition of the year, trailing 3-1 early in the game the Mustangs started rolling and moved into the lead with a late first-quarter touchdown by Garnet Mason. Murray Henderson gave the London club a 13-3 lead with a major just before the half.

The Gaels showed their best form in the third session when Jack Cook took a pass by Pete Cranston to score. Another Western touchdown by Henderson in the final quarter sewed up the verdict.

McGill Trails At Half

The Redmen came from behind a 7-6 half-time deficit to take their second game in four starts. McMaster's touchdown came in the first quarter when quarterback Joe Kosakowski took the ball from the one-yard line after a 55-yard ground drive.

McGill tied the score in the second quarter when George Klein scored after a 90-yard drive. Then Lorne Wrigglesworth of McMaster kicked a single just before half time.

It was all McGill in the last half with Len Shaw evening the score with a 30-yard punt early in the third quarter. The final Redmen touch was set up by an interception by Lionel Quinn when he blocked a kick. Shaw tossed to Hal Stewald for the major. Shaw singled to end the scoring.

Argonauts, Ottawa Trim Tigers, Larks To Make Big Four Anybody's Fight

Scullers Nip Tiger-Cats 17-5 Riders Trim Alouettes 30-15; Saskys, Pegs Play Off in West

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

It's just as well that nobody in Western Canada knows which club they'll visit next to Toronto for the Nov. 28 Grey Cup final because no one east of Winnipeg has the foggiest idea who will be waiting for them at Varsity Stadium. The way things have been going the Four should conduct sailors tests.

The Western Conference has the play-off trail this week and the Big Four race is normal—that is, everything is all mixed up. The eastern union had a big chance to straighten out into a two-year battle during the week-end but now it's anybody's fight.

Toronto Argonauts, humbled by Montreal Alouettes 30-11 the week previously, broke into Hamilton Tiger-Cats with a 17-5 count at Toronto Saturday. And Ottawa Rough Riders, the powerhouse of the Big Four on paper that looked accordingly on their final two or three outings, knocked over the Als 20-15 at Montreal.

The 18-game Western Conference season ended Saturday night with interesting results. Saskatchewan Roughriders, with old guru Eagle Keys back on the coaching job, had to settle for a 15-13 tie with the Calgary Stampeders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers knocked over the first-place Edmonton Eskimos 17-8 at Edmonton.

Roughriders Second

The tie gave Roughriders second place, one point up on the Bombers and the two clubs meet at Winnipeg Wednesday in the first of the home-and-home total-point semi-finals. The series winner meets Edmonton in the best-of-three finals starting Nov. 7.

Huge Still Safe Chance

Sarnia Imperials, once - feared champions of the ORFU who are finding it tough going this year, came up with one of their best games on Saturday to defeat Toronto Balmy Beach 23-6 and keep their playoff chances alive. Beaches spattered Brantford Redskins 37-0 at Toronto on Sunday to stay in a second-place tie with the league.

The league - leading Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen won a playoff berth by defeating the Redskins 25-12 at Kitchener on Saturday.

Perk Johnson, Eric McKeever and Dutch Davey went over for Sarnia touchdowns with Jack McKelvie converting all three. Jim Burry booted a single and the other points came on safety touches. Al Hackstetter intercepted a Jim Turcotte pass for a Brantford major and Ray Sowalisk took a 15-yard forward to count another touchdown. Larry Haistron converted both.

Big Day For Gregory

Gregory had a field day for Balmy Beach against Brantford. He rolled up 17 points on two touchdowns, a field goal and four converts. Johnny Bell also scored two touchdowns of them on an 45-yard run. John McCutcheon recovered a fumbled Brantford snap behind the Redskins' goal line and Doucette plunged two yards through centre to make the other Toronto majors.

Argonauts, who usually come-up with the big ones, stopped Thurlow Card cold, allowing them a meagre 34 yards gained on the ground and only 100 yards in the air. The Boxcars could only get organized along the line and Toronto quarter Nobby Wirkowski hit practically enough time to count the beans while looking for pass receivers.

Dip Cunha and Doug Smylie went over for the Argonaut touchdowns. Bob Shaw kicked both converts and a field goal while Steve Kaszey booted two singles. Cam Fraser kicked a single for Hamilton. The other points came on two safety touches.

The Alouettes, riding on a three-game win streak, appeared on the way to their fourth victory with a 9-0 half-time lead but they couldn't stand prosperity. Riders rolled through their line and the Als were a badly-beaten club at the end of 60 minutes.

Fleet Bernie Flowers accounted for two Ottawa touchdowns. Ava Tuttle Stone, Choo Choo Roberts and Bobby Cunningham scored one each. Roberts made four converts good and also kicked a single. John O'Gulin and Alex Webster counted majors for the Als, both converted by Ray Poole who also kicked a placement.

Dutchies Crush Stratford 9-2; Cats Win Another

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Surprises! The week-end in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series was full of them.

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, after spotting Stratford seven league games an eight-day jump in the schedule, finally started off with a crushing 9-2 victory over Stratford Indians in Kitchener Saturday.

Hamilton Tigers, who won only two games all last season, belted Oshawa Generals 14-4 in Hamilton Saturday for their third consecutive victory. The Tigers are undefeated this year.

Niagara Falls Cataracts downed Windsor Bulldogs 7-4 in Niagara Falls Saturday for their first victory of the season after three losses.

Four Overtime Goals

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A group North Bay Trappers rapped in four overtime goals for a 9-5 victory over Pembroke Lumber Kings in North Bay Saturday.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Greyhounds chalked up four points with a pair of victories over the Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Indians in a week-end home-and-home series. On home ice Saturday the Hounds squeezed out a 3-1 overtime victory and then crossed the border to the nose out the Indians 3-2 Sunday.

Don Ropp was in top form as he blasted three goals to lead the Dutchmen, last year's Allan Cup champions, to their victory. John Moretich, Jerry Theberge, Jack McKenzie, Ken Laufman, Charlie Brooker and Sam Kennedy shared the rest. Lyn Beede bagged both markers for the Indians.

Hamilton broke loose with four goals in the final period to whip Chatham. Frank Iscombe and Blanch each fired two goals for Hamilton. Kemp, Unger, Taylor and Murray Comfort rounded out the total. Carl Lischner, Charlie Bell, Didone and Plouffe were the Chatham marksmen.

Niagara Falls staved off a third-period rally to bounce Windsor. Orv Pautenet and Lloyd Ferguson split four goals to pace the Cataracts. Morris, Kozlasky and Air fired singles. Wiseman, Keyes, Gordon and Haley clicked for Windsor.

In Owen Sound the lead changed hands three times before the Mercurys sailed away their decision with four consecutive goals in the second period. John Sheddon and Bill McComb counted two goals each for the Mercurys. Tommy Burlington, Buck Forslund and Bill Hagen shot the others. Harry O'Connor notched a pair for the Sailors with the remainder going to Ollie Hadden, Rolf Beauchamp, John McKensel and Nick Federick.

North Bay Trappers pulled the game out of the fire when they rapped their netminder in the last minute of regulation time and tied the score. Four goals in the overtime session wrapped up their 9-5 decision over Pembroke Lumber Kings.

Tommy Hurst's overtime marker gave the Greyhounds their 2-1 decision over the Indians Saturday. Johnny Officiant tallied earlier for the Greyhounds and Henry Backor for the Indians.

Panthers Crush Stratford 34-6

STRATFORD (CP) — Hamilton Panthers scored four converted touchdowns in the first 10 minutes Saturday and went on to crush Stratford Indians 34-6 in the first game of the Ontario Rugby Football Union intermediate schedule.

Twice in the last five minutes of play Stratford had the ball on the Hamilton one-yard line but failed to push it over.

Intercounty Seeks Plan to Decrease Operations Cost

BRANTFORD (CP)—Team owners of the Senior Intercounty Baseball League met Sunday to work out a plan that would decrease the cost of operating their clubs.

The owners, with one or two exceptions, reported they had lost money last year, despite a players' salary limit of $18,500.

Five recommendations aimed at cutting expenses by limiting the number of high-priced imports will be voted on at the next meeting here Nov. 2.

They would:

1. Permit all players who signed 1953 Intercounty contracts to return to the league next season.

2. Refuse entry to all new players who have played higher than class B ball in the last two years.

3. Classify players who have not played professional baseball for one or more years according to the league in which they last played.

4. Classify recognized Negro leagues as higher than class B.

5. Investigate the possibilities of acquiring recognized professional clubs for the league.

Oshawa Merchants, who expected a decision on whether they would be accepted into the league on a permanent basis, were told they would be given a two - year trial, but no answer. New Year's Day is the deadline for declaring entries. Last season the Merchants were admitted on a one-year franchise.

Varsity Seconds Down Aggies

GUELPH (CP)—Toronto Varsity Blues hung on Saturday to defeat Ontario Agricultural College Aggies 14-13 in an Intermediate Intercollegiate football game here. With one play left in the game, the Aggies tried a field goal from the Toronto 30-yard line but the Blues blocked the boot.

Windsor Swamps Sarnia Knights

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Windsor AKO defeated Sarnia Knights of Columbus 55-0 Sunday in the first game of a two-game total-point series for the Ontario Rugby Football Union junior title.

Second game will be played in Sarnia next Saturday.

Windsor was in control all the way and the Sarnia team never got within 25 yards of the Windsor goal line.

AKO held a 12-0 lead at the end of the first quarter and extended the lead to 18-0 at half time. The score was 35-0 at the end of the third period.

Single touchdowns were scored by Leo Kacez, Boris Antosko, Lou Pasonlin, Eddy Mularchuk and Ron Hoover.

Stones to Replace Curlers' Irons

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian curlers will use granites instead of the traditional irons in one of the major national championships.

The 31st annual meeting of the Royal Canadian Curling Club agreed Saturday to make the change this year in competitions for the Governor-General's Trophy to be decided at Ottawa.

Sponsors of the move said it would lead to greater uniformity in curling as most players used granite rather than irons.

LONG SUMMER

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—Fine large raspberries were another proof of the unusually fine autumn weather. They were picked in mid-October from big clusters in a garden on the Lake Ontario shore near here.

Vessels Suffers Muscle Fracture In 'Peg' Game

A club spokesman said Vessels "may be able to play" in the best-of-three WIFU playoff games beg here Nov. 7.

He charged the Bombers "deliberately set out to injure Vessels and other starry members of the team." He said the Oklahoma import was "fenced" by guard Buck Rogers of Winnipeg and claimed that Winnipeg guard Dean Sanders and quarter Indian Jack Jacobs also were "unnecessarily rough."

The Edmonton charge was denied by George Trafton, Blue Bomber coach, and Karl Slocomb, president of the Winnipeg club. Slocomb called it "ridiculous."

"Perhaps Vessels was hit by two or three players behind the line of scrimmage and as he tried to get up another player tackled him.

LONDON TEAM AHEAD

KITCHENER (CP) — London CHSA defeated Kitchener-Waterloo Concordias 3-1 Saturday in the first game of the finals for the Southern Ontario Soccer League championship. Second game of the goals-to-count series will be played in London next Saturday.

Quakers Drop Four in Row

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Edmonton Flyers handed Saskatoon Quakers their fourth straight defeat by a 4-2 count in a Western Hockey League game Saturday night.

In other Saturday games Vancouver Canucks trimmed Seattle Bombers 5-1 while New Westminster Royals tied Victoria Cougars 1-1. New Westminster drubbed Seattle 6-3 in Sunday's only game.

Solid goal-tending by Edmonton's Glen Hall frustrated the Quakers and only Chuck McCullough and Eddie Robonson were able to beat him. Jim Anderson scored twice for the Flyers with Don Pollock and Steve Brymnak adding singles.

Andy Skilnyk paced Vancouver to victory with three goals and two assists. Larry Popein tried the other two counters. Doug Adair notched for Seattle.

Ray disinherited goal in the first period cost New Westminster victory over Victoria. Max McNab's pass-out in front of Referee Ross Morrow and bounced to Pete Durham's stick. Durham slapped it home but Morrow ruled no goal. Durham scored later and Andy Hebenton counted for Victoria.

In the Royals' triumph over Seattle, Lloyd Gronsdahl and Bobby Bergeron, Max McNab, Blinky Boyce, Gerry Hornemiah and Bob Love tallied for New Westminster. Wayne Brown with two and Doug Gratzalay were the Bombers' scorers.

MOTORISTS PROVE RISLONE POURS NEW POWER INTO ENGINES!
"One quart of Rislone—and my 5-year old car performed like new in less than 10 miles"
::: says WILFRED CLARKSON, LANSING, ONT.
"On the recommendation of my service station I tried a quart of Rislone in the crankcase of my 1947 automobile. I then drove the car approximately 10 miles and before the end of the drive I was amazed at the increase in power which my car was delivering. I can unhesitatingly recommend Rislone to Canadian motorists."
● These delighted Rislone users are like thousands of Canadian car owners, fleet operators, farmers and men who run marine engines and construction equipment.
Rislone absorbs gum and sludge, frees sticking valves; gives every engine a chance to deliver restored compression and power. This oil alloy gives your engine a "tune-up" without a lay-up. Ask your service-station attendant about the Rislone TEN MILE TRIAL today!

North has a count of six tricks and south counts five. The total should produce 11 tricks at a satisfactory trump suit. The bidding goes like this

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 H	2 C
2 S	3 C	3 S	Pass
4 S	Pass	Pass	Pass

Although south has five tricks with two sure he lacks a fourth high card for what would be a true opening one bid. So there is no doubt that his original pass is correct.

The north raise to three spades shows a trick more than the five promised by an opener. Although south can then discover a count of 11 tricks in the pair there is no point in going beyond game.

If east had tried to sacrifice with five clubs, south could go to five spades. At least he knows his hand has the count for going to a bid of five if absolutely necessary.

Opening lead from west was a club and declarer took 11 tricks.

Learn to count and your gains will mount.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

You can get along in a bridge game by doing what comes naturally. But you are more accurate by re-checking your values with sound mathematical count.

The simplest count known to man or beast is Horse Sense. In it we count one trick for each high card (ace or king or queen) and one for each short card (each card short of three in each short suit).

Counted in this manner the tricks are always there to be had. If they fail to make, it is because of wrong play or bad timing or some unexpected division of outstanding cards. In a recent tourn-

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY, OCT. 21, 1952.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Planetary aspects suggest some reviewing, flaw-checking. Don't risk possessions or standing by lack of forethought, careless words. Don't sign contracts, make loans without close study.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Tread lightly dealing with superiors, in matters involving money, personal valuables. Heart and family interests progress better when we are considerate, tolerable, thoroughly honest.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Do what you have in the most efficient way, using sound methods only. Have due esteem for others, remembering that they, too, are trying hard—and often smartly. Day okay for most efforts.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Plenty of good opportunities for you who are wide-awake and ready to act. Get to the core of things. Delve for hidden benefits. Talk sensible chances.

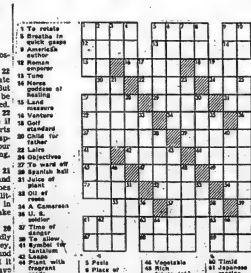
July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Among top favored; Investments, sound contacts, if integrity is used in transactions. Co-ordinate plans with action to gain the maximum profit from endeavors. Shun questionable schemes and persons.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Stars indicate many opportunities and some good propositions. Put forth extra effort in your business and personal endeavors. Concentrate on the important issues and others will fall into line.

September 24 to October 22 (Libra)—Excellent possibilities for keen action now, so take advantage of them during this fine period. Lay plans most thoughtfully for future. Be awake to what is possible and you can hardly miss.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Vibrations stimulate long-range, efficient matters. But don't take things for granted; be ready for the unusual, unexpected.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Aspects favorable if you are putting forth best efforts now. Don't act in hurried or hazard fashion. Progress of your ambitions should be encouraging. Don't neglect health.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Private affairs and those pertaining to loved ones especially favored. Don't mind little hurts; more forbearance is in order these days. Give-and-take qualities make for happiness.

January 22 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Not a wholly friendly day for activities involving money, law, business matters. Take sound advice. We all can use it, and it never hurts to listen. You have an option on opportunity.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces).— Sidestep extremes; squelch any tendency to give up or become discouraged. Life has its ups and downs and we all are controlled daily by problems. Show your better self.

YOU BORN TODAY have more than one side and many fine attributes. It is up to you to find your right sphere of action. You have magnetism, dignity, foresight, fortitude, determination, and can reach the goals you set. You should be fond of literature, learning. Don't let others impose upon you. Check a tendency toward worrying and overdoing things. Your sign has produced many successful writers, managers, artists, nurses, doctors, chemists and travellers. Avoid extravagance.

Resume Probe After Officer Resigns Post

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis police board today resumed its inquiry into reported discrepancies in police accounts of the Green lease kidnapping case—an investigation which prompted a veteran officer's resignation.

Capt. Louis Scoulders, credited with breaking the kidnap case, resigned in a surprise move Saturday, charging the probe had destroyed his reputation as an officer.

ARREST BLONDE "LURITER"

In another aspect of the case, the FBI arrested a 29-year-old blonde and said she would be charged with giving false information to its agents.

The FBI apparently took the action in an attempt to discourage future false tips in its search for the missing $300,000 of the $600,000 ransom money.

Mrs. Elizabeth Eleanor Curti of St. Louis was arrested at a small downtown hotel Saturday after she was reported saying she heard a woman screaming in front of having seen a "bundle of cash" in a west side apartment.

Authorities said Mrs. Curti gave "phony information" on the missing ransom money. She gave no clues on its whereabouts.

Investigators on charge calls for a fine of not more than $10,000 and a prison sentence of not more than five years, or both.

Police chief Jeremiah O'Connell said last night that the mixed up witnesses remain to be questioned by the board.

"ALWAYS DISCREPANCIES"

Scoulders, a veteran of 27 years on the force, said the investigation told him that Carl Austin Hall confessed kidnap-slayer of Bobby Greenlease, six, St. Louis and spending money freely.

One was when John Hagen but Scoulders refused to name his other informant. Hager's tip led to the arrest of Hall and his partner in crime, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady.

Scoulders told reporters after announcing his resignation that the police inquiry should never have been started.

"Where always are discrepancies in a case like this," he said.

Scoulders said the difficulties containing $293,000 in ransom money were brought in with the prisoner. He said an "unknown" brought the money to the police station in secret.

"I was trying to protect the (Greenlease) boy," he said. "Hall had told me he was still alive."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI today began distribution throughout the United States of the serial numbers of the recovered portion of the $600,000 Greenlease kidnapping ransom.

Adjust Wheat Export Quotas Under International Pact Using Compromise Formula

By SYDNEY GAMPELL

LONDON (Reuters) — The Mardi meeting of the International Wheat Council has solved its major problem: how to adjust export quotas in the light of Britain's withdrawal from the agreement without giving the United States an outright majority.

The solution has been to reduce the U. S. export quota to just under 30 per cent of the total export quotas—208,500,000 bushels out of 421,000,000.

This compromise must have been easy to reach. The world wheat price is below the maximum of $2.05 under the international wheat agreement and well above the minimum of $1.55. It is only at the maximum that exporters must sell and at the minimum that importers must buy.

Was Big Gap

The July council meeting in London left a big gap—140,000,000 bushels between aggregate export quotas of 565,000,000 and aggregate import quotas of 421,000,000. This resulted from the withdrawal of Britain and Ireland, with quotas of 177,000,000. After its Washington meeting in April, the council announced unsatisfied requests for increases of 120,000,000 tons (37,000,000 bushels) in the import quotas and if these requests had been played in full the gap would have closed. But most countries decided they did not want bigger imports. Under the old agreement, wheat inside was much cheaper than wheat outside and exporting countries had to subsidize their exports to keep the price at the agreed maximum. But times have changed and importing countries know it.

Australia covered 27,000,000 bushels at the April price export quota had already been cut from 82,500,000 bushels to 75,000,000. She voluntarily cut it again to 48,000,000.

That left a gap of 147,000,000 to be covered by the United States and Canada. The rub, then, was that last season the U. S. share of Britain's quota was only 22 per cent of Canada's. If the gap had been shared between the two countries in those proportions, the U.S. would have been cut by only 26,000,000 bushels to 244,000,000 while Canada would have been allotted by 121,000,000 to only 129,000,000.

The U. S. would then have had 58 per cent of the total export quotas and so of the total export votes. Most council decisions require a two-thirds majority of the exporters and importers separately. And no Commonwealth country would have looked bad, especially since the importing country has more than 13 per cent of the total import quotas and so got the total import votes.

Moreover Canada, a larger wheat exporter, than the U. S. and far more dependent on wheat exports, would never have consented to having only half as large an export quota.

The solution has been to cut the U. S. quota by about 6,000,000 bushels to 209,500,000 and Canada's by about 37,000,000 to 183,000,000.

Whether this compromise is a concession by the United States or a concession to it remains to be seen.

Meanwhile business under the agreement continues at a slow pace. Even excluding Britain from last year's figures, Canada so far this season has sold less than a third as much as a year ago and the United States and Australia have not yet done much better.

Thirteen of the 45 importing countries have not yet bought any wheat under the new agreement and most of the others have bought only small amounts though a few—Japan, South Africa, Germany, Holland, Belgium and Ceylon—have bought more or less heavily.

Death Toll 26

SERAING, Belgium (AP)—The final death toll from an explosion and fire in the Charbonnages du Manay coal mine here has been set at 26 killed.

Of the 40 Belgian and Italian miners trapped by the blast Friday, only 14 escaped. All but one of these were treated for hospital for burns.

HOW to get a Friendly Loan at NIAGARA FINANCE
Drop in to see your friendly Niagara Loan adviser. He'll make it easy for you to get the Friendly Loan that suits you best. Here are important facts for you about Niagara Loans.
Who can get a Niagara Friendly Loan?—Anyone with a reputation for honesty and the ability to repay.
How much can be borrowed from Niagara?—Up to $1,500; sometimes, more.
How quickly from Niagara?—Sometimes in 20 minutes; within 24 hours for most loans.
How long can I take to repay?—In the table below, there are just a few of many plans. They will give you some idea of time periods allowed for different amounts . . . from 4 to 24 months. And for all people who have uneven income during the year, such as farmers and shopkeepers, special payment schedules may be arranged on loans above $500.
Are all loan charges the same?—Up to $300 generally, yes; but remember, at Niagara, you get life insurance at no extra cost.
Above $500, the larger the amount and the longer the time—the lower the rate. Compare . . . often you'll "buy" more money at less cost at Niagara.
Is life insurance on loans worthwhile?—Yes, here is a real family peace-of-mind feature. At no extra cost to you, loans of $1500 or less, are life-insured. Be sure you get this protection when you borrow.
Does a friend have to "back" my loan?—No, seldom do borrowers prefer an endorsed loan. And bankable security, of course is not needed.
How may ways of borrowing are there?—You can use any of these Niagara Loan plans to buy cars, trucks, etc., any owner signs. 2. Husband-and-wife, on furnishings. 3. On business equipment. 4. On farm stock and equipment.
Can I have a private interview?—Yes, your interview at Niagara will be private, courteous, and friendly.
Why do people borrow money?—A few reasons are: to finance new furniture, to pay doctor bills, to meet large payments for car and truck repairs; to meet emergencies; to repair or modernize homes; to enlarge a business; for seed, stock, fertilizer for farms; and to take advantage of low prices, when cash is paid.

Businessmen See No Reason To Fear Cut in Defence Work Will Bring Economic Collapse

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, describing Canada as the "land of greatest opportunity in the world," said today there is no basis for pessimism that a cut in defence expenditures will bring an economic recession or collapse.

In its annual submission to the federal cabinet, the chamber—Canada's national business organization—said an easing of international tension should give free enterprise an opportunity to show that it can achieve.

The submission covered policy declarations and resolutions adopted at the chamber's annual convention in Edmonton Sept. 14-17 and referred to practically all phases of the Canadian economy.

On defence spending, the chamber said it believes any reduction in defence expenditures should be only a minor proportion of present levels and that should an effective disarmament agreement is reached and the threat of aggression is removed."

"Moreover, the chamber believes that there are many desirable national projects and alternative civilian demands in Canada to absorb any economic readjustments that may be necessary."

IMMIGRATION

"The chamber believes that the objective of Canadian policy should be a population of 30,000,000 by 1975. To achieve this aim, there still have to be more immigrants than have been admitted in recent years."

TAXATION

"The chamber believes that both personal and corporate income taxes are too high for a developing country. State control increases with high taxation."

BUSINESS

"Government control and interference in business should be kept to a minimum, and should only occur where there is a clear need to protect some accurately defined public interest."

TRADE

The chamber "is concerned with the tendency of the United States to modify the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. . . . Unless new opportunities are provided for other countries to earn dollars to pay for their purchases, there can be no satisfactory solution to the dollar problem."

AGRICULTURE

"An adequate supply of labor on the farms would encourage a more diversified farm program, mean more livestock, ensure a more balanced farm operation, and develop year-round in place of present seasonal employment.

"Large areas in Canada could materially increase their agricultural production if moisture could be provided by means of irrigation at the proper time."

FISHERIES

"The chamber . . . urges the federal government to take the necessary steps toward effecting a suitable treaty or to promote other arrangements as will provide means for the international solution to the continuing decline of the fish population in the Great Lakes."

FORESTRY

"The chamber urges all responsible bodies to press forward toward the early completion of comprehensive forest inventories and long range estimates of future needs for forest products."

LABOR RELATIONS

All strikes should be prohibited "until they have been authorized by a majority of all the employees affected in a government-supervised and secret ballot, held after the expiry of a 'cooling-off' period.

"Sympathetic strikes, strikes due to jurisdictional disputes, mass picketing, intimidation and the secondary boycott are inconsistent with the Canadian way of life, and should be prohibited."

COMMUNISM

"Communists should be barred from employment in all vital services and industries. The chamber approves the steps already taken by the government in this connection and urges continued vigilance."

HEALTH INSURANCE

"The chamber is opposed to any form of compulsory health insurance or state medicine. . . ."

GOVERNMENT EFFICIENCY

"The chamber urges that a royal commission should be immediately appointed to make recommendations for increased economy and efficiency and improved service in the transaction of public business."

MUNICIPALITIES

"The financial position of Canadian municipalities is of national concern, and it is urged that there should be a review of provincial-municipal financial relationships in the light of the federal-provincial financial arrangements which have come into existence."

Officer Predicts Teacher Shortage

NEW LISKEARD (CP) — David L. Tough, vice-president of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, said Saturday night that, by 1960, there will be only two high school teachers for every three needed.

Addressing more than 70 northern Ontario secondary school teachers attending the federation's District 13 convention, he said the Ontario College of Education normally turns out 400 teachers a year, but this year enrolment is down.

Mr. Tough, principal of Forest Hill Collegiate in the Toronto area, said a 10-per-cent increase in the number of teachers graduating from the college is needed and the education department is in a dilemma trying to find ways to increase the enrolment.

Soviet Minister Promises Wives Brighter Future

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Soviet Trade Minister Anastas Mikoyan promises the Russian housewife a bright future with more of everything for the kitchen—from sausages to washing machines—in a speech published here Sunday.

Mikoyan told trade officials Oct. 17 what Russia plans to achieve under the government's latest decrees increasing targets for food production and the manufacture of goods for the domestic market.

His speech, published in the Communist party newspaper Pravda, promises more meat and butter, vacuum cleaners and refrigerators, kitchen gadgets, television and radio sets and bicycles and cars.

Champagne now is available to workers, he said, and the consumption of wine has nearly doubled since 1940.

He urged industry to "develop large-scale advertising in order to instruct customers, to teach them and to inform them." But Pravda must not adopt "the capitalist way of fooling people by exaggerated publicity."

Mikoyan called for better window dressing, a brighter selection of clothes, more variety in food sold in restaurants and improved hygiene in the transport of bread.

Scientist Will Spend Seven Years Looking at Oceans To Find Out Why Earth Magnetic

By ALAN HARVEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Backed by Canadian dollars, a Silsarin-born scientist sets sail this week to spend the next seven years looking at oceans to find out why the earth is magnetic.

Versatile Dr. Bohdan Hodaus Cwilong, formerly associate professor of physics at the University of British Columbia, once paddled 200 miles through Poland in a washtub. This time he plans to use a conventional 74-foot yawl, replaced later by a smaller craft now under construction in Vancouver.

Dr. Cwilong, those accomplishments include prize-winning plays in blank verse and a runner-up spot in a New Zealand national chess championship, weighs anchor from Hamble in Hampshire Tuesday or Wednesday. With him will be his English wife, Marie, and five assorted crew members, including a chef from a luxury liner and a 16-year-old ships' boy, Roy Nash.

SEVEN-YEAR SCHEDULE

Here is Dr. Cwilong's sail-wash schedule:

Three years in the Pacific, covering as much as possible of an area of 15,000,000 square miles;

Two years in the Indian ocean, 6,000,000 square miles;

Two years in the Atlantic, 3,000,000 square miles.

"We want to find out why the earth is magnetic," said the 44-year-old scientist, reached by telephone at his Hampshire headquarters. "The ocean is the best place to do it because there we are free from the interference caused by land masses."

The first stop will likely be Lisbon, then Madeira and the Bahamas. Dr. Cwilong, whose resources include a $600 grant from Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of UBC, hopes to be in Vancouver in about a year to pick up his second boat, a 34-foot demasted iced yawl which will be called Neo-Magnetic III.

STUDY STORMS

The party plans to spend several months in the doldrums, studying tropical storms and taking films of waterspouts.

"It sounds dangerous," said Dr. Cwilong, "but actually you can get quite close, they move so slowly."

The seven-year search of the seas, if successful, should add much to current thinking about terrestial magnetism. As things stand, magnetic lines of force can be measured and calculated, but little is known about how or why they came into existence. One recent theory attributes regional magnetic changes to "flow movements" in the earth's molten core.

The last magnetic survey ship, the Carnegie, burned out off Samoa in 1929. A British-built craft was recently scrapped for financial reasons. Air survey is considered expensive and the present expedition is a shoestring compromise.

Dr. Cwilong was born in Irkutsk, Siberia, son of a Polish judge deported in the days of the Czars. As a 16-year-old schoolboy, he won a bet by paddling down two Polish rivers to Warsaw in a washtub, making the trip in five days.

Ah accomplished yachtsman, author of technical books, painter and sculptor and expert on Copernicus, Dr. Cwilong made his first round-the-world voyage in 1936. He spent the Second World War at Oxford, where his investigations into freezing of aircraft at high altitudes provided a basis for production of artificial rainfall and brought him the Johnson Memorial Prize, awarded every four years for outstanding work in meteorology or astronomy.

Before going to Vancouver, he spent three years in New Zealand.

CONSERVATIVE WINS BY-ELECTION IN NIAGARA FALLS

A. Jolley's Victory Gain from Liberals

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Arthur Jolley, 42-year-old building contractor, Monday was elected to the Ontario legislature for the Niagara Falls riding, winning the seat for the Progressive Conservatives in a by-election.

His victory was a gain from the Liberals, who held the seat since 1948 until William L. Houck resigned last summer to successfully contest the Welland-centred federal seat of Niagara in the Aug. 10 general election.

The Progressive Conservative candidate's election in this first by-election test since the provincial general election in 1951 increased the party's representation in the 98-seat house to 80. The Liberals hold six seats, the CCF 2, Liberal-Labor 1 and Labor-Progressive 1.

Final returns for the 137 polls were: Arthur Jolley, Progressive Conservative, 19,427 votes; Grant Donald, Liberal, 18,290; Pat Spain, CCF, 1,785; and Mary Price, Labor-Progressive, 287. Some 33 per cent of the 59,016 eligible voters went to the polls.

BEATEN IN 1951

Mr. Donald, an RCAF veteran and vice-president of the Greater Niagara Chamber of Commerce, lost out by 2,000 votes when he contested the riding in the 1951 general election. He polled 8,946 votes against 10,209 for the Liberal candidate, Mr. Houck, and 3,749 for James Bacon.

Mr. Donald, 52, a Canadian National Railways employee, is also a Niagara Falls councillor, conceded Mr. Jolley's election 30 minutes after the polls closed at 7 p.m. EST.

Mr. Jolley, a city councillor for the last two years, said in broadcast he regarded his victory as a tribute to Premier Frost. Mr. Donald said in a statement: "The battle was a good one. I have no tears. My best wishes will go to Toronto with the Conservative candidate."

"UNFORTUNATE:" OLIVER

Farquhar Oliver, Liberal house leader, said that when the Conservative victory shows there "apparently was a desire by the people to the side of the government." Noting the big majority of Progressive Conservatives in the house standings, he said it was "unfortunate" for the province that the government should have elected another member.

CONDEMNED BY MPs

When the Progressive Conservatives were elected to power Nov. 10, 1943, they had their legislature majority was the largest ever in Ontario history. The election previous parallel to the one-sided victory was in 1934 when the Conservatives under G. Howard Ferguson won 91 seats in a 112-member house.

The riding includes the city of Niagara Falls, the town of Fort Erie, the villages of Chippawa and Crystal Beach and the townships of Stamford, Willoughby and Bertie.

Second Atomic Weapon Test Made by Britain in Australia

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — British scientists, who today set off their second atomic blast in the Australian desert, will leave soon for London to talks with Prime Minister Churchill which may decide the future course of Britain's atomic policy.

Today's blast passed almost unnoticed in the desolate Woomera wilderness where it was exploded. No news correspondents or local residents heard or saw anything.

The announcement that the atomic weapon had gone off came in this bald statement from the Australian ministry of supply:

"Prime Minister Menzies announced that the second atomic weapon was successfully exploded at . . . a proving ground northwest of Woomera.

TESTS OVER

"Theoretical calculations have been confirmed. Full safety precautions were taken which precludes the present trials."

First explosion in the current test took place at Woomera 11 days ago. Since then British scientists have carried out various other trials involving a number of minor explosions. The current tests followed the initial British atom test on Australia's Monte Bello Islands in 1952.

Australia's supply minister, Howard Beale, said the latest tests "represented close co-operation between British and Australian staffs and have been carried through in a spirit of close partnership."

They were "technically, a very satisfactory operation."

TRIAL OF SAME WEAPON?

While the exact nature of the test Tuesday will be made known at least for some time, one theory is that Britain's two explosions were both related to the same weapon. Experts say today's explosion could have been a trial of a new firing device.

If suppositions are correct, the success of both tests would seem to indicate that Britain now is fully prepared to embark on an atomic weapon production line with the "knowhow" to produce a bomb that could be adapted as a warhead for guided missiles.

Such indications as there have been from Woomera seem to show that Britain has reached a firm policy decision for making smaller atomic bombs, the so-called utility bomb, instead of pouring in the huge sums needed for the production of monster weapons of the thermo-nuclear (hydrogen bomb) type.

TALKS TO ARRANGE KOREAN PARLEY STILL STALLED

U.S. Envoy Warns Reds Onus on Their Shoulders

PANMUNJOM (AP) — United States Ambassador Arthur Dean warned today that unless the Reds get down to business in planning the Korean peace talks, they face the "onus of not having a political conference."

After his second straight day of stand-off preliminary talks with the Communists, Dean told reporters: "I'm not as fearful as to their attitude" they must face such a responsibility.

In the two-hour, 22-minute session today, both sides clung close to their opening designs for the conference and even how to plan it.

The Communists again demanded that non-belligerent countries be invited to the peace talks and that this question be settled before anything else—time or place—is discussed.

NO DEBATING SOCIETY

Dean insisted that only those countries whose troops fought in Korea should make the peace, and urged the Reds to get on with the date and date for the conference, Dean warned:

"If we invite neutral nations, eliminate those who fought for us, we may turn the political conference into an endless debating society.

"In the meantime, our troops face each other across an uneasy armistice."

Another meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon.

THINK INTERVIEWS OVER

Meanwhile, Indian officers attached to the Korean repatriation commission said privately there appears to be no hope of resuming on a large scale the interviews with anti-Red war prisoners who have refused to go home.

The five-nation neutral commission settled down as an almost "do nothing" routine—its only chore the study of the unrepatriated POWs in its custody.

NO SIGN OF CRACK

There was no hint of a crack in the tight deadlock resulting from the Communist demand 10 days ago that Red interviewers be allowed to question Communist Korean prisoners be forced to say no before Red interviewers.

Many Indians say unofficially that the 90-day period for explanations provided in the armistice is sure to end in late December or January before the Red interviews.

Then if a Korean peace conference is under way, it will take over the problem for a month. And at the end of that time presumably still unrepatriated will be freed.

Most of the Indians have said they came here for what they considered a humanitarian project, but the Communist insistence to indicate they feel cheated and outraged by the Communist insistence on force.

CAUGHT IN MACHINERY

5-Power Parley Could Well Shelf Future Of Trieste

Conference Could Be Held Before Troops Withdrawn

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles said today there could well be a five-power conference to settle the future of Trieste before the United States and Britain withdraw their occupation troops.

The sooner such a conference is held the better it will be for Western defences against communism in quiet Europe, Dulles told a press conference.

The secretary said it would be undesirable time to have the 7,000 British and United States troops to be pulled out of zone A, American and British diplomats are discussing in London technical problems involved in the withdrawal, he added.

Queen Pins VC On Gloucesters' Gallant Colonel

LONDON (AP)—The Queen today pinned Britain's highest military decoration, the Victoria Cross, on Lt.-Col. James Carne for his role in the battle at Korea's Imjin river in April 1951.

Carne, who commanded the 1st Battalion of the Gloucestershire Regiment, which was virtually wiped out in the battle, was cited for showing "leadership which can seldom have been surpassed in the history of the army." His last rites in the Communist shrouds after the battle, and his just recently returned to Britain.

Detain Leaders Of British Guiana People's Party

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP) — The London-appointed governor of this troubled British colony today announced the indefinite detention of the leaders of the leftist People's Progressive Party (PPP). An official statement said their activities constituted a threat to public safety and order.

The surprise action was taken under the emergency powers granted Governor Sir Alfred Savage early this month when Britain suspended the colony's six-month old constitution and kicked out six PPP ministers, charging them with plotting to turn British Guiana into a Communist state.

INDEFINITE PERIOD

The five, under detention were identified as Sidney King, works minister in the ousted government of ex-prime minister Cheddi Jagan; Rory Westmaas, vice chairman of the party; Martin Carter, chairman of the PPP peace committee; Bally Lachmans Singh, a former member of the colony's assembly; and Adjodah Singh.

The men were taken into custody Saturday after they had conducted a meeting to whip up support for sugar-industry strikes that have plagued the country since Britain's drastic troop-enforced action Oct. 9.

Transfer Malton Airport To Federal Govt

TORONTO (CP)—Negotiators for the federal transport department and Toronto municipal council reported to have agreed on terms for transfer of Malton airport to the federal government in return for the improvement and development of Toronto's Island airport.

The negotiators have reported back to Transport Minister Chevrier and the board of control and approval of the scheme is expected. It would provide the city with an airfield close to the downtown area capable of handling large planes in all weather, Malton airport is 18 miles northwest of Toronto.

The transport department has invested about $2,000,000 at Malton.

In lieu of purchase payment, the government will pay the cost of an extended 5,000-foot runway at the island airport, situated in the city's harbor, and make a contribution to the cost of providing turning area for large planes.

The transport department now leases facilities there for the 2-year from the harbor commission, which acts as the city's agent. The government wants to continue to protect its investment in the airport by acquiring outright ownership.

Mine Strike Costing Union $100,000 Weekly

TORONTO (CP) — A spokesman for the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) Monday night said the union is spending $100,000 a week in its fight with a strike against Steel Company of Canada at Hamilton.

Nathan Sorkin, chairman of the USWA's strike fund committee in Toronto, told the Toronto Labor Council (CIO-CCL) that 600 fund and copper miners on strike in Ontario are supporting about 18,000 persons.

U.N. Security Council Holds Double Session on Palestine

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations Security Council called an extraordinary double session today to take up the explosive Palestine issue and study possible ways of ending the Israeli-Arab border killings and disputes.

To make way for these urgent council deliberations, the General Assembly's political committee put off until Wednesday continued debate of Assembly charges that the Russians directed a Red torture centre to wring from captured American soldiers "confessions" that they participated in alleged germ warfare in Korea. The new charges, made Monday, brought a quick denial from the Russians.

The Security Council was scheduled to hold a morning session to discuss Syria's complaint that Israel has diverted Jordan river waters illegally and to the detriment of her Arab neighbors.

HEAR TRUCE HEAD

At an afternoon session, the body was to hear a report from the UN truce supervisor in Palestine, Lieut.-Gen. Vagn E. Bennike, on a series of bloody border incidents that have reached a climax which, the Western Big Three claim, has threatened the peace in the Middle East.

The United States suspended virtually all economic aid to Israel—an estimated $60,000,000 for the 2-year period—and ordered a 10-truce commission order to halt work on the Jordan project.

MIGHT CUT OFF WATER

Bennike placed before the council communications to the Israeli government in which he declared that investigation had shown there has been interference with normal civilian life in the demilitarized zone where the project is being carried out; and the destruction of the river waters into a canal to power might cut off the supply of water to Israel's neighbors during the dry season.

The night, however, was on Bennike's afternoon report to the Security Council. Reports which brought bitter protests to Israel from the U.S., British and France. The Big Three said that Bennike's come here to make his report.

ALL HANDS PROVISIONED

Israel has charged that a long series of attacks by armed Arabs or Israelis villages have resulted in the loss of many lives, and finally incited retaliation.

EPIDEMIC OVER

DIGBY, N. S. (CP)—The outbreak of hepatitis which left about half of Digby's 2,000 population earlier this year is over.

Town doctors said today that the virus which caused the liver ailment, a "flu-like" illness, finally has disappeared as mysteriously as it appeared in June.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP)—Synopsis: A disturbance centred in Kentucky this morning will move northeastward today, Oak. Rain moved into southwestern Ontario early this morning and is expected to spread across the entire lower Great Lakes regions by this afternoon. Clearing is expected tonight as a belt of high pressure which extends from northern Ontario to Texas moves eastward to cover all of Ontario. Temperatures will be a little above Wednesday across most of the province.

London Truckers Resume Delivery Of Gasoline

LONDON (Reuters) — London's gasoline truckers drove their big tankers to the city's garages and oil depots today for the first time in a week, ending an abortive strike over wage claims and union jurisdiction.

Their return meant return to barracks for more than 6,000 servicemen brought to London last week-end to keep gas and oil supplies rolling. Their intervention in the 2,500 tanker strike has killed the strike, which had thinned road traffic throughout the metropolitan area.

The 2,500 truckers and their helpers voted Monday to return to work and allow representatives of the Transport and General Workers Union to negotiate their claims with the oil companies. The first union-company meeting will be held Wednesday.

CONDEMNED BY MPs

The union opposed the strike, alleged by the government to be Communist-inspired. Labor members of Parliament also condemned it.

London bus services were fully back to normal today. Private motorists were also back up Monday at nearly every garage.

No repetition of the strike is expected, but the war office announced that service drivers will be kept in London for a few days "just in case."

The strikers demanded that their pay scales, about the equivalent of $21 a week for drivers, be raised by $4. The government also considered of five non-union drivers and a review of a new distribution agreement which they fear will cut into earnings.

Invited Audience to Motion Picture Watches Queen's Arrival on TV

LONDON (CP) — Something new was added to the royal motion picture performance Monday night when the invited audience watched the Queen's arrival on large-screen television sets in the seats inside the theatre.

They saw the Queen chatting in the lobby with screen stars, including Bing Crosby, Jeanne Crain and Gloria Grahame, before she made her entry into the royal box. The Queen was accompanied by the Duke of Edinburgh and Prince Mountbatten for the command performance of the new Walt Disney picture "Rob Roy."

Thousands of persons packed into Leicester Square, heart of London's movieland. Hundreds of policemen had to link arms to hold back the cheering throngs as stars and royalty made their entrances to the floodlit theatre.

The Queen received a bouquet from child star David Douglas-Morris, and then, as television cameras relayed the scene on to the movie screen, was introduced to Richard Todd and Glynis Johns, May.

New Atomic Heating System Perfected by U.S. Scientists

SEATTLE (AP)—Scientists have perfected a revolutionary new "cheap" atomic heating system for the billion - dollar Hanford atomic works.

Henry M. Jackson (Dem. Wash.) reported Monday night that General Electric Co., which operates the Hanford works for the government, needs only the approval of the United States Atomic Energy Commission to begin work on the huge plant.

He said he understands that GE will make application "very shortly" to the AEC for such authority. He placed the cost "at less than $1,000,000."

The scientist, a former member of the joint congressional committee on atomic energy, said the secret process would enable the heated waters of the Columbia river now diverted to cool the atomic piles at Hanford.

TESTED BY BRITISH

The system never has been used in large quantity but has been pilot-tested by British scientists at their Calder Hall atomic installation.

Jackson estimated that the heating system would save the Hanford project $15 million dollars each oil a year, and pay for itself in 18½ years.

The process would heat all buildings on the hundreds of square miles of the Hanford reservation area in central Washington state, but not the cities of Richland, Pasco and other areas.

The senator made the disclosure in a statement supporting GE's bid for authority to build a dual-purpose atomic power and power plant at Hanford. He declined to disclose the cost of the installation, but said it was "completely reliable."

An AEC spokesman indicated late last week that present policy does not favor the use of power by actor proposed by GE. A contract was given Westinghouse Electric Corp. at the same time for a single-purpose reactor to produce industrial plutonium.

HITS AEC REJECTION

Jackson criticized the AEC's apparent rejection of the GE plan:

"No one knows yet which is the most economical method," he said. "The competition between the two big companies—giants in their fields—should quickly determine the most efficient way to proceed."

The Westinghouse-built reactor would use uranium and produce power only. The type proposed by GE by uranium-thorium combination and generate power simultaneously.

The atomic heating system, which would have no connection with GE's proposed power plant, was perfected by scientists at Hanford and AEC laboratories elsewhere, the senator said.

FOUR CARS DERAILED

SUDBURY, (CP)—Four cars on a Canadian Pacific Railway freight train were derailed early today 35 miles south of here. No one was hurt.

Traffic was delayed several hours while the track was cleared. Cause of the derailment of No. 5 freight, travelling from Toronto to Sudbury, was unknown.

New Floods Rise As Rain Storms Sweeping Italy

ROME (Reuters)—Violent rain storms brought new floods to Italy today as the ruthless east to decide on immediate and long-term aid for people already hit, particularly in the backward and desperately-poor Calabria provinces in the extreme south.

The new floods swept through low-lying areas in northern Italy—in the south, in east Sicily, and in northern Sardinia.

In the north, the Po, Italy's longest river, rose 20 inches after a rash of heavy rain. Meteorologists predicted more rain in the next 24 hours. In Sicily, rain has been falling continuously for 72 hours.

Commence Task Of Raising Ship From St. Clair

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP)—A marine salvage company today began preliminary work toward raising the sunken German freighter Wallachiff from the bottom of the St. Clair river.

The small ocean-going ship was sunk in 1918 by a mine. In a collision with the Great Lakes ore carrier Pioneer Ore, 2, Harold Peterson, 73-year-old pilot formerly of Kingston, Ont., died of a heart attack after the collision.

McQueen Marine, Ltd., of Amherstburg, Ont., was given the salvage barge to the location today to make preliminary surveys. Actual raising of the vessel is to begin later this week.

Question 2 Boys When Old School Swept by Flames

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Two "teen-aged boys were held by police today for questioning about a two-alarm fire that roared through a three-storey abandoned school in suburban Kenmore.

Police said the boys, one 16 and the other 17, were members of a group of youths who fled from the building after the blaze started. The others escaped.

Acting fire commissioner Harold Hoffman said it would be impossible to make an immediate estimate of the damage to the building because of its age and the fact that it was not in use. The brick structure was built in 1888.

Police quoted the boys as saying they were rigging a club house in the old building. They said they tried to extinguish the fire before they fled.

Gloom Grips Britain's Atlantic Eden As Tax Men Make 'Goodwill' Visit

By EMERSON CHAPIN

ST. MARY'S, Scilly Isles, England (Reuters) — Dark clouds and gloom shadowed Britain's sunny Atlantic paradise today as two inspectors of taxes arrived on an unprecedented visit to hitherto-taxfree soil.

The weather, traditional ally of the Scillies' thriving tourist business, did its best Monday to aid the islanders again, buffeting back the Channel Islands plane. But the tax men pushed on, through the gales, arriving "safe and sound, but down safely" for their "goodwill and fact-finding visit."

The islanders were not felt by the 1,900 natives of a region by-passed by the mainland's boom for many years. "The vultures are here" was the word passed through the pubs and over the fences.

The Scillies, a cluster of islands southwest of Land's End, have been dreading the visit ever since treasury chief Richard A. Butler announced in his budget speech last April that he would correct the "defective machinery of assessment"—causing the Scillies' happy state of affairs to end. The islanders then were given a year's respite, with no change-over tax due to be imposed at the start of the new fiscal year next April.

But now the men are here, the tax men are to gather data on the number of persons who will be subject to assessments and to acquaint the people with the intricacies of paying income tax.

The islanders claim that their tax immunity is worth more than compensated by the high cost of living free of land tax in the 19th century. At that time they were too poor to provide any revenue, natives say. When Britain installed its income tax system, it utilized the existing land tax administrative machinery, and the Scillies remained outside all assessed impositions.

Detain Leaders Of British Guiana People's Party

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP) — The London-appointed governor of this troubled British colony today announced the indefinite detention of the leaders of the leftist People's Progressive Party (PPP). An official statement said their activities constituted a threat to public safety and order.

The surprise action was taken under the emergency powers granted Governor Sir Alfred Savage early this month when Britain suspended the colony's six-month old constitution and kicked out six PPP ministers, charging them with plotting to turn British Guiana into a Communist state.

INDEFINITE PERIOD

The five, under detention were identified as Sidney King, works minister in the ousted government of ex-prime minister Cheddi Jagan; Rory Westmaas, vice chairman of the party; Martin Carter, chairman of the PPP peace committee; Bally Lachmans Singh, a former member of the colony's assembly; and Adjodah Singh.

The men were taken into custody Saturday after they had conducted a meeting to whip up support for sugar-industry strikes that have plagued the country since Britain's drastic troop-enforced action Oct. 9.

BATTERY ASSOCIATION IN NEW H.Q.

The 34th Battery R.C.A. Association has acquired the old Aajmas Club rooms on Front Street for its new association headquarters. It was formerly occupied by the Belleville wing of the RCAF Association.

Battery association secretary Jim Matthews said today the association hopes to hold its first social get-together on Saturday in the form of the fourth annual smoker. Outstanding entertainment has been secured.

A meeting of the executive is set for Thursday at 8 in the club rooms.

CORONATION MEDAL AWARDED TO MISS F. SULLIVAN

Miss Frances Sullivan, member of the teaching staff at Queen Elizabeth School, has been honored by the award of a Coronation Medal for long service as a teacher in Belleville public schools. Miss Sullivan began her teaching career in Rawdon township in 1911 and has been teaching in Belleville since 1922.

Miss Sullivan was chosen for the award as being representative of the teaching profession in Belleville.

JOINT MEETING TO DISCUSS QUESTION

A joint meeting of the city finance committee, the board of health and reeves, deputy reeves and clerks of the municipalities of Thurlow, Sidney and Tyendinaga, will be called to go into charges for service rendered by the city board of health to non-resident school pupils. A special committee appointed by the city council to go into the above matter recommended that services be discontinued unless payment was received.

ROADWAY, PARKING AREA HAS BEEN OILED AND GRADED

The river roadway and parking area behind Front St. stores leading from the footbridge to the entrance at the Belleville Hotel has been graded and oiled, Ald. R. Temple, chairman of the traffic committee, noted in council yesterday. The work was done by the city public works department.

CITY WILL ABSORB IMPROVEMENT CHARGES

The city will absorb local improvement charges on undeveloped lots in Fairwood Heights area which are owned by the city parks board. This will be done by way of a grant of $310.30 to the parks board.

Approval of the grant was given Monday in council but not before Ald. W. Cowpiasan had said why the lots made available to the parks board for park purposes had not been developed. The lots, he said, were not swamp land and if they were not going to be used, for park purposes could easily be disposed of for residential purposes.

ROTARIANS MAKE HOSPITAL TOUR

The Rotary club held its weekly meeting in the Ritchie Memorial Nurses' Residence on Monday. There was no guest speaker and lucky arrivals were entertained on a tour through the hospital. J. N. Yanover, president of the board of directors of the hospital reminded members the public canvass to raise funds for the new wing will begin November 24th. He requested the support of the club in the forthcoming canvass.

Birthday roses were presented to Art Hill and Fred Vealland. Art Francis made the presentations.

NEW DANDELION CROP

An Indian summer crop of blooming dandelions was reported in the city last Saturday. Some lawns in the vicinity of Church Street were plentifully sprinkled with the yellow flowers.

Work Proceeding On Washrooms Delegation Told

A request for council to speed up installation of public washrooms which were approved two weeks ago for beneath the city hall, was heard in council Monday afternoon. The request was made by George DeVuyst, local restaurant proprietor who claimed the installation should be done immediately.

Alderman Countryman assured that work would be done as soon as possible.

Mr. DeVuyst also wanted to know if some provision could be done about the noise made by transports passing through the city. He, likewise, wanted to know what share Thurlow township was paying regarding cost of surveys made by land surveyor J. T. Hannen in that township.

He was told that regulations regarding transports were decided by the Ontario Department of Highways and that the city had little say in the matter. To the question regarding the survey cost Mayor Haig said that survey had been ordered by the suburban planning committee and the city had not yet been advised of the distribution of costs.

Missionaries Talk to Members Of Association

Revs. C. Hazard and L. Richardson addressed the Belleville Ministerial Association at their meeting held Monday morning in Bridge St. United Church parlor. Having recently returned from a world missionary tour, Miss Hazzard and Miss Richardson spoke of the great spiritual, educational and physical needs existing in the people. They urged on the part of the Belleville ministry and people a continued and even greater interest in the work of missions backed by much prayer and faith in God.

Rev. J. Gillin, of Foxboro United Church, in well chosen words thanked the speakers, this morning for the inspiring address.

In the absence of the president, Rev. Keith Daniel, Archdeacon J. B. Cragg, vice-president, was chairman of the meeting.

Among the many items of business discussed, Rev. Wm. J. Robinson received a vote of thanks to those responsible for the privileges afforded the Belleville Ministerial Association during the Templeton Mission in this city. "The Templeton Mission," continued Mr. Robinson "was of much benefit to your city churches and to all denominations."

Rev. Miriam Collins closed the meeting with prayer.

Plebiscite on Whistle-Blowing Of Locomotives Within Limits To be Submitted to Ratepayers

City taxpayers will have the opportunity of saying whether or not the blowing of train whistles will be outlawed in the city.

This was decided yesterday by members of city council, who gave third reading to a by-law which would put the question before the electorate in the form of a plebiscite at the next municipal election.

If the plebiscite is carried by the electors the by-law would empower council to spend up to $25,000 as the city's share of the cost of installing crossing signals and up to $2,000 annually for their maintenance. Only property owners would be entitled to vote on the question.

Alderman Robert Temple as chairman of the city traffic committee, said in his opinion the cost to adequately protect crossings in the city would be too great and that the by-law would be defeated if submitted to vote. He thought that the money that the plebiscite would cost could be spent to better advantage.

Alderman G. Hyde wanted to know how much it would cost to have the question put before the ratepayers. "Many people would desire to have a vote in the matter, and they are entitled to have the opportunity of expressing their opinion," he said.

City Solicitor R. A. Pringle said the vote would probably cost between three and four hundred dollars.

Mayor Haig agreed that the vote should be taken as there had been considerable objection to the blowing of train whistles and council was being asked repeatedly to do something. "It would relieve city council of the question," he observed.

Third reading of the by-law was carried 5-3 with Mayor Haig and Aldermen Argue, Clarke, Countryman, Gerald Hyde, Keegan, McIlwain and Reid approving. Opposing the by-law were Aldermen Duffy, Frank Hyde, Temple, Thomas and Tice.

Councillors wanted it known that the vote was whether or not the question would be placed before the ratepayers and that the vote did not indicate whether or not aldermen approved of the question.

New Amendments To Unemployment Insurance Act

H. H. Reed, local office Manager of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, Belleville office, advises that there are important amendments to the Unemployment insurance benefit regulations with respect to holidays, and monies received on separation from employment.

One of the new provisions, which are now in effect, Mr. Reed states, is that benefits is not paid to an employee for the first week of a plant or factory shutdown for a general holiday, regardless of whether the employee is paid for the holiday or not. However, if the shutdown for holidays lasts for more than a week benefit is paid for days (other than statutory holidays) in the second and subsequent weeks, for which the employee does not receive pay. Holiday pay, received at termination of employment, will not deprive a claimant from benefit.

The manager of the Belleville office further states that another amendment is that when an employer does not require his employees to work on the day before a statutory holiday, or on the day following the holiday, or both, benefit will not be paid for any of the days on which the employees will not work.

Formerly, when a person received money from his employer on termination of employment other than money representing pension payments or for overtime that person may not have been entitled to benefit until the period represented by this money had elapsed. Now all money received in termination will be regarded in determining whether or not a person is unemployed, unless paid in consideration of the recipient undertaking to return to his former employer when required in accordance with a guaranteed wage plan, for retirement leave credits, or in lieu of notice. If it is paid in the circumstances just mentioned, persons receiving it will not be entitled to benefit until the period represented by the money has elapsed.

TORONTO STOCKS

Western oils dropped as losses ranged to Calvary-and-Edmonton's 22 cents.

Golds were down slightly with seniors quiet, holding companies quiet with a few small losses and juniors lower with penny losses in several smaller issues.

Base metals were lower as several seniors dropped, among them East Sin and Eastern Metals. In the juniors, activity was slight, although Klondike-Keno jumped from nine to 14 cents with a volume of more than 40,000 shares. Uranium and Bathurst base metals were quieter. New Bidlamaque and Dollar were quiet with slight price changes.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Choice light and weighty steers 19-1925; good light and weighty 18-18.50; medium downward to 16; good heifers 17-18; mediums down to 13; common steers and heifers downward to 12; good cows 11-11.50; mediums down to 10; canners and cutters downward to 6; good heavy bologna bulls 12.50-13; common light kinds downward to 9; choice fed yearlings 22; good 20-21; mediums downward to 17; good stockers 18 and 19; common stockers downward to 14.

Veal calves were steady at 22-25 for good to choice; common to medium 15-22 good stock calves 17-20; heavy calves slow and hard to sell.

Hogs settled at 24 for grade A with dressed sows unchanged at 24.

Lambs were steady at 20-21 for good ewes and wethers; bucks $1 discount; shorn lambs weaned as much as 3; cull lambs 15-18; good light sheep 8-13; culls downward to 4.

George Whitman Civil Defence Co-ordinator

George A. Whitman, welfare officer at city hall, was named by city council yesterday as civil defence co-ordinator for the Belleville Civil Defence Committee. The appointment fills the vacancy left several weeks ago by the retirement of Dr. R. T. Potter.

Chris Legge, member of the local civil defence committee, appeared before council asking for Mr. Whitman's appointment as co-ordinator. He said Mr. Whitman was the logical man for the position and was the choice of members of his organization.

Alderman Angus Duffy in placing the formal recommendation calling for Mr. Whitman's appointment, said that Mr. Whitman was well qualified for the position. "He is the best man available for the position," the alderman said.

Obituary

MISS ELIZABETH HEFFERMAN

The funeral of Miss Elizabeth Hefferman was held from the Funeral Residence of George E. O'Brien to St. Charles' Church at Read, where Requiem Mass was said by Rev. K. Brieland. The parish priest also said the last rites in St. Charles' Cemetery.

The bearers were Gerry Horrigan, Bishop Brennan, Vincent McDermott, James Cowan and John Burns.

HARRY POTTER

After a short illness, Harry Potter, resident at the Hastings County Home, died in the Belleville General Hospital early this Tuesday morning. He has been a resident of the County Home since July of this year.

The late Mr. Potter was born in Thurlow township, 86 years ago, being the son of the late Louis Potter and Anne Belmore and has resided in this community all his life was a farmer.

Resting at the Pinkston Funeral Home, 60 Victoria Avenue at Church Street, the funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this edition.

Arterial Road Within Limits To Be Surveyed

Addition of another arterial road leading from Dundas to the new four-lane highway now under construction south of the city is being urged by members of the city council planning committee.

Working on the premise that North Front Street will be entirely inadequate to carry the expected volume of traffic to and from the new highway, committee members are recommending construction of a new road leading north through Coleman Farm and underneath the railway bridge and out past College Street.

Yesterday in council the city engineering department was authorized to make a preliminary survey of the suggested arterial route, the survey to commence with direction from the finance committee and when the money to pay for the survey is available.

Alderman Keegan said the highways department had not promised to assist the city in the cost of any such arterial road and suggested the engineer saying the matter would be "up to city."

He assured the survey would be of great value should the city decide some time in the future to go ahead with the road.

Senator Critical of Curbs, Signs on Town Property

TRENTON, (Special.) — Senator W. A. Fraser attended last night's council meeting to voice a complaint about citizens erecting buildings, curbs and signs on town property without authority. "As a citizen I consider this a very serious matter," explained the Senator. "Who owns the streets in Trenton," he asked. "I think the Mayor and Council should have jurisdiction over them" suggested Mayor R. K. Whitley. Referring to the Municipal Act the Senator pointed out that the Mayor and council were only the operators of the town. "The obvious answer to my question is that the streets belong to all the citizens and all the taxpayers," the Senator noted.

Continuing to criticize the Senator charged that numerous people needing lawn space for their large homes have immediately without permission fenced or walled or bricked in town property for their own use. "One illustration is," he said, "the Stenburg residence on Lorne and Wragge Streets. Mr. Steenburg built a stone fence on town property and took possession of the land."

He referred to F. J. Aziz and C. Weaver as others who had also violated their civic rights. He asked if there was what policy the town intends to pursue with respect to people who persist in taking town property," asked the Senator. "I will not permit the town to do that. I'm going to employ the best counsels (and you know I do employ the best counsels) to stop them (meaning the people who persist in building on town property) from doing that."

Senator Fraser considered the situation serious explaining that a person building on town property can claim ownership under the Right of Possession Act after 60 years. He maintained that the citizens have no right to be subjected to litigation, when laws are enforced to abolish reegs for arguments.

Should Pay Rental.

Outlining a future policy to govern construction of curbings on Trenton streets Senator Fraser said he was not suggesting that past offenders should be penalized by orders to tear down buildings but they should be forced to pay rent on town property. I contend it is the responsibility of the electoral body to protect the property of the town."

Senator Fraser said the town engineer should lay out curbs and they should be paid for in cash or under local improvement. He made application for a curb to be laid down on his Kenry Street property. He explained that he was writing the town clerk to have the town engineer survey Henry Street and tell him where he can build the curb.

Mayor R. E. Whitley promising immediate action informed Senator Fraser that council had never received a request from G. Weaver to build curbings around his home on McCaul and Henry Streets. He assured the Senator that every $1,000 estimate not complying with the town engineer's plan would fall before the blade of a bulldozer.

Discussion On Permits.

Senator Fraser wanted to know how a resident of Trenton could build a $60,000 home on a $15 building permit. He understood that a permit cost a builder $1 for every $1,000 estimated expenditure. Building Inspector Bill Dickinson revealed that the method of assessing changed on July 7 of this year. "Up until then, a councillor commented, "the people were getting away with murder". "Yes, and they laughed right in your face", the Senator remarked. Council felt that the balance coming to the town could be collected in this case.

Grant Rathbun mapped out a proposed lane route and asked the town to service some of the route this fall. He explained that he did not want to start a service and then have to cut it off because of bad roads. Council decided to give attention to Kerr Crescent this fall and the other parts of the building next spring. Mayor Whitley said he intended to introduce a program of paving so many streets each year.

Annexed Section May Have Vote On Beer Sale

Residents of the annexed section in the east part of the city will be given the opportunity of saying whether or not they will approve of the sale of beer in licensed beverage rooms in their part of the city.

Request for the vote was made by Sam Goodman, purchaser of the old Hastings County home in the east end of the city, who plans to renovate the building into a hotel. The vote to be paid for by Mr. Goodman is expected would be held early next year.

At the same time council was asked to approve of the annexation of a certain piece of property east of the city now owned by J. N. Yenover. The matter was turned over to the city planning committee for immediate action.

Alderman Arthur Keegan as chairman of the city planning committee tabled the amendment calling for consideration of the request by the planning board. He said the planning committee was about to make a study of requirements for school sites, and industrial and commercial sites in areas outside the city.

Mayor A. M. Haig noted that the request for the vote by Mr. Yenover was tied in with the possibility of there being a vote like the one recently taken in part of the city regarding licensed beverage rooms. He admitted it was not satisfactory for a city to annex small areas, but noted the possibility of the vote was the only reason for the request.

Talk led around to a general discussion on the necessity of large annexation proceedings to provide room for city expansion. Alderman Tice urged that the city council take action now to take in more land before areas outside the city became built up.

He pointed out that already two or three all-dwellings east of the city had been planned, each to comprise about 75 homes and the area was being built up. "Let's get at annexation proceedings and get it done," he urged.

HOMES BLACKED OUT

TORONTO (CP)—A strike of 12 hydro employees forced 18 homes on a street in the fashionable suburb of Forest Hill to go without power Monday night when a fuse in a transformer blew out.

The strike leaves authorities helpless to repair any line breaks. The walkout was called last Thursday by Local 1, National Union of Public Service Employees.

City Residents Asked to Observe Armistice Day

City residents will be asked to observe Nov. 11th Armistice Day as a public holiday. It was decided yesterday by city council.

Councillors had a lengthy discussion on a request from the Canadian Legion that the day be proclaimed a holiday to allow workers to attend memorial services at the Cenotaph but council decided against the request on account of the unrest the ruling might cause some industrial workers.

Alderman Duffy favored the day being made a public holiday noting that it was possibly becoming irksome to some to still honor those who had paid the supreme sacrifice in two wars. The alderman asserted however, that honoring these men was the duty of residents.

Alderman McNevin took that attitude that declaring a holiday would not force workers to attend the service. "Let's face the facts" he said. "Many would take the holiday but would not attend."

Mayor Haig wanted to know what effect such action would have on labor contracts and noted this was of considerable importance. "If it would have a bearing on overtime pay then it would not be done. It would be unfair," he observed.

For the papoose, at least, it's an easy way of getting around. But to the experienced Executor of estates, "commuting" is not a form of transport.

The "know-how" of estate management is not learned overnight. New laws, new taxes, new technicalities, are ever a problem. Certainly, the task should not be lightly passed to a relative or friend.

WHO ARE CRIMINALS?

What kind of people are our criminals?

Young people, single people, half-educated people, drinking people, Canadian-born people, laboring people, is the information provided by a reference to the annual report of the Ontario Department of Reform Institutions for the year ending March 31, 1952.

The trouble with that answer, of course, is that it is too pat. For instance, 6,881 of the 8,326 prisoners committed to Ontario reformatories and industrial farms during the year in question were Canadian-born—but the great majority of the residents of Ontario are Canadian-born. Therefore we cannot say that the native is more likely to transgress than the immigrant. We should be grateful how we interpret these statistics.

For instance, 5,629 of the prisoners are described as intemperate in the use of intoxicants. It is easy to jump at the conclusion that drink leads to crime. But is this not simply an over-simplification of the situation? Research into alcoholism is providing increasing indications that it is, in many cases, basically a mental problem. The same problem which leads a man to excessive drinking may also lead him to assault and to theft — and would lead him even if liquor was unavailable to him.

Another example: Of the 8,326 prisoners 4,832 were single. From that should not be taken as conclusive proof that marriage prevents crime. Two factors immediately come to mind. Firstly, married men are likely to be living with a friend. Finally, it is possible that either reluctant to marry men with criminal tendencies—and vice versa. Secondly, 1,031 of the 8,326 prisoners were 20 years old or younger and marriage is not common among this age-group.

Similarly we ought not to read too much significance into the fact that over half, 4,938, of the prisoners were laborers. This group includes a considerable number of skilled tradesmen—but rather it suggests that a person with criminal tendencies is not likely to be willing to devote the time and effort to learn a skilled trade, or a profession. Despite the emphasis that has been said for education, we doubt whether attendance at high school will eradicate a man's criminal tendencies—but a man with such tendencies is not likely to be interested in furthering his education. Therefore 5,811 of the 8,326 prisoners had had only an elementary education.

The really significant statistics, it seems to us, are those which deal with the age of prisoners and the number of offences. That one in eight should be 20 years old or younger is a cause for concern. Those who have been in trouble with the law this early in life have a high percentage may have been raised slightly by the fact that judges and magistrates are likely to be more reluctant to send men in this age group to penitentiary than they are with older offenders. Still, the figure is high. And there can be no question about the importance of the fact that 2,843 of the prisoners had committed more than three offences. Nowhere to learn that no record was available for 3,133 of the prisoners, it is seen that many-time "repeaters" made up more than half of the number whose records were known.

GHOST WRITERS IN POLITICS

"Parrots are more admired in cages than on political platforms," declared the Belleville Recorder and Times, in commenting on a recent address by M. Grattan O'Leary, vice-president of the Ottawa Journal. Mr. O'Leary in advocating a return to real speech in politics, deplored the use of what the Recorder and Times describes as "political literature ghost-written by public relations men whose stock-in-trade is promoting the sale of merchandise and writing slick soap operas."

Much of this political literature, however, is not the product of scribes with that high-sounding "public relations" title. It is the product of the politician who tells his extra-curricular activity. Cabinet ministers may employ the self-styled experts, but the grass-roots politician is more likely to depend on the services of the newspaperman where he cares to protest. There is little evidence that he is worst-served for his ten-buck investments than are cabinet ministers for their many-times larger expenditures. Still, we think with the identity of the ghost-writer has much bearing on the case. Whether his normal occupation is reporting service club meetings or writing radio plays seems beside the point. No matter what language a parrot may use, he is still only a parrot.

The unfortunate part about the growth of political ghost-writing is that so few of the men who employ ghosts are really in actual need of this assistance. Most local politicians know as much about politics as do reporters, and most cabinet ministers, we suspect, are as adequate a grasp of the nation's needs as have public relations counsel. What these politicians need, perhaps, is a little technical assistance in re-arranging their thoughts and wording their sentences. But the politician who sells his ghost-writer what to write is the exception rather than the rule.

Basically the blame for the rise of the ghost-writer can be laid at the door of radio. Many a politician finds a microphone a poor substitute for a crowd. The live audience may wait while he gathers his wits, under guise of taking a drink of water, but the stolid microphone shows no such tolerance. It stands there greedy for more words and the tongue cannot cease while the brain passes judgment. Hence a script becomes necessary — even if regulations did not require it. If a script has to be produced anyway, if somebody has to be paid to type it, why not let the typist do the work of deciding what the script shall say? So reasons the politician. And another ghost-writer is born.

THE RUNAWAY

The man who runs when he should stand
May live again to fight,
But he will seldom raise his hand
Once more a wrong to right.

Who will not in the struggle stay
But from it turns to run,
Victory has given away
He might, himself, have won.

It's easy and it's commonplace
To quit when foes assail,
But calls for courage doubt to face
And bravery to fail.

When comes that moment to decide
Whether to stay or run,
Just one more blow may turn the tide
And victory may be won.

Mr. Edson Logan, manager of McFee's jewelry store, opened a branch store in Toronto on business.

Mrs. Robert Wilson of Stratford, (nee Grace Horle), is visiting her sister, Miss Dorothy Horle, Church Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown of Glen Ross spent the week end here with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Burley, Bayly Street.

From all the apple growing sections in the district reports of the disastrous effects of Tuesday's snow storm are arriving in the city. In Prince Edward County the older trees seem to have been able to withstand the weight of the snow, but the windswept plateaus of the old Grand Trunk Railway depot north of Consecon, and the Hillcrest Nurseries of the following night were damaged to the extent of a million trees.

It is just seventy-seven years ago today, October 27, 1856, that residents of the town of Belleville voted on the windswept platforms of the old Grand Trunk Railway depot north of Consecon, and the Hillcrest Nurseries of the following night were damaged to the extent of a million trees.

Mr. Andrew Wilson, auctioneer, Tweed, was in town today.

Mr. B. M. Stafford of Vancouver, B.C., formerly of Prince Edward County, is visiting friends here and in the vicinity.

Mr. T. Ramsay will put on a Hallowe'en dance Friday evening. The Sills orchestra will furnish the music.

Mr. Ralph Stafford threshed 1,050 bushels of oats in one and a half hours recently for Mr. A. G. Robins.

Deadly Poisons in The Air

(Toronto Star, Daily Enemy)

There lurks in London's air are no so corrosive that they are eating away the walls of Westminster Abbey. What must they be doing to our lungs.

A vivid and shocking answer to this question is given by a chart, which shows what happened in London when sulphur fumes collected in the stagnant air during the four-day smog-smoke-fog—last December.

The sulphur fumes, which normally foul the capital's atmosphere at the rate of only 2,000 tons a day, concentrated four-fold. The result: Hospitals were choked with chest cases and more than 4,000 people died.

The fumes took under 48 hours to kill.

There can no longer be any doubt that it was the fumes and not the cold, damp air which caused the London Blues to be harvested. Almost people endure it almost every winter's day without ill effect.

As usual, it needed a catastrophe involving heavy loss of life to drive home the fact that the air over Britain's industrial towns is a deadly pollutant that is unsafe to breathe at any time.

There can be little doubt that last December's smog only magnified the corrosive processes which is going on in every big town day and night.

Sulphur fumes are now being belched from chimneys at such a rate that 9,000, 000 tons of sulphuric acid—corrosive "oil of vitriol"—are being formed in the air every year. In one way or another every one of the country's total production of sulphuric acid is eventually released.

Now, it seems there are even more insidious vapors in the pollution of atmosphere.

Results of the first full analysis of the air over a typical industrial city Newcastle-on-Tyne, were released by Dr. Ernest Bingham, R.S., a distinguished chemist.

The basic finding was that which Newcastle people breathe through cotton-wool filters, and which leave the black filth which collected, Prof. Clemo has isolated a dark orange substance with what is said be one of the main causes of lung cancer.

This compound X, as the professor called it, is closely related to a chemical called benzpyrene which is known to be so irritating to living tissue that it causes malignant growth.

Deaths from lung cancer have doubled in the last 10 years. That terrible fact no longer seemed so surprising as I looked at the flasks of gorgeous, oily chemicals extracted from the air by Prof Clemo.

Where do all these poisons come from? Prof. Clemo believes that some of them come from motor-vehicle exhausts.

The visible plume may look innocent enough, but it is nothing less than a permanent canister of poison gas, planted in the town not by a diabolical enemy but by ourselves.

Multiply its ravages by 365 and you have some idea of what all Britain's power stations are doing to the air.

You will say: Surely something is done at these power stations to remove poison gases before the smoke escapes.

The astonishing truth is that of the 385 power stations only two—London—have any equipment to remove fumes.

And although officials of the British Electricity Authority claim that the London stations put up since the war are the most modern in the world, they have not been fitted with any smoke-washing plant to discover whether even that is highly effective.

The cost of removing the poisons is said to be high, officials argue. They do not take into account the fact that they are losing sales and farm crops. They do not even seem to consider the wasted lives of the people who died in London in December.

If the power stations, and the biggest factories, were forced to remove their poisonous fumes, waste gases, air pollution would be greatly reduced overnight. Domestic fires; small factories, railways, and motor cars are equally to blame, but they have been dealt with.

But you may be sure that unless there persistent demand for action against the poisoning of the air we breathe nothing will be done in time to prevent a further smog disaster.

Just What Is A Millionaire?

(Toronto Telegram)

Brief messages on scraps of paper sometimes turn up in an editor's mail bag. Such a one turned up the other day in The Telegram's office. It asked simply: "Would you let us know how many millionaires there are in Toronto. I say 40, the other party says 400. Please let us know answering one question by asking another, but the question needs to be raised: What exactly is a millionaire? Everyone has a notion of them after we each identify them.

Is a millionaire a person who has $1,000,000 in the bank, which is the accepted definition? Except possibly for some clerk in the secret vaults of the Bank of England, there is no such person kept, few people ever held that much money in their hands at one time. Perhaps a millionaire is a man with property worth $1,000,000. But if he invests it in bonds or stocks last spring, he's no millionaire today . . . the stocks have dropped. So have the value of million dollars in real estate is, after all, a fairly variable thing. At any rate, there are no public inventories of wealth, in fact, real estate or anything else, to show how many individuals own a million dollars or more.

There is, of course, a loose use of the phrase "millionaire." Everyone on the street knows when Joe Doakes borrows his old car and buys himself an expensive job and outfits his wife in mink. For practical purposes Joe Doakes, then, may be described as a millionaire, because in fact his grocer knows he hasn't paid last month's bill and his tax collector knows he is a bit behind with taxes. That is a descriptive tag of "millionaire" is a matter of opinion.

Taking five per cent as a figure for net earnings on a $1,000,000 investment, it is argued that anyone who pays income tax on $50,000 a year is a "millionaire in fact, sire." Though names are not given in Canada, we have a fairly good record. The latest record of this kind, which shows that 470 persons in the Toronto district paid tax on $50,000 or more in 1951, was reported in the Toronto Star of 470 millionaires in 1951. Next question?

Tough Enough Now

(Hamilton Spectator)

Insurance companies in the U.S. plan to lower the rate on a car if it isn't driven to work, and Insurance Society of the Chicago News thinks this is a low trick; it's tough enough now taking little woman out of the use of the family sedan without some billion-dollar corporation backing her up.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

For some days now, I have been enjoying the company of an interesting writer and have come to the conclusion that with some people, writing is a form of doodling. Doodling takes several shapes. It may consist of drawing designs on paper, on the telephone pad, on the table cloth. It may take the form of drumming with one's fingers, clicking one's heels, grinding the teeth, tapping the toe.

But the doodle talker is perhaps the most difficult because, even if you turn your back or walk into another room, as you can with a finger drummer, a teeth clicker or a toe tapper, you still hear the doodle talker. They merely raise their voices for the benefit.

Silence is apparently painful to doodle talkers. It appears to hurt them. Every moment must be filled with vocal sound, or they are restless. Can it be that they derive some physical satisfaction out of the mere vibration of the vocal cords? For if, for example, you are called to the telephone and they have to cease fire for a few minutes, they amuse themselves in the enforced situation by softly humming. The vocal cords must be kept in action.

Like pencilled doodles on a telephone pad, the subjects of their conversation are aimless, formless and obviously intended to do no more than fill up blank space. If they run out of topics, the doodle talkers are not above picking up the newspaper and reading aloud, at random, from the columns. In desperation, a doodle talker will even pick up a book, and after a hasty glance through the pages, cry out:

"Listen to this, would you!"

And then proceed to read. Anything to dispel that dreadful thing, silence.

But doodle talkers seldom run out of topics. Like a good member of the clan can tell the same story, enunciate the same arguments, not twice but three or four times in one day, to the very same audience. A close friend of mine explains that doodle talking is an evidence of senility, early senility. The doctor has found a most ardent talker. In his head, he apparently carries seven or eight old phonograph records, and he plays them over and over.

Annex for Relatives

There is a solution to almost every problem including in-law trouble. In Sunbury, England, young married couples may be free of this problem as it is planned to provide them with homes annexed to the wife-controlled annexes for their relatives.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ON BEING AGREEABLE

I have as few friends whom to meet is always a pleasure and an inspiration. It's because they are agreeable and get on well with many matters. Sometimes we agree, and at other times we do not. But we always respect each other's attitude toward one another. It's because these friends are so agreeable.

In every community, in organizations, clubs and social groups, are these people who are easy to meet and who are the agreeable people. Every business man wants such people in his organization, for he knows they keep spirit alive, and co-operate with others gladly. The most tolerant of managers could not long endure the presence of a single person forever trying to cause trouble and being disagreeable.

How many a time we have gone into a store to buy something and discovered a clerk so uninterested and disagreeable that we have walked out of the store disgusted. On the other hand, we have been treated agreeably and courteously by clerks who were otherwise. Courtesy and a happy and agreeable personality are great assets to anyone.

Many times we are called upon to deal with our own selfish interests in order that others may not be injured or disappointed. It is commendable, even in the face of disappointment, is a trait of character that is admirable. Certainly by being agreeable and not too proud to lose temporarily.

We may designate being agreeable as the act of oiling up the processes of life so that they will run smoothly and happily. So long as human nature is as it is, we must try to be joyful and to get along with others—always as agreeable as we possibly can be!

Comparison Not Justified

(Edmonton Journal)

It seems to be the fashion lately for people who have had constant experiences in a prison, hospital, asylum or other public institution to compare the establishment in question to a Nazi concentration camp. A typical example is a gentleman who recently served fifteen days for drunken driving in Toronto's Don Jail. On his release, he charged that "Hitler's prison camps were no worse examination, and an unsatisfactory system of interviews with chaplains.

This rather contrasts with the descriptions left us by survivors of Belsen, Buchenwald and Dachau. Abusive language by guards is not often mentioned, perhaps because the guards were so busy beating up with the prisoners that they had no are being "crucified."

BACK PRESSURE ARM LIFT METHOD FOOD SUBSTITUTE FOR SCHAFER'S

Everybody but Brady has been informed that the American Red Cross has adopted and now teaches the new back pressure arm lift method of artificial respiration instead of the older Schafer or manual prone pressure method. The instructions authorized by the Red Cross appear to me complicated, unphysiological and physically harder to apply than manual prone pressure.

Dr. Brady

I postponed the latest edition of how to breathe for months while trying to decide whether to describe the back pressure arm lift method as well as the manual prone pressure method. I finally concluded that the back pressure arm lift method may be an improvement upon the Red Cross modification of Schafer's method but not upon Schafer's method.

Well, of all the nerve! All right, sputter away until you simmer down and then I'll explain why I think so. First, however, let me say I have never learned one word about resuscitation directly from any authorized representative of the Red Cross that I know any more than I do about the rubject — nor do I know any more about it than any other doctor who does not specialize. I have received a good many characteristic letters from little big shots of the Red Cross who claim I have to go back to Penn Yan and my horse and buggy, and, sometimes, appeal to editors or publishers to silence me.

But here I am, going raketty-rakety-rak.

By scientific measurements it has been determined that the energy expenditure of the operator is much greater for the new lift back pressure (Nielsen) method than it is for the Schafer method. In other words in an emergency the Schafer method could be carried on longer by a child, for instance, or by an operator of limited strength or endurance.

By actual measurements of the volume of air exchange, it has been determined that this is considerably greater in the arm lift back pressure (Nielsen) method than by the Red Cross modification of Schafer's method, but I have seen no report of such a comparison of the Nielsen method with the original Schafer method. If or when such comparison is made the differences in volume of air exchange will probably be less significant.

As the late great resuscitation authority, Yandell Henderson, pointed out, when the subject is prone with both arms lifted with the head, the subject's chest is in the best position for entrance of the volume of air. Lowering one arm to put arm of Schafer under the head (Red Cross modification) allows the chest to contract so that the volume of air exchange is reduced one or two per cent.

So, in my Judgment, Schafer's method is still the best of the three method of resuscitation or artificial respiration. I have omitted from Schafer's manual prone-pressure with any modification thereof.

breath for swearing. The only approach to a "counsellor" in these places was the padre whose duty it was to decide which inmates should go to the gallows. The only chaplains provided were those who were themselves prisoners. On the other hand, no one in a German concentration camp would complain of lack of medical attention. A highly qualified staff of doctors was always at hand, ready to infect them with deadly diseases, or submerge them in ice-water at a moment's notice.

Another contrast worth noting is that Canadian jails provide clergymen of all denominations, and full of complaints. At Belsen and Buchenwald, on the other hand, Allied liberating forces found thousands of unburied bodies. If the Buchenwald this problem was taken care of by a "crematorium" designed to handle 400 a day.

No doubt improvements are needed in Canadian and other Canadian prisons. But there is something in the air about people who compare a few brief discomforts—often richly deserved—with the murder and torture of millions of innocent victims in Germany and Russia. It is almost as offensive as those individuals who, when ever they meet a fellow Christian, proclaim that they are being "crucified."

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL I. DOUGLASS

ISSUE IN OTHER HANDS

Clemenceau is said to have remarked, regarding the League, that Wilson talked like Jesus Christ. His comment was a caustic statement of belief that Christian principles cannot be made to work in world affairs.

Everyone who has observed the world scene must admit that prevailing in a Christian home has readily admitted that Christian principles, if applied if the members want to put them to work. But there are many people who want to keep religion in the home and in the sanctuary. Out in the world of affairs, they say, we have to be practical; Christianity won't work there.

No one could claim, of course, that the whole of Christian doctrine can be applied to world affairs immediately, with so much of the world non-Christian in religion and so many people Christians in name only. But it is a mistake to think that Christianity can be made to work in every area. We start if we put it into operation wherever we happen to be, or else we have to wait for a new era—for a speedy coming of the Day of Judgment.

This intelligent reader of the Bible or man of faith is willing to do. As Washington once said, in answer to those who would make a standard to which the wise and prudent may repair, the issue is in the hands of God."

Classrooms in the new $65,000 four - room addition to Prince of Wales public school were inspected by parents and officials following the official opening on Saturday. Here Jane Gray, 10, demonstrates on blackboard for Mrs. D. McLean and son Richard; Fred Mitchell, reeve of Thurlow Township; John Sproule, school board chairman, Roscoe Robson, M.L.A., and teacher Mrs. M. Badgley.

Ratepayers in the College Hill district take a keen interest in school matters as is indicated by the large crowd attending opening of new addition to Prince of Wales School. To save debenture charges entire cost of the $65,000 structure was paid in one year, with ratepayers raising their share through a special one year levy. Balance of 72 per cent of the cost will be paid by the Department of Education.

Miss Ann Briens Enjoys Trip To New York

Miss Ann Briens, of the Dominion Bank staff here, recently spent an interesting four days in New York City as the guest of her uncle, Joe Docter.

While in New York Miss Briens was taken on a guided tour of the Guarantee Trust Company by Mr. Carswell, publicity manager of the company. She was shown through the Socony Vacuum Company's head offices by the traffic manager of Socony, Mr. Andy Anderson, while Mr. White, assistant, to the Dominion Bank's agent in New York, showed her through the bank's establishment.

The Dominion Bank also entertained her at lunch while she was in New York.

Miss Jarka Novak Wins Cash Award Given by Club

The University Women's Club of Belleville, and district, annually awards a scholarship of $100 to the lady student at any high school within a radius of 25 miles of the city, who obtains the highest aggregate of marks for eight prescribed subjects.

A proviso rules that if the winner has, by October 10th, been a recipient of as much as $200 in bursaries, the honor of winning is retained by her, but the cash award must go to the lady student holding the next highest aggregate of marks.

The scholarship fund was raised this spring through the medium of an oil painting, donated by the artist, Manly Macdonald, R.C.A., one which tickets were sold.

Students of B.C.I.

This year the honor of winning the University Women's Club scholarship goes to Miss Marilyn Spencer, while the cash award goes to Miss Jarka Novak. Both these young ladies were students of the Belleville Collegiate Institute.

Born in Czechoslovakia, Miss Novak came to Canada at the age of seven when her father, Mr. J. Novak was employed at the Bata Shoe Plant. Knowing no English when she arrived, Miss Novak has made exceptionally good use of her years and her opportunities in Canada.

Awarded Memorial Scholarship

This year, she has also been awarded the Beta Memorial Scholarship for her academic standing. A popular and versatile student, a keen organizer, talented musically, she played a prominent part in B.C.V.S. dramatic club work; in the Glee Club and in operettas. This spring she was a member of the Sokol Group, interested in health and exercises, and is accomplished in high her work. Miss Novak has spent two summers at the Czech summer camp in Toronto. At present she is studying the Arts course at McMaster University, and also hopes to continue her music studies while in Hamilton.

Russia Angered By Greek Action To Provide Bases

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia has accused Greece of taking measures directly aimed at a new war by granting nine United States military forces the right to use some Greek air and naval bases.

The charge was made in a sharp protest note delivered Monday night by Andrei Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, to the Greek charge d'affaires in Moscow, Thomas Ypsilanti.

Asserting that "Greek territory is thus turned into a foreign military base which is counter to the interest of maintaining peace and international security," the note warned that Greece must bear responsibility for the consequences of "worsening the international situation."

CAN USE BASES

The U. S.-Greek agreement, signed in Athens Oct. 12, gave the U. S. and other North Atlantic pact powers the right to use an undisclosed number of Greek bases to strengthen NATO defences.

The right to use the bases will last as long as the NATO treaty is in effect. It now is scheduled to end in 1969.

In Washington, the state department declined immediate comment on the Kremlin note although officials said privately the Russian protest had been expected.

PICTON

Presentation Night of P.E. Junior Farmer Clubs Held

PICTON — Farming should be a co-operative effort — between father and son, said W. R. Cockburn, Agricultural Representative for Peel County, in addressing three hundred persons at Allicontville hall. The crowd, attending presentation night of Prince Edward County 4-H Junior Farmer Clubs, was told that sons in the family must be given a share if they are to continue interested in agriculture.

D. R. Spencer presided and musical numbers were given by Carley Cleave and the IL and A Club Quartette.

Awards Made.

Awards were those won in club competitions and at county fairs. These were presented as follows: Girls' Homemaking Clubs, provincial honors, Mrs. Lorne McGovern, Mrs. Florence Wood, Miss Marion Conklin; county honor pins to Norma Foster, Joan Wood, Margaret Parliament, Gertrude Parliament, Margaret Hicks, Mary Lou Black, Jean Anne Parks, Margaret Baigel, Joan Rosborough, Jane Newcombe.

Gifts were presented by the Junior Farmer Clubs to Agricultural Representative Donald Taylor and assistant Bruce McCoquodale, in appreciation of their services. At the conclusion of the evening, the Juniors served refreshments.

Eisenhower and Press Subject of Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential secretary James Hagerty contended Monday night that the Eisenhower administration has improved relations with the press and that a news "leak" on its appointment of Chief Justice Earl Warren was no payoff to friendly newspapers.

Raymond P. Brandt, chief of the Washington bureau of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, took an opposite position during a televised discussion. Brandt said he thinks press relations have worsened "because of the attitude of the Eisenhower administration."

NO NOISE HALLOWE'EN?

VANCOUVER (CP)—City council took the bang out of Hallowe'en Monday, for all the minors in town. Council voted to bring down a by-law banning the sale of fireworks to all minors and restricting their general sale to three days before Hallowe'en. The by-law will also prohibit the use of fireworks on city streets.

Funeral Residence Of Geo. F. O'Brien Is Remodelled

A complete remodelling and expansion of the premises of the Funeral Residence of George F. O'Brien, 30 Moira Street West, have just been finished, making it possible for Mr. O'Brien to expand his services to the general public.

The Funeral residence has had its exterior completely renovated to provide a satisfactory outward appearance in keeping with the establishment.

Exterior stone work has been pollished and the entrance verandah, including a new stone tile floor, completely reconstructed.

The funeral parlors have been redecorated to provide a home-like atmosphere.

New additions include a tastefully decorated selection room containing a large selection of quality merchandise. A new garage has been built at the rear of the premises.

These additions have provided space to expand other facilities.

Mr. Frank Corrigan, associated with the business for many years, and widely known in the city and district, has retired from active business.

He was associated with Mr. O'Brien under the firm name of Corrigan and O'Brien. With his retirement the business will be known as the Funeral Residence of George F. O'Brien.

Farm Forum

On Thursday evening, thirteen members of Hastings County Farm Forum committee met at the home of Bernard Hollinger in Foxboro for a three-fold purpose. (1) Discuss the broadcasts which are to begin on Monday, October 26; (2) to plan to organize new forums; (3) to arrange for rally of existing forums.

This latter, the fall rally, is to be held in Melrose Hall on the evening of November 23, with Mr. C. A. Milligan, Napanee, and Mr. Cliff Wallis, Toronto, as guest speakers.

An original idea for programs will be a "Tall Story-telling Competition" in which each forum will participate. There will be judges and prizes to the forum with the best story.

HUNTER—McKAY-BARRY

Candelabra, white chrysanthemums and ferns with ferns formed the setting on Saturday, October 24, at 7:00 p.m., in North Parkdale United Church, for a lovely autumn wedding when Kathleen Claire McKay-Barry, of Toronto, daughter of Mrs. A. McKay-Barry, became the bride of David MacKay Hunter, also of Toronto, son of Mrs. J. Hunter, of Toronto, and the late Mr. Hunter. The Reverend M. R. Hamilton officiated.

The wedding music was rendered by Mr. T. Watt, church organist, who accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Joan Gibbs of Toronto, who sang, during the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer," and during the signing of the register, "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her brother, Cadet I. M. McKay-Barry, of Kingston, the bride, was radiant in bridal gown of Chantilly lace, net and satin. The molded bodice was featured by a scoop line yoke of pearled nylon tulle outlined with seed pearls, with Peter Pan collar, and long, tight fitting sleeves ending in lily-points over the wrists. The double-tiered skirt of net and chantilly lace over satin fell in graceful folds ending in a slight train. A matching Juliet cap held her fingertip veil of tulle illusion and she carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of white baby 'mums.

Miss Marilyn McKay-Barry, of Ottawa, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, Mrs. Marilyn Brisbin, of Toronto, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Katherine Taylor, of Toronto, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. All wore similar gowns in blending shades of fall, green and beige, having bouffant accordion pleated skirts of tone-layered nylon net over taffeta and fitted bodice with deep, elasticized waist-line. They wore crescent-shaped matching hats, and carried nosegays of yellow to deep-gold blending 'mums.

Mr. Frank Lauvers, of Toronto, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. "Rusty" Buck, of Port Credit, and Mr. Allan Taylor, of Toronto, acted as ushers.

For the reception in McKelcy Gardens, Toronto, the bride's mother received wearing ankle-length black velvet gown with matching accessories and corsage of pink gladioli and fern. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, pictured in a floor-length Burgundy velvet with matching accessories and corsage of white 'mums.

For the wedding trip to Quebec City, the bride donned a red wool dress with grey kidskin fur jacket, winter-white hat, patent accessories and corsage of white 'mums. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter will reside in Toronto upon their return.

Hills of Hastings

HILLS OF HASTINGS

Over the hills of Hastings
We drive on an autumn day;
The sky was blue above us
And the trees were bright grey.

The river flowed on calmly
And sang its autumn song,
Accompanying our voices
As we swiftly drove along.

Through many a cosy village
And through the busy town
We caught a glimpse of quiet life
Unstirred by noise or sound.

Through many a sheltered valley
Then winding a towering hill,
We saw a wide spread vision
Of a country, vast and still.

Oh! staunch bold hills of Hastings
Symbols of strength and power,
Unmoved by storm or tempest
In danger's trying hour.

May we in storm and tempest
Bear life's recurring ills
With the strength and the endurance
Of the unyielding hills.

Women of Three Counties Hold W.I. Convention Here

Countywomen from the combined districts of Hastings, Prince Edward and Northumberland gathered here for the 37th annual Women's Institute convention, which opened yesterday in the Masonic Temple.

More than 280 Institute members and visitors registered yesterday morning to attend sessions of this "The Friendly Convention", with the theme, "The Fields Ahead With Opportunities to Grow."

"We never can continue to be the great organization we ought to be, unless we all put our shoulders to the wheel," Mrs. J. E. Hoult of Brampton, told the Belleville area convention, when she addressed the evening session. Her topic was "Then and Now."

Mrs. Hoult, a countrywoman herself and mother of five children, has devoted her spare time to the institute work for more than 35 years.

Should All Children

"The other children of the world are our responsibility," the speaker stated, in urging the gathering to help, through contributions, the underprivileged children of destitute countries in Europe and Asia.

Mrs. Hoult felt that more women of the Institute could help through donations to UNESCO, UNICEF and other branches of the United Nations to bring much needed food and medical treatment, to needy orphans, and technical assistance to backward farming countries.

She dwelt briefly on the birth of the Institute, which began years ago at Stoney Creek, and which since then has branched into an international organization, whose influence is felt throughout the world.

Tells of Convention

She spoke of the meeting of the Associated Countrywomen of the World, held in Toronto recently, at which 26 different countries were represented. Women from India in their native costumes were present along with those from Egypt, Pakistan and Ceylon.

Mrs. Hoult was much impressed with a woman from India when she asked that her country not be spoken of as "underdeveloped" but "underdeveloped." The same thought was brought by the women from other countries in the East.

At the ACWW, the delegates discussed the production and distribution of food, which brought the discussion to the Canadian Wheat Board and the countries where the problem is over-population and poor health.

Should Widen Horizons

"We should go beyond our own borders," said the speaker as she appealed to the convention to take interest in the world and the children of the world's needy. How different it would be for us if there were no food for our children and no medical care for them when they were sick, she observed.

"Education of you is terribly important," Mrs. Houck said as she stressed the need for the members of the Institute to be more active, and the younger ones to accept responsibilities.

Although she urged their participation in international affairs, Mrs. Houck felt Institute women would not neglect local problems that must be brought before them.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Dorothy Coolidge, of Codrington, and thanked by the president, Mrs. Ida Clancy, of R.R. 2, Harold, who presided at the morning and afternoon sessions of the convention.

Girls' Session Held

Miss Ida Hicks, home economist, brought a report on Homemaking for Girls at the afternoon session of the girls' session which she conducted. Mrs. Devitoy of Cobourg, Melville, gave a report on the programs of the clubs, at which she spoke briefly on the prize medals, the importance of various foods, garden and variety shows, and the need in the home, and how to be a good hostess and homemaker. Marilyn Fisher, of Codrington, a provincial honors girl, gave the report on the Girls' Institute in the place of Mrs. Fred Bailey, of Madoc.

Fine Program

A humorous skit entitled "Welcome to Gentleman's Institute," was put on by Wellman's branch of Thurlow, with the following taking part: Mrs. Clifford Clancy, Mrs. Ida Clancy, Mrs. Jay Hines, Mrs. D. Clancy, Mrs. J. Carlisle, Mrs. K. Wellman and Mrs. Charles Hoard.

Pleasing tap dance numbers and a duet were given by Barbara Thrasher and Deanna Masefield, and a comical reading by Mrs. Rose Bush, of Consecon, vocal solo was rendered by Miss Norma Arkel with Miss Marion Nickal as accompanist. Anna F. Lewis, director of the Women's Institute Branch, showed slides of the ACWW in Toronto, and commented on the highlights of this meeting. "Let's Sing Together" was the closing number of the evening, after which Mrs. Charles Fair and Mrs. J. T. Silos, both of Wellington, served.

Business Session

The morning session opened with the singing of the 1923 convention, which included the financial report and correspondence by Mrs. Harold Phillips of Belleville, area secretary, and Mrs. Walter's report by Mrs. Fred Campbell of Foxboro. The report on agriculture and Canadian Industries was presented by Mrs. S. B. Beatty of Madoc. Resolutions to go before the convention were read by Mrs. Hilton Eagleson of Cobourg.

Greetings from Indian Homemakers was brought by Mrs. Brant of Deseronto. Mrs. R. Irwin, board director of Campbellford, spoke on "Cleanings From Our District Assembly."

Mrs. Clancy in her address welcomed the visiting officers and members for their co-operation, and to Miss Lewis and Miss Purcell, president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, for their splendid efforts.

Delegates Respond

The roll call, "International Opportunities of Women in Other Countries" was answered by district delegates, who gave the convention a clearer picture of the women in other countries, their roles in international affairs, their problems and their work.

The following took part: Prince Edward, Mrs. Arthur Wannamaker of Wellington, "Holland"; Northumberland East, Mrs. Lloyd Ames, of Colborne, "Germany"; Northumberland West, Mrs. Arthur Smith of Baltimore, "Wales"; Hastings North, Mrs. S. R. Beatty of Madoc, "Greece"; Hastings West, Mrs. Roy Bush of Stirling, "Russia"; Hastings East, Mrs. Bernard Hollinger of Foxboro, "Switzerland."

President Speaks

Mrs. G. McCubbin of Warkworth presided at the afternoon session, at which the delegates were addressed by Mrs. R. G. Purcell FWIO president.

Mrs. Purcell spoke of the provincial officers' conference and the hope that the branches would consider making it a meeting place for branch officers as well. She also told of the success of the WI holiday at Guelph, which has been extended to take in Kemptville.

She praised the WI tent at the International Plowing Match as not a good means of publicity for the work of Institute women, and said their "Penny Round-Up" held in connection with meetings in Institute halls, netted about four fund for Greece, which the speaker initiated, was reported.

She told the convention of a country-wide campaign which is still in the "thinking cit" stage, but which would provide a wonderful place for study book of what life was like in the pioneer days of Canada.

Welcome Extended.

An address of welcome was given by Mrs. Roscoe Robson of Belleville, and by Mrs. Lorne Clancy of Warkworth, replying, Mrs. John Ewing of Camilton reported on citizenship and education; Mrs. F. Brown of Rosenesth on agricultural resources and rural events; and Mrs. T. M. Gresham on communications, health and public relations.

The following members of Belleville East took part in a skit, "Interviewing Maids", Mrs. Olive Dunn, Mrs. Phillip Wright, Mrs. Carman Gunning, Mrs. Douglas Cunningham, Mrs. Elsie Wright and Mrs. Ray Pollock. Mrs. Don Rutherford was accompanist by Mrs. Ward Acker provided vocal entertainment at the afternoon session, following which the convention closed, in charge of Mrs. Ida Clancy.

Heirlooms Exhibited.

Mrs.Roy Bush of Stirling spoke briefly of the heirlooms on exhibition, which included an old-fashioned stereoscope with three slides depicting an early view of the village of Madoc, an ancient maple sugar cooler, old type pickle and jelly dishes, all typical of the pioneer days of the surrounding district.

Also on display was a much-admired quilt worked by Roslyn Heath branch, which captured second prize at their fair. The quilt was made in commemoration of the Coronation of Elizabeth II and is designed in white, yellow and royal purple with the Queen in a central rectangle.

Mrs. Clancy, at registration were Mrs. W. J. Tufts of Belleville and Mrs. Ivan Thrasher of Stirling. On the reception committee were: Mrs. Kelvin Green of Foxboro; Mrs. Bernard Hollinger of Foxboro, morning; Mrs. Hilton Eagleson of Cobourg; Mrs. Joseph Barry of Colborne, afternoon.

St. Andrew's Gilead W.M.S. Shows Films

An enjoyable evening was spent recently when the ladies of St. Andrew's-Gilead W.M.S. presented films at the church on the occasion of their anniversary. Latin America where missionary work is carried on.

Everyone reported an evening well spent.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Brett are shown signing the register following their marriage in Christ Church, Belleville. The bride is the former Miss Joan Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gordon, of the bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. K. Brett, of Toronto, Ont.

Christ Church E.B. Holds Enjoyable Party

A masquerade Hallowe'en party was held last evening in Christ Church parish hall under the sponsorship of the Evening Branch of the W.A. with all the attendant eerie coterie of that particular night in evidence.

The first event, producing goose pimples, was the trek by the costumed guests through a weirdly-darkened hall to be met with a witch carrying the black kettle with the proverbial witch's brew no doubt.

Other interesting items included a bowling contest where the pins were witches and the 'bowls', oranges. The winners of this were: Mrs. W. Edwards and Mrs. J. Hilliard. Another item on the agenda, was the 'tight-rope walk, which consisted in the contestant walking a line upon the floor without looking at it through the small end of the binoculars.

As was to be expected, the winner in this case, was Archdeacon J. B. Creegan, whose daily 'straight and narrow' stood him in good stead on this particular occasion.

Word Contest

The word contest, beginning with the letter e-x-t was both instructive as well as enjoyable, with Mrs. Ivan Thrasher and Mrs. Spencer emerging as the winners. This was followed by a ghost walk, which took part by adding their quotas to its chilling narrative.

Apple tables, from which the refreshments were served, were appropriately decked in hallowe'en style with orange and black streamers, with the centre piece featuring jerking grimace, and orange candles in black holders. The table was completed by cutting jack-o'-lanterns and ghastly skeletons.

Prize Costumes

Those meriting honorable mention for outstanding costumes were: Mrs. A. Cooper, Mrs. R. Wright and Mrs. C. Smith, the judges being, Mrs. G. G. Wright and Mrs. J. Bell.

Appreciative thanks were extended by the president to Mrs. L. Watson, Miss F. Reid and Miss L. Morton, conveners of the program, for a most enjoyable evening; also to Mrs. J. Hibbard, who presided at the piano and to Mrs. R. Smith and Mrs. H. Ingram for their assistance in making the party such a success.

The thanksgiving was received by Mrs. Albert Grills and Miss Mona Swan who announced that $27.61 and was dedicated by the Rev. Mr. Throop.

Mrs. Harry Bertrand favored with a reading, "A Package, of Seeds," by Edgar Guest.

Everyone rejoiced in evening of fellowship.

Women's Activities

EGGLETON W.M.S. — W.A.

MADOC JCT. — The October meeting of Eggleton W.M.S. and W.A. was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. B. Stapley.

The president presided over the program, which had been prepared by Mrs. Murney Kirkey. The theme being "Thanksgiving."

The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Harry Clarke reading a portion of Scripture, Psalm 92. A Thanksgiving reading, "Let Us Give Thanks" was read by Mrs. M. Kirkey. A poem, "Thanksgiving" was read by Mrs. William McMullen.

During the business period the W.M.S. president, Mrs. William McMullen, discussed final plans for the social. Mrs. Kirkey offered her home for the November meeting and Mrs. Clarke will prepare the program. The roll call was answered by ten adults and also three children present. All enjoyed the piano solo by Sharon Stapley.

Mrs. Maurice Clancy gave the chapter from the study book.

After the closing of the meeting the hostess served refreshments.

ST. ANDREW'S-GILEAD W.M.S.

The October meeting of St. Andrew's-Gilead Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Guy Leavens, with four officers and fifteen members and one visitor present.

The president opened the meeting and conducted the business during which gifts and cards were sent to sick members. Plans were completed for the Korea money to be sent to cover shipment of same at 10 cents per pound.

It was decided to have films for the thankoffering service at the church in the near future.

Worship Service

Mrs. Gerald Swan took charge of the worship service, and Mrs. Beryl Swan kindly donated her record player for this service which included the hymn, "The Place Where I Worship is the Hill Where My Saviour Met Me", the Hand of "The Lord," sung by Mr. Morgan Lloyd, which recording in the hymnary was read responsively.

"They Locked God Outside the Iron Curtain", was the prelude for the thankoffering address by Mrs. Dawson, the famous negro missionary, who found that people with dark skins can do as much more to Christianize than can those of lighter skin.

"Brother Do You Take the Time to Pray," by Billy Graham recorded, closed the worship service.

Prayer

Mrs. Annie McCullough led the following prayer which consisted of readings by Mrs. O. Rollins, Mrs. Everett Yorke, and Miss B. Rollins with a beautiful solo by Mrs. Fred Yorke entitled, "Footsteps". Mrs. Dawson closed O'er the Footprints of the Stranger of Galilee's Shore" and a prayer by Mrs. Earl Treverton.

Mrs. O. Bertrand closed the meeting and a social half-hour was spent while the hostess served refreshments.

DROWNS IN FISH POND

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Timmy Curtis, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Curtis of Niagara Falls, was drowned in a fish pond near his home Monday. The child had been playing near the pond and was missed only a few minutes before a neighbor found him.

St. Michael's Holds P-T Assoc. Meeting

The October meeting of St. Michael's High School Parent-Teacher Association took place recently.

The president, Mr. H. O'Neill, called upon Rev. J. J. Buckley to open the meeting, during which the latter spoke briefly exhorting these present to work earnestly for St. Michael's High School.

"A new Catholic High School in Belleville is much needed," he stated, "and it might be amazing how soon this project may be realized if all work for this end. The building fund, the surplus funds of the Catholic Women's League, the Holy Name Society, the Parent-Teacher Association, St. Michael's Church are being set aside for this purpose."

Vocalist Favored

Mention was also made of the needed continuance of students in a Catholic High School during the high school years, because it was mainly during these years that vocations to the priesthood from high school during the past year, he noted, there were three vocations to the priesthood.

The president called upon the following to the nominating committee, Mrs. H. Hudon, to present the slate of officers for the coming year. These were as follows: spiritual director, Very Rev. L. J. Gervais; honorary president, Rev. Sister M. Lenore; past president, Dr. F. E. Hubbs; president, Mr. H. O'Neill; vice-president, Mr. H. Brown; secretary, Mrs. A. Broadworth; treasurer, Mrs. A. Broadworth; historian, Mr. T. Mascaro.

Committee Heads

Committee heads were also appointed: membership, Mrs. R. Johnson, social convener; Mr. J. Murphy, sports director; Mrs. F. Brown, entertainment.

The P.T.A. decided to sponsor a dance every second Friday in St. Michael's auditorium, beginning with the Hallowe'en dance on Friday, to provide entertainment for the young people of the parish.

Guest Speaker

The guest speaker, Rev. Father Cletus Fitzpatrick, O.F.M. (Conv.) of Holy Rosary Parish, was introduced by Rev. J. J. Buckley. He stated that he was neither a parent nor a teacher, but, in his own humorous, relieved manner, many humorous incidents of his school career in England, and stated the fact that the personality of the student as well as his mental capacity must be developed.

After the meeting closed refreshments consisting of coffee and sandwiches were served.

MORE VARIED FARE

European Travelogue Enjoyed by Quinte W.I.

The Bay of Quinte Institute held its October meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson of Trent Road, on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Ross Stickle, the president, opened the meeting.

The Unlondale Institute, who were guests for the evening, of the Bay of Quinte Institute, were warmly welcomed by the president as well as Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. Middleton and Mrs. Halwell, all of Belleville.

Mrs. Ross Stickle and Mrs. Alva Meyers were appointed to go to Belleville on Monday and Tuesday as delegates to the W.I. convention.

A collection of canned goods was taken up in aid of the Trenton Memorial Hospital, after which a short memorial service was held in memory of Mrs. Albert Jones, who passed away a short time ago.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. C. Holmes, the convener for the evening, who opened it with a duet, "Darling I Am Growing Old", "My Bonnie", and closed with all standing and joining in "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow", as a Thanksgiving hymn.

Mrs. Holmes welcomed the visitors and gave a short reading, "Take Time to Live." Mrs. Tucker gave a humorous recitation, "Levitsky At The Wedding," and an encore, "A Scotch Sermon."

Guest Speaker

The guest speaker was Mrs. Follwell of Belleville, who told of the trip that she and her nine-year-old son, took overseas for the purpose of seeing the Coronation and visiting friends. They left Montreal by plane and arrived in England, saw the Coronation, attended the garden party given by the Queen, and visited many interesting places in England.

They also spent some time in Ireland stating, "Was it ever wonderful!" From there, they went to Holland, where it was so clean they did not see a bit of anything lying in the streets. They passed through Luxemburg and Switzerland, liking Berne very much; then through France, where her boy was given wine to drink, instead of milk which they did not seem to have enough of. After this, they returned to Ezgland, thence to Scotland.

On the way home they were forced to land at Iceland where they stayed for about and hour, then on to Labrador and Montreal.

Land Of Opportunity.

Mrs. Follwell was so enthralled with her trip that she took all right along with her as she was telling of all the wonderful places and beautiful scenery she had seen. They had only to say they were Canadians and the sky was the limit in hospitality. They all called Canada "the land of opportunity." Mrs. Follwell also showed moving pictures of their trip.

Mrs. John Reid moved a vote of thanks for the splendid talk and for the moving pictures shown, also to Mrs. Tucker, who had so capably entertained with her elocution, and to Mrs. Fred Wilson for the use of her home, which was seconded by Mrs. Holmes.

Mrs. Tucker again entertained by a rendition, "The Song of the Market Place."

Thanks Tendered.

The president of Unlondale W.I. Mrs. Harrington thanked the ladies for asking them on this very interesting occasion. Mrs. Middleton also added her thanks to the Bay of Quinte Institute.

Mrs. Lohnny received a prize because her wedding anniversary was on that day and the lucky number prize was won by Mrs. Walter Jones.

Refreshments were served by the conveners. Much credit was due Mrs. Holmes for her excellent program.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

She Wants To Marry Now—He Wants To Wait—Who's Right?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a fellow 24 years old, and am engaged to a girl the same age whom I have known all my life. She wants to get married right away but, while I have a good job, I have not been able to save any amount of money yet, because I have to help out at home. I don't think we should wait. I want to build a home before we get married, but she thinks we should get married and build it afterwards. I think of our security, but she never gives that a thought, and always wants to rush into everything.

All this, has resulted in constant arguments and quarrels between us. If it isn't one thing, it's another. It seems we are never together without an argument coming up over something. Sometimes I get so disgusted I feel like breaking the whole thing up, but then I realize I love her too much to bear the thought of losing her. Can you give me anyting to do that will help me in this situation?

Donald J.

Not Mainie Enough

Dear Donald:

My opinion is that, at the present time, your girl friend is far from being mature enough to make anybody a good wife, and I strongly advise you not to let her persuade you to marry now. While I don't think you necessarily would need to wait until you had enough money to build a house, you certainly should have enough in the bank to provide for any sudden emergency and to enable you to live without constant worry and strain. If your girl doesn't go along with this idea, then I am afraid she hasn't the kind of responsibility that a man should find in a wife.

A relationship that is one continuous series of quarrels and disagreements does no one any good but, on the contrary, keeps those concerned in a very harmful state of emotional tension. Moreover, it is bound to produce a crises sooner or later.

My advice to you, therefore, is to take a firm stand once and for all. Tell this girl that if she cannot see how foolish and reckless it would be for two people as young as you are, and as unready to assume full responsibility for each other, to marry now, that you have a different idea of things, and that you are not going to be pushed into marriage against your proper judgment. If she breaks off with you because of this, my own opinion would be that you wouldn't be losing anything worthwhile—and, although you would, of course, feel badly for awhile—you would be better off in the end than if you plunged into marriage merely because she wants to, only to find yourself in trouble later.

PYECOMBE, England (CP)—Police, investigating a theft from a store here, found a real clue. It was a visiting card dropped by the thief, who was easily traced to his home.

The Press Club Annual Bridge

By Mary Moore

Every year when our press club holds its bridge party in October I like to tell you what refreshments we served and how the quantities turned out for such a large crowd.

Last night the big event took place. It was a beautiful fall evening and everybody that had bought tickets came—two hundred and forty strong.

We thought they had turned out so well because with was a Dessert Bridge, but the fine weather had a lot to do with the size of the attendance.

Each press clubbey was to bring a homemade dessert that would serve at least eight people. We supplemented this—for safety's sake —with five gallons of ice cream and about a bushel of five different fruits—pears, grapes, apples, peaches and bananas.

One of the girls had the brilliant idea of making two superb apple pies and they were gone in the first ten minutes. (If you throw a dessert party don't go so fancy that you forget the appeal of well-made apple pies.) Another experienced hand made a very large and beautiful mold of jellied fruit which the dedicated reducers and epicures appreciated and demolished.

There were homemade eclairs and cream puffs, a seven-inch high angel food, a handsomely decorated Bavarian, chiffon pies, a Viennese Torte with eighteen eggs in it. I made an icebox dessert that would cut into any number of pieces—and I did cut it into thirty-two. The point is if you expendable and because of that virtue, and because it is relatively easy to make and the flavor is so good, I am giving you the recipe.

Icebox dessert recipes are good ones to have tucked away in your file. Nothing takes the confusion out of entertaining a crowd faster than the comfort of knowing the dessert is made and in the refrigerator.

Mocha Ambrosia

If humanly possible try to beg, borrow or steal one of those old-fashioned loaf pans that are the size of one and one-half loaves of bread—about 12x5x3 inches. If you cannot locate one use two average-sized loaf pans.

Three squares (ounces) bitter, chocolate, 1-4 lb. (1-2 cup) sweet butter (unsalted), 1 cup unsifted icing sugar, 2 eggs, 3 dozen lady fingers, about 2 cups cold strong coffee. Split the lady fingers in halves lengthwise. Line the loaf pan with double wax paper. Melt the butter until it is smooth and light (your electric beater is ideal for this—if you do not have one use rotary beater), and slowly add the sugar while beating. Melt the chocolate in double boiler, then let it cool somewhat. Add the eggs one at a time, beating well between each addition. Slowly add the melted chocolate while beating. Have ready a collection—like style—the split lady fingers, then a shallow bowl containing the coffee, then the lined pan, then the chocolate cream mixture. Pick up a lady finger, lower it quickly into the coffee, let it drain for a moment, then place in bottom of mold crosswise. Continue until you have a closely-touching layer of lady fingers in bottom of pan, then cover them with a layer of the chocolate cream 1-4-inch thick. Repeat this layering until all lady fingers and chocolate cream are used, finishing with top layer of lady fingers. Cover with double thickness of wax paper, and weight down—I used a bowlful of eggs as a weight. Chill overnight or 24 hours. Turn out on long serving dish. (I used an oblong mirror plaque.) Frost top and sides with whipped cream and garnish with "flowers" of quartered maraschinos and blanched almonds. Slice in 1-3-inch slices.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

Glove Etiquette

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. When, at a tea-party, a woman is drinking tea, or at a cocktail party is drinking a cocktail or other drink, is it proper for her to keep her gloves on? And how about when she eats? And how about when she smokes?

2. Is it ever proper for a woman to wear a bracelet or bracelets over long gloves? And how about wearing a ring over long gloves?

We have the answers to these questions!

1. A woman should take off her gloves before she starts eating, or drinking, or smoking. She may carry them with her purse, or put them into her purse. (For her to keep on her gloves when she eats or drinks or smokes looks unattractive, or affected, and usually messy.)

2. Bracelets may properly be worn over long gloves, though of course not at the dinner table, when gloves should always be removed. But a ring, no . . . a ring should never be worn outside a glove.

Her Sisters Wedding Invitation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My sister is to be married soon, a semi-formal church wedding and a quite large reception. We would like to send formal invitations, but we are completely stumped as to whose name to use as "sponsor" of the invitations. Since our mother and father are dead, several years ago, my sister and I (the only daughters of the family) have lived together. I am six years older than my sister, and I am not married. Our only brother, the oldest, is married, but lives quite a distance from here, and we see him only about once a year. Does the fact that he is the oldest, and is a brother, and married, mean that the invitations should be sent out in his name and his wife's? Several people have told us that this is correct, but to my sister and me this seems rather far-fetched. Should we use his name or mine, even though I'm not married?

Janet T.

From every point of view it would be proper and fitting that your name should be used as sponsor of the invitations:

Miss Janet Thompson requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of her sister Helen etc.

Toasting The Bride

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to give my niece in marriage at her church wedding. Will you please suggest a toast I might use at the wedding breakfast?

Today, toasts at a wedding are usually very simple (not the "speeches" that were formerly made), and your toast to the bride might be: "I would like to propose a toast to my dear niece, today's lovely bride . . .with every loving wish that she will be as happy always as she is today." Or your toast might be to the bridegroom: "A standing toast, . . . To the Bride and Groom to their Happiness and future . . .' and we're all forward to celebrating with their Golden Wedding Anniversary."

TORONTO (CP)—It costs private hospitals in Ontario almost $100,000,000 a year to take care of the province's sick, C. N. Weber of Kitchener said Monday.

The president of the Ontario Hospital Association said in an address at the opening of the association's 29th annual convention here that during 1953 about 750,000 persons, one in every seven in the province, will have been treated in Ontario hospitals.

In 1952 about 115,850 babies, more than 80 per cent of all those born in the province, were born in hospitals.

SUGGESTED BY COSTS

"One of our chief problems is higher costs without corresponding increases in rates and grants for indigent patients," Mr. Weber said.

"It now costs our hospitals about 15 per cent more to care for patients than in 1951. Most of the cost general hospitals an average per diem is for nurses' salaries. This included accommodation, meals, operating room, x-rays and other services."

Mr. Weber said the supply of hospital personnel, particularly nurses and technical staff, was still as short as ever.

This is mainly because more and more persons are needed to staff our hospitals with all their expanding programs."

Federal Govt. Asked to Share Hospital Deficit

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost Monday asked federal government to share in the province's hospital deficits which ran to nearly $24,000,000 last year.

He signalled the federal government match a provincial maintenance grant of $10,000,000 as a prerequisite to any additional health insurance plan.

Speaking to the Ontario Hospital Association, the premier said:

"Such a plan would reduce the cost of hospitalization, place hospitalization within the reach of more people and place our hospitals in a happier position in which to carry on their work."

His plan was that Ottawa be permitted to use present health grants for maintenance purposes. He said "this greater good could be done in this province than if the federal health plans contained at least an option permitting the expenditure of health grants for his purpose."

READY-MADE TEA

LONDON (CP)—Army catering experts have developed a new type of tea powder, to be tested by the troops in Malaya. The powder combines tea, sugar and milk, and one ounce provides a pint of tea.

Airport Workers Declare Open Season on Ducks

VANCOUVER (CP) — International airport, sprawling over the rich delta land near here, has again taken on something of a "wartime" appearance.

This time the enemy is the ordinary wild duck, and airport workers have declared open season.

Ducks by the thousands have been coming in for landings and taking off. Their favorite landing area is at the end of the new 8,500-foot jet-age runway which cost more than $1,000,000 to build.

The ducks pay no attention to airplanes. In one week, two Trans-Canada Air Lines planes were grounded for compulsory checks after flying through flights of ducks.

One four-engined North Star was held up for 19 minutes while ground crew plucked feathery remains from engine and exhaust pipes.

OLD ROOSTING SPOT

The trouble came when the huge runway was extended 4,000 feet, cutting through the centre of an east field, long a roosting place for ducks.

Game regulations permit special shooting permits for areas where ducks are causing damage, but airport officials want during daylight. The airport's problem gets serious at night, when the ducks come in to roost, or when the weather is bad and they seek shelter.

Maintenance crews have fired Very rockets among sitting ducks and nothing has happened. Others scream low over flocks and they go right on feeding. Crash trucks, sirens screaming, have been driven back and forth across the runway but before airliners are due to arrive.

There is one more avenue open to the airport administration. They are investigating a device reputed to make a weird and thunderous noise that can't help but scare away the ducks.

And the beauty of it is, the tone is too high-pitched to be heard by human ears.

CHAMPION HORSE

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—The six-year-old horse Carioca emerged as Australia's champion handicap racer when jockey Billy Cook booted him home first by a head in the Metropolitan Handicap. Carioca earlier won the Sydney Cup, making a famous double with the Metropolitan Handicap, and his double triumph was a heavy blow to bookmakers.

Churchill 'Mum' On His Intentions About Parley

LONDON (Reuters) — Sir Winston Churchill apparently intends to keep the world guessing about his reported plans for a trip to Moscow to confer with Premier Malenkov—at least until he knows whether Russia is willing to attend a Big Four foreign ministers' conference, diplomatic sources said.

There was no confirmation in London of a report that the 79-year-old prime minister had abandoned his reported intention of making a personal approach to Malenkov, if he could not arrange a conference of world leaders.

Only last week Churchill decided in the House of Commons to confirm or deny widespread reports that he would fly to Moscow in an attempt to sound out the Kremlin on its foreign policy.

Jail Governor Denies Charges

TORONTO (CP)—Col. R. H. Paterson, governor of the Don Jail, has denied a former prisoner's charges of brutality at the jail.

Col. Paterson told the legislature's select committee on reform institutions that he had heard many stories of alleged brutality but they were not true.

The governor attended the hearing at the request of the committee, to hear the former prisoner's testimony.

The former prisoner, in the jail twice for a mental examination, testified that a boy he said was obviously a mental case, had been beaten by other patients while three guards watched.

Has Fingers Crossed

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Howard Shisler, salesman for a paper products company at nearby Chippawa, holds an Irish sweepstakes ticket on Hilltop, a 33-to-1 shot in the Cambridgeshire Handicap to be run Wednesday.

Shisler, whose mom de plume was "Bubble Gum," is married and has two children, Jerry and Sandra.

Weightlifters Set Marks At Montreal Meet

MONTREAL (CP) — Six Canadian records and one British Empire mark were broken Saturday as weightlifters from the United States and Canada competed in the North American weightlifting championship here.

Dave Bailey of Noranda, Que., came up with an impressive performance. He cleaned and jerked 365½ pounds to beat the old Canadian heavyweight mark of 364 pounds held by Doug Hepburn of Vancouver.

Light-heavyweight Gerry Gratton of Verdun, Que., a member of Canada's 1952 Olympic team in Helsinki, snatched 283 pounds for a new Canadian and British Empire record. Gratton also won the North American light-heavyweight championship, lifting a total of 680 pounds.

Jules Sylvain of Quebec won the featherweight class, lifting a total of 625 pounds, and beat two Canadian records. He pressed for a new mark of 217½ pounds and snatched 211½.

SIXTH OPEN RECORD

The other two Canadian records, both open, were smashed by middle-heavyweight Jerome Schmarsky of Detroit, who also topped the class with a total lift of 820 pounds. Schmarsky broke the open record in the press, lifting 251½ pounds, and in the snatch, lifting 267½.

His brother, heavyweight Robert Schmarsky, holder of the world record in the clean and jerk, tried hard to beat his mark of 412½. He and Paul Anderson of York, Pa., each came to within one pound of tying the record.

Anderson came first in the heavyweight class, lifting a total of 1,015 pounds. He pressed 330, snatched 275 and cleaned and jerked 410.

30 Rugger Players Chosen To Make Tour

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP) — Thirty of the best rugger players in New Zealand have been selected for the All Blacks, the New Zealand Rugby Football Union team that will tour Britain, France, Canada and the United States.

Rugby union football—the 15-man amateur game first played at historic Rugby School in England—is New Zealand's national sport and fans here hope the team will be a worthy successor to such great touring teams as the 1905 All Blacks, who lost only one game in Britain, and the 1924 tourists who were undefeated in Britain and France.

The present squad will first tour Britain and France and then visit North America, playing two games at Vancouver and two in California. They also play one game in Honolulu.

Forwards, ranging in age from 20 to 32. Oldest is the captain, R.C. Stuart. Vice-captain L. S. Haig, member of a famous football family. Star of the backfield is R. A. Jarden, fast attacker and fine kicker.

Business Leaders Of Two Countries Oppose Tariffs

OTTAWA (CP) — Top business leaders of the United States have joined with those of Canada in urging new tariff barriers between the two countries.

Canadian exporters have been alarmed at the barriers already set up by the Eisenhower administration and at the agitation in the U.S. for more protection.

U.S. business confirmed its support for free trade at a meeting of the Canada-U.S. committee jointly maintained by the Chambers of Commerce of each country. A statement released Sunday on the meeting, held Friday and Saturday at th Seigniory Club, Quebec, says:

"At previous meetings, this group of business men from Canada and the United States has stated its belief in a policy of free and expanding world trade, the removal of trading restrictions between nations, and the development and promotion of international investment.

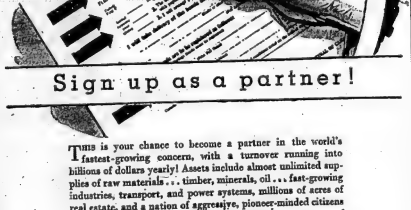
"These policies. . . have been accepted by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and now form part of the approved policy statements of both bodies. . . .

Servicemen Call Recent Order 'A Raw Deal'

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Merle Tingley, London Free Press cartoonist visiting Canadian troops in Korea, said in a cabled letter to his paper that servicemen call the government's gratuity cancellation a "raw deal."

"The boys are disappointed—a 'raw deal' they believed," Mr. Tingley wrote. "Some had volunteered for a year over here mainly to earn enough to marry the gal back home. Others counted on the bonus to start in college or set up a business."

The government announced last week that Canadian soldiers who left for Korea after the cease fire last July 26 will not be entitled to any special theatre-of-war discharge benefits. In effect, the troops now are on garrison duty, in the same way as Canada's 27th Brigade in West Germany.



"The joint committee also discussed some recent tendencies to resort to trade restrictions when economic difficulties developed and extended its previously stated views by declaring its belief that the solution. . . did not lie in creating new tariff barriers, increased protection and new obstacles to international trade."

How much does a wildcat cost?

A "wildcat" is a well drilled in an area where oil has never been found. Drilling costs vary, but the average wildcat in western Canada runs to more than $100,000. One well cost $1,600,000—and found no oil!

Oil is making an increasingly important contribution to our standard of living. How many of these questions about it can you answer?

1 in 3? 1 in 7? 1 in 23?
The long-term average in western Canada is 1 in 23. Only 1 in 87 has found a field capable of producing as much as 2,000 barrels a day.

Since 1939 the cost of living index has risen by 85%. During that time has the price you pay for gasoline gone up by—44%? 79%? 103%?
The average retail price of gasoline is only 19¢ higher than prewar, even with higher road taxes in all provinces.

A lot of oil has been discovered in the west since 1946. In that time have Canada's oil reserves increased—4 times? 23 times? 37 times?
Reserves have increased 23-fold in the past six years. Canadian fields now supply all the prairies and part of B.C. and Ontario.

How many companies, would you say, are engaged in the oil business in Canada—23? 174? 750?
About 750 companies in which the public has an investment interest, as well as several hundred private firms and partnerships. And this doesn't include the thousands of privately operated service stations and other retail and wholesale outlets for oil products.

Canada's growing oil industry means orders for many businesses, jobs for many Canadians. Last year Imperial's purchasing department bought equipment and supplies from Canadian firms amounting to—$12 millions? $15 millions? $110 millions?
$56 millions. About 4,500 Canadian companies sold Imperial supplies ranging from heavy steel plates to paper clips.

See Little Hope U.S. to Guarantee Cattle Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders in a cattle men's "caravan" hole little hope that Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson will yield to their pleas for immediate government guarantees on American livestock prices.

Looking beyond their face-to-face encounters with Benson, however, they foresee a heated fight over the issue when Congress reconvenes in January, and possibly growing support for their stand.

Many congressmen, facing an election in 1954, already have taken note of signs of general dissatisfaction among farmers.

About 350 cattle raisers from 30 states, declaring they face disaster from falling prices, converged on Washington by bus and car. At a mass meeting with Benson Monday, they talked of severe economic losses and predicted depression and distress in the cattle lands unless further action is taken promptly.

Benson told them his mind is open—but he also voiced misgivings about the workability of a program of cattle price supports.

Court Re-imposes Penalty Given By Magistrate

TORONTO (CP)—Hugh Lennox, who was fined $30 or 21 days for selling gasoline after hours at his Hamilton service station and then had the conviction quashed, Monday had the penalty re-imposed by the Ontario Court of Appeal.

Mr. Justice F. G. MacKay, who restored the conviction, ruled that the Lennox service station and parking lot was a "shop" within the meaning of the Industrial Standards Act.

John J. Robinette, recently appointed to the appeal court, argued that his client's principal business was parking. But Mr. Justice MacKay said that although it would have been within the law for the parking lot to remain open, under the subsection of the act the gasoline pumps should have been closed.

Canada and Queen Sued for $25,000 Over High Water

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — The Canadian government and the Queen Monday were named defendants in another $25,000 high-water damage suit filed by owners of island property in the St. Lawrence river.

The action was filed in federal district court here by Arthur and Anne Shaughnessy, owners of property on Canary Island in the St. Lawrence.

The couple alleged that Ont dam, which Canada demolished last year, caused high water in the river and that the overflow damaged their property.

They also asked an injunction forbidding the Canadian government to repair or renovate the dam between Les Galops island in the United States and Adams island in Canada.

Clothes Found Belonged To Slain Girl

QUEBEC (CP) — Police said clothes found in a Woodstock motel last week have been identified as those of 21-year-old Marie-Anne Carrier whose stabbed and nude body was discovered in a ditch at Iroquois, Oct. 18.

Detectives T. R. Wright and J. W. Teavley of the Ontario Provincial Police said Monday the Carrier family in Bienville, Que., has identified a salmon-colored coat and some underclothes as part of the clothing worn by the dead girl when she left home Oct. 14 to attend a CWAC reserve unit parade in Quebec City.

Police are continuing investigations at Valcartier military camp where Second Lieut. Peter Balcombe, 24, who is charged with murder of Miss Carrier, was stationed. Object of the search has not been revealed.

Governor-General Will Be Driven To Opening

OTTAWA (CP) — Government House announced Monday that part of the pre-war formalities associated with the opening of Parliament will be revived this year.

Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, governor-general, will drive to the opening of Parliament Nov. 12 in an open carriage with a mounted RCMP escort instead of a limousine. Use of a carriage was abandoned at the outbreak of the last war.

The governor-general's carriage will be drawn by four horses, and the mounted escort will include 27 RCMP constables and two officers.

The governor-general will wear his plumed hat and ceremonial black and white uniform with sword for the opening ceremony. The uniform is worn by representatives of the Crown in the various countries of the commonwealth.

Fire Loss Down

TORONTO (CP)—Fire loss in Ontario during July, August and September this year was down more than 50 per cent compared with the same period last year.

The Ontario fire marshal's office Monday reported that losses suffered in those months amounted to $2,786,206 against $6,079,983 for the corresponding period in 1952.

Total loss of $16,361,670 was caused by 13,499 fires in the first nine months of this year, compared with 11,321 fires and damage of $22,236,247 for the same period last year.

In July, August and September, 1953, 25 persons, including nine children, lost their lives in fires.

THIRD CRASH VICTIM

RENFREW (CP) — A car-truck collision near here Oct. 18 claimed its third victim Saturday when Ray Bilinkie of Renfrew, driver of the truck, died in hospital from brain injuries. Rose Smagilinski, 18, of Wilno, who was riding with Bilinkie, and four-year-old Donald MacLaurin of Renfrew, riding in the automobile, were killed in the crash.

Hollander, Living in Napanee, Adds Another to Long List Of Awards in Freedom's Cause

NAPANEE, Ont. (CP)—Hollander-born Willem Boot of Napanee has added another to his long list of awards in the cause of freedom.

Mr. Boot, who has received citations from three countries for his work in the resistance movement in the Netherlands during the Second World War, recently was presented with one of his native country's highest honors: The Dutch Meritorious Service Cross.

Now living with his wife and small son in this town 20 miles west of Kingston, he has previously received messages of gratitude and awards from the United States, England and Holland.

He has in his possession messages from Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, now United States president, on behalf of the American people for his "gallant service" in assisting the escape of Allied soldiers from the enemy." He has messages from Lord Tedder, Marshal of the RAF and former deputy supreme commander of the Allied Expeditionary Force under General Eisenhower, citing him for "help given sailors, soldiers and airmen of the British Commonwealth of nations which enabled them to escape from or evade capture."

A letter from Lt.-Col. M. L. De-Ronse of Holland's special force in which Mr. Boot served pays tribute to him as a "very brave and loyal man."

England invested him in 1946 with the King's Medal for courage in the cause of freedom in a ceremony at one of the royal palaces in The Hague, capital of The Netherlands.

The latest honor was presented by Maj. J. E. van Iterson, military attache of the Dutch embassy in Canada, in a simple ceremony in Mr. Boot's home here.

HARD AT IT!

The Memos ripped through another hard practice in Memorial Arena last night with Coach Red Doran sending his charges at top speed throughout the grind.

At the moment it's a three-way race for the goal-keeping chore with Jimmy Irvine, Don Barclay and Don Latman set for the spot. Doran is using Bob Taylor and Jake Wade as one blueline duo with Vern Geyer and Doug Bastedo teaming up on another. Jud Semark is also out there hailing for a spot.

Last night Doran used the Duncan twins, Edwin and Elwyn, on a front line alternating with Ted DeGray and Gerry Desjardin. Doran teamed up Wilf-Peter Jones and Doug Hall on what looked to be a very effective line, while Jackie Wardhaugh, Keith MacDonald and Don Dale were used on another.

The Memos' coach is still in the experimental stage with the squad but he will probably settle on his lines for Friday night's tussle with the powerful Kingston Goodyears tonight or tomorrow.

MINOR HOCKEY

If the number of registrations can be used as a criterion, minor hockey is in for its biggest year, and the Belleville Minor Hockey Association is in for its biggest jobs and the accompanying headaches since the inception of the moppet sport here.

Recreation Director Lloyd Doran told this department the date on the day that over 600 hockey-minded youngsters had registered through the media of the public schools and more were to come. Nearly 200 of this number, he said, were in the peewee division. Figure on 11 peewee teams to a squad and see how many teams it means.

The Association apparently has a big job on its hands, much bigger than was apparent at the beginning of the season. At a meeting held some time ago a goodly number of hockey-interested people turned out and signified their willingness to lend a hand. With the additional number of registrations, it looks as though more assistants will be needed.

Everyone interested is urged to turn out to a meeting being held in the arena next Sunday morning when association officers will be elected and a number of important matters ironed out.

Among those in the possible formation of a junior hockey club which will either enter the Trent Valley League or play in a newly organized loop there. It is felt that since junior "B" hockey was put in the discard for the time being, players of junior age should be given the opportunity to play.

The decision, whichever way it goes, will be in part up to the players themselves. Their opinions will be asked. Much depends on the outcome of this meeting and all interested are urged to attend.

SAME OLD GANG!

Coach Johnny Carr-Harris of the champion Kingston Goodyears, in taking no chances on his scrappy outfit which came all the "way" when his senior "B" champions of 1952-53 clash with the Belleville Memos in the senior "B" group opener here on Friday night.

The canny mentor of the Goodies is toeing his shock troops through plenty of pre-season operations and from the looks of things the pesky Goodies will be as tough to take as they were a year ago.

According to a report in the estimable columns of Don Miguel Reddens, Coach Carr-Harris and Manager Art Chamberlain have their toe-laps hopefuls cavorting up and down that they're going to be hard-pressed to pick the puck wheat from the tare come weeding night.

The Kingston master-minds have no less than four goal-keepers on the loop. These include Ken Johnson, who starred with the 1952-53 champions; Addy Anderson, Bert Brooks and a gent by the name of Ray Gaunt, who played with Clarkson College, and who was recently painfully injured in a practice session.

The rest of the nominal roll is plentifully sprinkled with the names of the veterans who sparked the team to the OHA senior "B" title last year. Behind the line are such stalwarts as Ted Wilkinson, Lundy, Joe Wells, Tommy Goodfellow, Gerry Montgomery, Stan Stewart, "Macker" Sweetman and Dave Latimer.

Up front with the shock troops are Clint Tinkess, Jack McKown, Wilson Reid, Ross Atkins, Tommy Pindal, Don Bellringer, Don Murray, Jack White, George McGregor, Gerry Wagar (the doc, that is), Bob Joyce, Kenny Fortin, three "Buds" Ohlke, Aitken and Anson and Cliff Aitken.

Al DeLuca, who was a thorn in the side of the entire opposition, will not be among those present when the line-up roll is called. The snappy forward, who was one of the scoring threats of the Goodies last year, is doing his puckchasing in Kapuskasing.

Mr. Reddens says that prospects are bright that Goodyears' coming season will be just as successful as was its predecessor when an all-time attendance record was established. He goes on to say: "Manager Jim McCormick of the Community Memorial Centre, says that many tickets have been sold. 'The outlook, he says, is most encouraging for senior "B" competition and he also is hopeful that the Max Jackson Junior Vics will be strongly represented."

The junior Vics, we understand, will play their season hockey with an Ottawa Valley League since no grouping is available in this district. The Vics will draw a bye into the OHA junior "B" playdowns.

OAKLAND WEATHER BETTER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Chuck Dressen hinted Monday that Oakland may be the site for a major league baseball club.

The veteran manager suggested Oakland may get the major league ball. "The weather in the Pacific Coast League would be better than at San Francisco," said. "The baseball club Dressen, to be manager of the Oaks in the Pacific Coast League would be better than at San Francisco," said, piloted Brooklyn Dodgers to two straight National League flags. Wings' Rookie Notches 13 While Trailers Match Pace; Rocket Heads Scorers With 6

MONTREAL (CP) — While Messrs. Reibel, Howe, Geoffrion and Lindsay continued their merry, but positionally unchanged, battle for point-scoring leadership, take a cautious peek at what's going on in the National Hockey League.

In the 24 games played so far this season there have been only three time-out one in every eight games.

Going back to the corresponding statistical Monday of last season, seven tiers had turned up in 23 games, but a peculiar thing about the present scarcity of ties is that fewer goals have been scored than in the corresponding period last season. To date 120 goals have been scored, an average of 4.4 a game. Last year in the first 23 games there were 117 goals, an average of 5.9.

Centradicts Clarence

All of which is contrary to a maxim expounded by Clarence Campbell of the NHL will recite at the drop of a puck—when the number of goals increases, ties decrease."

The current scoring statistics shed no light on this minor enigma, but they do show that Fleming (Dutch) Reibel is still leading the parade. The Detroit Red Wings' centre-ice collected two assists last week and his total now is 12. His closest pursuers also have added to their spicee.

Gordie Howe, Reibel's teammate and three-times champion, added a goal and assist, giving him 11 points. Jean Geoffrion of the league-leading Montreal Canadiens also grabbed a goal and an assist and at 10 points is tied with Detroit's Ted Lindsay, who matched Reibel's two assists in three games.

Maurice Richard of Montreal heads the goal-scorers with six. Reibel still has the league in assists with nine.

Terry Sawchuk of Detroit continues to set the pace for goalies. His goals-against average is a remarkable 1.67. Montreal netminders Toronto and Gerry McNeil of Montreal are closest with 1.87.

Cullen Tops In Junior A Point Derby

TORONTO (CP)—Brian Cullen, a two-year veteran with St. Catharines Teepees, has scored 12 goals and nine assists in seven games to lead the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series with 21 points each. Barrie Meeker is close behind. Bill McCreary of Guelph Biltmores.

McCreary, with eight markers and 11 assists, is followed by teammate Bob Attersley who has the same number of goals and one less assist.

Bob Dennier, newcomer to Toronto Marlboro, has played two games and owns a 2.00 goals-against average among the league's netminders. His 4.0 average is followed by the 1.5 mark of teammate Doug Albani.

Scoring:

Gardiello Beats Walter Cartier In Bruising Bout

BROOKLYN (AP)—Joey Gardiello, high-ranking Philadelphia middleweight contender, finished strong Monday night to punch out an unanimous decision over Walter Cartier of New York in a 10-rounder. Giardello, a 9 to 5 favorite, weighed 161¼ to Cartier's 160.

It was a bruising battle all the way and Joey shook down through the first six rounds. Then 23-year-old Gardiello's relentless pressure proved too much for the left-hooking Cartier.

There were no knockdowns.

Stewart Tops American League Score Scramble

NEW YORK (AP)—Gaye Stewart, veteran left wing of Buffalo Bisons, led the American Hockey League scorers in the rough-and-tumble last Sunday with 13 points on seven goals and six assists.

Stewart, who made his professional debut at Hershey of the AHL in 1941 and played with all of the National League teams except Boston, compiled his total in eight games. His seven goals were tops in the league. Cal Stearns, Cleveland centre, led in assists with eight.

Larry Cahan, first-year player with Pittsburgh Hornets, maintained his penalty lead with 22 minutes. Emile Francis, Cleveland goalie had the best average in that department with 2.43 on 17 goals allowed in seven games.

Kithyra Named Favorite For Cambridgeshire

LONDON (AP)—Kithyra broke away from the pack at a London bookmaker's betting odds Monday night to become the clear favorite for the Cambridgeshire.

Kithyra was quoted at 10-1. Previously, he was bracketed with Sailing Light and Epaulette at 100-8 for the mile and one-eighth race at Newmarket Wednesday. Sailing Light and Jupiter remained at the same odds in the mid-over.

Heavy betting took place at Victoria Club. The best backed horse was Hilltop, who closed at 22-1. 11 points less than at last week's closing. A total of $75,600 was wagered on Capt. C. C. Boyd-Rochfort's entry.

Sunny Jim closed at 100-7 along with Choir Boy. Prince Charlie-brand, Ocean Swell and Dinnebarnie finished at 66-1 after being uncquoted last week. Other 66-1 selections were Black Light and Rhinehart.

American Loop Honors to White Sox, Cards, Phillies Share in National

NEW YORK (AP) — Chicago White Sox, the American Leaders in team fielding, also took most of the circuit's individual defensive honors during the 1953 season.

The Chisox, who fielded .980 collectively, placed two players on shortstop Chico Carrasquel, outfielder Jim Busby and third baseman Lollar at the top of their positions, final fielding averages compiled by The Associated Press showed today.

Carrasquel paced the American League shortfielders with a .976 mark, with 18 errors in 606 chances. Carrasquel got 227 chances with only three miscues for .994 and Mele made one error in 225 with .995.

Ehlers .996 average, to tie New York's Gene Woodling for the lead. Woodling, the top man for the second straight year, handled 247 chances with one error.

Del Ennis, Philadelphia and Philadelphia Phillies shared National League laurels, each placing two outfielders.

Ehlers Named General Manager Baltimore Club

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore-born Art Ehlers has been hired as general manager of the Orioles who return to the American League next season.

Ehlers brings to the new organization which succeeds St. Louis Browns a background of 16 years as a baseball official, the last two as general manager of Philadelphia Athletics.

His contract with the Athletics had expired and he agreed to a three-year pact with the Orioles.

"The extent of his compensation will depend upon the success of the club in Baltimore," said Clarence W. Miles, the lawyer who engineered the purchase and transfer of the Browns Sept. 29.

Miles said Ehlers' duties would be paid a flat salary, undisclosed, plus a bonus depending on attendance.

"Ehlers will have complete authority to run the ball club," said Miles.

Ehlers became general manager of the Athletics in 1950 when Connie Mack quit. He had been director of the farm system of the Athletics since 1947.

Ehlers' move from the Browns is up for trade, but only if the deal will improve the Orioles, the owner said. "Cash won't work as bait as it did with the Browns.

"We're willing to trade," he said, "made anybody — no exceptions — that could help us. We're not sell in a couple of positions. Not man for man. And in Baltimore's case it won't be necessary to take cash. Also, if we want somebody, we'll be willing to pay for it."

He added:

"I think the Orioles need good pitching and bad. That's my job to get them. I don't know where. If we do get them, we'll make a pretty good run for the first division."

Sasky Riders Coach Says Team Will Be Lucky To Get Past Blue Bombers

Filchock Thinks West Semis 'Is Gonna Be Awful Rough'

By WILF CHESLETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA (CP) — Playing-coach Frank Filchock isn't exactly optimistic the blues when he says the Western Interprovincial Football Union semi - final between his Saskatchewan Roughriders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers "is gonna be awful rough—we're gonna be lucky to get past Winnipeg."

They have lots of materials of good standard, said Filchock who has watched 30 years of football ale by since he first donned a uniform for Indiana University. Besides that the Bombers come into the twin tonight for Winnipeg Rider meet. Bombers Wednesday night in the first game of the two-game total — point series. Then head home for the second game Saturday afternoon. Frank established himself as a star-gazer last year when he coached Edmonton Eskimos into the Grey Cup battle where Eskimos lost to Toronto Argos.

He predicted a win right along, but he isn't saying anything now.

"We're going to play these games one at a time," he says.

The reason is Roughriders are down to six imports compared to the eight allowed and haven't got the many experienced Canadians or relief.

Ruby, Wozniak, Cassidy, Marlowe—they have to go almost the full 60 minutes," Filchock says.

He'll probably have to do the quarterbacking chore himself. Injured Glenn Dobbs, Saskatchewan's big gun in the passing department, has been on the shelf most of the time since he injured a knee Oct. 1. Dobbs isn't expected to be ready for the semi-final. Neither are import Stan Williams, an outstanding two-way man at offensive and defensive half, and Art McEwen, Canadian-born guard, out half the season with a dislocated shoulder.

BCI Juniors Bow To Campbellford By 6-0 Score

By PETER UPPER

Behind the plunging of Bob Barbuto, the Campbellford Juniors squeezed a 6-0 win from the B.C.I. Juniors in Campbellford on Monday evening.

Guerin, Campbellford's flying wing, brought one of Barbuto's passes for the only major score of the game. The attempt for the convert was blocked but late in the third quarter Barnum kicked a single for the extra point.

Campbellford tried eight passes and completed two for 47 yds. The collegiate juniors tried seven and completed two. The collegiate made seven first downs to nine. They blocked four kicks to two.

Graham, Beaby, B.C.I.'s right inside, played a tremendous defensive game for the juniors. Teddy Batchelor was back in the quarter spot for the collegiate after a lay off. Thursday Campbellford.

It was a closely fought game as the score indicated with the game in the middle of the second those Campbellford missed many chances to score as did the collegiate but they proved to be unlucky themselves out. The juniors blocked three field goal attempts while Campbellford bottled the juniors up in their own end twice on attempted kicks.

Starting lineups: Campbellford: Ends: Ron Barnum and Jones; Middles, Calder and Jose; Insides, Grills and Pudsgaard; Centre, Kelly; Backs, Garvey, Lalliott, Bob Barnum, Baker and Guerin.

Collegiate: Ends, Ablards and White; middles, Sills and LaBelle; Insides, Beaby and McCann; centre, Bovay; backs, Bachelor, Jones, Deacon, Robertson, and Galway.

Sport in Brief

LONDON (AP)—British middleweight champion Randy Turpin may be disciplined by the stewards of the British Board of Boxing Control because of his poor showing against Rocky Rizzo in their world title fight in New York last week.

Teddy Waltham, secretary of the BBBC and official observer when Turpin took a lashing from Rizzo, says he is preparing a report on the "unorthodox and inadequate training methods" Turpin used.

Turpin's training, or lack of it, was sharply criticized by British boxing writers who saw him in the United States. Jack Solomons, the London promoter who controls a major share of the fight business in Britain, also reserves to be brought before the stewards.

Waltham said the report be hopes to finish soon his report to BBBC president J. Onslow Fane.

"It will be for Mr. Fane to decide whether the report should go before the next meeting of the stewards in about three weeks time for any possible disciplinary action," Waltham said.

In preparation for the biggest middleweight fight since Turpin cut the world title to Sugar Ray Robinson in New York in 1951, Turpin sparred infrequently, spent days lounging around his Broadchester, N.Y., camp, complained about homesickness and "things on my mind" and threatened to abandon the fight if anyone bothered him.

Waltham said: "If counter his preparation was inadequate for a fight of such great importance."

LAUREL, Md. (CP)—R. J. Typhoon's Canadian, winner of the 1953 Queen's Plate, ran second Monday in the $15,000-added Laurel Sprint. won by Hasty House Farm's Pompa.

Time for the six-furlong event, the highlight of the opening at Laurel, is 1:10 3-5.

Powell, defending champion, suffered a severe cut over his left eyebrow and was outclassed. Burton weighed 164½, to Powell's 164½.

American Loop Receipts Up

League president J. P. Sollenberger Monday reported average net receipts for the first few games of the season are higher than last year. He made his report to a league meeting.

Tony Trabert Takes Bride

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Tennis champion Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and Utah beauty queen Shauna Wiley were married Saturday night.

The couple plan a wedding trip to Australia, where Trabert will play with the United States Davis Cup team in a challenge round Dec. 17.

Trabert and his bride, both 23, met last June when Trabert won the U.S. hardcourt tennis title here. Miss Wood represented Utah in the 1953 Miss Universe beauty contest, where she placed fifth.

Debate Rages Among Edmonton Fans Over How Billy Vessels Was Injured

EDMONTON (CP)—While halfback Billy Vessels undergoes a complete hospital rest cure for a painful back injury, debate still rages among Edmonton fans over the circumstances of the Eskimo star's injury which may or may not keep him out of the Western Interprovincial Football Union finals.

Centre of the controversy is Buck Rogers, defensive lineman of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, reported to have made the tackle which resulted in Vessels being carried off the field Saturday night with a fractured muscle attachment on the spine.

An Eskimo club official and some Edmonton players contend that Vessels was "deliberately kneed" in the back after being tackled.

"Darrell didn't make any recommendation to me regarding the Vessels incident and any charge regarding deliberate injury was laid," WIFU president Walley Byrnes said. "If I thought such a thing was premeditated I would resign this office."

Royal said doctors won't know for at least a week how long Vessels may be sidelined. He said the present belief is that Vessels will be out for two weeks.

Michigan State Georgia Tech Slip in Rating

NEW YORK (AP) — Notre Dame's victory over Georgia Tech brought a new wave of popularity for the fighting Irish, who tightened their grip on the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press' weekly football poll.

Georgia Tech, its unbeaten string snapped at 31 games, and Michigan State, upset by Purdue after a winning string of 26, managed to hold positions in the top 19 but had to be content with lower rungs. Michigan State fell from second to sixth and Georgia Tech from fourth to eighth.

Maryland—moved "mark" second place on an imposing record of six straight victories while undefeated Baylor and once-tied Illinois followed in that order.

Brantford Sox Invite Fields As 1954 Coach

BRANTFORD (CP) — Wilmer Fields, outstanding pitcher-outfielder with Brantford Red Sox in 1951, has been asked to return to the Senior Intercounty Baseball League team as a coach in 1954, Brantford president Mike King said Monday.

Rated one of the best players in the Intercounty loop, Fields finished second in batting and led the league in home runs and runs batted in and was one of the circuit's leading pitchers during his last season with Brantford.

He left the Intercounty League to join Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League as an outfielder in 1952. During spring training in 1953, he jumped Toronto's spring-training camp in favor of the Dominican Republic League, an outlawed group. Later he played in the Mandak League in western Canada. As far as is known, he still hasn't obtained his release from Toronto.

King said he asked fields to coach the Sox because Stan Lipka, playing-coach of Brantford for the last three years, wants to give up the coaching job and remain as a player. Fields said he would report in November.

Forbes Wins

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The time has come, says Jimmy Demaret, when the golfing officials of the United States and Great Britain either should do something about making a genuine contest out of the Ryder Cup team matches or abandon them entirely.

For once, the game's laughing boy wasn't cracking a smile as he discussed the never-ending string of American victories in the Biennial matches between the top professionals of the two countries. He said he was genuinely disturbed about it.

"Believe me, we make no friends in England or anywhere else by continuing to bang it on those fellows," he declared. "I know, because I've heard them talk about it. They feel that it isn't quite fair to match our pros, who play for big money the year around, against men whose main occupation is teaching.

NO CHANCE

"If they didn't beat us this year —and they didn't — there's no chance that they ever will. That team we sent over was the worst in history, but it still won."

"If they're going to hold the thing at all," Jimmy persisted, "they should at least throw it open to all the professionals in the British Commonwealth. If this year's British team had included Bobby Locke of South Africa, Peter Thompson and Norman Van Nida of Australia and a Canadian or two, the Result might have been very different."

...ariety Show ...ne of Best ...ay Managers

Monte Hall, well-known radio personality and master of ceremonies of the radio show "Take It Or Leave It" who emcees the Variety show at the McCarthy Theatre on Friday, November 6, starting at 8 p.m., is a personable young man who delights in doing something for others.

Kidding, or emceeing a show in support of Variety Village, Toronto school for crippled youngsters, is no new experience for Mr. Hall. He has acted in a similar capacity for North Bay and other Canadian cities in what he knows is a worthy humanitarian cause. You have met him on the air. Sunday night will give you an opportunity to not only hear him but see him in person. You won't be disappointed.

It has been a long time since Belleville and district theatre-goers have had the opportunity of seeing a topflight vaudeville show. Even from the top circuits of show business. And that the variety program to be offered Sunday night is one of the best ever appear in this city, goes without saying.

Messrs. Georges Forbes, Tommy Mascoe, Willard Farwell and Larry Bock, besides their converse in Picton, Trenton and Napanee, can vouch for the above statement, and these gentlemen being veterans of show business, should know whereof they speak.

Then, there is the first rate picture "Cruising Down the River" with delightful technicolor which will round out an evening of highly enjoyable entertainment. The cast stars Dick Haymes, well-known radio, screen and stage songster, Audrey Totter, outstanding film comedienne, and Billy Daniels. What more can one ask?

Variety Village is one of Canada's greatest institutions designed to lend a helping hand to a crippled child along rehabilitation lines. Constructed and sponsored by people in show business, Variety Village has aided scores of physically - handicapped youngsters, and they have been taught trades and have been assisted in finding themselves places in a highly competitive world.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Groaner is going to take the big plunge into TV.

One of the last big entertainers to hold out against television, Bing Crosby has finally consented to grace the home screen with a show of his own. But he'll make only two programs this season, according to present plans.

Will he ever do a weekly or monthly show?

"Not on your life!" he scoffed. "Not unless they fire me at Paramount!"

Musical Short

The crooner disclosed his plans on the set of "White Christmas," the Irving Berlin musical he's doing with Danny Kaye (another TV holdout). Rosemary Clooney and Vera-Ellen. As soon as he's through with the film, he'll go to work on the TV shows. One is due for telecasting Dec. 27, the other next spring.

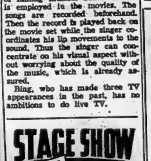
"The show will be like a musical short. We'll pre-record the music and shoot one half-hour show in a day. If we take any longer, than a day we can't make any profit from the show. I don't think we'll have much trouble. I'm pretty good at singing to a playback. We ought to be able to knock off a song an hour."

Voice Played Back

Crosby referred to the method of filming musical numbers that is employed in the movies. The songs are recorded beforehand. Then the record is played back on the movie set while the singer coordinates his lip movements to the sound. Thus the singer can concentrate on his visual aspect without worrying about the quality of the music, which is already assured.

Bing, who has made three TV appearances in the past, has no ambitions to do live TV.

"I think film is the thing. That's the only way you can achieve any kind of perfection. It's the same as in radio. You get a much better show by using tape than by doing it live."



INDEPENDENT BIRD

SHREWSBURY, England (CP)—Albert Rock found an injured budgerigar in a tree here and took it to his home. Two weeks later the bird mattered "Bobbie—Mock crescent." Now it's back in its proper home on Mock crescent.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY, Oct. 28, 1953

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Excellent indications for mental tasks, good management of any business or worthy undertaking. Activities requiring vigor, endurance, bravery in favor. Care advised if handling machinery.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — A period for expansion, statement, clever planning and management. You can make gains in your occupation but do be careful if handling tools, dangerous weapons, machinery. Prime for study.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Mercury in promising aspect should aid you in furthering your own and family's interests; good for study, teaching, advertising, conferences. More caution urged in hazardous work. Patience!

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Pleasant but not exciting indications. You can get ahead in familiar matters, gain in sound business and money transitions. Good period for teaching, study, research, all mental work.

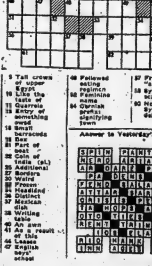
July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Similar to Cancer today. Should be all right for carrying on undertakings, conferences, agreements, signing contracts, etc. Be careful of health!

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—A healthy planetary setup for the interests and activities you enjoy; for writing, painting, research, chemistry, engineering, all matters requiring mental agility. Improvements for industry.

September 23 to October 23 (Libra)—Though not wholly favorable for private desires and affairs, this is a promising period for hard work, artistry and for making improvements. You may have to set aside some plans temporarily.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Mars and other planets affecting your chart are in favorable positions, so the day should be both interesting and profitable—depending on how you act and manage generally. Maintain logic.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Step ahead with arranged schedule but don't be reckless in specific instances. Improvements, needed expansion are favored.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Saturn's influence indicates extra care needed in handling metals, instruments, and in dentistry, surgery, etc., also in railroading, travel. Day otherwise is very generous and gains can be made by you.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Grand outlook if you aren't dilatory or too anxious for change. Sound investments, worthwhile endeavors, practical and artistic pursuits are sponsored. But do be sensibly careful in all.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Efforts in fields other than your regular occupation may yield unusual returns. It is a fine day for accomplishment generally and you should be able to make the most of opportunities.

YOU BORN TODAY are unselfish, thoughtful, a bit adventurous, perhaps fond of delving into the unknown. If true to inherent characteristics, you have a magnetic personality and are very capable and talented. You may have a tendency to dominate and want your way. Curb this trait lest you be misunderstood and your finer self not properly evaluated. It pays to listen to suggestions. We can always learn—even from the young. Birthdate: James Cook, noted explorer. Erasmus, Dutch Scholar, Theologian.

MARMORA

Miss G. Aylsworth Tells of Nursing In N. Saskatchewan

MARMORA — Marmora Home and School Association held a well attended meeting on Wednesday evening in the public school. Mrs. Ross Ketcheson of Mrs. Roy Frost. A short business session followed during which Mrs. Ed. McGinnis presented the treasurer's report showing a favorable balance on hand.

The attendance of parents and grandparents was then taken by the principal; R. C. Prentice. The banner for most attending went to his class.

The feature of the evening was an entertaining talk by Miss Gladys Aylsworth, Reg. N. of Madoc, who recently returned from Buffalo Narrows, of Northern Saskatchewan, after three years of nursing among the Indians, with the Anglican doctor. The life was very strenuous.

Miss Aylsworth illustrated an absorbing address with some colored movies taken of the country and some of its residents.

An auction sale of some clothing and sewing was then conducted by Fred Johnston, whereby the funds of the association were enriched.

After the meeting closed lunch refreshments were served and a social hour held.

MOVE TO REVISE CHARTER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada Monday joined with Argentina, Cuba, Holland, New Zealand and Pakistan in endorsing a draft resolution directed toward revision of the United Nations charter. The general purpose of the draft resolution is to prepare all member states for the revision discussions which under the provisions of the charter must be undertaken in 1955.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

HUDSON BAY, Sask. (CP)—Ernest Flett, 25-year-old treaty Indian from nearby Sheal Lake reserve, Monday was charged with murder in connection with the shooting death of Seymour Saunder other treaty Indian. Police said Flett is accused of firing a rifle into a reserve shack Saturday, killing Young. Two women were taken to hospital with serious wounds.

Village Moves Forward As Timber Is Cut

DUBREUILVILLE, Ont. (CP)—The community of some 200 persons today is a miniature Quebec City, built like the ancient capital on a steep hill, but three years from now it may have moved on.

The village, which has already moved once in its four-year history, thrives on timber. When the timber is cut the lumbermen, with their families, move farther into the bush.

Now set around a lake in the midst of burnt-over forest about 120 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie in the predominantly French-Canadian community was brought to this area two years ago from a site 35 miles to the east.

It was made possible when the Canadian government in 1949 granted the four Dubreuil brothers, formerly of Roscherean, Que., a contract to cut timber in one section of a huge area burned over by forest fires the year before.

FAMILY PROJECT

The brothers began at Mountain Ash lake, 35 miles east of here. They gathered workers and their families and built homes for them. But late in 1950 their cutting area was petering out.

The government granted a second contract in the area surrounding the site of the present Dubreuilville. Augustine, second-youngest of the four, was sent to timber-cruise the area.

He found a townsite too. The lumbermen built six miles of winding road into it, put up log houses on the old Quebec plan and moved the whole village, women and children, to the present site.

The community has an appearance of permanency that belies its future. There's indoor plumbing, electricity, a modern church and school, a general store and level streets.

But the brothers say that although it will take some 15 years to cut their 16-township tract, the area around Dubreuilville will be cut in two or three years and they'll have to push the bush road farther and move the community back into the wilderness.

The four manage the whole timber-cutting operation as a family affair. Napoleon, the eldest, is general manager; Joachim is woods superintendent, Augustine, saw mill manager and Marcel, manager of the planing mill.

Six hundred railroad ties are turned out daily and the lumber mill has a daily capacity of 15,-000 board feet. Most of the trees felled are jackpine.

Many of the brothers' employees have been with the company since its inception in 1947.

Heart of Kitimat Being Towed Slowly Up Coast

VANCOUVER (CP)—A deep-sea ramble which began with toy boats and models has graduated into the real thing and now the $1,500,000 steel heart of Kitimat is being towed slowly up the rocky west coast of Canada.

The heart is the monster pots or crucibles, largest ever built, manufactured at Portland, Ore., for the Aluminum Company of Canada's giant smelter at Kitimat, 80 miles south of Prince Rupert.

Arthur Elworthy, vice-president of Island Tug and Barge, Ltd., planned the huge, 800-mile towing job with scale models, then gave the task to the seagoing tug Island Sovereign.

Capt. Arthur J. Warren is in charge of the tug which will tow the steel barge Island Logger, loaded with $500,000 worth of equipment. Capt. Warren will make the trip three times.

The aluminum firm has advised the towing company that loss of the vital pots would be a crippling blow to the smelter's production schedule.

"We're ready to withstand a hurricane if we have to," Mr. Elworthy said. "Our chief worries are the Columbia bar, Cape Flattery and bad weather in the open sea."

First two loads for the Island Logger consist of 112 pots, each weighing 13½ tons and measuring 23 feet by 13 feet and each journey is scheduled to take five days.

Grand Jury Returns Two True Bills

CORNWALL (CP)—A grand jury Monday returned true bills on a murder charge against Henri Joseph Seguin, 28, and on a manslaughter charge against Max Roodman, 40.

Seguin is charged with the murder last year of Leonard Hurd, Maxville, Ont., taxi operator. Roodman was charged following a highway crash between his parked truck and a Colonial Coach Lines bus in which 20 persons were killed July 31. The bus plunged into a canal near Morrisburg.

Indictments were handed the grand jury earlier Monday. About 40 witnesses were called before jury on the murder count and about 20 on the manslaughter charge.

Dismisses Charge

BRANTFORD (CP)—Magistrate R. J. Gillen Monday dismissed a charge against John James Mellroy and John Petricka, alias George Johnson, of attempting to defraud Jan Sorowicz, Brantford, of $1,000 by deceit and falsehood.

The two Toronto men were rearrested to face a charge in Welland that they defrauded a man of $1,000 in a confidence game. Each is out on $20,000 bail in Winnipeg, awaiting trial there on a similar charge.

Hurd was found shot to death in August, 1952, in his taxi on a lonely stretch of road about a mile from his home. Seguin became the object of a country-wide manhunt when a zipper bag, containing army discharge papers in his name, was found in the rear seat of Hurd's car.

He was captured at Williams Lake, B.C., four months later after a gun battle in which one person was seriously wounded.

Rubber Roads Being Tested For the Future

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario highways department is testing the possibility of rubber highways for the future.

The experiment is being carried out on a 10-mile section of highway 11 just north of Toronto. Motorists drive over a two-mile strip of rubber road and for four miles, both north and south of this strip, a carefully constructed control road has been built for comparison.

Engineers selected this section of highway three years ago because they felt it would approximate the conditions under which Ontario highways must be built.

The middle section was built with a natural rubber additive in the asphalt mix. The usual materials went into the construction of the control sections.

At present no difference can be detected.

La Rosa's Romance Just Publicity, Claim

NEW YORK (AP)—Singer Julius La Rosa says he hopes to marry attractive Dorothy McGuire, but her father insists the whole affair is "just publicity-just lies."

Efforts to obtain comment from Miss McGuire—a member of the cast of the Arthur Godfrey radio and television programs from which La Rosa was fired last week—were unavailing.

The matter of a La Rosa-McGuire romance was brought up anew Monday by La Rosa, who said in an interview that Miss McGuire is the only girl he has ever wanted to marry. However, the crooner said, there are religious and legal problems to be worked out.

La Rosa, 23, is a Roman Catholic; Miss McGuire, 22, is not. Moreover, she is still married to a service man, Sgt. John Brown, now in Korea. Her mother is a minister, Rev. Lillie McGuire, of Miamisburg, Ohio.

Six Lifeboat Men Drown as Friends Watch from Shore

ARBROATH, Scotland (AP)—Six lifeboat men, weary from an all-night battle with a gale-tossed sea, were drowned early today within sight of the lights of their own homes. Only one member of the crew survived.

The 35-foot lifeboat put out Monday night in answer to a report that a vessel was in trouble off the Inchape Rock. That rock, the graveyard of many ships, was the subject of a poem by Robert Southey.

WAVE CATCHES BOAT

Friends and relatives gathered along the harbor wall as the returning lifeboat approached the breakwater. They watched in horror as a giant wave caught it.

Shouts from the crew reached them as the boat was tossed onto rocks only 25 yards from shore. Then nothing could be heard but the roar of the sea and the howling of the gale.

A rocket line fired from shore tangled around the body of the only survivor, Archibald Smith. With its help he pulled himself to safety and was rushed to hospital.

Later, seafarers from this little port found the body of the coxswain, David Bruce, in the wreckage of the lifeboat. He had lashed himself to the helm. Three bodies were recovered from the sea and a search still is under way for the others.

Debate On Soviet Role Erupts In Conference

Dean to Offer New Formula For Setting Up Talks

By GEORGE McARTHUR

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Arthur Dean, United States special envoy, Wednesday will offer the Communists a new formula for setting up a Korean peace conference. Today he voiced confidence "we are going to work something out."

Dean's optimistic prediction followed the third session of perhaps many talks to plan a Korean political conference. There was no noticeable progress at the two-hour, 40-minute session.

The Communist delegate insisted in a 2,500-word statement that Russia be named chairman of the conference as a neutral.

SOVIET ENTITLED WITH KEEN

Dean replied that Russia logically should attend the conference — and sit with Red China and North Korea — since Communist armies in Korea "were equipped with planes, tanks, guns and munitions sent from the Soviet Union."

The Soviet Union has openly supported your side by word and deed," Dean said. "I say to you that U. S. S. R. has thus played a direct role in the Korean hostilities."

The U.S. envoy also reminded the United Nations, also reiterated that he had no authority under the UN resolution approving the preliminary talks to negotiate on composition of the political conference. Dean is authorized only to set a time and place. Soon after the meeting he was outwardly confident of eventual agreement.

"I still think these are only preliminary skirmishes and there is still a possibility we are going to work something out of these preliminary talks," he told reporters.

SEEK KEY INTEREST

"It seems to me I can detect an attitude of interest on their part and that they really want to come to some conclusion on this matter."

Of his new offer to the Reds, Dean said:

"I plan to propose a formula to them tomorrow to see if we can't get to work on a time and place first."

Meanwhile, the chairman of the Korean repatriation commission today said three Korean and Chinese prisoners who refused to join pro-fellow POWs in a camp for anti-Communists in Korea's neutral zone.

Fifteen other prisoners have died — 10 of natural causes, it announced. Three were shot to death by Indian guards during screening operations, one apparently committed suicide and another died of starvation, the report said.

Nine of the 18 dead were Koreans.

The Communists have charged bitterly in propaganda broadcasts and in letters to Indians custodial troops that South Koreans and Chinese Nationalist agents in the camp have tortured and murdered those who wanted to return home. The Reds demanded that the murderers be found and punished.

Lt.-gen. K.S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, said the Indians have no information on the persons who committed the three murders. And he would not speculate on whether the men had been killed or tortured because they were dead.

U.S. GIVES COLD SHOULDER TO RUSS PEACE TALKS

Soviet Must Prove Sincerity by Action

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP) — American officials have turned a cold shoulder toward a new Russian hint that Premier Malenkov may be ready for peace talks with Western chiefs of state.

President Eisenhower, however, still will consider such a conference "when and if" Russia has proved its sincerity on specific-moves to ease East-West tension, such as German and Austrian peace treaties.

Britain's Prime Minister Churchill has been plugging the idea of an informal meeting with Malenkov, but Secretary of State Dulles today night said he has promised State Secretary Dulles to delay any move toward arranging one.

There had been speculation that Churchill was planning to go to Moscow by himself. He was said to have stuck to the view, during recent talks with Dulles in London, that some sort of meeting is needed if the West is to find out at first hand what Malenkov is like and only a formal one will do.

AWAIT MOSCOW REPLY

But officials said Dulles won an assurance from Churchill not to take any direct action at least until Moscow replies to the latest Western invitation for a Big Power foreign ministers' meeting, and believed that such a meeting would be given a chance to ratify the proposed European Defence Community treaties.

The new Russian hint that Malenkov might be willing to meet with his Western counterparts came from Russia's United Nations delegate, Andrei Vishinsky. Vishinsky told UN correspondents in Paris yesterday that there is "no special problem" in arranging face-to-face discussions between Malenkov and Western leaders.

He insisted such a meeting could be called "without a preliminary test of sincerity and good intentions of the Soviet Union," after Premier Eisenhower and Dulles have stated.

State department experts on Russia carefully noted Vishinsky's remarks, however. They are convinced that the former Russian foreign minister was trying to create a new public relations image for a specific reason.

SEEK REJECTION

A majority believe it likely Vishinsky is trying to publicize Russia's peace proposals in order to talk about ending the cold war in a move to soften an imminent rejection by the United States, Western Big Three invitation to attend a foreign ministers' meeting.

Officials here personally proposed that such a conference be held in Switzerland Nov. 9 to consider the troops issue and Korean and European peace negotiations.

Diplomatic observers are convinced Russia finds this invitation embarrassing and would like to soften the impact. They would not mind having an world opinion by talking unobtrusively about a high-level conference.

Doctor Recommends Whistling As Treatment for Lung Ailment

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A Boston doctor recommends whistling at work or play" as a possible aid in treating lung ailment he says is highly prevalent in North America.

Dr. Maurice S. Segal of Tufts College medical school says the ailment is an over-distention of the lungs called "chronic pulmonary emphysema"—and that its present incidence may be associated with an increase in industrial and automobile fumes.

He says whistling might widen bronchial breathing tubes in the body, relieving shortness of breath in its worst stages, the ailment requires prolonged hospital care and a variety of complex treatments.

In a paper prepared for the annual meeting of the Southern Medical Association here, Segal said that industrial irritants are capable of producing progressive narrowing of the bronchial airways and eventual over-distension of the lungs.

"This may be the price we have to pay for our advances in living and industry. The prevention of this disease will depend on this progressively-disabling lung disorder may soon receive the assistance the U. S. public health service."

Man Who Broke Kidnapping Case Going to Testify

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A federal grand jury, today awaited testimony from a veteran policeman who broke the Greenlease kidnapping case and later quit the force in anger over a police board inquiry.

Another witness waiting to testify was John Hager, St. Louis land dealer who gave Shoulders a tip that helped bring the arrest in St. Louis of Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41/year-old divorcee charged with aiding Hall in the kidnapping.

The grand jury is expected to return indictments against both Hall and Mrs. Heady.

Shoulders refused at first to go before the grand jury, then changed his mind.

FROM DIFFERENCES

Shoulders has indicated he had other informants besides Hager in breaking the case, and did not wish to name them.

The police inquiry in St. Louis was called following reports that the FBI had found discrepancies in officers' handling of the Hall and Mrs. Heady arrests.

Robert C. Greenlease, 71-year-old multi-millionaire father of Bobby, was among witnesses heard today before the jury. He told reporters only that he "had identified some things."

Hager, who picked up Hall as a ferm. laid reporters last night that he didn't think the missing $300,000 ever got to St. Louis.

"Whatever Hall had," Hager said he never seemed to be in the condition where he could be robbed (money taken from him) without his knowledge," Hager said.

Israel in Conciliatory Move Offers to Delay River Work

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Straining tensions over the hot Palestine dispute have eased since Israel suddenly offered Tuesday to hold up her Jordan river hydro-electric project while the United Nations Security Council debates the issue.

The council postponed until Thursday its Palestine hearings to give the General Assembly's political committee a chance to resume debate on the Israeli-Arab dispute. Its next session was scheduled after the meeting he was outwardly confident of eventual agreement.

"I still think these are only preliminary skirmishes and there is still a possibility we are going to work something out of these preliminary talks," he told reporters.

ARAB LEAGUE REJECTION

The Arab League delegate on the council, voiced gratitude for Israel's "conciliatory gesture" and congratulated Eban for making it.

UN circles said the Israeli communique gesture might serve to cool off the boiling Palestine dispute which had roused fear in Washington and London that an open Israeli-Arab break was near.

These circles said Lebanon's warm response to the offer indicated that the Arabs, too, are anxious to see things cool down.

FEARED OPEN WAR

Eban made his announcement after his UN three power conference. Maj.-Gen. Vagn Bennike, warned the council that open war threatens in Palestine unless the armistice agreements are followed to the letter.

Bennike, chief of the United Nations Truce Supervision Organization in Palestine, said the armistice machinery has been "seriously impaired" by the Israeli-Arab dispute.

Eban's announcement that Israel would be willing to meet with his Western counterparts came from Russia's United Nations delegate, Andrei Vishinsky. Vishinsky told UN correspondents in Paris yesterday that there is "no special problem" in arranging face-to-face discussions between Malenkov and Western leaders.

Hopeless to Meet Malenkov Unless Russia's Aim Honest

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today it would be perfectly hopeless for him to take part in a meeting with Soviet Premier Malenkov unless he knows Russia has an honest purpose for such a meeting.

He added that Russia could show such honesty in any of a hundred ways.

Eisenhower's press conference statement was in response to questions about a new Russian hint that Premier Malenkov may be ready for talks.

The president also repeated what he has said before—that regardless he and Churchill are prepared to join would do anything in the world he thought would advance the cause of peace.

He qualified that again by saying he must be an indication it would produce results in good faith.

NO PLAN FOR TALKS

Eisenhower said that no plan is now in being for any meeting or meeting between him and Prime Minister Churchill.

The British leader said Tuesday there were few things he would like to see than a quiet, informal chat with the U. S. president.

Eisenhower, voicing warm approval of Churchill, said he thought there was a constant wish on both sides for a meeting but he emphasized that no plan exists for such at present.

Eisenhower noted that the president of the United States has more duties—ceremonial and other—than either Churchill or the Soviet premier. Therefore, Eisenhower said fervently, he will do anything in the world, including a meeting with Malenkov, if it will advance the cause of world peace.

Eisenhower asserted that State Secretary of State Dulles is willing to meet, too, and has been meeting with anyone in authority with a view to easing world tensions.

The Western Allies are awaiting a reply from Russia to a proposal for a foreign ministers' meeting at Lugano, Switzerland, Nov. 9.

Eisenhower said that for him to meet with the Soviet leader would be perfectly hopeless unless the United States knew the Russians' purpose was honest.

METERS DUNKED

CALGARY (CP)—Eight parking meters that disappeared from downtown Calgary were recovered from the bottom of the Bow river, suspend work on the Jordan at the council debated Syria's complaint that the project deprived the Arabs of water for irrigation and breached the Arab-Jewish armistice.

Lebanon's Dr. Charles Malik, Arab League delegate on the council, voiced gratitude for Israel's "conciliatory gesture" and congratulated Eban for making it.

UN circles said the Israeli communique gesture might serve to cool off the boiling Palestine dispute which had roused fear in Washington and London that an open Israeli-Arab break was near.

Toronto Bachelor Wins $137,500 In Sweepstakes

TORONTO (CP) — "I'm too busy with my figures to care much about the money," Don MacKay, 45-year-old bachelor and office clerk, said today a few minutes after he won $137,500 on the Irish hospital sweepstakes.

"It's wonderful but my job comes first," he said in a businesslike view from his desk at a soft drink company here.

MacKay was one of four Canadians who won the first-prize fortune when Jupiter came first in the Cambridgeshire handicap stake at Newmarket, England. Five other Canadians won up to $55,000 on second and third - place horses.

MacKay said:

"I didn't get worked up very much about it. I ate a good breakfast this morning and was at the office on time, as usual. A friend phoned me and told me the good news.

"If you don't mind, I'll go back to work now. I'm going out to lunch soon and I can't be late."

Actress Injured

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Julia Adams, portraying a cave woman, got bashed on the head Tuesday, but not by the Neanderthal stone-age club.

A studio spokesman said she struck her head against a protruding rock while being carried by Chapman, who was playing a prehistoric creature, during filming of a movie at Universal-International studio. Her forehead was cut. Chapman was enacting a being who was half man, half fish.

FLEXIBLE POLICY IN INDO-CHINA GETS APPROVAL

Laniel Wins Support For His Far East Plans

PARIS (Reuters) — Premier Joseph Laniel's government early today won parliamentary support for a flexible policy in dealing with the Indo-China war, including the possibility of peace talks with the Communist-led Vietminh.

The assembly climaxed an all-night debate by approving by 315 votes to 251 a resolution urging the government to do everything possible to promote negotiations likely to lead to peace.

The resolution also called for developing the armies of the three associated states of Indo-China—Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia—so that they could gradually take over the anti-Communist defence duties of French Union forces.

WANT TO KEEP TIES

It said this defence effort should take place "within the framework of the French Union," underlining French reluctance to see the three countries move toward ties with France in their progress toward independence.

The assembly expressed the widespread desire in France for the earliest possible ending of the Indo-China war, but its terms are sufficiently wide to leave the government free to deal with any circumstances, both with regard to the move for peace talks and to any possible peace negotiations.

Communist and Socialist motions asking for immediate talks with peace negotiations with the Vietminh leader, Ho Chi Minh, were rejected.

TO REMAIN IN UNION

SAIGON, Indo-China (Reuters)—Bao Dai, head of state for Viet Nam, pledged today that Viet Nam will remain in the French Union after gaining independence.

Bao Dai's statement was the pledge on his return by air from France to deal with a threatened political crisis here. Nationalist political leaders are demanding a complete break with France.

Bao Dai said in a formal statement that "nothing would or could" would be gained through impatient demands. He hinted that the withdrawal of French troops from Vietnam would enable Communist-led Vietminh rebels to conquer the country in a short time.

TO GET INDEPENDENCE

Bao Dai has been shown willingness to give full satisfaction in Viet Nam's aspirations for full independence since he returned to power in March.

It is expected that he may reshuffle his cabinet to include nationalists whose cries for immediate independence have gained them a large following.

Viet Nam is the last Indo-Chinese state to receive independence from France, promised July 3 by President Vincent Auriol of France and Premier Laniel.

Killed at Hull

HULL, Que. (CP)—Maurice Bergeron, 34, of Ottawa, father of three children, was killed instantly today when the car he was in went out of control and crashed into a tree.

His wife, Darquise, and Leo Desjardins, 30, also of Ottawa, suffered undetermined injuries and were taken to hospital in Hull. Ottawa, across the Ottawa river from here.

BEE EXPERT

VERNON, B.C. (CP) — Among Canadians receiving the Queen's coronation medal is W. R. Thurbull of Okanagan Landing, retired provincial apiarist and president of the Canadian Beekeepers' Council. It was awarded Mr. Turbull as a leader of the bee-industry in Canada.

Private Invaded Palace Grounds To Greet 'Old Man' After VC Award

Wood, a member of B company which fought with Carne at the Imjin river battle during the Korean war, wanted to be the first to congratulate his officer following the palace ceremony. Police guarding palace gates were apprehensive but firm: No admittance.

Undaunted, Wood wandered around the corner and into a pub where he met a service car driver, due to return to the palace in a few minutes. The driver was persuaded to take along a passenger and Wood sailed through the gates.

When Carne emerged from the ceremony, Wood was waiting with a prepared hand. Photographers took pictures.

Now, says Wood, comes the worry.

"There will be an awful chewing-up for the old man when I get back to camp."

Headless Body Minus Hands, Feet Found At Montreal

Police Say Expert Job Done Trying to Hide Man's Identity

MONTREAL (CP) — A man's bullet-pierced body with head, hands and feet chopped off was found today in a lane in eastern Montreal. It was clad only in underclothing and tied in a grey blanket with butcher's twine. The victim had been shot in the chest.

Montreal police said the discovery by an early-bird Bourbonniere street householder indicated a gruesome murder and an "expert job" of trying to conceal identity of the victim.

They said the heavily-built victim was aged between 25 and 40 and the killing was recent.

Edmer Pahin, a factory foreman whose wife looked out a rear window of their home to see the bundle, reported the case to police.

The 37-year-old foreman told police the blanketed bundle containing the body was not in the lane when Pahin retired at 10 o'clock Tuesday night.

GUESS WAS ACCURATE

Mrs. Pahin, glancing out of her kitchen window at 5:45 Bourbonniere while making breakfast at 6:45 a. m., saw the bundle there. She said half-jokingly to her husband:

"I think there's a body out there."

Pahin looked out. He told police the bundle looked to him as though it contained a body. He went to investigate he found it did.

Police, on the scene in five minutes, found the head and severed limbed man had been cut off and the neck had been tied with the same kind of twine wrapped around the blanket.

Hands and feet also were cut.

They said the man had been killed recently and probably the body had been dropped into the lane during the night.

Police said the victim weighed from 180 to 200 pounds.

GRUESOME, SAY POLICE

Police described the case as one of the most gruesome in Montreal crime records.

They recalled that a murderer, hanged about 27 years ago, had killed three persons, then dismembered their bodies and tossed the parts to the roof of a Bourbonniere residence.

They sent a mobile laboratory to the lane behind Bourbonniere street today for preliminary investigation before the body was removed to the police morgue.

They also set up police in all parts of the city to be on the lookout for clues in disposal of missing parts of the victim's body.

Police also questioned nearby residents in search for someone who could fix the time the bundled body was dropped in the lane.

Albert Vignault, a truck driver, declared that he saw the bundle when he set out his garbage cans at about 5 a. m. before going to work.

Three Detroit Invalids Perish In Roaring Flames

DETROIT (AP)—Two men and a woman, all bedfast from illness, were killed today in a roaring house fire. Nine other persons were injured.

The fire broke out on the third floor of a 19-room house near the downtown district and spread to two stores. Policemen in a passing patrol car helped rescue some occupants.

Killed were George Scott, 60; Joseph Kelly, 73, and Mrs. Minnie Jackson, 60.

U.S. Will Have To Buy More Says Expert

MONTREAL (CP)—A prominent Canadian financial expert said Tuesday night the United States will have to buy more from foreign countries if she wants to sell more to them.

Bernard K. Sandwell, former editor of the Montreal Financial Times and the Toronto weekly, Saturday Night, said less wealthy countries cannot afford to buy unnecessary goods from the U. S. unless America steps up her imports.

He told more than 500 Canadian and United States delegates to a conference of the technical association of the pulp and paper industry, that Canada and the U. S. could have "much more fun, and benefit, if they recognize the fact they shape this continent and develop its natural resources without being selfish."

Mr. Sandwell said American industry is a "co-operative organization "could do much" to persuade the U. S. government "that more unrestricted imports" are "the only hope to sell more."

United States To Resume Aid To Israel

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the United States has decided to resume economic aid for Israel. He didn't specify when.

Eisenhower told a press conference he was delighted to learn of Israel's offer to go along with the United Nations and halt a controversial project on the Jordan river while the UN considers the question.

As a result, he said the United States will go ahead with plans for economic help for Israel. He said he expected Secretary of State Dulles to make a formal announce on that line probably later today.

POCKET SUNS

PARIS (AP) — France has announced the United States new pocket submarines complete with two-man crews, the Paris radio said Tuesday. The U.S. Navy is using them in connection with a San Diego, Calif., aimed at perfecting coastal and harbor defences, the French said.

Total Receipts For Campaign Now $19,100.24

Officers of the Community Chest campaign today expressed some concern about the progress to date. Total receipts now amount to $19,-100.24. This amount represents 88.3 per cent of the goal of $20,000 needed for the minimum requirements of the member agencies.

The general house to house campaign still leads other divisions with a total of $3,597.74. The business division led by J. J. Trudeau has collected $4,611.50, while E. S. Booth reports that the industrial division has collected $4,005. The special names and out-of-town division led by Mr. C. B. Morgan reports a total of $2,670 with a few organizations not yet reporting. The Professional division directed by G. A. Bradford has practically completed its task and reports $1,-236 collected so far.

The amount so far raised has come from 4,480 individuals, industries, business and financial concerns. The number of donors is slightly over 7,000 but there have been almost 3,000 pledge cards returned to Chest headquarters with no contribution attached. Almost half of these are prospective persons who do not wish to support the agencies in the Chest. The remainder of the cards represent persons whom the canvassers were unable to contact after several calls at their homes or offices.

Guilty of Charge Of Assaulting Police Officer

Found guilty on a charge of assaulting Chief Police Officer Caldwell, of Marmora, and Inspector Myles Flake, of Tweed, Thurlow, was fined $25 by Magistrate R. C. Jackson and bound over to keep the peace for two years. In default Flake will spend one month in jail.

Henry Flake, of Marmora, son of Niles Flake, is also charged with assaulting the police officer but proceedings have been laid over pending an appeal against the conviction of the older Flake.

The charge against Mr. Flake was heard in Marmora on Oct. 6th with judgment being deferred by the magistrate until this week. At the time of the hearing Police Chief Caldwell told the court that he had been assaulted by both Niles and Henry Flake when he went to arrest Henry for causing a disturbance in the beverage room of the Royal Hotel in Marmora.

Two Courses In Night Classes Are Discontinued

Night school courses in electric meter servicing and cooking at the Belleville Collegiate were discontinued after Tuesday night due to insufficient registration, stated Mrs. J. A. Currie, principal of the Collegiate this morning.

Mr. Currie stated that students already registered in these courses can apply for a refund.

Last night's registrations in several other courses made it possible for the classes to be started, but Mr. Currie points out that further registrations are desired.

The first night of stationary engineering will be given Thursday evening, October 29, and anyone interested in this course can register.

There are barely enough students in the sheet metal class which will be held Monday and Wednesday night.

Enough people registered in the advanced education course to start a class. Thursday evening of this week will be the night for it. English, Trigonometry and physics.

Mr. Currie warns that unless registration improves in the plumbing course, it will be discontinued after Thursday night, October 29. Only four students were present last evening and a minimum of 12 is required for this course. If the plumbing course is closed students may join the sheet metal class.

Bears Killing, Maiming Lambs In North County

Stories of marauding bears, which refuse to hibernate due to the warm weather conditions, are heard from the northern parts of the county.

Some weeks ago residents of Marmora reported bears raiding bee hives and apple orchards while more recently a farmer living in the extreme north of the county reported bears actually climbing into an enclosure for sheep and killing or maiming several animals.

The farmer, whose name was not learned, said the bear had climbed into the barn or shed through a window opening. Some of the sheep were killed outright, while others were maimed or bitten by the bear. In all about ten sheep were lost.

Obituary

JAMES VINCENT O'NEILL (Fort Erie)

James Vincent O'Neill, Fort Erie, died suddenly on Wednesday, October 21st, in his 61st year.

The deceased was born in Belleville in February 1893, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George O'Neill.

He is survived by one brother, Mr. Frank O'Neill, Toronto, and one sister, Mrs. W. J. Dumble, Belleville.

He was employed by the Canadian National Motive Power department for the past 41 years, and was a member of the International Association of Machinists for 25 years.

Funeral services were held at Fort Erie Roman Catholic Church, Fort Erie, on Saturday, October 24th.

Interment was in St. Joseph's cemetery, Fort Erie.

HYLTON COXWELL (Campbellford)

CAMPBELLFORD — A man who was apparently one of the best known citizens of this community, Hylton Coxwell, died in Campbellford Memorial Hospital here on Friday night. He was 73.

Mr. Coxwell's job of reading meters for the Ontario Utilities Commission took him into nearly every home in the town and many on the outskirts. He knew most of the people by their first names and they always looked forward to by children of the town. They knew he always had a bag of candy for them in his pocket. The deceased was also a correspondent for the Canadian Press and the Toronto dailies.

He is survived by his wife, the former Violet Plummer; two daughters, Mrs. Gerald Meyers (Helen), of Campbellford, and Mrs. J. Arthur Bryant (Mary), of Toronto, and one son, John, of Campbellford. He had two sisters: Mrs. Arthur Bryant (Vera) and Miss Mona Coxwell, both of Toronto.

Mr. Coxwell was born in Toronto, the son of the late Charles Hylton Coxwell and Helen Haskaye. He was married in 1914 and came to Campbellford the following year. He attended the Anglican church and was a member of Golden Rule lodge and the Ionic Chapter, R.A.M.

The funeral, which was largely attended, was held from Benson's Funeral Parlor on Monday afternoon, with the Rev. Wm. Hamilton, rector of St. Andrew's Church and the Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith, of St. John's United Church officiating. At the graveside the Masonic order, of which Mr. Coxwell was a member, conducted the services.

The pall bearers were members of the lodge: Bros. F. M. Abernathy, C. H. Davidson, E. J. Winnie, D. R. Mayhew, W. A. Kingston, and Wor. Bro. P. C. Denyes.

Honorary pallbearers were: Wor. Bro. A. C. Connor, Bros. T. J. Craighead, C. Meyers, H. M. Donald, Robt. Bateson and E. C. Roberts. Brothers of the lodge bore the many floral tributes.

FREDERICK SCERO (Tyendinaga)

Funeral services for Frederick Scero of the Tyendinaga Reserve were held from his late residence on Deseronto Road to Christ Anglican Church on Tuesday, The Rev. Canon Thompson of St. Mary Magdalene Church in Napanee officiated.

Bearers were: Harry Hill, Charles Reid, Milton Lewis, Max Hill, Orville Scero and John R. Brant.

Mr. Scero died at his home on Sunday after a brief illness. He was born on the Reserve and had lived there all his life. The deceased was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Scero and was 67 at the time of his death.

He was a member of Christ Church.

Surviving—are one daughter, Mrs. Harold (Leva) Grass of Tyendinaga; one brother, Lewis Scero of the Reserve and four sisters, Mrs. Wellington Green of Tyendinaga, Mrs. Minnie Brant of Shannonville, Mrs. Gus Brant of Deseronto and Mrs. Jessie Court of Kingston.

Interment was in Christ Anglican Cemetery.

GLADYS ETHEL MAY SEAMAN (Sidney Township)

Mrs. Gladys Ethel May Seamen, of Sidney township, died at her home Wednesday, October 20 after a lengthy illness. She was in her 51st year.

The deceased was born in Watertown, N.Y., the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Edward Baldwin. She lived in Sidney township for the past 15 years.

She was predeceased by her husband.

She is survived by one brother, Edward Baldwin, Bloomfield and one sister, Mrs. Reginald A. Marsale.

The deceased was a member of Calvary Temple.

See Way Bar, Grill Features Open Kitchen

The See Way Bar and Grill Ltd., at 373 Front Street, opened its doors to the public for the first time on Monday. The new eating establishment has become the second in the city to feature the open kitchen embodying the latest in design of modern grilling fixtures.

Owned jointly by John Charron and Bill Portis, and managed by the nationally-famed Lefty Besaw, the grills chef, it will highlight many specialties in food preparation. The store is attractively decorated on the interior on one side by the new process of three dimensional wall papering, panelled by rich oak, glazed to the ceiling. The opposite wall has been painted in orchid coloring, also panelled with oak.

23 Bar Stools

There are 23 bar stools, richly upholstered, in front of a long divided bar. This is also glazed oak.

Along the opposite side are eight comfortably upholstered booths done in tones orchid and green. The establishment is lighted by a string of fluorescent lights running the length of the room and the floor is laid in a combination of rubber and marble tiles.

Much of the food features of the restaurant will include such delicacies as roast beef, roast pastrami, and a line of all Kosher foods. Italian spaghetti with meat, fried chicken, filet mignon, steaks and French fried onion rings are only a few of the other features in the food line being featured at the new establishment.

Mr. Besaw, the executive chef as he is called, recently managed such establishments as Limberlost Lodge, Gravenhurst, the Casa Loma in Toronto, the Richelieu Hotel at Napanee and during the war was administrator of services for the Massey Harris plant, Weston. He has been in the business for 35 years, 20 of which were spent in Belleville.

Food Expert.

The chef who is said to be an expert in all types of cooking, has four children, all of whom are employed at the new establishment. Mr. Besaw's wife also relieves the chef at the hotel in Napanee one day a week. He said he began teaching his children the rudiments at an early age and they were eight years old.

Mr. Besaw's hobbies is swimming and diving and in past years he has been attached to the marathon swim at the C.N.E. He has promised to prepare special dishes on request providing the food items are available. The chef was born in England and presently resided in Deseronto.

Besides Mr. Charron and the chef, the restaurant is staffed by four other qualified employees.

Came To City in '53.

John Charron, one of the partners, came to the city in November of 1952 with the immigration department. He left the service this summer in preparation for the opening of the restaurant. Mr. Charron served during the war with the R.C.N.V.R. for three-and-a-half years, with a tour aboard two ships in the North Atlantic and along the East coast.

He is married and has two children, both girls. One is five months of age and the other four years. He was born in Iroquois Falls. The other partner, Bill Portis is well known to city residents, having operated the Esquire restaurant for a number of years.

'Youngest' Warden in History Of County, John A. Kincaid, Honored at Madoc Banquet

Tribute to Reeve John A. Kincaid, of Madoc village, the "youngest" warden in the history of Hastings County, was paid Tuesday evening by county councillors and members of parliament as over 300 county officials and their wives along with other guests attended the annual warden's banquet held in Madoc Armouries.

Guest speaker for the banquet was Hon. John W. Foote, V.C., M.B.E., Minister of Reform Institutions, native of Madoc village, who stressed the importance of government at the county council level and the necessity for members of parliament keeping in close contact with the electors they represent.

"People at municipal and General must lose their right to take their problems before their Government representatives. But at one time they had that right," he said.

Although in Ontario the provincial government is solely responsible for spending on the part of the municipalities had developed a tendency for a centralized form of government, the speaker pointed out. Minister of Reform Institutions for Ontario, said that Premier Frost's announcement of "unconditional grants would call for more responsibility of government at the local level.

No Strings Attached

"Grants without strings attached to spend at the discretion of councils, will bring back more and more responsibility to the elected representatives of local governments," the speaker said. "Responsibility is the foundation of good government."

County clerk-treasurer Burt Denyes acted as master for the banquet program, which saw toasts to the Queen and Dominion of Canada, and to the ladies.

Deacon Robson, M.L.A. for Hastings East, introduced the guest speaker.

In his address of welcome Warden Kincaid referred to the manner and varied duties of the position as head of county council. He asserted, however, that despite the strenuous job as warden he had still tried to give full attention to village affairs. At the same time he hoped he had "done a job for the county."

He paid tribute to his village councillors and members of his family, who had carried on the business during his absence. He had a special word of thanks for his wife, Jean, whose efforts had made it possible for him to act as warden of the county.

Madoc Reeve Responds

Response to the warden's address of welcome was by East Reeve, Madoc township; W. J. Davis, reeve of McClure, Wicklow and Rawdon, and by Kenneth Yorke, superintendent of Hastings County Home.

The toast to the guests was by Reeve Harry Morrow, of Sidney township, with response by Judge J. C. Anderson; Ald. Charles L. Hyde, representing Mayor A. M. Heig, of Belleville; Clinton Green, warden of Prince Edward County and Lt.-Col. J. McFarland, mayor of Picton.

Frank C. Rollwell, M.P., for Hastings South, proposed the toast to the Dominion of Canada, while George S. White, M.P. for Hastings - Peterborough, replied to the toast to the ladies was by Bernard Hunt, reeve of adjoining township, and was responded to by Mrs. Fred Mitchell. Invocation was by Rev.

Denies Coal Gas Threatened Movie Patrons

TRENTON (Special) — Ralph Cole, manager of the Century Theatre here, denies that the theatre was filled by coal gas on Saturday afternoon. The gas seeped into the auditorium of the building as the result of an error in the operation of the building's stoker system, says Mr. Cole, but there was, he maintains, actually no danger from any gas fumes. The defect was quickly found and corrected.

I wish to extend my sincere thanks to all my friends, relatives and neighbors for their kindness shown me during my illness.—Mrs. B. Spearman and the family.

Cheese Exchange

A total of 3,528 cheese were offered on the Belleville Cheese Exchange Tuesday evening, with the trade taking the entire boarding.

Cheese boarded included: Specials 1,008, colored cheese 1,884, and white cheese 835 boxes.

Buyers paid 30 9-16 cents a pound for colored, and 30 cents a pound for white.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Prices were mostly higher in forenoon stock market trading today. Volume was 729,000 shares, average for the month.

Rising industrials were breweries and refining oils. Manufacturers and banks also showed some strength, but traded lightly to set patterns.

Uraniums were higher as low-priced issues continued their activity. New Normone gained 1½ cents on more than 170,000 shares in the first hour. New Lardar it was higher and North Inca, a base metal, traded more than 100,000 shares for a three-cent gain.

Western oils traded lightly. Price changes were slight.

Base metals made a small gain as senior issues were unchanged and several juniors traded stronger. Both Dominion Asbestos and Canzinc were unchanged in light trading.

Golds were slightly higher. Holding companies showed a few strong issues; Dunlops were slightly lower and seniors showed a little strength.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP)—Trade was dull on a plain quality offerings at the Ontario stockyards today. Receipts: cattle 300; calves 255; hogs 225; sheep and lambs 215; holdover from Tuesday 2,000 cattle.

Hogs were steady at $24 with dressed sows $34.

Lambs were active at steady prices. Good ewes and wethers $20-21; bucks $1 discount; heavy lambs at noon at $3 discount; common lambs $13-18; good light sheep $8-13; culls downward to $4.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and fluctuating prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market continued its downward swing. Prices were down four cents since Tuesday on most grades. Producers were active with heavy offerings but buyers were cautious causing poor demand. Quotations for graded eggs in fibre cases were: A large 48-50; A medium 45; A small 38-39; B 43; C 34. Wholesale to retail: A large 54-56; A medium 48; A small 43-44; B 48; C 39.

Butter solids: 1st grade, Oct. 60¾-61; western 61; 2nd grade western 58-60.

POLICE BLOTTER

Daniel Bronson, 82, of Madoc, suffered scalp cuts and head injury yesterday when he walked into the side of a car at the intersection of Front and Bridge Streets.

Driver of the car, Joseph Ruggeri, 93 South John Street, told police that he was east-bound on Bridge, when at the intersection Mr. Bronson stepped out from the curb and walked into the side of his car.

Two small school girls ran into the side of a passing car on Dundas Street this morning, but ran away before the driver could check to see if they had been hurt. Driver of the car, Lorne D'Vaz of Carlaw Ave., reported the matter to police.

W. J. Simpson, Burton Street, complained to police that his skiff had been stolen from where it had been tied up near the filtration plant on Trent Road. The thieves had smashed the oarlock to free the skiff.

Laymen's Sunday Observed At Stirling, Frankford

Laymen's Sunday was observed at 7.30 p.m. in St. John's Church, Stirling, when the special speaker was Mr. F. Beeby of Christ church, Belleville, who gave an interesting and inspiring sermon on the text, "Let your light shine before men, that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in Heaven."

Developing this text the speaker urged men to have more faith and to seek God's help in earnest prayer, that they might become willing and active workers for Christ and the church, in order that such false ideas as Communism might be destroyed by the true and more divine idea of Christianity.

The lessons were read by Fred Houchin, Lay Reader, and John Church. The Psalm was read by R. Andrews. The choir sang a special setting of the Magnificat and the Nunc Dimittis. Beautiful music on the altar were in memory of Mrs. W. Bailey, given by Peggy, Pauline and Jack.

After the service, the men met in the Parish Hall where Mr. Beeby spoke on certain matters pertaining to men's work in the church. Mr. Gathercole of Tweed, representing the Forestry Service, spoke and showed a colour film on the salvaging of lumber from burnt out areas in Ontario.

Mr. George Noble, president of the Men's Association was in charge of this meeting. Dues were paid and the report of the committee planning the church supper was received and a motion to pay the entire cost of this and the ridge cap, was passed. Refreshments were served by the rector assisted by Gordon Vardy, Jimmie Yull, Doug. Harding, Martin and Robert Beeby.

Holy Trinity Church

The service last Sunday was devoted to the laymen of the Holy Trinity Church, Frankford. A large congregation was present to hear Mr. N. Stewart of Stirling bring an interesting address on the part of laymen in the church. The lessons were read by Mr. E. Anderson and Mr. Stewart, and the Psalm by Mr. C. Smith. Beautiful flowers on the altar were in loving memory of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis, placed there by the family.

Another interesting service was held to commemorate the work of the church among children. All the school pupils were in church and the three senior grades occupied the front pews. The Psalm was read by Dorothy Brown, the lesson by Eleanor Green. Prayers were said by Sharon Butcher and Jean Anderson.

The senior pupils sang a paraphrase of the 23rd Psalm, set to music by Miss Dorothy James Edmund Jones.

The rector gave a short address with particular emphasis on the need for interest in young people's religious training.

In connection with this work, a group of teachers from Trinity motored to Marmora last week to attend a meeting of the Deanery Board of Religious Education, when the Rev. T. Harris of Toronto led in an interesting discussion of religious educational problems. Those attending were: Mrs. B. Foster, Mrs. C. Mikel, Misses Mildred Gilmour, Grace Pearson, Helen Pearson, Mrs. W. Rose and Mr. C. Pearson.

Driver Fails To See Standing Train on Street

TRENTON (Special) — Ronald A. Durwade of Frankford failed to see a standing train stopped across Trenton street last night and crashed into the side of it. He walked away from the wreckage suffering only a slight head injury. He was treated at the Trenton Memorial Hospital.

Durwade was travelling south on Trenton street passing through the C.N.R. subway. A flat car was sitting on the rail line crossing the thoroughfare a few feet south of the overpass. Durwade noticed the train too late to avoid hitting it.

She had been driving a friend home and after letting her passenger off, drove into an open garage on the side of the road. The wheel dropped into the open-ing, slashing the right front tire.

At the Front and Dundas Street intersection the base of a light standard and the globe were broken by a transport avoiding a collision with a car turning left off the main road.

Absolved Of Blame.

Magistrate T. Y. Wills presiding in police court here yesterday absolved William Lynch of Belleville of any blame in a traffic accident at Mayhew's mill corner. Lynch defended by Robert Temple, was driving a car on Front Street that struck a tractor-drawn trailer loaded with grain. Temple argued that the brakes on the accused car failed suddenly causing the driver to have no control in the emergency.

The car careened 45 feet after hitting the trailer, bounced off a concrete culvert and travelled that feet farther along the road before it was brought to a stop.

Appointments to the court of revision for 1953-54 were announced today. New board members are: Senator W. A. Fraser, Victor Ryan, E. J. Virgins, Harold Blakely and Harold Turney.

Obituary

MRS. CAROLINE MILLER INSLEY

Mrs. Caroline Miller Insley, 371 1-2 Front Street, died on Wednesday morning in the Belleville General Hospital. The late Mrs. Insley, who was born in Sidney township, 69 years ago, had been ill for some time. She leaves to mourn her passing two sons, John W. Miller, of Fort Credit, and James A. Miller, of Belleville; one daughter, Mrs. Mabel Miller, of Belleville; three brothers, James Archer, of Belleville, Joshua Archer of Trenton and George Archer of Kingston; one sister, Miss Hattie Archer of Belleville; and one granddaughter, Anne Lyn Miller, of Fort Credit.

The late Mrs. Insley was a member of Bridge Street United Church.

Italy May Make Some Concessions On Trieste Issue

ROME (Reuters)—The pro-government newspaper Il Messaggero hinted today that the Italian government may be ready to make some concessions to Yugoslavia on the Trieste issue, though determined not to yield on the administration of zone A from which the United States and Britain recently decided to withdraw their troops.

The newspaper said Italy might propose "special facilities" for Yugoslavia in the port of Trieste, as well as slight changes in the frontier with zone B, administered by Yugoslavia. Italy might also consider some exchange of population" in Trieste.

Il Messaggero said Italy is ready for a five-power conference inviting the United States, Yugoslavia, Britain and France to discuss the dispute, provided the Anglo-American zone is transferred to Italy first.

At this conference Italy would propose the holding of a plebiscite in the whole of Trieste area including the Yugoslav zone, as suggested by Prime Minister Giuseppe Pella six weeks ago.

Yugoslavia so far has refused to attend a conference on Trieste if it takes place after the transfer of zone A to Italy.

Jupiter Wins 111th Running Of Cambridgeshire

NEWMARKET, England (AP)—Sir Gordon Richards rode Jupiter, a three-year-old chestnut colt, to victory in the 111th running of the mile-and-a-long Cambridgeshire handicap stakes at Newmarket today.

Top-weight King of the Tudors, ridden by Jim Griffin, was second and Fair Colleen, ridden by J. Sime, was third.

Jupiter started at odds of 100 to 6. King of the Tudors was 20 to 1 and Fair Colleen 22 to 1.

Jupiter took prize money of £3,106 (83,696). King of the Tudors won £345 and Fair Colleen £111.

Times for the race, in which 29 thoroughbreds took part, will be announced at the end of the day.

Red Wine, a three-year-old colt owned by Mrs. Lionel Montagu, did not start. Trainer H. Jellies said the colt was lame.

Jupiter, by The Phoenix out of Whitewash, defeated King of the Tudors by three-quarters of a length. Fair Colleen was edged into third place by a head in a photo finish.

Jupiter, trained by Pat Beasley and owned by Lord Lambton, was one of the early favorites for the race but Sailing Light, a four-year-old chestnut, started favorite at 13 to 2. He finished sixth.

Dumbarnie was fourth and Coalition last.

HOPE FOR THE REDS?

Most people, we suppose, sometimes spend a few idle minutes wondering what is going to happen to the world.

Men have done this in all ages. Probably the stone age man who first felt the bite of a metal blade retired to his cave to lick his wounds and ponder on the probable future of mankind in an age in which such terrible weapons had been developed.

Perhaps our plight today is no worse than this. Still it does seem to most of us that the unlocking of the power of the atom has provided our generation with a particularly dangerous threat. No man who, within his own lifetime, has witnessed the development of the horseless carriage and the airplane from their crude beginnings to their present positions on the road to perfection can bring himself to believe that man will not multiply his ability to destroy his brother and himself.

Moreover, for mankind to taste the bitter fruits of his folly it is no longer necessary that many be mad. Indeed just one maniac, regardless of consequences, could bring ruin to whole continents by employing nuclear weapons.

That, under these circumstances, most of us find it possible to enjoy our meals, romp with our children, laugh with our friends and generally live our everyday moments thinking about such trivial matters as mortgage payments and income tax is a tribute to man's inherent mental toughness.

Still, this ability to disregard a threat does not remove it. Most of us are aware of that. A feeling of insecurity nags at us.

Stalking in the background is the threat of Communism.

Korea, Indo-China, Trieste, a divided Germany — all of these problems may pass away. But what facts suggest any solution to the basic problem, the existence of a powerful regime which is the antithesis of all our democratic beliefs?

Communists, you will say, are so absolutely and thoroughly and completely wrong.

And then, from another century, comes a message of hope, based on that very fact.

Listen to the words of Thomas Henry Huxley:

"Next to being right in the world," said Huxley, "the best of all things is to be clearly and definitely wrong, because you will come out somewhere. If you go buzzing about between right and wrong, vibrating and fluctuating, you come out nowhere at all. If you are absolutely and thoroughly and persistently wrong, you must, some of these days, have the extreme good fortune of knocking your head against a fact, and that puts you straightway right."

Surely there are enough facts around that Malenkov and company will have to bump into some of them, sometime.

THE LAWS OF THE BYE

Do you belong to a club? If so, perhaps you have studied its by-laws. Or perhaps, as a shareholder, you have been consulted about a proposed change in the by-laws of a company in which you are a shareholder.

Did you know that, from the standpoint of the purist, the term "by-law" is a misnomer in such cases?

"A by-law is a law of the Bye or locality," says an editorial in the Winnipeg Free Press. How many people know that that was the derivation of the first part of the word "by-law?" Very few, we should imagine. The Free Press editorially elucidates with an entirely different quotation, threw in the explanation of the origin of the word as a mere aside. Still, is it an interesting example of the manner in which English words grow in meaning, assuming much greater scope with the passing of time than was originally intended by their "inventors."

HURRAH FOR THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

Despite the pessimists, the world does improve.

In 1492 when Columbus first discovered the Indies of the West, he named his discovery the island of Santo Domingo and left a few of his men there. They were killed by the natives.

Four hundred and fifty years later, with the slaying of would-be immigrants being a practice which has fallen into disrepute with most civilized countries, the great nations have discovered a new device for ridding themselves of the company of undesirables. They just put 'em on a ship, carry them back and forth between ports, call in the press associations and the radio correspondents and the CBC announcers to provide the reading, listening, seeing public with another episode of that twentieth century serial thriller, "The Man Without a Country."

Meanwhile the Dominican Republic, crowded into the eastern and central portions of the island of Santo Domingo or Haiti, has failed to adapt itself to modern methods of international immigration. Thus today we learn that Michael Patrick O'Brien, Irish-named, U.S.-born son of Hungarian parents, has now a home on the island where the followers of Columbus were once slaughtered and can rest at last after ten months shuttling between British Hong Kong and Portuguese Macao.

The Dominican Republic may be small in size but it has thus itself shown in heart than some other more powerful and more "civilized" nations.

IGNORANCE

Though life I've found it sad to go
And never learn the arts
Of music this is all I know:
They amateurs in schools
And there is much they taught in schools
Of blindly hurried by.
Of how and what men do with tools
Still ignorant am I.

I know a little of the flowers
That scatter the birds return,
But I've wasted many hours
When there was more to learn.

Now, counting what I've missed, I find
(And all has this occurred)
I must have been both deaf and blind
To much I've seen and heard.

'Tis clear that none is born to be
In all things sure and wise.
But time has taught this truth to me:
With sharper ears and eyes
And had I but the effort shown
To learn, as many do,
There's so much more I should have known
That now I wish I knew.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

OCTOBER 28, 1933

Miss Edith Kerr has returned to Toronto after spending a few days here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Kerr.

The girls' branch of St. Paul's Guild organized at the home of Mrs. Knott, South George street, last evening and planned a program of weekly meetings. The following officers were elected: president, Thelma Dudley; vice president, Eleanor Dwyer; secretary, June McKenna; treasurer, Olive Knott.

Last evening at the Belleville Badminton Club which was called by the president, Mr. C. A. Cameron, and was held in the Victoria Rink, the annual election of the following officers were elected for the coming season: honorary president, Lieut. Col. E. A. Geen, V.D.; hon. vice president, Major A. C. Macnaughton; hon. D. B. Hannah; secretary, N. W. Spariing; hon. treasurer, Harvey Sparling; captain, R. M. Martin; ladies captain, Mrs. D. Hannah; committee, Mrs. H. E. Ketcheson, Mrs. R. Martin; entertainment committee, Mrs. C. A. Cameron, Mrs. L. Foxard, Mrs. O. H. Scott, Mrs. E. A. Geen; membership committee, Major H. A. Alford, G. Roberts, F. Fisher, Irving Ketcheson and Mrs. A. Wallery.

30 YEARS AGO

Sixteen wards will be ordered for the city firemen at a cost of $600 each, if the executive committee can finance the project out of this year's appropriation. The total cost would be $648.

Mrs. J. Bunnett, mother of Mr. James Bunnett, 2nd concession of Thurlow township, celebrated the 90th anniversary of her birthday on October 25. A large number of relatives and friends were entertained at the home of her son in the afternoon and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Clarke, Foster Avenue, have returned home from Hamilton where they visited their son.

Archdeacon the Ven. G. R. Beamish, rector of St. Thomas Church went to Kingston today.

40 YEARS AGO

OCTOBER 28, 1913.

It is necessary to obtain a permit from the city engineer's department before commencing to erect a building. The by-law in this regard is largely neglected and the regulation should be enforced.

Dr. J. M. Moore of Chicago, Ill., an old Belleville boy, is home on a short visit.

Here is an interesting item about Campbell Street, taken from our file copy of this time in 1873: "Dr. Ridley has much improved the appearance of Campbell Street by the block of brick stores which he has completed on that street."

Mrs. J. D. Thrasher is visiting friends in Toronto.

Superintendent H. F. Coyle of the G.T.R., Belleville Division, spent yesterday in Brockville.

The mortgage on the Grand Trunk Railway Engineers' hall on Pine Street has been paid in full and the mortgage was burned at a social gathering in the hall this week. Mr. John Fitzgerald occupied the chair and short addresses were made by Mr. W. Rogers, Mr. Alex Calvert, Mr. J. W. Johnson, M.P.P., and Mrs. W. Rogers of the Women's Auxiliary, which organization greatly assisted in paying off the mortgage.

50 YEARS AGO

OCTOBER 28, 1903.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gibson, Kingston Road, gave a farewell party in honor of Mr. Alex Potter, who will leave shortly to reside in Lindsay.

Mrs. (Col.) Campbell has been engaged as organist at John St. Presbyterian Church, and Mrs. E. Burrows has been appointed choirmaster. A letter choice of organist and choirmaster could not have been made.

The following have left for the north country to be ready for the opening of the deer hunting season: Messrs. Sid Vermilyea, C. Grass, F. B. Riggs, F. Lake, Dr. Bell, H. Clapp, Frank Rutherford, John Harris and E. Lavelle.

A frame building owned and occupied by Mr. Henry French on Dundas street was destroyed by fire last night.

Mr. J. P. Peterson, who left here recently to assume a position in the legal department of the Grand Trunk Railway in Montreal, has been appointed bass soloist in Olivet Baptist Church in that city.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

My wife sent me over to the drug-store to pick up two or three books for her to read in bed: you know, the little thirty-five centers. They are called pocket books because they will go in a pocket, I suppose. But I never saw one in any pocket. On a rack to themselves, just beyond the magazine rack, in the front of the drug store, the pocket books glowed darkly. Violence seems to be their only theme, judging by the covers. The titles are mostly in yellow or red ink, and the cover illustrations generally feature the pretty face of a man and either the torso or crupper of a girl. The little books are easy to the feel. They smell like linoleum.

"What's new here?" I called to Frank the apothecary.

"They're all new," replied Frank indignantly.

I looked again at the array and saw two or three I distinctly recollected having seen several weeks before, on my last errand indeed, a couple of them I had bought.

"Well, here's, some of last month's," I declared.

Frank came out from the dispensing department and joined me, puzzled, at the pocket rack.

"Last month's?" he said.

"Don't you change the stock?" I reported, "Do you mean to say the same books are on the shelf month after month?"

Frank looked outraged.

"Look," he said. "This is literature. Three acres'n' monthly magazines or something. Do the ladies keeping putting different books on the shelves? Do they like 'em, sir! Books are books. They're like patent medicines. They're always in stock. Why, I've got liniments on my shelves here that have been regularly on drugstore shelves for sixty years. Books are in the same class as patent medicines. Books are literature."

"Well, how," I demanded, "am I going to know, out of all this bunch, whether I've bought them before? They all look alike. They are all alike."

"Maybe they should be dated, eh!" said Frank. "Like camera film."

"Now, there's an idea," I cried, "that we ought to present to the publishers of these things!"

Which we do.

Letters to The Editor

Thinks Farmers Should Build Publicity Fund.

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,

I heartily agree with the generous-hearted sentiment in the newspaper story, headlined: "Public Relations Program With Adequate Odness Produces With Work of Association" because I have been long convinced that what one of the rural columnists described as "the voicelessness of agriculture" is, in fact, the weak link in the marketing chain as between primary producers and final consumers.

In this modern's opinion it would be smart business for the nation's farmers to build a fund, to which our 600,000 farmers would contribute a specific, if modest sum, and dedicate some to telling the story of this basic industry—its aims, services, and entitlement to its fair share of the nation's income; and also, by painstaking fact, to refute the industry, agriculture gets about 50 cents out of the family food dollar." "Food Dollar," I am convinced, from a series of talks with friends in town and city, that not 10 per cent of urban Canadians are aware of this latter "unobserved fact."

The old proverb "knowledge is power" is as true today as when it was coined in the 17th century. In the 20th century it is nowhere more essential than in the matter of the balance of all the difference in the rural-urban marketing technique, just as has the difference in the mass supply-demand facts.

The most basic problem of 1-in-and-out farmers and jittery price movements was dealt with by your editorial, "Stability in Farm Outlook" from which I quote with pride, as it touches the core paragraph: "Whenever the outlook looks poor for either particular division of agriculture the more pessimistic and gloomy prophets arise ready to get out of it and into some other specialty without realizing or appreciating that the basic problems are better. This tends to create a shortage where formerly a surplus was in evidence and a correction in prices occurs. Whereupon, of course, some farmers hurry back into the fields they left earlier.

"Rural Businessman."

Agrees Need Great For Washrooms Here

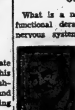
Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,

I would like to congratulate Mr. DeVuyst on voicing his opinion concerning the washroom rooms in your valuable paper and also to thank you for printing the same. When the washrooms were at the market, I thought it was the most ideal spot in Belleville. They served the market-people, the tourists and the farmers. I do not like to impose on the hotels, restaurants or stores. Why should we be compelled to do so?

I remember the first time I missed the washrooms. A friend pointed I was and hundreds of others felt the same way. Take the village of Stirling—right on the main street there is a rest room that is open to the use of community hall. It means so much to the people. Hats off to Stirling! Those responsible have my respect.

Another advantage of having the washrooms at the market is the fact that it would relieve the police station. If there was any trouble the police could call the system had a right to feel, just as long as he or she cared to pay $200 a week.

Except the handful of sanitarians that have remained in business because of some lucky circumstances of climate, scenery, social, political or religious interest, the rest cure institutions have gone with the wind. Just a reminder of the quaint theory occurs when some sympathetic friend urges the friend who is developing, say, tuberculosis, diabetes, cancer or cardiovascular degeneration without benefit of medical advice, to drop everything, give away and take a complete rest. I said friend—have you a more helpless epithet to apply to the individual who refuses to consult a physician until he himself can no longer pretend it is just overwork, nervous exhaustion, heavy responsibility etc. etc.? Or for the individual who thinks a periodic physical examination is an annual "check-up" by one's physician is all right for other people but not necessary for a smart cookie like him?



Offhand it may seem that psychiatrists and disorders (neuroses) are increasing in frequency. It may seem so to the public—but the truth is that doctors are diagnosing such complaints and simulations of them these days. After all, with the old stigma of psychiatry gone, the period, diphtheria, scarlet fever and the like steadily declining, as they are—the doctors must find something to occupy their spare time.

Personal Health Talks

OUR LATE ANCESTORS HAD 'EM, TOO

What is a neurosis? It is any functional derangement of the nervous system . . . which is dependent on some evident physical lesion or change. In other words, those an assortment of vague symptoms, complaints of them steadily, and you have a sojourn in a spa or sanitarium for the rest cure—as you did in the gay nineties.

A neurotic is a person who has a neurosis, and neurasthenia is the condition of being neurotic, the tendency to develop neuroses.

Mitchell's rest cure was responsible for the rash of sanitariums which the country suffered sixty years ago. The fad became so popular that nearly everyone who had the price and sufficient freedom from responsibility managed to get away from home for a few weeks, at least, of complete relaxation in the hands, or all hands, from the bead doctor to the bath attendants. Sanitariums sprang up like mushrooms to accommodate the customers.

Hardware Dealers of Four Counties Meet in City

Hardware dealers and chief executives from the combined districts of Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington and Northumberland counties gathered at the Quinte Hotel on Monday evening for one of the most successful retail hardware meetings held in Belleville in some time.

Mr. J. Gordon Cawker, president of the Canadian Retail Hardware Association, and Mr. Robert Winslow, manager and director of the association, both of Toronto, were in attendance and addressed the dealers who gathered for a dinner meeting.

Head Table Guests

Mr. Herbert W. Fox, of the Walker Hardware Company, was in charge of the program and acted as chairman. Invocation was given by Mr. W. R. Connor of Madoc, and Mr. R. Collins of Tweed, introduced the head table guests: Mr. J. G. McKee, Walker Hardware, Stirling; Mr. W. E. Connor, Connor Hardware, Madoc; Mr. F. S. Follwell, M.P., Follwell Hardware, Belleville; Mr. R. Cawker, managing director of the C.R.H.A., Toronto; Mr. H. W. Fox, director of the C.R.H.A., Walker Hardware, Belleville; Mr. J. G. Cawker, president of the C.R.H.A., Cawker Hardware, Toronto; Mr. C. Carter, past president C.R.H.A., Carter Hardware, Picton.

Mr. W. S. Wills, Wills' Hardware, Belleville; Mr. V. Hardware, Walker Hardware, Belleville and Mr. K. Cotton, Cotton's Hardware, Tweed.

Mr. Fox extended a sincere welcome to the guest speakers and their wives, Mrs. Cawker and Mrs. Lamb, and welcomed the hardware dealers of this district.

Each dealer was invited to introduce himself, stating his name, place of business and town or city.

Chosen Leader.

In introducing the first speaker, Mr. Cawker, Mr. Fox briefly outlined Mr. Cawker's business career, and stated that as president of the C.H.R.A. Mr. Cawker was the chosen leader of the hardware industry from coast to coast, and the owner of three thriving hardware stores in Toronto.

The speaker stressed the problems which confront the industry today and the need for the steadfast support and loyalty of its members for the continuing success of the association. The C.R.H. association is now the second largest retail hardware association operating the second largest hardware show on the North American continent.

Merchandising Authority

Following Mr. Cawker's address, Mr. C. Carter of Picton, introduced Mr. R. W. Lamb, the managing director of the C.R.H.A. and a noted authority on merchandising.

Mr. Lamb went into his subject in greater detail, outlining the association's work in the future and stating the benefits and assistance the association can give to the individual hardware member. He stressed the I.R.H.A. program which is sweeping across the entire continent.

The Independent Retail Hardware or I.R.H.A. can and does sell better hardware and better service at prices that compare with any other type of retailer selling the same quality of merchandise. Mr. Lamb spoke of the 49th Annual Hardware Exhibition to be held February 1, 2, 3 and 4th and urged as many as could to attend the greatest hardware show of the year.

Thanks Tendered

Mr. F. S. Follwell M.P.; thanked both speakers on behalf of the hardware dealers assembled, and an open discussion period followed during which it was decided to organize a local hardware association.

As a result, Mr. K. Cotton of Tweed, was appointed chairman and Mr. F. Graham of Brighton, was made secretary-treasurer with further plans for organizing to be completed in a few weeks.

Mr. Fox in summing up the success of the evening, stated he believed the evening had been an outstanding one in the history of the Hardware Association in Belleville.

He also expressed the pleasure in listening to the speakers and thanked the hardware members for their splendid response in attending the meeting and for their participation in the program.

Chairman and Mr. Lamb are on a tour of some 30 district hardware meetings to be held this fall.

FRANKFORD

Carrying Loaded Gun on Tractor Accident Cause

FRANKFORD — Allen Forge, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Forge of Stockdale had a near serious accident on Monday when he was shot in the foot accidentally.

Plowing on his father's farm south of Stockdale, the young man had his loaded shotgun on the tractor with him, for the purpose of shooting some ground hogs. Dismounting from the tractor young Forge jostled the gun, and it discharged, with three pellets entering his left ankle, on the outside, and chipping a large piece from the ankle bone, despite the pain he drove the tractor back to the house, and was rushed to Trenton Memorial hospital where it was discovered, that the chipped bone was the most serious injury, lucky all pellets missed the muscles and nerves, which might have crippled the boy. Doctors attending the case say that a bone graft may be necessary, and a six to eight week stay in the hospital. Everyone in the district is happy that the outcome was not more serious.

Car Out Of Control.

A Frankford resident and employee of Bata Shoe Co., engineering division, Tony Hart narrowly escaped injury early Saturday morning when his car went out of control on the wet pavement. Returning home from a party in Malmra, Hart was travelling north into Frankford on Highway No. 33 when his late model car left the road and rolled over two or three times, coming to a stop a few yards from the river. The car, a 1950 model Dodge, was a complete wreck, according to constable Ed McGeachy of Frankford, Hart was prevented by thrown clear as the car left the road, as he told the police when he regained consciousness that he was lying beside the car. In this way, in fact must have saved him from injury of any kind.

GWEN SOUND, Ont. (CP)—The grain carrier Algocen has tied up at her winter berth here with a storage cargo because of shortage of space in grain elevators, normally grain vessels do not tie up for the winter until the end of November.

Stewart Requests Output Report Of Institutions

TORONTO (CP)—W. J. Stewart, member of the legislature for Osnoro Parkdale, asked Tuesday for a report on the manufacturing plants of Ontario's reform institutions. He said he doubts they get full credit for their industrial output.

Chairman of the legislature's select committee on reform institutions, Mr. Stewart said the committee he thinks that in some cases the department, which manufactures license plates at Guelph, bricks and tile at Mimico and many other articles in other institutions, is not getting full value for its effort.

Deputy Reforms Minister Hedley Basher said plates made at the Guelph reformatory are sold to the Ontario highways department at 13 cents a pair. The issuer is paid 25 cents a pair by the highways department.

Last year the licence-plate operation made a profit of $20,000 but it was said the figure did not allow for depreciation, insurance or any of the normal costs that must be met in private industry.

W. M. Nickle, Progressive Conservative member for Kingston, told the committee that closing a small cement tile factory at the Kingston penitentiary jail was "the silliest departmental decision I ever heard." Manufacture of the tile at the jail was stopped because a reforms department inspector said the tile could not be left in the jail yard for fear it would be used by prisoners to escape over the walls.

Mr. Nickle said nobody has escaped from the jail in more than 25 years and besides, it would take at least 20 men to make use of the tile for a jailbreak.

W. J. Grummett, CCF house leader, said he objected to the closing of the factory because he felt Kingston jail was one place where all "honest effort" was being made to put men to work.

Says Stamp Fake

VIENNA (Reuters)—A postage stamp from Ober Vellach, South Austria—claimed to be the oldest in the world—is a fake, Dr. August Nitsche, chief of the Vienna postal museum, announced today.

The stamp bore a cancellation dated 1858 but Nitsche said his tests showed the stamp contained coloring unknown in that year, though the envelope was genuine paper from the first half of the 19th century, the writing on it was of a later date.

The seal contained chemical substances also unknown in 1858.

Report Progress In Effort to End Milk Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—A mediator's report of progress in talks that spurred hopes today for a quick end to a strike cutting fresh milk supplies for 12,000,000 persons in the New York metropolitan area. There were rumors that an agreement might come today, a resumption of deliveries Thursday and a retail price increase the day after.

Chief basis for the settlement optimism was an announcement Tuesday by a city labor relations official that "some tangible progress" was being made in peace talks between 200 companies and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL).

It was the first notice of headway in almost continuous bargaining sessions since the strike by 13,000 drivers and plant workers started Sunday.

Meanwhile, fresh milk has first been diverted from most homes and stores in New York City, Long Island, Westchester County in New York state and part of New Jersey. The area normally uses about 4,000,000 quarts daily.

RATION TO MOTHERS

New York City mothers lined up by the thousands Tuesday at distribution depots for rations of milk. Restaurants scratched the drink from their menus. Store sales of evaporated and powdered milk were 150 to 400 per cent above normal.

Some independent dairy companies not involved in the dispute managed to make a few store deliveries in New Jersey, where police protected the independents' drivers from any renewal of occasional outbreaks of violence which occurred Monday.

A supply of milk flowed to hospitals, schools and other such institutions. Officials expressed fears that 600,000 quarts of raw milk worth $40,000 "would have to be dumped for lack of sufficient pasteurization facilities. Dairy farmers face losses estimated at $250,000 a day.

A $15-a-week increase and a 35-hour week were sought by the milk company workers, whose wages now range from $62 to $125 for a 45-hour week. The companies have been reported offering package boosts of up to $2.10 a week.

Four Arrested

MONTMAGNY, Que. (CP)—Provincial police today identified four men caught here Tuesday, after a wild chase punctuated by revolver shots, as Robert Pelletier, Marcel Marcon, Raymond Paterson and Robert Richardson, all of Montreal.

Police said the four are wanted for questioning in connection with a series of St. Lawrence river area safe burglaries, including theft of 400 bottles of liquor from the Quebec liquor commission store at Mont Joli Monday night.

Evangelist Will Destroy Shrine In Carolina

CLEVELAND, Tenn. (AP) Evangelist Homer Tomlinson says he will take a sledge hammer, wrecking bar and other tools on a bus and hitch-hiking trip to North Carolina to destroy a Church of God shrine which he estimates cost $2,000,000.

The 61-year-old head of the Church of God, with New York headquarters, has announced plans to raze the Fields of the Wood shrine near Murphy, N.C., about 30 miles from here.

The shrine is on Burger mountain and is owned by the Church of God of Prophecy, headed by Tomlinson's younger brother, Milton. Set in the side of the mountain are the 10 Commandments in stone letters five feet high.

This is the site where the brothers' father, A. J. Tomlinson, said he saw a vision leading him to found the original Church of God in 1903.

Homer Tomlinson says his father appointed him to lead all branches of the church, and that in addition to destroying the shrine, he will unseat his brother, who he claims is "making idolatry of Fields of the Wood."

"I cannot let (him) do it any more than Moses could let his younger brother, Aaron, make a golden calf, even if I have to destroy the $2,000,000 shrine into powder," he said.

$600 Monthly Allowance To Widow Cut Off

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The $600 monthly family allowance from comedian Jack Benny's estate to his widow has been cut off.

Judge William R. McKay, heading a protest of other heirs that nothing would be left for them, Tuesday halted the allowance to the 74-year-old widow, Concetta John W. Preston told the court Mrs. Fields has received $220,000 of her $272,000 share of the film comic's estate, plus about $40,000 in family allowances since Fields died Dec. 25, 1946.

Preston estimated that there will be only $41,000 left from which to pay his clients' lifetime bequests totalling $100 weekly. He estimated that payments could be made for a little more than five years.

Fields' avoid provided weekly payments for his brother, Walter; his sister, Amy Dunn Smith, and his long-time friend and confidante, Carlotta Monti, former screen actress.

Mrs. Fields parted from the comedian for about 40 years but never divorced him.

Nine Canadians Hold Tickets On Winning Horses

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nine Canadians held Irish Sweepstake tickets on horses winning the Cambridgeshire Handicap today at Newmarket, England.

Four Canadians held tickets on Jupiter, winner of the race, and more will as much as $140,000 each from the sweepstake. Two Canadians held tickets on Ring of the Tudors, second-place horse, and qualified for second prize money of $37,500 each.

Three Canadians had tickets on Fair Colleen which finished third. They qualified for prize money of $27,500 each.

All of the Canadians were not immediately identified. In a list of ticket holders issued Friday, they mostly were identified by sums de plume.

Names and addresses of Canadian winners were to be released later from Dublin. Holders of tickets on horses that scratched or did not run will receive approximately $1,250. A total of 178 Canadian tickets were drawn in the sweepstake draw.

27-Year-Old Woman Inherits 25 Titles

MADRID (Reuter)—A chic, 27-year-old woman may well inherit 25 titles. She is Cayetana, Duchess of Montoro, wife of Jaime and heir of all the titles and property of her father, the Duke of Alba, Spanish aristocrat who died recently in Switzerland.

"Tana," as she is known to her friends, is married and has two small sons. She will succeed her father as duchess and 14 times a grandee; this latter being a rank which, if she were a male, would permit her to keep on her hat in the presence of the king—if there were a king of Spain.

She is named Cayetana after that Cayetana, Duchess of Alba, who died in 1802 and who, according to tradition, posed for the turbulent Spanish painter Francisco de Goya for his portraits now hung in the Prado museum in Madrid.

NUDE PORTRAIT

The Alba family has always insisted the duchess did not pose for the two pictures. The late Duke of Alba and her brother, Jacobo, had the bomb where it had lain for 142 years.

One doctor deduced from her bone structure that it was unlikely she was the woman who posed for the paintings.

As soon as the legal formalities have been completed, "Tana" will set aside her present title of Montoro and her two baronias, Duchess of Alba, Her husband, Luis, will be duke-consort of Alba.

St. Margaret's Guild Enjoys Travelogue

The regular meeting of St. Margaret's Guild was held in the church on Monday evening with a large number of members present.

Mrs. Arthur Watson was in the chair and opened the meeting after which she welcomed two new members.

Following the usual business Mrs. R. Wood reported on the breakfast served to the A.Y.P.A. at the Provincial Conference. The Christmas card convener, Mrs. Dalton Kaya, reported on the sale of Christmas cards and a large order was distributed to satisfied customers.

Further arrangements were made for the Christmas bazaar in November and many finished articles were given to the convener of the variety table.

The rector, Rev. L. A. Page, spoke briefly and requested that the visiting committee be enlarged, and that more people be visited by the members of the Guild. Further discussion on this plan will take place at the next meeting.

Visit Old Home

The business meeting was adjourned and Mrs. Watson introduced one of the Guild members, Mrs. D. Leeming, who gave an interesting account of her recent trip to her old home in England after an absence of 25 years. She described many places of historical interest and passed around snapshots and postcards for all to see.

Mrs. D. Saunders thanked Mrs. Leeming and presided members. A small gift in appreciation of her interesting travelogue.

The meeting closed and refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. C. R. James and Mrs. R. Sillitoe.

Meetings will be held every Monday until the end of November.

Christ Church C.C. Has Busy Month

This month has been a busy one for the Contact Club, with a good attendance of members, prospective members and visitors at each meeting.

A rummage sale was held on a recent Friday evening with good results. The club served luncheon to the delegates of the A.Y.P.A. conference on Saturday under the convenership of Jeanne Jackson. A recent "open evening" was convened by Evelyn Warham and enjoyed by all. This Monday's meeting was a combined business and work night and a considerable amount of both was accomplished.

Curtains for the stage in the Parish Hall will be made in time for the Christmas activities and donations for this purpose from various organizations were solicited. The girls were reminded of the Christmas parcel to be sent to a School in the Caribbean Islands and were asked to bring in any toys and suitable gifts as soon as possible.

After the business session, the members divided into groups to work on various projects. There was something to interest everyone; knitting, sewing, and for the singing patterns for tiles, knitting and baby quilts.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Hostesses for this and recent meetings were, Evelyn Warham, Marcia Wiggins, Edna Nix, Betty Ling, Thelma Saunders, Marion Hince, Mary Fletcher, Joyce Woodley and Lois Beeby.

Lady Minnie Claxton Heads Royal Purple

The bi-monthly meeting of the Order of the Royal Purple was held Monday evening at the B.P.O. Elks Lodge rooms, Front Street.

Honored Royal Lady Thelma Fitzgibbon presided over the meeting.

A letter was received from Supreme Honored Royal Lady Mabel Redman, informing the ladies of the appointment of Lady Minnie Claxton, of Toronto, as new Supreme District Deputy, Charter Frame Donated

A frame for the lodge charter was kindly donated by Lady Connie Williams.

An appeal for donations to provide Christmas baskets for needy families in the city is now underway. Lady Ada Whaites is director of the project with Lady Blanche Blakely as chairman and Lady Nina Dulmage as secretary.

It was decided to sell a limited number of tickets for two lovely articles donated by Lady Sweeney.

The proceeds of this draw will be given to the Welfare Committee to assist them in their charitable undertakings.

Social Evening

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Should Parents Break Up A Teen-Age Romance?

I am one to be very, very cautious when it comes to teen-agers marrying in their teens. I am, even very hard to consider. Despite a teen-age romance is a thing of permanence and durability.

I do believe, however, that there are exceptional cases in which a great, lofty relationship will develop over the years into the kind of love on which successful marriages are built, and for this reason I believe parents should be very slow to break up a teen-age friendship on the ground that a son or daughter is "too young."

That is why I am sorry that the parents of the girl who writes the following letter took an end to her friendship with the boy she believed had won her heart in good. This very likely might not have been the case if the parents of the two should have left well enough alone to prove whether or not this was true. What happened was that Jill, as she tells it:

"About two years ago I fell in love with a boy who felt the same way about me.

"Because I was only 15, my parents first called it puppy love but finally they realized we were in love. So about each other and planning our future, so they interfered and broke up our friendship, refusing to allow us to see each other.

"I know we were too young, but after two years I still can't forget him, though I have tried everything including getting rid of his letters and his gifts.

"He is engaged now to a very nice girl, but his sister tells me they don't get along very well. I myself am going with a wonderful boy who loves me very much, but while I like him a lot, I don't love him. Perhaps I would if I could forget Bill.

"What can I do? I can't go to Bill, can I, as long as he's engaged to someone else? I don't know his address or I would have been tempted to write to him. Everyone tells me to forget him, but I just can't and I'm so sad about it and discouraged."

A Reasonable Waiting Period

As I have already said, I feel extremely sorry that this girl's parents took such a drastic way of handling her friendship with Bill. It would have been better if they had gone along with her in it, talking it over frankly with the two of them and coming to an agreement that the young people would not be married for, say, that if they felt the same about each other at the end of a reasonable waiting period which would bring them to the so-called years of discretion, then the parents would agree to the marriage.

All this long after the point, we must think along new lines.

And so, under present circumstances, if this "wonderful boy" with whom the girl is now engaged asks her to marry him, I think she should tell him that she will be very ready to commit herself and be modest enough to say just why, when she should wait awhile and see what happens about Bill. If he is pleased and happy in his engagement, but still thinks of her as though he thinks of him, he will probably get in touch with her again somehow. After all, this girl is still only 17, and the boy probably little older, and she can afford to wait quite awhile before deciding to marry anybody.

In the meantime, though I don't think she should make any effort to find out where Bill is so that she can write him, but just keep him in work out his problem. As I say if he still loves her, he will come back, and if he doesn't come back, then she will have to accept the fact that it has been just one of those experiences that frequently come to boys and girls in their early teens. Then she must have the character to put it all aside and give herself a chance to make a happy marriage later on.

Meals Wrecked

As I have frequently pointed out, it doesn't make much sense for anybody to say that he "can't stop," a person or an expression. Of course no one forgets something about which he has felt deeply. But that does not mean that remembering will always be acutely painful, or that life will forever after be empty. On the contrary, if we will refuse to keep telling ourselves that we "can't forget," so can never be happy again, time will do its good work and leave only the pleasant part of the memory, thus freeing a person for new and more satisfying experiences that will make life rich and full.

I won't this 17-year-old try to understand this while she is still young, so that no matter what happens as she grows older, she will always know something good is waiting just ahead for her?

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

When The Man-Of-The-Family's Done The Carving

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. What is the correct way to serve a roast when the man of the family is doing the carving? (Also should he carve the roast while sitting or standing?) Is it ever permissible to carve the roast in the kitchen, and bring it into the dining room already sliced?

2. My husband says it's my job to serve the pie or whatever the dessert is. I think it's up to him. What do you say?

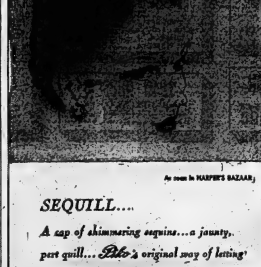
E.

1. If the host likes to carve, he'll probably be skilled at it, and the roast can be carved at table, family style. The platter with the roast is placed above the host's place, and the hot plates are placed in front of him. Usually, when there is a choice of cuts, the host asks the preference of each guest before he serves that guest's plate: "Do you prefer rare, medium, or well-done?" or, when carving chicken or turkey: "Light meat or dark?" The host may serve the vegetables and gravy on the plates with the meat, or these may be passed separately, in serving dishes, around the table.

As he passes each plate, he makes it clear for whom it is intended. "This is for you, Dorothy (or Mrs. Hall) . . . I hope it's just as you like it."

If the host prefers, he may carve the meat in the kitchen, placing the slices or portions on the heated platter, with serving fork and spoon. If the host does the carving on the sideboard in the dining room (as is sometimes done when the table might be too crowded to accommodate the roast platter), he is of course standing and often he stands when carving a turkey. But otherwise, he usually carves seated at table.

2. Your husband is right . . . you should serve the dessert.



There Should Be Direct Invitations To A Birthday Party

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Recently my husband's aunt (his stepfather's sister) gave a birthday party for her son. She called her sisters and in-laws and extended an invitation to them. She also asked my in-laws, and took it for granted that my husband and I would come along. Now I wonder if we should have gone to the party, or if we should have waited for an invitation. What do you think?

M.B.

If I were you I certainly wouldn't have gone to the birthday party without being given a direct invitation. Obviously the hostess knows very well how to give a direct invitation for you say she invited her sisters, her in-laws, and your in-laws personally by telephone. I'm wondering who told you that she "took it for granted that you and your husband would come along"? To me this weekly explanation sounds like a cover-up for what she did . . . or really what she didn't do.

Broccoli Savoy Slaw
Holiday Pie Coffee

Cecils are an old-fashioned dish that may be varied according to your supplies, your appearing or your time.

Last night we were all tired. I did not leave my desk until 5:30p.m. But I had planned to make Neapolitan Spaghetti, and found the package of noodles stored in a basement cupboard had become musty. (A fine admonition for a dietitian!) So, we switched to Cecils and quick-cooked rice. But I want to suggest to you Cecils with scalloped potatoes that do not curdle—the latter of which we had had the night before for dinner. So there was tasted or tasted at one meal or another, so that you will not be led astray.

Cecils

To 1 lb. ground beef add 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1-4 cup fine breadcrumbs, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon salt, and shape into 1-inch balls. Saute 1 finely chopped onion in 2 tablespoons fat in your frying-pan or Dutch oven until limp, then add the meat balls and saute them on all sides until golden. Add 3 cups (1 pint) fresh tomatoes or tomato juice or canned tomatoes, sprinkle with some additional salt and pepper, cover and simmer or bake at low temperature 1 hour. (It was late and we were hungry so we simmered ours 20 minutes, but longer-cooking would have made the sauce richer and thicker.)

Sara's Scalloped Potatoes

To serve-8 hungry people you will need 10 medium-sized potatoes. These potatoes were dug on the day these were made. That may be why they did not curdle. Pare and slice potatoes thinly and arrange a 1-inch layer in greased baking dish. Sprinkle over this some of the rings from 1 large Spanish onion, sprinkle with 1-3 teaspoon salt, a little freshly ground black pepper and 2 teaspoons flour. Repeat this layering three times until all of the potatoes are used and all of the rings from the Spanish onion are added. Down the side pour enough skim milk that you can just clearly under top layer of potatoes, but do not submerge all potatoes. Top with three tablespoons butter. Cover and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 1-2 to 2 hours. Dish should be large or these will boil over. Variation: Sprinkle ham may have to tilt the lid a little.

Savoy Slaw

Cut a Savoy cabbage in halves, flood it with water to wash out any lurking worms, dry well. Sharpen your best knife and shred down in 10 or 12 minutes of fine shredding. To serve six you should have at least four well-packed cups shredded cabbage. Add 2 cup-up hard-boiled tomatoes, 1-4 cup finely chopped parsley and about 1-3 cup mayonnaise.

Holiday Pie

Some of the readers in this audience have heard me tell about this pie. It is not my creation but is an open secret now. It is simply mince pie and pumpkin pie. You spread a layer of mincemeat in an unbaked pastry-shell. Over this you pour a half-mix of pumpkin pie filling and bake as you would a pumpkin pie until filling is set and golden.

Letter:

I am also a great follower of your recipes. . . . sohaone asked for Sweet Pickled Peppers. I have used the enclosed recipe successfully. It is delicious:

Sweet Pickled Peppers

(Contributed by Mrs. F. J. S.)
Wash small pimentoes or cut up large red or green sweet peppers in halves or quarters and take out seeds. Fill quart jars with them. Bring to boiling point 3 cups water, 3 cups brown sugar, 4 cups white vinegar. Pour this hot over peppers and seal tight.

Answer:

I hope there are still a few peppers to be bought as there are readers who are still in the preserving business at this late date. Thank you, Mrs. F. J. S.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMESON

There's Beauty In A Pleasant Voice

Strange a it may seem, it is not easy for a child to learn how to talk because a number of complex movements are necessary to form words and sentences. If a child's voice is not normal, if it has a harsh or rasping sound, there may be a physical reason for it. Enlarged tonsils and adenoids, says a specialist, may interfere with enunciation because they hold back the sound waves before they leave the larynx. But the condition can be corrected early in life.

In a woman, however, an unpleasant voice is a handicap. No matter how lovely she may be, how appealing her personality, how lively her mentality, a harsh or shrill voice is a detriment to her charm. Vocal lessons and lessons in public speaking are helpful—especially the former—since singing is an excellent form of respiratory exercise.

The shrill voice is especially irritating, but droning is equally distracting. The listener must be ever alert to catch every word.

Then who wishes to talk too long should mend her vocal ways. With her, words pile out so rapidly, one running into another, that nobody can get a word in edgewise. Usually this is the same type of woman who dramatizes herself and everything that happens to her. If she has a story to tell, you are in for it, since there is no stopping her.

Whiners are the worst of all, however. The hand of fate and everybody else's hand is raised against them—so they think. Their every thought is colored by their complaints. Their families suffer from the strain of listening to their voices. They are truly wet blankets.

One can develop a pleasing voice however—by following three simple rules: (1) Concentrate on the quality of the voice to produce pleasing cadences. (2): Refrain from pitching the voice too high and (3) Lower its volume. Try to keep to a middle register, reserving high and low tones for emphasis. Don't run your words together. Don't drop your ps. You know! The girl who says comin' and goin'. That's sloppy enunciation. Words should be spoken clearly and distinctly.

DRUNKEN SAILORS

GRAYS, England, (Reuter)—Eight British merchant seamen were fined a total equivalent to $260 Monday for their part in a wild party aboard a freighter off Bombay last August. The men pleaded guilty to 22 charges arising during a night aboard the 6,814-ton Lord Church in which the crew members ran wild aboard the ship in a drunken spree and attacked officers. They had broken into the ship's liquor cargo.

Mrs. G. McCubbin Elected District W. I. Chairman

Mrs. Gordon McCubbin of Wellington was elected chairman by the members of the Prince Edward district, at the district meeting in Hastings, Prince Edward and Northumberland, who met yesterday for the last day of their 57th annual Belleville district convention, which opened were at the Masonic Temple on Monday.

Appointed in office with Mrs. McCubbin will be the following honorary chairmen, Mrs. Carl W. Clancy of Harold; first vice-president, Miss Audrey Brickman of Carrying Place; second vice-president, Mrs. M. Rutherford of Colborne; third vice-president, Mrs. R. Robson of Hallowayy; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Harold Phillips of Belleville; assistant secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Roy Robinson of Belleville; board director, Mrs. E. Irwin of Campbellford; alternate, Mrs. R. Reid of Madoc; auditors, Mrs. F. E. Fiddle of Halloway and Mrs. Roy Bush of Stirling.

Committee Appointed

Various conveners elected were: agriculture and Canadian industries, Mrs. S. R. Reid of Madoc; citizenship and education, Mrs. John Keeling of Coniston; home economics and health, Mrs. Harry Collster of Foxboro; community and international relations, Mrs. T. M. Gresham of Colborne; historical research, Mrs. Fred Brown of Roseneath; publications, Mrs. Hilton Eagleson of Colborne; Canadian Institute activities, Miss Margaret Corfield of Quinte; auditor, Mrs. Gordon Hutchinson of Belleville.

Miss Ayden Brickman of Carrying Place presided during the morning session with Mrs. E. Purcell, president of FWIO, conducting the election and installation of officers. Mrs. R. E. Beatty was chairman of the nominating committee.

Mrs. Harry Collster of Foxboro gave the report on home economics and health. Mrs. Purcell led in a discussion of all reports presented.

Resolutions were read by Mrs. Hilton Eagleson of Colborne and Mrs. Gordon McCubbin of Wellington and discussed by Mrs. Purcell.

Wool Rather Cheese Prize.

An emergency resolution on cheese was put before the convention, which read in part as follows: "Be it resolved that this convention go on record as protesting the cost of production of wool with a reasonable profit added. The convention feels that the price of cheese was too low, leaving little or no profit for the farmer."

Anne V. Lewis, director of the Women's Institute Branches, brought the convention the departmental report. The number of WI branches in Ontario is at an all-time high 1,509, with a province-wide membership of well over 48,000.

Miss Lewis also reported on the loan library, the extension services carried on, and the magazine, "Home and Country," as well as highlights of the ACWW convention in Toronto. Music in the morning was provided by Prince Edward district members.

Women's Role.

"A woman's place is in the home but she should still make spare time to devote to civic matters, to broaden her knowledge of her community and the world, and use the rights granted her to best advantage. This was the thought brought to the convention by Mrs. R. W. T. Middleton of Bayside, who spoke at the closing session yesterday afternoon.

In the old days, the place of women was definitely in the home. They expressed it in the gentle and look decorative, and were generally handled as if they would break.

Today they are no longer the "weaker" sex, having fought for equal rights with men, they now stand with them as doctors, lawyers, engineers, and real estate agents.

"This is something that we in Canada ought to realize — although the franchise came easily here, we got it only through the hardships of our sisters of the Old Country," Mrs. Middleton said, as she related the story of the suffragettes, who were tired of being an ornamental decoration in their homes, and who felt they had a part to play in their country's affairs.

Applaud Full-time Work

The speaker felt it was bad for wives to work full time, especially wives who were making a larger salary than their husbands were.

"Women are still needed to spend most of their time in the home," she said. "To be a good wife is a very full-time job for most of us."

But with all the labor-saving devices available for use in the home today, there is a good deal of time left for women to take part in community activities, such as the W.I., to increase their knowledge and happiness.

"Women who have the right to vote and who don't use it, now that they have it, are letting down the sacrifice by the women of the past. Citizenship is a costly thing to win. We should remember this and never treat it lightly," the speaker emphasized.

"If we do not exercise our right to vote, it might happen one day when we are caught napping the right might be taken away from us," Mrs. Middleton said. "To merely possess rights is not to be a citizen. It is to act on the way to become one."

Rights are Opportunities

Rights are not rewards but opportunities, and when a woman uses these she is at once standing ground, so she may be able to do her duties as a citizen. Speech is a wonderful thing, but use it with discretion," Mrs. Middleton urged the convention.

"The real free man or woman is a developed man or woman."

In conclusion the speaker, urged the members to keep to your motto, "For Home and Country," keep to your fourth objective, and with God's help develop into better, happier and more useful citizens."

Mrs. Clarence Holmes, Belleville, introduced Mrs. Middleton, who was thanked by Mrs. M. Rutherford of Colborne, chairman of the afternoon session.

Mrs. T. M. Gresham, of Colborne, gave the report on contests, and "Let's Sing Together" was conducted by Mrs. J. T. Stine with Mrs. Charles Fair at the piano. At the close of the convention, the members and visitors were conducted on a tour of the County Home, through the courtesy of Mrs. R. Yerke.

On the reception committee for the day were: Mrs. W. J. Barling of Bonarlaw, and Mrs. John Reid of Trenton.

Taking The Road Back to Communism

The neutral commission of the U.N. has had to schedule more meetings in an effort to break the bottleneck, which has held up repatriation proceedings of retired Red Chinese and North Korean prisoners. Red members of the commission insist on use of force in bringing North Korean POW's to the repatriation tents and have given up trying to persuade the prisoners under the present restrictions of the neutral commission. Before the impasse, about a week ago, three Chinese and three North Koreans, who agreed to return to their former commands, were turned over to the Reds. Photo shows four of the six POW's cheering as they head back to communism. In the foreground, right, an Indian soldier waves the truck on.—Central Press Canadian.

'Unsafe Rate Of Speed' Says Coroner's Jury

OTTAWA (CP)—A coroner's jury Tuesday night blamed "an unsafe rate of speed" for the Oct. 11 train derailment near Gracefield, Que., that took the lives of the engineer and fireman.

Richard McNally of Ottawa, 57-year-old Canadian Pacific Railway engineer, and fireman Kenneth Learmonth, 21, of Smiths Falls, died after the accident 30 miles north of Ottawa.

Several passengers were injured. The locomotive plunged into the bush and one of the two passenger coaches turned on its side.

Mother Saves Three Children At Cannington

CANNINGTON, Ont. (CP)—A tiny woman swung a chair to smash a bedroom window, then climbed into the smoke-filled room and carried out her three young children.

The fire Tuesday in this Lindsay district destroyed the left Mrs. William Mulholland, 27, and her soldier-husband in Korea without a home for their family, without clothing and without household effects.

"I don't know what wakened me," said the four-foot, 11-inch, 100-pound Mrs. Mulholland. "All I could see were flames. As I rushed to the window, all I thought about was getting the children out."

She is credited with saving the lives of her daughter Leslie, 7, and sons Mike, 5, and Pat, 2.

Mrs. Mulholland and her children escaped in night attire. They lost even their shoes.

Neighbors provided temporary shelter and donated clothes and comforts.

WESLEY DISTRICT

WESLEY DISTRICT — The regular meeting of the Wesley - White's Young People's was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Toll, Trent Road.

The election of officers for the coming year took places, as follows: President, Mary Burnett; vice-president, Leona Wallis; secretary, Joan Shoemaker; treasurer, Robert Burnett.

The devotional portion was in charge of Susan Ghent and Joan Shoemaker.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mary Burnett. The meeting closed with taps.

Y.P.U. Convention

The Bay of Quinte Conference Y.P.U. held its 25th. annual convention in Peterborough from October Eight to 25th. Approximately 400 delegates gathered in George St. United Church, Peterborough, to hear such interesting speakers as Rev. A. K. MacKenzie, B.A., Albert College, Belleville, and Miss. Kettles, of Ottawa.

The delegates were the guests of the citizens of Peterborough. On Saturday afternoon they were taken for a tour of the city. It was interesting to note that the Belleville Presbytery had the largest number of delegates at the convention.

The Wesley - White's Y.P.U. was represented by Mary Burnett, Lorna Wallis, Marie Church, Jim Wallis and Robert Burnett.

Anniversary Services

Wesley United Church was fittingly decorated with beautiful potted chrysanthemums on the occasion of its anniversary services on Sunday. Rev. Duncan McTavish, of Bridge Street United Church, Belleville, gave inspiring messages, both morning and evening.

Several musical numbers were contributed by the choir. Friends from Centenary and White's also joined with them in making a happy occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. George Davis, of the Bay of Quinte Tourist Court, are spending a vacation touring the southern States.

11,000 Persons Pack Gardens To View Ballet

TORONTO (CP)—More than 11,000 persons packed Maple Leaf Gardens last night to applaud the Sadler's Wells Ballet Company of London in the first full-length presentation in Canada of "The Sleeping Beauty."

The company and its premier ballerina, Margot Fonteyn, gave a flawless performance of the Tchaikovsky ballet in the unfamiliar surroundings of a hockey arena.

The ballet was produced by Nicholas Sergeyev after the original choreography by Marius Petipa. The elaborate costumes and scenary are the work of Oliver Messel.

Miss Fonteyn, who visited in 1949 and 1951, danced the old fairy story with the brilliance and grace that have won her acclaim as the world's greatest ballerina.

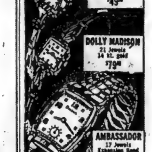
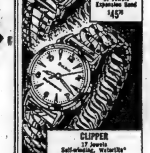
The stage, running almost the entire width of the arena, was extended over a third of the rink area and blocked off 2,500 of the Gardens' 13,586 seats. An extra 1,400 were arranged in tiers before the stage, first erected for Metropolitan Opera performances.

The company is in the eighth week of a 20-week tour which began in New York.



PERCH PLENTIFUL



GODERICH (CP)—Fishermen at Goderich hauled perch in by the basketfull for the second week-end in a row. Hundreds of anglers thronged the harbor walls and the breakwaters. They emptied lunch hauled in perch so fast they forgot about the cold, windy weather.

Only One Woman Mine President In United States

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—The only woman in the United States who also is president of a coal-mining company is Mrs. Lillian Gildroy.

President of the Bair - Collins Coal Co. of Roundup, Mont., she is an attractive, greying lady with so much charm she should run for office. Which she has, and therefore is mayor of Roundup (pop. 4,000).

There once was a superstition that it was bad luck for a woman to go into a mine, and probably most people still think it's strictly a man's world. But that's because most people never heard of Bair-Collins, a company with some 50 employees and an annual business of between $700,000 and $800,000.

Bair-Collins has only five stockholders. All are women.

It wasn't planned that way, Mrs. Gildroy told a press conference set up as a part of U.S. National Coal Association's annual convention here.

When Charley Bair died, he left his stock to his two daughters. When Fred Collins died, his widow and daughter got his stock. None of these has taken an active part in running the company.

REGLAN AS STENOGRAPHER

Certainly Mrs. Gildroy had no idea, when she started with the company as a stenographer in 1922, that a stockholders' meeting eventually would be started, "ladies only."

In 1923 she married the mine superintendent, Gilbert Gildroy. By 1939 she was secretary-treasurer. Gildroy was elected president. When he died last year, she became president.

The all-feminine show will break up eventually, Mrs. Gildroy said. For instance, her son, Richard, is now with the company, and she assumes he some day will be a stockholder.

Mrs. Gildroy said being a woman coal mine operator presents no particular problems. She regularly goes into the mine, and the men don't object.

"I know them all," she said. "They like to have me there. At least, that's what they say."

Central Ontario W. I. Members Meet in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Health Minister Phillips will be the opening speaker at the central Ontario area Women's Institute 51st convention in the Royal York Hotel Nov. 4-6.

Agriculture Minister Thomas will address the luncheon meeting Thursday. S. G. Hazell of the Canadian Handicraft Guild of Ontario will speak in the evening.

Vellore Junior Institute and Junior Farmers (West York) will demonstrate square dancing and Beaverton Women's Institute will present an international pageant. Anna P. Lewis, institute director, will give an illustrated address Wednesday evening.

STIRLING

Rt. Wor. H. W. Sabine Pays Official Visit

STIRLING — Last Thursday evening Rt. Wor. Bro. H. W. Sabine, of Marmora, District Deputy Grand Master of Prince Edward District, paid his official visit to Stirling Lodge, A.F. and A.M., No. 69, G.R.C.

A turkey dinner was served by the ladies of St. John's Anglican Church at 7 p.m. in the community hall with some 140 in attendance. Mr. Gerald Taylor entertained with two piano accordion selections.

Following the dinner, Wor. Bro. R. H. West presided and following the "Queen" called on Rt. Wor. Bro. E. A. Carleton, PDDGM, to propose a toast to the Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario.

In responding to this toast, Rt. Wor. Bro. Sabine voiced his appreciation of the honor bestowed on him and referred briefly to the work of several of the more important committees of Grand Lodge.

Masonry Fundamental

"The belief in the existence of a Supreme Being is one of the fundamentals of Masonry," stated Rt. Wor. Bro. Sabine, and "one can find help for all conditions by turning to Him in times of trouble."

He urged the practice of true brotherhood, the use of the Holy Bible and the adoption of the Golden Rule as a means of improving world conditions.

"By striving to attain the highest in Masonry we would always find something new, something worthwhile."

In closing he reminded his listeners, that "Masonry, while not a religion, provoked the best in man."

Rt. Wor. Bro. R. E. Fox proposed a toast to the visitors, which was responded to by visiting brethren later in the lodge room.

The Junior Warden's toast was proposed by Bro. C. E. West, after which the members retired to the lodge room where the officers conferred the Fellowcraft Degree on a candidate.

Dr. Tossel Gives Talk on 'Corn'

STIRLING — The members of the South Hastings 4-H Grain Corn Club with club leader, Harold Detlor, were the guests of the Rotary Club of Stirling, at the weekly dinner meeting of Stirling Hotel, on Tuesday night.

President A. D. Dalrymple was in the chair and Dr. W. E. Tossel, Professor of Field Husbandry Department, Ontario Agricultural College, was the guest speaker.

The standing in the Grain Corn Club, which was sponsored by the Rotary Club, was Robert Mallory, Douglas Detlor, Robert Burkitt, Ross Moorcroft, Dale Balmanno, Robert Bush, Lyall Leavens, Larry Mitz, Harold Harris, Joe Summers.

The standing on exhibits was as follows: R. Mallory, R. Bush, R. Burkitt, D. Detlor, R. Moorcroft, H. Harris, L. Mitz, D. Balmanno, L. Leavens and J. Summers.

"Corn"

Introduced by Rotarian Carl Bateman, Dr. Tossel gave an interesting talk on "Corn." He traced the development of this well known crop and told many interesting facts concerning it.

The thanks of the club were voiced by Rotarian Harold Wells.

Iron Lung or Respirator Key Weapon Against Polio

By ART BEYDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—Polio victims in iron lungs can see the ceiling and a manufacturer's lobby—but that's about all.

The iron lung or respirator, is a key weapon against polio. It is an unwieldy cylinder as large as a bathtub. With attachments it breathes, coughs and spits for patients whose chest muscles are paralyzed.

At the forward end of the lung is the opening—doctors call it the port—for a patient's head supported on the outside by a tiny platform. The lower end of the cylinder pulsates slowly in and out, moved by a lever arrangement geared to a tiny motor. The moving section is flexible leather.

DUAL ACTION

Motion of the lung has a dual effect. As it moves in, pressure on the patient's diaphragm expels the air from the human lungs. Moving out, the sucking action expands the chest and fills the lungs. The speed is controlled by the motor.

Plastic windows in the side of the cylinder allow attendants to see the patient's body. Three ports in each side permit linen changing and other attention.

To get first-hand information about the iron lung I recently spent about 10 minutes in one at King George Hospital, centre of Manitoba's fight against the crippling disease. More than 2,000 cases have been reported in the province this year.

Ports at the lung are lined with sponge rubber to keep the respirator airtight. As I climbed in and inserted my head through the forward port I had a choking sensation as the sponge closed round my throat. With the lung operating I found difficulty in breathing until I relaxed and let the lung breathe for me.

A normal person eliminates irritating matter in his throat and chest by coughing. This is impossible for the chest-paralyzed polio patient.

FUEL RATIONING IN LONDON, ENG.

The wildcat strike of truckers delivering gasoline is petering out in London, Eng., but many motorists still are short of fuel. This station restricts the sale of fuel to those in preferred categories — doctors with midwatched.

makes it impossible for them to clear phlegm from their lower windpipe. This requires a tracheotomy. In this operation the throat is opened near the base and a tube inserted to permit breathing. Phlegm is cleared from the windpipe by means of a suction machine. This is one of the reasons why patients must be constantly

A tracheotomy causes air to bypass the voice box, which is higher in the throat, and speech is impossible. When a patient wants to summon a nurse he forces air roughly through his teeth, producing as noise between a rasp and a gurgle. It is not an uncommon sound in the crowded King George wards.

As the patient improves and can go for longer periods without the removal of phlegm the tube in his throat is plugged—with a common golf tee, inserted sharp end first.

CHEST RESPIRATORS

Patients whose chest muscles have sufficiently recovered to allow them out of the iron lung are aided in breathing by chest respirators.

These consist of plastic bubbles which fit over the patient's chest like an old armor breastplate.

The bubbles are attached to a pump and motor by rubber tubes.

The action is the same as that of the iron lung, a suction or negative pressure on the diaphragm alternated with a positive pressure to keep the lungs expanding and contracting.

At the start of the polio epidemic in Manitoba this year the King George had about 10 iron lung patients from other outbreaks. Quick action by authorities, including a flight by an RCAF aircraft to the manufacturer's plant at Boston, brought many machines.

At one point, there were 31 lung cases in the hospital. Authorities predict that the epidemic will leave between 40 and 50 chronic lung cases in King George.

The answer is a machine, hooked by a hose connection to one of the lung's side ports. This "coughter" sucks air from the respirator, thereby expanding and filling the patient's lungs. It is tripped by an electro-magnetic device allowing air to rush into the machine, reversing the pressure and causing a cough.

Britain Refuses To Let Remains Of Man Go Home

DUBLIN (Reuters)—Britain has refused once again, as she has during 37 years, to let the remains of Sir Roger Casement go home for burial at Murlough Bay in county Antrim.

The London government's latest refusal was made known in the Dail Eireann by Conchs O'Brien, spokesman for Prime Minister Eamon de Valera.

Persistently since Aug. 3, 1916, when Casement was hanged in England as a traitor, Irish nationalists have pleaded that the bones be laid in a grave made ready for him 37 years ago in the tiny cemetery at Murlough Bay.

De Valera made the latest appeal to Britain during a recent visit to London.

Before the bearded, fiery-eyed Casement was hanged at Pentonville prison, he said: "when they've done with me, don't let my bones lie in this dreadful place, take me back to Murlough to lie there."

But when his body was cut down from the gallows and buried in the prison yard beside scores of murderers in unmarked graves for it is an English law that condemned men's bodies shall rest where they are hanged.

British officials, through the years, have insisted that removal of Casement's bones would set a "difficult precedent." But many have argued that the remains should be handed over to improve Anglo-Irish good-will. In a House of Commons debate in 1936 one Scots member of Parliament said: "Britain let France get back Napoleon's remains from St. Helena—why can't Eire have the bones of Sir Roger?"

If the Republic of Ireland ever wins the fight, Casement's remains undoubtedly will be sent to Dublin for a lying-in-state. A bust of Casement now stands in the National Gallery of Ireland.

KNIGHTED IN 1911

Casement was knighted in 1911 for his good offices in the British consular service. But in 1916, during the First World War, he went to Germany and apparently was much favored by the Kaiser's government.

On Good Friday, 1916, he landed from a German submarine on a lonely spot on the Irish coast near Tralee, in a boat crammed full of pistols and ammunition. Soon after, that the Sinn Fein rebellion began. Casement was sent to England where he was convicted of conniving with the Germans to stir up the revolution against them.

The Irish now are seeking an order of mandamus in London courts directing the governor of Pentonville prison and the sheriff of London to hand over Casement's remains.

Leaders of Largest Farm And Labor Groups in U.S. Urge Freer Trade Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The heads of the biggest labor and farm organizations in the United States urged the government today to push ahead with reciprocal trade programs in the interest of U. S. prosperity as well as that of friendly countries.

George Meany, president of the American Federation of Labor, said 3,000,000 Americans—2,000,000 in industry, transportation and trade and 1,000,000 in agriculture —"depend on exports for their livelihood." He termed "sheer nonsense" statements that some 5,000,000 American workers might have their jobs endangered by competitive imports.

Allan B. Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, urged that the trade-easing agreements be sought as a means of combatting the fall of U. S. farm prices. The drop in agricultural exports, he said, "has already had serious consequences."

BOTH URGE IMPORT CUTS

Both recommended that offers to cut tariffs be part of the U. S. bargaining, but that other hindrances to international trade be attacked also.

Their testimony was prepared for President Eisenhower's commission on foreign economic policy.

Meany said U. S. farmers and business men have been selling $15,000,000,000 Worth of goods abroad annually, but "these exports have already begun to decline." If markets shrink further, "our business and employment activity will be hard hit."

Labor accepted "as inevitable" the decline of government-financed exports under foreign aid programs, but "our only plea . . . is that the curtailment be made gradually and with full awareness of the necessities of mutual defence."

KEEP SOME CONTROLS

The AFL president said some safeguards must be maintained for U. S. industry if imports are greatly increased, but contended that "the bulk of our imports comes in raw or unmanufactured form" and "possible hardship is likely to be the exception."

Kline said the marked export decline has started "a spiral of developments including large surpluses, falling farm prices, reduced farm income and drastic

Howe Opposes Federal Loans To Farmers on Unsold Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Trade Minister Howe has indicated he is opposed to the federal government "getting into the business of lending money on farm-stored grain" to western farmers faced with a glut of unsold wheat.

He said the producers received a greater measure of aid through the government's recently-announced decision to distribute $100,000,000 in wheat board payments for 1952 western grain crops.

In a speech at the annual meeting of the Manitoba Wheat Pool Tuesday night, the trade minister said that farmers' requests for loans on the security of grain stored on farms were receiving "most careful consideration."

NO GRAIN LOANS

"I shall not anticipate the final decision of the government and Parliament on these proposals," he said. "It does seem to me, however, that in the interests of all concerned, it would be better if we could avoid getting into the business of lending money on farm-stored grain."

Referring to the recent distribution of wheat board payments, Mr. Howe said:

"Nothing the government could have done to ease the farmers' immediate financial position could possibly compare in importance with this early distribution of $100,000,000 from the 1952 crop."

BAD LOANS

He recalled that the government two years ago provided for up to $20,000,000 in loans on Prairie crops which couldn't be harvested because of snow.

"In fact only $625,000 of loans were made, and I regret to say that some of those loans are still outstanding."

Mr. Howe predicted that before the end of the current crop year next July 31, Canada would be selling "very substantial" quantities of wheat to the United Kingdom despite that country's decision to stay out of the International Wheat Agreement.

Liberals Named Conservative To Run for One of Vacancies In Saskatchewan Legislature

REGINA (CP)—Two by-elections in strongholds of the Saskatchewan Liberal party are being held today in Eastern and South-Eastern ridings.

But the party which formed the first government in the province 48 years ago can only retain one.

The Liberals nominated two candidates. One if successful will give the 52-seat legislature its only Progressive Conservative member. Present standing is CCF 42, Liberals nine and two vacant.

The Liberal party gave up its claim to South-Eastern by nominating Robert Kobaly, 33-year-old lawyer and a Progressive Conservative.

If elected, he will be his party's second representative in the Saskatchewan legislature in 38 years.

Polls opened today at 8 a. m. and closed 8 p. m. MST.

The by-elections were called to replace two top Liberal members. The death of J. E. McCormack, party whip, in an automobile accident last winter made a by-election in South-Estevan necessary. Liberal leader Walter Tucker resigned in Rosthern to contest successfully the April election in that riding.

Mr. Kobaly is opposed in South-Estevan by CCF candidate William Schlegan, 30-year-old teacher. Three candidates are contesting Rosthern: John Thiessen, 47-year-old farmer for the CCF; Liberal Samuel Carr, rural municipal secretary for Warman, and Social Crediter Martin Kelln, 34-year-old farmer and first vice-president of the provincial organization.

Main issues in both ridings has been "the CCF candidates' record for election on the government's record and opposition conditions that the legislature has too many government supporters.

Wreckage of Jet Fighter Found Near North Bay

NORTH BAY (CP)—The wreckage of a CF-100 jet fighter, missing since Tuesday night, was found early today seven miles northwest of Restoul. The pilot and navigator were killed.

A search party found the wreckage with the help of members of the ground observers corps in the area after a resident of the area reported seeing a flash and hearing an explosion Tuesday night.

Eyewitnesses said the plane was demolished. The mangled body of the pilot was identified by an identification tag. The body of the navigator has not yet been located.

Names of the two men are being withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

COMMITS SUICIDE

BOURNEMOUTH, Eng. (Reuters)—A 15-year-old schoolboy committed suicide over a theft of four pence, it was stated at his inquest here Monday. Police had questioned Peter Harrison and another boy about money stolen from a church offertory box, and they were scheduled for an appearance in juvenile court. Last Friday Harrison was found hanging from a tree.

Scottish Soldier Throttled Dancer Who Taunted Him

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — Pte. Hammond Gillon, 24, today was sentenced to eight years imprisonment for manslaughter in the death of an Eurasian dance hostess.

The Scottish soldier admitted throttling the girl, Doreen Perlera, 22, after she hurled obscene taunts at him and danced before him half-naked.

Defence counsel David Marshall Tuesday depicted Gillon as a lonely young soldier, his wife in Scotland, being "teased" by the wiles of a dance hostess and part-time prostitute who had made up her mind to marry him.

Justice Murray Buttrose told Gillon before sentencing him: "The jury has taken a very merciful view of your crime. I hope that in the years following your release from prison you will insure that the quality of mercy shown by the jury was not strained.'

EX-PRINCESS ROBBED

TOKYO (Reuters) — A burglar broke into the home of former Princess Yori and her farmer husband, Takamasa Ikeda, today, a few hours after Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako arrived for a visit. The burglar alarm at the farm brought armed police from nearby Okayama city rushing to the house. They arrested a suspect with a silver jewel box.

Prime Minister Outlines Position To Newspaper

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent says he is following Canadian practice in choosing a speaker in the House of Commons. He outlined his position in a letter to the Ottawa Journal.

In an editorial Oct. 17, the Journal said the prime minister announced after a cabinet meeting that Rene Beaudoin "will be the next speaker of the House of Commons."

Mr. Beaudoin is Liberal member for Vaudreuil-Soulanges and was deputy speaker in the last Parliament.

The paper asked if it were not "a disregard or denial" of what Parliament enacts "for the prime minister to inform the country that he has chosen a speaker for the Commons just as though he were choosing an ordinary civil servant."

It was "customary" in the British House of Commons "for the speaker to be looked upon as the choice of the House." The mover and seconder of the motion for his appointment were always private members.

PM SAYS MISTAKEN

Mr. St. Laurent replied:

"Your article, . . . is based upon an incorrect representation of what actually took place about the speakership. . . .

He said that after a cabinet meeting Oct. 14 he was asked by reporters to announce what decisions had been reached.

"I said that I intended to move that Mr. Rene Beaudoin be the next speaker . . . I was very careful to point out that this election was one that had to be made by the House itself."

Mr. St. Laurent said that the leader of the Opposition, Hon. George Drew, told him he could be happy to second the motion for the appointment.

The prime minister said that ever since Confederation, the Canadian practice has been the government leader to move the motion for the appointment of a speaker.

Rev. A. E. MacKenzie Gives Special Sermon

By MRS. PERCY MacMULLEN

RAWDON—Rev. A. E. Mackenzie B.A., principal of Albert College, Mrs. MacKenzie, the faculty of Albert College and the entire student body attended the Sunday service at St. Paul's United Church, Stirling.

The college choir, under the leadership of Mr. J. H. MacKay, sang several hymns. A group of St. Paul's senior and junior choirs contributed an anthem as well.

Principal MacKenzie delivered a special sermon, "The Eternal Living Christ."

Principal MacKenzie said that the purpose for which colleges exist is to process education in the framework of Christian truth.

Following the service the guests were entertained at about 50 homes in the Stirling district.

FRANKFORD

FRANKFORD, — Mrs. Fred Ashby and Bonnie were Wednesday visitors of her parents in Brooklin.

Mr. Rick Rogers, of Hamilton, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rogers, Sr.

A birthday party was held at the home of Mrs. Harold Rogers for her daughter, Mrs. Lonnie Reilly, on Thursday afternoon.

Convicted Of Cowardice In Korean Battle

Fusilier Patrick Lydon, 26, is shown after his trial at Catterick barracks, England, where a court martial convicted him of cowardice. He was charged with cringing at the bottom of a trench while his comrades in Korea fought a desperate battle with the Reds in 1951. This was the first such case in the British army for more than 30 years. Lydon, a repatriated POW, was sentenced to a year in prison and dishonorable discharge.'— Central Press Canadian.

Demand Apology For Word 'Nigger'

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Labor Council (CIO-CCL) Monday night demanded a public apology from general manager W. P. P. Duncan of the Toronto Transportation Commission for using the word "nigger" on the program "Press Conference" over the CBC television station here, CBLT, Oct. 21.

The council also asked assurance from the TTC that Mr. Duncan's remarks did not reflect a discriminatory hiring policy by the commission.

Mr. Duncan said Monday night his remark "was entirely without prejudice. To me 'nigger' is just the Latin for black. To me it is common slang I've been accustomed to all my life. I didn't know it had any derogatory meaning."

The TTC chairman also said the commission's employment policy was free from racial discrimination.

Fight Dreary, Crowd Weary, Win for Shirai

By JIM BECKER

TOKYO (AP) — World flyweight champion Yoshio Shirai Tuesday turned back the challenge of Lourdes "Dado" Allen in 15 dreary rounds that were heavy on clinches and light on action.

The decision was unanimous.

The referee scored the fight. In Japan's complicated system, 148-136 for Shirai. One judge had it 150-136, the other 150-136. The Associated Press card gave Shirai nine rounds, Allen four and rated two even.

It was a dismal fight. Two more reluctant battlers probably never tangled for a world crown.

Until Shirai opened up in the last three rounds the crowd of 30,000 sat on their hands.

For the first 111 rounds the referee was the busiest man in the ring as he broke up a series of clutches between the fighters.

Early in the fight for the 112-pound crown Allen forced what action there was, but Shirai landed the solid blows. However, the champion seemed reluctant to follow up.

The champion weighed 110¼, the challenger the flyweight limit of 112.

O.E.S. Sponsors Tea-Bazaar

MADOC — Mrs. Grant Fraser's home, Madoc, was the setting for an interesting and attractive bazaar and tea on Saturday afternoon that was sponsored by the Madoc Chapter, No. 143, O.E.S.

The spacious rooms were decorated with autumn flowers, chrysanthemums and marigolds in profusion. The tea table was tastefully appointed with a lace cloth centred by a bowl of white and tinted 'mums and silver candelabars with white tapers.

Ladies pouring tea were: Mrs. Munro, Mrs. J. Reid, Mrs. S. Ashley and Mrs. C. Whytock.

E. T. Noyles, who was in charge, was ably assisted in serving by Mrs. R. Dafoe, Mrs. K. Nicol and Mrs. Kel Kincaid.

Welcoming the guests were Mrs. P. Derry, W.M., Mrs. Fraser, and assisting was Mrs. Barton.

The homecooking table, well laden with delectable cakes, pies, tarts, was in charge of Mrs. P. Kilpatrick and Mrs. M. R. English.

The handicraft table, laden with boxes of lovely work, was ably looked after by Mrs. R. N. Broad and Mrs. Donnelly. Mrs. Lloyd handled the white elephant table. Others assisting were: Mrs. A. Franks, Mrs. George Hill, Mrs. L. Blue, Mrs. D. Miller and Mrs. Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reid, of Chapleau, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Wilson, of Renfrew, visited Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Brown during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Al May and family, of Toronto, visited Mrs. May's mother, Mrs. Cochran, during the week-end.

Graduates of National Defence College Are 'War Brain Trust'

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — The smallest college in Canada, located here, has no campus, professors or football team; and its students write no exams, though they all pass.

The college is concerned only with how to conduct total war. Its graduates are a "war brain trust."

Objective of the National Defence College is the education of senior officers of the armed forces and civil government departments in the principles of higher governmental administration.

BROAD TRAINING

The college's "prospectus" says students are trained to become "thoroughly versed" in inter-service and inter-departmental planning, including the political and economic aspects of the organization for the control direction of war. . . and so become qualified to take their places on the staff and inter-d epa r t m e n t a l committees which are the essential part of the machinery for planning and directing the nation's effort in modern war."

The content of the college courses is highly secret. In fact, Air Vice Marshal C. R. Dunlap, the 1954-55 commandant, refused to give a reporter even an example of a theoretical problem to study except the students might be asked to work out.

Suppose, for instance, is entitled "the nature of future warfare." Details say: existence of the atomic and hydrogen bombs probably will alter the nature of warfare.

The students have access to topsecret information on most aspects of Canada's ability to wage war: Production, location of any war plant; how quickly army divisions could be mobilized. Secret documents from defence headquarters and other government departments are kept under guard.

27 STUDENTS

The college does not set defence policy. Its 27 students are told what the policy is and how it would be carried out. Occasionally, an outstanding idea or synopsis of a given situation is sent to defence headquarters.

The present course, seventh since the college opened in 1948, runs from Sept. 1 to July 31. There is a six-man staff, composed of the commandant, four directors and an adjutant. The lecturers are government officials, business leaders, university professors and senior officers of the armed forces of Canada, United States and Commonwealth. They come here individually to give possibly only one lecture or perhaps two or three.

The hand-picked students—some 130 men have been graduated by the college so far—are the cream of the crop in government and the three armed services. They are not taught so much as they learn from each other through discussion and from research.

Students are mostly men in their 30s—some are older—who in the event of war would play a major part in mobilization of manpower and industry, planning and co-ordination between the military and civil branches of government.

REPRESENTATIVE BODY

Present student body breaks down this way: Five from the Canadian Army, four RCAF, two Canadian Navy, two external affairs, one British Army, one Royal Navy, one U.S. Army, one U.S. Navy, one RCMP, one CBC, one British foreign service, one U.S. foreign service, and one each from the Canadian departments of transport, trade and commerce, resources and development, defence production, defence research and National Research Council.

The present course is studying Canadian government; foreign affairs, including Communist aims and policies; nature of future warfare; Canadian economy; Canadian foreign policy; joint planning; major war organization of defence co-ordination; Canadian defence policy.

The students will make at least three tours. One week is to the United Nations and National War College in Washington; three weeks in Canada and U.S.; eight weeks in Europe and the Middle East, with emphasis on North-Atlantic treaty nations. Abroad, the students study what contributions Canada's allies could make to total war and how Canada could help them. They hear talks from senior government and military officials in the countries they visit.

Recent lecturers here have been an economic expert from the Bank of Canada, the Australian high commissioner in Canada, the chairman of the Danish chiefs of staff committee, the commander-in-chief of the Royal Navy's Mediterranean fleet and the vice-chiefs of the U.S. armed forces. What they said doesn't go outside the college.

The college works closely with the Imperial Defence College in Britain and the U.S. National War College. Air Vice Marshal Dunlap is a graduate of the National War College.

SCIENTIFIC PROBLEMS

Students are given specific problems to work out in "syndicates" of six or seven men. Their information is gleaned from various sources: The lectures; a 15,000-volume library on military and political science and economic and international affairs; 200 different daily, weekly or monthly periodicals; the secret library containing some 400 documents; and themselves, as each student is an expert in his particular field before he comes to the college.

Their "homework" at talking are along these general lines: The history of Canada's defence; political factors affecting Canadian defence and war potential; the international scene and Canada's part in it; the influence of scientific development on war; the inter-relation of the armed services with each other and with other departments of government; and the principles of higher command and staff duties in war and peacetime planning.

The students are on leave of absence from their regular jobs and draw regular service pay or civilian salaries. Fifteen live in barracks of the Canadian Army Staff College, which shares with the defence college walled Fort Frontenac, built in 1673. Ten others live out.

All students wear civilian clothes as does the staff. They work mostly in shirt-sleeved groups around open-collared tables, dragging on pipes and cigarets.

"We pick each other's brains all the time," one student said. "It's amazing what you learn."

RAWDON

RAWDON—Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mrs. Marguerite McMuller, nieces Ruth Sharpe and Ruth Levi were delegates on Friday to the Shilling-Rawdon and Marmora Counties of Christian Education annual convention, held this year in St. John's Church of England, Shilling.

A large number of folk from all over Rawdon Township attended the cooking school sponsored by St. John's Ladies' League. Mrs. Stanley Williams, Mount Pleasant, was a basket of groceries and Mrs. Douglas Campbell a money prize.

A quilting was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Jetts when two quilts were completed for Mrs. Carl Dunbar. The event was held under the auspices of Mount Pleasant W.M.S. Supply Department, under the leadership of Mrs. Gordon Linn.

Rev. N. M. Sewage, of Kingston, is to be the special guest speaker at Mount Pleasant United Church anniversary services Sunday, November 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wannamaker, Mrs. Charles Hoard, Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mr. Clifford Hubble and son, Gordon, have all been busy at Hubble Hill cemetery during the past week. Perennials have been planted, rough spots filled in with earth, and a general autumn overhaul, and everything is now most presentable.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest MacDonald, Norwood, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Johnson.

INVALIDS BELOVED

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (CP) Pope Pius told a group of American invalids here Monday that they are especially beloved by Christ and the Virgin Mary because "the grace that has been granted to you is that of suffering for Christ's sake, not merely believing in him." The American group, on stretchers and wheelchairs, attended the audience at the papal summer residence as the first national pilgrimage of invalids to the shrines of Europe.

Terrain Is Enemy in Indo-China

Caught in a mud-and-water trap in rice paddy near Ninh-Binh, Indo-China, soldiers struggle to extricate their jeep. They are among the troops engaged in "Operation Mouette," a new French offensive against Communist positions. Despite terrain handicaps, French units are reported repelling Vietminh forces in hill fighting.—Central Press Cable Photo.

Trees Survive Defoliation

OTTAWA — Questions are frequently asked as to what happens to trees when leaves are removed by tent caterpillars or other leaf-eating insects as occurred last spring.

The Forest Biology Division of the Department of Agriculture in Ottawa reports that experiments in the control of defoliation of trees and observations of natural defoliation have suggested broad-leaved trees will survive complete loss of foliage for two or more successive years, regardless of the time of year defoliation occurs. Recent experiments in the Maritime provinces indicate beech is an exception. Removal of leaves in late June and early July was not followed by growth of new foliage and the next spring some of the beech trees were dead and others were in poor condition.

In contrast, birch and poplar have produced a second crop of foliage the year of defoliation and satisfactory growth the following spring, provided dormant buds have not been removed. Defoliation in late summer caused less damage on all trees. The capacity to survive defoliation is largely directly related to the capacity to produce a second crop of foliage.

Among the conifers, ability to survive defoliation depends upon its character and extent. In the majority of coniferous species, one complete defoliation will kill trees. Loss of new growth only, even if accompanied by killing of buds, may be tolerated for as many as four or five years before death of the tree results. Normally, if defoliation of balsam fir by the spruce budworm. Partial loss of old growth only, without killing of buds, may be tolerated for considerable periods, as in the case of spruce defoliated by the European spruce sawfly. Many trees in eastern Canada have withstood partial defoliation of the old growth for six or more consecutive years.

42,000 ALCOHOLICS

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario has upwards of 42,000 alcoholics, the Alcoholism Research Foundation said Sunday night. The foundation reached that figure on the basis of a survey in an unnamed county selected because its proportion of rural to urban citizens is approximately the same as that of the province as a whole.

JUDGE FATALLY INJURED

OTTAWA (CP)—Judge John P. Madden was fatally injured Sunday night when his car went out of control and crashed on Highway 17, 30 miles east of Ottawa. He was judge of Carleton county. Judge Madden came to Ottawa from Western Canada as counters by mid-afternoon and

Bringing Up Baby
Hints Collected by Mrs. Ann Cochran (Mother of 3)
One of the most important things for the new mother to realize is that a baby likes to eat. The primary job is not to make baby eat, but to let him eat. His single food is worth a so-called "scow", and many foods are satisfactory substitutes for one another. Without pressure on mom's part, most tots will acquire a taste for the variety of foods instead of developing a distaste for certain foods.

A good start. New babies' first solid food is often cereal. And there's a sound reason why many doctors suggest Gerber's Cereals as a starter. Because Gerber's Cereals are the "good-feeling" texture and mild, delicious flavors that appeal to the very young. Fortified with valuable minerals and vitamins they also supply baby with important nutritional elements. For your convenience: Gerber's Cereals are precooked and ready to serve! Mix in hot milk or formula. For flavor variety rotate all five: Mixed, Rice, Barley, Oatmeal and Wheat.

Sweet story. Wee ones develop a sweet tooth all too easily. So, should not be encouraged with concentrated sweets like candy or cake. But treats are those that have a low sugar content, yet taste good, and provide nourishment too. Gerber's Strained Puddings offer interesting variety, with Fruit, Cereal, Pineapple Custards, and Custard Pudding.

Cover-up stuff. By sewing tape markers on one side of Baby's blankets you make sure the clean side always goes next to baby.

Heroism in Vain

Fire Captain W. D. Skeen (hand on rope) and engineer D. L. Wilson lower the body of Charles England, 65, after he was stricken with a heart attack while painting a radio tower 400 feet above Santa Barbara, Calif. Pedestrians watched Harold Wilford, England's partner, cling desperately to the top of the tower in the hope the stricken man until help arrived. Wilford wept when he learned that his struggle to keep England from falling had been in vain.—Central Press Canadian.

Make Iceboxes Safe By Removing 2 Screws

CHICAGO (AP)—Each of 23 children who were smothered in abandoned refrigerators in the United States this year died because two small screws held firmly in place, a service expert said.

"You can render virtually any refrigerator harmless by removing the lock stop from the doorsill, as in most models this metal part is held by two screws," said Harry D. Busby, statistician for the Refrigeration Service Engineers Society.

Busby said 8,000 members of this group—the men who maintain and repair refrigerators—have pledged their help to their communities in making old iceboxes harmless in their communities.

"But anyone can do it," he said. "It takes about two minutes, and it doesn't damage the refrigerator or keep it from being put back into service."

Gen. Thimayya Courageous Soldier, Deep Thinker, Affable Diplomat

By GEORGE McARTHUR

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Indian officer was enjoying the night time calm of his garden when he spotted the glistening eyes of a prowling panther.

The officer turned and walked calmly back into his house, took down a rifle and matter-of-factly shot the intruding beast.

That panther bide was adorn the quonset hut where husky Lt.-Gen. K. S. Thimayya discusses decisions that could spell peace or war in Korea.

The imperturbable general is chairman of the neutral nations repatriation commission overseeing Korean war prisoners who refuse to go home.

United Nations command officers, all of them all Americans, quickly learned that Thimayya had his own ideas about his job. The Communists have also learned that "neutrality," to Thimayya's case, does not necessarily mean weakness.

He is a courageous soldier, imaginative thinker and affable diplomat.

LIKES POLO

"Timmy" stands over six feet tall and weighs close to 200 pounds. He likes polo, shooting, ballroom dancing, military history and India's "neutralist" Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru "not necessarily in that order.

Nehru picked Thimayya for the truce job. Nehru and Thimayya are close and Indian officers predict Thimayya will be the next army commander-in-chief.

Thimayya in his communiques and statements maintains strict neutrality. What UN officers at first criticized as "indecisiveness" in Thimayya they now recognize as patience.

He has no personal mannerisms. He enters a meeting, places his sandalwood swagger stick on the desk and sits down. He sits casually and comfortably. He does not finger his clipped military moustache. He does not "fidget."

SOFT SPOKEN

He is correct, soft spoken and inclined to understatement.

The 47-year-old general was the first Indian officer to command a brigade in the Second World War. Twice he has been promoted over many senior officers.

In the post-war Kashmir fighting, Thimayya pushed his tanks up a 13,000-foot pass — higher than tanks had ever been used before—and won a popular victory.

At about the same time, a small outpost under his command became isolated in high mountains. The air force said it could not operate over the uncharted area. Over-all Indian Commander Thimayya said "I'll go with you" and talked air force officers into the long and dangerous flight.

Much of Thimayya's manner can be traced to his British background. He was graduated from Sandhurst and has spent all his adult life in the army. He is proud of his French-educated wife and talented 17-year-old daughter now in school in India.

Thimayya has hoped his job at Panmunjom would be quiet enough for him to do some work on his memoirs.

"I was thinking this would be the ideal place to do it," he said, then shrugged resignedly, "it is not so."

REDNERSVILLE

REDNERSVILLE — The CGIT group held its regular meeting in the Sunday School hall on Tuesday. Mrs. Townsend led the worship, assisted by Audrey Bedford, Ann Machold and Joan Rorabeck. Glennis Dickey read a poem "That Strange English Language." The president, Diane Bonter, had charge of the business period and recreation. Plans are made for hand craft projects. The group will attend the church anniversary services on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Stafford have returned home after a week spent in St. Catharines. Mrs. Stafford's aunt returned with them.

There was a splendid attendance at the Woman's Association meeting held at the home of Mrs. Newton Thompson. The president, Mrs. Leon Ward, was in charge. Plans were made for a motor trip to Ottawa to include a visit to the parliament buildings. There will be a Hallowe'en party on October 30th. Plans were also made for the annual bazaar.

Mrs. T. F. Townsend (R.M.T.) was soloist at the recent Thanksgiving festival in Wellington.

Rev. C. W. Neelands, of Desoronto, was the guest speaker at the Rednerville anniversary services Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. Townsend was in charge of anniversary services at Morven, Ontario.

Plan Assistance To 700 Indians In Their Studies

OTTAWA (CP)—At least 700 young Canadian Indians will get federal government assistance in advanced studies this year by tuition grants totalling some $300,000, Citizenship Minister Harris announced today.

The announcement came during the second day of a three-day conference here between the Indian affairs branch and 19 representatives of Canada's 158,000 Indians.

Mr. Harris said assistance previously given by his department to Indians learning trades or attending university has had "very satisfactory" results.

Dispelling the Shadow of "Doubt".

Like doubting Thomas, mankind largely remains incredulous that Jesus' healing work was the action of divine law, and doubts that prayer can heal today.

This doubt can now be honestly dispelled. To any sincere seeker there is proof, ample, abundant, and at hand, that the law of God is available for every need.

Will they call your son "DOCTOR"?

Maybe your son doesn't want to be a doctor. All sons can't be doctors. If they were, there'd soon be too many doctors, and not enough patients. But that's not the point. The point is that your children deserve the best possible start in life you can give them. That will cost money. The sure way is to start saving now. No business of the piggy bank or the sugar bowl either. It's got to be a regular, systematic operation. By long odds the best way is the Canada Savings Bonds way. Winless Chicago Black Hawks Hope To 'Break Egg' Against N.Y. Rangers

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

WONDER STAKES!

Strange thing this game of hockey. Here is Jean Marc Richer, 19-year-old Montreal Canadian from Trois Rivieres, who insists he is staying with the Canadiens, was the most ballyhooed player ever to don a National Hockey League uniform. His manager, colorful Lo Gren Hill is sidelined with a fractured ankle, and is still the idol of French Canadian hockey fans.

Then take Earl "Dutch" Reibel, dynamic centre of the famous Detroit wingers, Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay. The "Dutch" came into the Red Wings' fold practically unheralded and unsung, albeit he led a western league in scoring last year, and "what happen!"

The Kitchener Kutie, who, by the way, lives almost next door to his Miss Splendid, the Rookie Senior' veteran star, has taken the league by storm with his point-getting feats by his National League debut, and given promise of becoming "Detroit's Cowboy Star."

If he's keep hang it over, that a recruit has broken into the NHL one time in such a sensational manner. The "Rebel" already has four goals and nine assists, good for 13 points to his credit and sufficient to lead the loop's point-getters by a pair.

However, "Dutch" is a long way from being a veteran. His early surge may be a flash in the pan as rookies in former years have been known to stage a sensational opening scoring flair the first few games, then fade off to mediocrity. Jean Guy Gendron, Rebel has jolted one of the most illustrious pair of wingers seen in the major league in some years.

However, he fitted into the slot like your foot into a well-worn slipper. He did not show any signs of stage-fright in his debut, but went in there and on his first appearance was credited with assists on all four goals the Wings scored. Detroit writers say that Reibel's sterry showing is in no wise overdone as Howe and Lindsay, for, their point-set, four other centre players, failed to make the grade.

In Detroit they're saying that if Reibel keeps up his pace, and there's nothing as yet to say he won't, the Wings' "Production Line" might conceivably break up and Howe go to right wing.

The record of the rookie points made by a line in a single season dates back to 1944-45 when Ted Blake, Elmer Lach and Maurice Richard accumulated the almost unbelievable total of 236 points in fifty games. The distribution was: Lach 80, Richard 73 and Blake 83.

And as the Detroiters point out, Howe went up to 83 last year and his wingmate Lindsay garnered 71 for a two-man total of 166. If they keep up that pace all Reibel would have to get is 94 points in the remaining games, or 43 since he already has 11 to his credit.

But as a Detroit sportswriter says: "It's a tall order and this likeable kid may find it a tough one to fill but he has something now, which, according to most coaches is the rookie's biggest drawback, confidence.

The three-quarter war almost blinded in his right eye 15 months ago. He was thrown through the windshield of a crashing car and the doctors told him nothing could be done to save the optic nerve, except time and patience. Fortunately, it did heal and last season he topped the Western League in scoring. You pronounce his name "Rye-bell."

TIPS TONIGHT:

Belleville's up-and-coming welterweight Eddie Schamerhorn will fight in the main bout at East York Arena tonight in a five-round go with Guelph's leading beak-buster Pat Campbell. Seven other bouts round out the card.

Schamerhorn has been improving by leaps and bounds of late. He has been training faithfully and is said to be one of the district's leading welters. He has fought in two or three main bouts in Toronto of late and has made a very creditable showing.

The Union of South Africa covers 472,000 square miles to the southern tip of the African continent.

Cop May Coach Canuck Crew

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's track and field team in the British Empire Games here next year may have a policeman as coach.

Wally Strang, city police officer and coach of the Western Sports Club here, was nominated for the job at the annual meeting of the British Columbia Track and Field Association.

The nomination will be sent to the Canadian Track Association. Strang directed B.C.'s track and field team in the interprovincial meet in Toronto this summer.

Abel's Luckless Last-Placers Haven't Beat Any Team Yet, But They've Come Awful Close

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

If Chicago Black Hawks want to make their coach happy tonight they should either beat New York Rangers or lose by more than one goal.

Sid Abel's National Hockey League last-placers haven't beaten anyone yet this season, but they've been coming close enough lately to make their coach wonder if he isn't living right. In their last four games they've played everyone but New York, falling one goal short every time.

That gives the Hawks a record of nil, nine, seven beaten and a tie for the season—a far cry from their surprise start of last year when they were unbeaten until their fifth game.

The Hawks' best hope of better things is their apparent liking for New York, where they won six games against a single defeat last year, when they were, the only club to hold more than a one-point edge over the Rangers on their home ice.

RANGERS RATE HIGH

The fifth place New Yorkers have broken even in their first two home appearances this season but rated high marks from coach Dick Irvin after his league-leading Montreal sextet had to be pressed-out a 2-1 victory in their first visit last Sunday.

Before taking his club home for a date against Toronto Maple Leafs Thursday night, Irvin said this year's edition of the Rangers has best since 1950 Stanley Cup finalists, the last New York club to make the playoffs.

"I think they'll make the playoffs for sure if they can stand the pace," said Irvin, praising the goal-tending of rookie Johnny Bower and the club's aggressive style of play.

Buffalo Bisons Bash Barons; Grab Top Spot

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Buffalo Bisons swept into first place in the American Hockey League Tuesday night, displacing Cleveland by downing the Barons 4-3.

In the only other games played, at Hershey, the Bears defeated Pittsburgh Hornets 4-3 to climb out of sole possession of the cellar and get into a three-way tie for last spot with Syracuse Warriors and Providence Reds.

At Cleveland, goals by Ed Sloan, John McCormack, Pete Babando and Ken Hayden were enough to offset markers by Glen Sonmor, Jack Gordon and Fred Sharo.

At Hershey, 15 penalties were meted out in a rough game during which Arnie Kullman gave the Bears a 1-0 lead. Pete MacDonald then tied the score, Norm Corcoran got the only goal of the second period while Dave Fisher and Jack McIntyre further increased the margin. Willie Marshall got the count down to 4-3.

Irish Team Wins Jump Event; Canada Third

HARRISBURG, Pa. (CP)—Capts. Colin O'Shea and Michael Turbridy, riding side by side for Ireland, won the paired jumping event Tuesday night to crack England's string of three straight international victories at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show.

The United States team was second, Canada third and England fourth.

Canada's Lt.-Col. Charles Barker, on Starolin, and W. R. Ballard on Anchors Aweigh, knocked over a single fence in the six-obstacle course. They were charged with four jumping faults and two pair faults, for imperfect alignment, and were clocked in 51 3-5 seconds.

A second Canadian entry of Ballard on Reject and Baker on Skipacross downed two fences and drew one pair fault for a total of nine. The best team performance counted for each country.

Canada's win faults for the event left her behind all three other countries in the race for the lowscore honors, most coveted of the show.

Ireland has a total of six, England seven, the United States eight and Canada nine at the two-thirds mark of the one-day competition. To be completed Friday.

Winnipeg Fans Get Jittery 'Flingin' Frankie' Is in-Town

WINNIPEG (CP)—Te Winnipeg football fans, Flingin' Frankie Filchock, coach of Saskatchewan Roughriders, is also Fateful Frank Filchock, former coach of Edmonton Eskimos.

Filchock, who brings his club to town tonight for the first game of the two-game, total-point Western Interprovincial Football Union semi finals, seems to have a strangle power over Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Last year, as freshman coach of the Eskimos, he helped his club knock off the heavily-favored Bombers and go on to lose to Toronto Argonauts in the Grey Cup final. The Filchock touch has carried over into the season and Winnipeg fans are jittery.

FOUR VICTORIES

In six starts against the Bombers this season, the Roughies have managed one win, two of them with Filchock handling the ball at quarterback. In his last appearance in the new Winnipeg stadium, the old master called a flawless game and pitched a touchdown strike as his team won 18-13.

Two days later he masterminded a give-away game for a 14-13 win over the Bombers in Regina. With Roughriders, is also Fateful Frank a five-point margin and time running out Filchock handed the Bombers two safety touches in a row to keep control of the ball and claim the one-point win.

Filchock was forced back to active duty when import quarterback Johnny Dobbs was injured. Another key import—end Stan Williams—is also on the injury list but big Harry Lampman, a Hamilton boy who arrived at Regina via Queen's University, has proved a more-than-adequate replacement offensively and defensively.

TRAFTON CONFIDENT

In the border camp, coach George Trafton runs his hands through a thatch of greying hair and expresses confidence. It has been a tough season for Trafton. After his team was called a cinch in for the finals by the pre-season experts, the Bombers slipped rapidly from second to third place. Internal troubles cost him the services of assistant coach Stu Clarkson and Canadian halfback Tommy Ford is out for the season with injuries.

The Bombers' import list is fantast and the Canadian end of their bench is still groaning with weight. Saturday's 17-6 victory over the powerful Eskimos left the club confident and Trafton thinks they are good for the win.

Bulldogs, Dutchies Show No Mercy, Whip Falls, Sarnia by Heavy Scores

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

There wasn't any doubt about the winners in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A schedule Tuesday night.

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, last year's Allan Cup champions, scored their 22nd goal in their second game of the new season when they lambasted Niagara Falls Cataracts 13-3 in Niagara Falls. In their opener Saturday they defeated Stratford Indians in Kitchener.

In the league's other game Windsor Bulldogs also showed no mercy as they put down the visiting Sarnia Sailors 11-3.

In a Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A game, Pembroke Lumber Kings moved into a second-place tie with Sudbury Wolves by defeating Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds 6-5 in overtime.

HAIDY STARS

Gord Haidy led the Bulldogs to their second victory in four starts as he bagged three goals in Windsor's scoring of seven. Alec Strukow and Lyle Wiseman fired two each with singles going to Hayes, Dave Gatt, Gerry Gordon and Fred Hildebrand. John McKennell notched both for the Sailors.

Ken Campbell's marker in overtime, his second of the game, gave Pembroke its 4-3 squeaker over Sault Ste. Marie. Goals for the Lumber Kings went to Lionel Barber and Jack Carley. Jackie Heon, Henry Backer and Rob Macy replied for the Indians.

A full schedule in the OHA Senior circuit tonight has Owen Sound at Hamilton, Stratford at Chatham, Niagara Falls at Kitchener, and Windsor at Barrie.

Join the NOHA group, Pembroke meets Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds.

Cougars Edge Edmonton Flyers

EDMONTON (CP) — Victoria Cougars Tuesday night got the jump on Edmonton Flyers and finished up a 3-2 victory in a Western Hockey League game.

Gene Achtymichuk, Andy Habenton and Bobby Billy Reay scored Victoria's goals.

TWO INJURED

PORT COLBORNE (CP)—Two players on Port Colborne's senior football team were injured in Tuesday's final game of the year.

Tackle Bill Card, 18, suffered a broken leg and halfback Ray Probert, 16, the team's top runner and kicker, a broken arm.

The team dropped a 16-0 decision to Welland Tigers.

AUTO SHIPMENTS DOWN

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian factories shipped 22,640 motor vehicles in August, jbe first drop this year compared to last year's figures, the bureau of statistics reported Tuesday. Output in August, 1952, was 22,853 vehicles. However, the January-August total this year was 203,038, a 25-per-cent increase over the same period last year. The August drop was due to smaller shipments of commercial vehicles.

'Sugar' Robinson Urged to Emerge, Passes Buck to Manager Gainford

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who came out of Harlem a skinny kid to become one of the greatest ring fighters of them all, has been a big-timer for all of his career, and he will not change now that he is playing the medium sized clubs as a song-and-dance man.

When he announces he has been urged to come out of retirement and challenge Bobo Olson for the middleweight title which he, Robinson, renounced last year, the lure dangled before him is a cool $350,000, a figure worthy of the Robinson imagination.

The fact the promoters would need to gross at least $1,000,000 at the gate and through television to pay such a guarantee didn't faze the great man.

There wasn't a doubt in our mind the powerful International Boxing Club had, indeed, caught Robinson backstage and begged him for the sake of $350,000 and the present 45 stakes in attempted a comeback—until we stumbled over the concluding paragraph.

"Of course," Robinson was quoted as having said, "the final decision will have to be made by my manager, George Gainford." MORE ON OWN

That sounded a gong back somewhere in the inner recesses. Since when was Sugar Ray Robinson depending upon Gainford or anyone else to make his decisions for him? It spoiled the whole story then and there, even before official of the IBC processed their bewilderment.

The men on the fight beat have known almost from the first that Gainford nor anyone else ever had the gifted young pugilist what he was to do, either inside or outside the ring.

Gives Command Performance

The RCAF overseas pipe band, currently skirling its way into British affections, has given a "command performance" before the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh at a London film premiere. The band was formed two years ago and recently completed a six-week series of engagements in various parts of Britain. It is stationed with the No. 1 fighter wing at North Luffenham, Eng. (CP from National Defence)

Sport in Brief

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — Riding three winners for the fourth straight day at Golden Gate Fields, Wes Willis Shoemaker ran his record of season wins up to 416 Tuesday and broke a 46-year mark for winners in consecutive seasons.

Shoemaker scored aboard Gen Sarnoka in the second race, Mr. Mustard in the third and Tedwin in the eighth to give him 725 wins in 1953 and 1953.

The old mark for two consecutive years was 722, set by Walter Miller in 1906 and 1907. Miller won 388 in 1906—which stood as a season's record until Tony Despirito scored 390 last year—and 334 in 1907.

Shoemaker had 315 in 1952 and broke Despirito's single year mark two weeks ago.

Shoemaker also scored one second and two thirds Tuesday, but was shut out of the money in the featured Loomis Handicap.

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Chuck Dressen, who couldn't get a three-year contract from Brooklyn after leading the Dodgers to two National League pennants, was signed for that period of time with Oakland of the Pacific Coast League.

Dressen said Tuesday he has no regret at leaving the major league.

"I will get just as much money here as I did back there and there will be a lot less grief," he said.

Clarence Laws, president of the Oaks and field manager, announced the general manager of the club as well as its field manager.

Dressen said his salary will be $25,500 a year, and he probably will be allowed to purchase stock in the club.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Old time fighter Al McCoy, 75, who held the world middleweight championship from 1914 to 1917, was seriously injured Tuesday when hit by an automobile.

LONDON (AP)—The British Professional Golfers Association made a $13,800 profit on the 1953 British golf match between Britain and the United States.

The BPGA hoped to net $28,000 but the crowds were disappointing with only 15,000 paid admissions during the two-day tournament here earlier this month.

The money from the match goes toward sending a British team to the United States in 1955. Estimated cost of the trip is $168,800.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Greentree Stable has announced that the great handicap champion, Tom Fool, will be retired to the stud immediately and will not race in the $75,000-added Empire Gold Cup at Jamaica Saturday.

Tom Fool is unbeaten in 10 races this year and won the $50,000 Suburbia Special last Saturday in track record time.

NEWMARKET, England (AP)—Sir Gordon Richards, the world's leading jockey, plans to become farmer Richards when he retires from racing—"but that's not just yet," he said Tuesday.

Richards was replying to rumory that he is going to retire at the end of this season.

Richards, 48, has been a jockey for 33 years. He has ridden more than 4,000 winners and has been Britain's champion jockey 25 times.

'Red' Barber Dodger 'Voice May Join Yanks

NEW YORK (AP)—Walter (Red) Barber, drawing voice of Brooklyn Dodgers and may turn up as broadcaster of New York Yankee home games.

The veteran sportscaster said Tuesday he has been negotiating with Yankee president Dan Topping "on pre- and post-game TV shows from the stadium."

'Wilwyn' Wins In Britain

NEWMARKET, England (AP)—Wilwyn, Britain's crack five-year-old thoroughbred, won the 1½-mile Limekiln handicap today Tuesday—his last race in England before flying to the United States Sunday.

Wilwyn and three-year-old Maidenly are Britain's challengers in the $63,000 Washington, D.C., International Race at Laurel Park, Md., Nov. 7.

Wilwyn, owned by fruit farmer Robert Goodson, won the inaugural of the Maryland race last Oct. 18. Manny Mercer, who will ride Wilwyn in the United States, sent his horse to a three-length victory over Star of the Forest in the Limekiln to win $3,162. Time for the race was not announced.

Marauders Will Tackle Queen's

HAMILTON (CP) — McMaster Marauders, crippled through injuries, will be reshuffled for Saturday's intercollegiate football game with Queen's in Kingston.

Latest additions to the injury list are Murray Crawford, halfback, in hospital for removal of a knee cartilege, and end Dave Fraser, who suffered concussion during the Saturday game here against McGill.

Jackie Rome, a two-way half, may miss action due to a foot injury he picked up Saturday. Previously, the Macs had lost Max Woodley and Johnny McPhee, both first-stringers. Coach Al Smith will play safe with a powerful offence as well as defence, and Denny Moffat will be shifted from end to flying wing.

Remember When

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Capt. George Eyston of England 16 years ago today raced his motorcar "Thunderbolt" over the Utah salt flats at 302 miles an hour, but the machine broke down on the return journey, leaving intact the record of 301 set by Sir Malcolm Campbell in 1935. A few days later however Eyston set a mark of 311. The present record of 394 was set by John Cobb in 1947.

Citadelles Take Tigers Two in Row As Biltmores Wallop Dutchies 5-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Tigers would like to know the strategy employed by Coach Phil Watson to strengthen his Quebec Citadelles.

Watson and his boys returned from an almost fruitless road campaign at the bottom of the league. Ontario Hockey Association Junior A loop with one victory in seven starts. One of their losses in Ontario was a 4-2 defeat at the hands of the Tigers.

Pulling up the drawbridge as soon as they reached home, the Cits have scored two successive 5-1 victories over the visiting Tigers to pull into a four-way third-place tie with Barrie Flyers, Galt Black Hawks and the Tabbies.

GUELPH WINS

Guelph Biltmores' 5-1 decision over Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen is the only other OHA Junior A action Tuesday night hoisted them into a three-way first-place deadlock with Toronto Marlboros and St. Catharines TeePees. But the Biltmores have played one game more than the TeePees and two more than Marlies.

The Citadelles' victory over Hamilton in Quebec was watched by 4,000 fans. Tigers had their own in the first period and the rivals entered the wild second period deadlocked 1-1.

The middle stanza was marked by fighting which resulted in five misconduct penalties and five minor penalties. Quebec carried a 2-1 edge into the final session. Two unanswered counters by Joe Citadelle in the last period made it a runaway.

Vermont Doyon fired three goals for Quebec. Mike Ratchford added a pair and Stan Parker and Gaston Pelletier notched the others. Val Mitchell and Martin McAlenin shared the Hamilton output.

HILLMAN HURT

The Biltmores made themselves at home as they chalked up their 5-1 decision in Kitchener. It was a costly loss for the Greenshirts. Floyd Hillman, a pillar on their defence, suffered a broken arm when he fell into the boards in the last period.

Bill McCreary netted three goals for the winners. Bob Attersley counted once and assisted on the other four. Chick Chalmers fired the last marker with less than a minute to play. Ivan Tennant put the Shirts in the scoring.

The Biltmores entertain Barrie in tonight's only action.

WIN CONSA GAME

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — St. Catharines Collegiate Institute Tuesday downed Stamford Hornets 13-0 in a Central Ontario Secondary School Association Niagara district senior football game.

Two Deadlocked For Lead In Que. Point Race

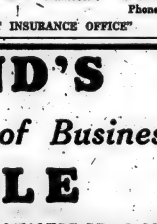
MONTREAL (CP)—Andre Corriveau of Valleyfield Braves and Ottawa's Leo Gravelle are deadlocked for first place in the Quebec Hockey League individual scoring race.

Official statistics show each player with a total of 13 points—Corriveau's made up of seven goals and five assists and Gravelle's of six goals and six assists.

The Senators also have two players tied for third in the scoring race, Rip Riopelle and Jackie Leclair each have 10 points.

Toothache? Jaw Broken

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP)—After welterweight Billy Wooding outpointed Eric Skidmore Monday night, he complained of a "toothache."



An X-ray examination Tuesday showed his jaw was broken in two places.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The biggest mistakes of bridge players are usually little ones. Such as pulling trumps too late or too soon; attempting to set itself the wrong suit; trying the wrong technique play; bad entry timing.

Most of these errors are overcome by advance planning when the dummy hand goes down. However, there may be a choice of plays and a selection of the wrong plan may be your undoing.

A deal played at 4 spades in south in a recent duplicate match is shown here:

NORTH
♠K Q 9
♥Q J 5 4 3
♦A 7 6 4
♣10

WEST — EAST
♠10 8 3 2 — ♠5
♥8 7 6 — ♥K 10 9
♦K Q 3 — ♦10 9 8 5
♣8 7 6 4 — ♣A K J 5 3 2

SOUTH
♥A 2
♦J 10 9 2
♣Q 9

The opening lead from west was a club, which was the suit held by his partner in card. This was taken with the ace and king and the return of a top club was ruffed with dummy, nine of spades by south.

One table made a mess of things. Dummy returned the heart queen. It was covered with east's king and copped by south's ace. A diamond return covered by west's queen, and taken with dummy's ace.

Dummy cashed two trumps and tried to enter south by cashing the heart jack and ruffing a heart for south to ruff. But west caught it with an overcall and returned a club.

To win the return club, south had to ruff with his jack of spades. From there on the declarer made 9 of a total of 13 by losing 3 more tricks after drawing the last trumps with his ace. All of which could have been avoided.

Soon as he ruffs the second club trick, declarer should play his thirteen of diamonds. The two top trumps there, before leading hearts. Soon as hearts are taken, two more trumps are cashed.

Opponents will then be out of trumps. A diamond will force the west king or queen while south still has a trump. Return diamond will lose to west who must lead up his king to the suit.

Now the return of a club can be ruffed by south and south's diamonds are good for the rest a total of 10 tricks instead of 9.

The pride of the bridge playing country is their keenness at finding an entry.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Upholders of this film town's virtue often claim that the divorce rate here is lower than the national average.

That may be true when you consider all film workers, but the average among stars is something else.

There have been many long-term marriages such as those of Bob Hope, Pat O'Brien, Irene Dunne, Robert Young, Fred Astaire and Abbott and Costello.

But these are offset by stars who have married four times, including Clark Gable, Rita Hayworth, Lana Turner, Humphrey Bogart, Bette Davis, Myrna Loy, Mickey Rooney, Ginger Rogers and even Bill (Dapalong) Boyd.

Among those who have wed three times are Ida Lupino, Judy Garland, Joan Fontaine, Errol Flynn, Gloria Grahame, Van Cardner, Victor Mature, Janet Leigh, etc.

DOING HIS BEST

"I had a chat about divorce and related matters with Mickey Rooney, an expert on such things. Last week the comic but now happily—married actor got a break from the courts. A judge decided that even though Mickey is $16,251 behind in alimony to his third wife, Marilla Vickers, he is doing his best by paying $250 a week.

Despite the recent judicial leniency, Mickey is still paying for his past marriages. He still has to shell out a $150,000 settlement to his second wife, Betty Jane Rase, and remits $1,000 a month for her and their two sons. Miss Rase got $2,750 a month for herself and one son.

The first Mrs. Rooney, Ava Gardner, got no alimony — "I gave her a cash settlement; I don't recall how much, but it was a lot of money."

Mickey estimated that he has earned $6,000,000 or $7,000,000 while working 36 of his 33 years. What has he got to show for it?

IN TRUST FUNDS

"About a quarter-million dollars," he replied. "Luckily my mother put that away in trust funds that can't be touched."

He isn't bitter about the drains that divorces have cost his fortune. "Nobody told me to get married," he philosophized. "It was all my own doing. But I've certainly paid for my mistakes.

"It's a funny thing about being married in Hollywood. In other places, you have a spat with your wife and you make up. But here you have a spat and immediately the girl wants to get a divorce. I can't understand it, unless maybe the girl has some ulterior motive in getting married. It makes you wonder."

WEEKLY NEWS SUMMARY

GOLD RESTRICTIONS LIFTED

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — The South African government Monday announced it has abandoned a self-imposed restriction of selling only processed gold on the free market. It now will sell gold in bars and not by strips and plate for formerly. The government said this change will give this gold-producing country a greater scope for sales and probably more profits to mines.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY, OCT. 29, 1953

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Unexpected good will and help will come as a result of wise co-operation and unsolicited kindness in the past. A fine day to try out new, improved ideas; also good for making new contacts.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Planetary aspects indicate the need of a calm, sensible pace. Don't take foolish chances—especially in financial or business matters. Romance favored.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Vibrations excellent for money matters and personal affairs. Devote reasonable time to research, preparation before starting task. Anything worth doing is worth doing well.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Some mixed influences indicate that you should mark time now. Don't plunge into anything new without thought and careful study. Kindness also helps.

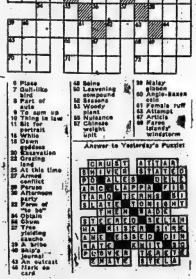
July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Your innate planning disposition can be utilized to your advantage if you set wisely to make only moderate demands. Some trouble-spots at moments in early hours. Take time; P.M. gives better outlook.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — You are generally prudent and cautious in business or matters involving valuables, money, etc. but be even more so now. Keep an ear to ground, eyes open.

September 24 to October 22 (Libra) — Some early restrictions should keep you alert, but they need not stand in the way of true progress. Advertising should cause you to ponder but not tarry, or stop trying. Use natural resources and you will gain.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Encouraging aspects. With your keen sense of proportion and fine perception you can achieve your goals. Definiteness and deliberation should turn the trick.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — With industrious and intelligent effort you can turn in an admirable day's work. Co-operate with associates, and don't underestimate your opponents' ability. Act wisely.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Prompt action will help in mastering your tasks, achieving your goals. There are certain restrictions during the early hours so extra effort may be needed. P.M. mildly generous.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Unless you use initiative, you may find yourself on the receiving end of others' bad judgment. This could retard headway. Stop, think and resolve: give no quarter; ask none.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Aspects now indicate your need to move slowly. Analyze each problem patiently, then follow through determinedly. Don't rush decisions, or attempt the impossible.

YOU BORN TODAY are usually interesting and work to be on the winning side. You want to be doing something worthwhile, whether in the artistic, business or social line. Successes achieved spur you on to greater achievements and problems seem no obstacle. You are practical-minded but at times apt to brush aside others' opinions. Usually courteous and reserved, you can keep opinions to yourself.

SEX EXPLOITATION

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's Society of Authors, a voluntary organization of journalistic standards, Tuesday condemned the "unwholesome exploitation of sex" by some British papers. It said this treatment of sex was calculated to injure public morals and would be kept under review. The council, consisting of editorial and managerial representatives, was formed last July following recommendations of a government commission.

New Bank Notes Will be Issued

OTTAWA (CP)—New Canadian bank notes—new in design, not denomination—are being manufactured but won't get into circulation until late next year, officials of the Bank of Canada said Tuesday.

The notes will carry a portrait of the Queen, so far no change on Canadian bills. The portrait will be the same as that used on postage stamps. The new design also is expected to feature Canadian scenes instead of the present gods and goddesses surrounded by curlicues.

The new notes are being kept out of circulation until a good stock is built up.

Iceland Lived Up to Its Name in NATO Exercise

The snow-clad crest of Ondverd-nes mountain, near Reykjavik, Iceland, juts through low clouds in this photograph taken on board aircraft carrier HMCS Magnificent during NATO's recently-completed Exercise Mariner. Out of sight of the Canadian carrier, flight deck personnel are seen checking Avenger aircraft in preparation for another in a series of anti-submarine patrols. In the exercise the Magnificent and four United States destroyers comprised a "submarine killer" group in the North Atlantic. The weather was wet and cold.—Central Press Canadian.

Oriental Menu for Korea Veterans

Korean veterans of the 1st Battalion, the Royal Canadian Regiment, commemorated the Battle of Little Gibraltar of October, 1952, their first annual "Kowang-San Day," held at Petawawa Military Camp, Ont. A feature of the celebration was the serving to all ranks of egg foo young-rice and chow mein, washed down with a plentiful supply of Japanese saki wine. Above, manipulating chopsticks like natives, are: Left, WO2 Leo Johnson, M.M., Paris, Ont., and RSM Fred Burns, Glace Bay, N.S. —Central Press Canadian.

After 14 Months—Dry Land

For the first time in 14 months Michael Patrick O'Brien puts a foot on land as he steps ashore at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. For the 34 months, O'Brien has been an unwilling passenger aboard the French liner Bretagne, with no country willing to accept him. Before that he shuttled for ten months between British Hong Kong and Portuguese Macao with neither country willing to take him for lack of necessary documents. The Brazilian government let him land via a writ of habeas corpus. Now the Dominican republic has granted him a haven. O'Brien, who was a bartender before he escaped from Red China, was reported planning to join the Dominican merchant marine.—Central Press Canadian.

News Broadcasts Will be Cut Off From Jurors

CORNWALL (CP)—Jurors in the murder trial of Henri Seguin are to be cut off from news broadcasts by a ruling of Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow of the Ontario Supreme Court.

The "radio-in-every-room" service of a Cornwall hotel became an issue Tuesday in the trial of Seguin, accused of the 1952 shooting of a district taxi driver, Leonard Z. Hurd, 40.

Seguin's lawyers protested that the jurors could hear news broadcasts in their hotel rooms. They complained particularly about a Monday night broadcast which mentioned Seguin's trial in British Columbia this year for shooting at a policeman and they asked that Mr. Justice Barlow order a retrial.

JURY EXCLUDED

The jury was excluded while Mr. Justice Barlow heard Constable James Cowhey, officer guarding the jurors, testify the jurors were not in their rooms during the broadcast about the British Columbia trial.

Mr. Justice Barlow then dismissed the motion for a retrial and ordered the trial continue with the same jury, provided the jurors be cut off from news broadcasts.

Police said they found in Hurd's taxi a pay book and other documents bearing the name of the 29-year-old Seguin. Dr. W. D. Kerr, Kingston pathologist, said the position of the bullet wounds indicated Hurd was fatally shot as he sat in the front seat of the taxi.

Hospitals Should Charge Rates Based on Costs

TORONTO (CP)—Hospitals must abandon the practice of charging "what the traffic will bear" and set up a sound rate structure based on actual costs incurred by the patient, Paul D. Shannon, controller of Montreal's Royal Victoria Hospital, told the Ontario Hospital Association Tuesday.

A recent survey of hospital billing methods showed a portion of the indigent patient's bill was loaded on the pay patient and part of the room and board charges were recovered through subordinate services, he said.

Also addressing the association, D. B. Strudley of the board of directors, Stratford General hospital, said "One of the most common causes of operating deficits is that the hospital is unable to collect from the municipality the real cost of caring for indigent patients."

BANCROFT Hospital Lacks Nurses

BANCROFT—The local Red Cross committee last week expressed its concern over the shortage of nurses at the Bancroft Red Cross Hospital. Lack of staff is seriously curtailing the amount of work done in the institution.

The committee considered the repainting of the building to be proceeding satisfactorily and felt that, although the contract figure of $2,565 exceeded a government grant by $265, the outstanding amount could be raised locally. Landscaping improvements are also progressing and the road at the rear of the building has been partially mulched.

Nurse in charge, Miss Sigrid Laine, would be happy to see, more volunteers at the sewing bees held by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Admissions to the hospital for September totalled 99, with 37 births. Two major and 14 minor operations were performed and 101 patients were cared for during the period. Out patients numbered 25 and 26 X-rays were taken.

North Hastings Anglican newsJanet Leah Ann, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Kellar of Bancroft was baptized on Sunday morning at St. John's Church by the rector, the Rev. E. Owen Johnston. Godparents were Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Kellar and Miss Muriel Kellar.

A chicken supper held on Wednesday at the Orange Hall, Mayle Leaf, by the Anglican Guild was attended by over 200 people, the largest number ever catered for by the Guild. Visitors from Bancroft and Combermere were present.

A hot-dog and hamburg supper followed the Thursday night's regular meeting of the Junior W.A. Eleven girls were present under the leadership of Mrs. F. Wiggins and the rector was a guest at the supper.

Last week's regular meeting of the St. John's W.A. was held in the Parish Hall. Opening prayers were led by Mrs. E. Schrum. Mrs. E. Bruce gave the Scripture reading.

The ladies decided to hold a tea and bazaar on December 5, and the rummage sale committee asked for help in arranging Saturday's sale. The W.A. undertook to serve a meal in the Parish Hall after the Service of Witness on October 27.

ARABS DEMONSTRATE FOR ACTION

Crowds gather at the Government House in Amman, Jordan, as demonstrators demand immediate action in connection with critical Israeli border incidents. They accused some Jordan officials of laxity following the recent killing of 66 persons in the Arab village of Qulbya. Immediate fortification of Jordan's borders was demanded. Note soldiers gathered on ledge near the speaker. —Central Press Canadian.

To Continue Tax Exemption For Canada's Korean Troops

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has decided to continue the 31-a-day income tax exemption for Canadian servicemen in Korea, a defence department spokesman said today.

The government had been considering withdrawal of the exemption, which would have placed troops in the Far East on the same pay basis as those in Canada or Europe.

The spokesman said continuation of the exemption will mean that almost all troops in Korea and Japan still won't have to pay any income tax at all. The exemption has applied to Canadian servicemen of all ranks in the Far East since outbreak of the Korean War in 1950; Canadian servicemen elsewhere do not receive the exemption.

There has been no change in the government's decision, however, to cut off all gratuities and re-establishment credit for troops in the Far East, effective Oct. 31. The government attitude is that with the war halted in Korea, servicemen there should be no more entitled to gratuities and re-establishment credit than troops elsewhere, who do not get them.

Airlines Plane With 19 Aboard Said Missing

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—The sheriff's office said an inbound Commonwealth Pacific Airlines plane with 19 persons aboard was reported missing shortly before its scheduled arrival from Honolulu today.

The four-engine DC-6 disappeared somewhere in the 13 miles between Mt. Moore Bay and San Francisco international airport.

The sheriff's office dispatched officers in automobiles to search the coastal area.

Indian Girl Convicted Of Trespassing

SARNIA (CP)—An Indian girl who was banished from the Kettle Point Indian reserve because she married a white man was convicted in court Wednesday of trespassing on the reservation while visiting her sick mother.

Barbara Thomas, 20, was married three years ago and was expelled from the reserve in last June by the tribe's council.

Barbara's mother told magistrate J. C. Cameron she bought a cabin for the girl outside the reserve boundary and asked police to come home because she was sick.

Robert George, constable at the reserve, arrested Barbara as she slept in a tent pitched on the reserve.

Magistrate Dunlop said the accused had no right on the reserve but felt it was a case of hardship to both the girl and her mother. He fined the girl $1 and $12.50 costs and gave her until Nov. 1 to pay.

JAPANESE PRISONERS

MOSCOW (AP) — A five "man Japanese Red Cross delegation arrived by plane Wednesday night at the invitation of the Soviet Red Cross to discuss repatriation of Japanese war prisoners. The spokesman for the delegation, Rikichiro Kawai, told Tass news agency he informed that the total of Japanese prisoners detained is 1,467, and all are accused of war crimes.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP)—Synopsis: Brisk northerly winds and scattered showers accompanied the arrival of cooler air in southern Ontario Wednesday night while the remainder of the province enjoyed clear skies and gentle breezes.

Today promises to be windy and cool over most of Ontario with slightly warmer air moving in to the lower Great Lakes on Friday ahead of another outbreak of cold air. This new rush of cold air is expected to cover the province by late Friday night.

LIBERAL, P.C. WIN TWO SASK. BY-ELECTIONS

PC First One Elected In Nineteen Years

By WILFRED CHISLETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA (CP)—Two provincial by-elections Wednesday gave the 53-seat Saskatchewan legislature its only Progressive Conservative member and increased Liberal strength.

First Progressive Conservative elected to the legislature in 19 years, Robert Kosygan, 35-year-old Estevan lawyer who also had Liberal backing, won in Souris-Estevan constituency with CCF candidate William Schleman, Orcheston farmer.

The Liberals, who have held the Northern seat continuously since the first provincial election in 1905, retained the former stronghold of provincial party leader Walter Tucker with newcomer Samuel Carr, 57-year-old secretary of Saskatoon rural municipality, as their candidate.

Mr. Carr defeated CCF John Thiessen, 47, an Aberdeen farmer who also was running for Mr. Tucker in the 1952 provincial elections, and Martin Kelln, 34, a farmer and ranch representative of the Saskatchewan Social Credit organization.

CCF MAJORITY 11

Party standing in the legislature now is:

CCF 42; Liberals 10; Progressive Conservatives 1; total 53.

The Estevan-Souris by-election resulted from the resignation of Mr. Kosygan to become solicitor for the federal riding of the same name in the general provincial election. The Souris-Estevan seat became vacant when Liberal party whip J. E. Mitchell was killed in a traffic accident last spring.

Both Mr. Kosygan and Mr. Carr won by comfortable margins, leaving from their start. Sunny autumn weather brought a heavy turnout of electors, but the vote was lighter than in 1952.

Late Wednesday night the vote count showed:

Rosthern, 30 of 31 polls cast: Carr 2,229, Thiessen 1,773, Kelln 1,536; Souris-Estevan, 39 of 84 polls—Kohaly 4,344, Schleman 3,278.

Everything Known On Fluoridation Is Good, Report

BRANTFORD (CP)—Water fluoridation may be the most important event in the field of preventive dentistry, Dr. H. K. Brown, chief dental officer of the federal government, said in a report received here Wednesday.

The 1953 report on fluoridation of the national department of health and welfare said "everything we know about fluoridation is good."

The report is based on a fluoridation study here. The city has been using fluoride compounds in its water since 1945.

Following publication, the report said, one child in 20 in Brantford had perfect teeth. Today the proportion is one in five. The drop in dental defects in children have fallen off 60 per cent.

The Brantford health authorities' report on the effects of any kind rests on fluoridation.

Studies on the effects of the chemicals in Brantford's water will continue here until 1957.

Canadian Soldier Killed in Brawl

ISERLOHN, Germany (AP) — German police said tonight one Canadian soldier was killed and another seriously injured when the two fought in a workers' meshall near here Sunday. Reason for the fight was not disclosed.

A first police report said there had been a melee among several soldiers. But the later statement said only two soldiers were involved.

A spokesman at headquarters of the 27th Canadian Infantry Brigade said the identities of the brigade would probably be issued Friday. NO PICKUP

'Women Are Smarter Than Men' Says Noted Heart Specialist

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Weaker sex?

Rubbish! says Dr. William G. Leman Jr., Philadelphia heart specialist, who stunned Oklahoma Clinical Society delegates (mostly male) with the bold statement:

"Women are smarter than men!"

This "weaker-sex myth," he said, just permits the ladies to live a less-exerting life—and outlive their male counterparts by an average of six to seven years.

"Women are smarter than men! They still had their old vim and vigor.

Added proof to explode the age-old myth of female weakness was offered:

"Women can lose more blood. Women can stand more shock. They take better shock."

"They can go into a profession and hold their own position. They don't give them an inferiority complex.

"They can hold down a job, take care of a home and family, and, at the same time, guard the supposedly-stronger male."

As a finale, Dr. Leaman added: "It is a woman's world if she wants to admit it and claim it. But perhaps she would be unwise to do so."

Dr. Leaman is chairman of the department of medicine at the Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania.

Hiding in Crowd of Shoppers, Gunman Evades Police Hunt

TORONTO (CP)—Police were on the lookout today for a short stocky man who held up a downtown branch of the Bank of Montreal Wednesday and made a clean getaway with $10,000 in a paper bag.

Police said the gunman slipped through their fingers by walking across an intersection and ducking into Eaton's department store at Queen and Yonge streets, a few yards from the bank.

Although a hundred officers and store detectives paraded the doors, the bandit is believed to have left the store by mingling with shoppers.

HAD GUN UNDER COAT

It was first reported that the man, described as short, dark and about 25, pulled off the robbery without a gun. However police said this morning that bank teller Genevieve Andrews told them she saw him holding a revolver inside his coat.

The man handed Miss Andrews a note shortly before the 3 p. m. closing time which said: "This is a holdup."

Miss Andrews stuffed the bag with bundles of currency—$100 bills, 50s and $20s. By the time she reached $10,000, the bag was full and there still was another $10,000 in the cage.

HOLDUPS ALARM

As the bandit strolled out with his loot, Miss Andrews screamed "holdup!" and teller Daisy E. Neill in the next cage pressed an alarm bell.

Mrs. Grace McGrady, a customer who saw the man leave, told guard James Gibbons:

"I think that man has just held up the bank."

Mr. Gibbons reached the street in time to see the bandit walk into the department store.

By that time, a street-car with a police trailer blocked passage across the street.

Said Mr. Gibbons later:

"The fellow was crowded for me to shoot. By the time I got into the store, he had disappeared into the crowd."

U.S. Envoy Rouses Reds' Ire; Thimayya Promises 'Surprise'

By SAM SUMMERLIN

PANMUNJOM (AP) — United States envoy Arthur Dean today promised to discuss the top problem of arranging a Korean peace conference, but the Communists still were in the early stages of their long game.

Dean told the Reds to "stop the nonsense" of demanding seats for neutrals at a peace conference and get on with fixing a time and place for political discussions.

When that job is completed, Dean said, he is willing to talk about who will attend.

Despite the long tirade, Dean said the Communists made a good deal of interest" in his proposal to sidestep the agenda, cut off debate on the neutrals and discuss a time and place for the conference immediately.

The Reds did not reply directly to Dean's proposal, but their envoy said "we probably will hear from the Americans."

FULL OPPORTUNITY

"We will give them a full opportunity to discuss the propositions I put up today," he added.

Meanwhile, the promise of a surprising announcement Friday touched off reports here today that Indian and Communist Korean prisoners have agreed to abandon their stubborn refusal to attend interviews with Red "explainers."

Communist demands that the Koreans be forced to attend the gunpoint if necessary, have all but wrecked the peace nations repatriation commission.

L.t.-Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the deadlocked commission, touched off the speculation with his terse announcement he would have a "surprising" announcement Friday.

CONCERNS PRISONERS

A reliable source said the announcement would concern the repatriant 7,800 North Korean prisoners.

The agreement to attend Red efforts to persuade them to return would be a major victory for Thimayya. The Indian general has been working for almost a year to NNRC while striving to convince Communist POW leaders that they should attend.

Dean opened the two-hour, 50-minute peace conference session with his appeal.

SAID RUSSIAN AGENTS

The North Koreans Wednesday called China and North Korea "puppets" of Russia and said the Soviet Union controlled Peiping and Korea during the war.

The Communist delegate called this "an intolerable insult" and said Dean was trying to reduce these two to the role for their utterances of invectives. This fully indicates that the United States government has no sincerity whatsoever to expand an early convening of the political conference.

Must Explode Insane Idea Profits Harmful

DETROIT (CP) — Vice-president Donald Gordon, Chairman of Food of Canada said today Canadian business men must accept the responsibility of "awakening people to the dangers of profits in all our economy" and exploding the "insane idea that profits is a term of opprobrium."

In an address prepared for delivery before the opening session of the 45th annual convention here of Canadian purchasing agents, he said that profits are the real test of criticism of profits in the last 10 years.

However, the "greatest economic tragedy that could befall our country in the next quarter century would be for business and industry to be prevented from operating at a profit."

"Profits are financing a major portion of the development and exploration in our resource areas. Profits finance research that will provide a goodly portion of the funds for our new schools, hospital and municipal services. Profits in the last decade have provided for us all a rising standard of living."

GREEKS VISIT RUSSIA

ATHENS (AP)—Twelve Greek men and women politicians and journalists are leaving Sunday on a three-week visit to Russia as guests of the Soviet Union. The invitation was extended by Soviet ambassador Mikhail Sergheyev, and is in line with a desire recently expressed by him for the promotion of cultural relations and better understanding between the two peoples.

Will Urge UN To Rebuke Israel For Border War

West to Ask Increase In Truce Supervisors

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) The Western Big Three were reported ready today to urge a United Nations Security Council rebuke against Israel for the recent border killings in an adjoining Arab village and to call for more UN "watchdogs" in the troubled area.

Abba S. Eban, Israeli chief delegate, also arrived before the list belanded to go over the whole Middle East security question before the Council meeting here. Eban accused the Arab states Wednesday night of creating the "gravest crisis in Palestine."

Western sources said Britain, France and the United States would submit a resolution to the council this afternoon denouncing the armed Israeli raid on the Jordan Village of Kibya, which cost 53 Arab lives. They said the resolution also would call for more truce supervisors in Palestine to guard the peace along the Arab-Jewish borders.

Dispatches from London said the Middle East also were considering asking for an automatic arms embargo against whichever side the council decided was guilty of attacks in truce agreements in the future.

ARAB PRAISE

The reported plan to increase the truce supervisors brought praise from the Arabs and sharp criticism from Israel.

Syria's Rafik Asha declared Wednesday that Israel "is in no respect for the truce agreement would be welcome."

Eban said such a program would be "bereft of statesmanship and wisdom."

He took issue with the report of Mai.-Gen. Vagn Bennike, chief UN truce supervisor, that "well-trained Israeli" soldiers were involved in the Kibya attack.

Bennike warned the council earlier today that tension in Palestine was at the breaking point and that unless the armistice agreements are observed by both sides, full-scale shooting might start.

EXPRESS CONCERN

The Arabs praised Bennike's report, but expressed concern at his warning that the peaceful armistice agreement is outmoded. The Arabs oppose ending it with a permanent settlement.

Friday the council returns to its discussion of Israeli complaints that Israel's hydro-electric project to divert water from the Jordan would deprive the Arabs of water for irrigation and constitute a threat to the peace.

Eban told the council Monday that Israel was ready to work on the project while the council was discussing the issue. His announcement brought a warm response from the Arabs and was hailed as a move that might ease the mounting tension.

Buried Under Cement

NEW LISKEARD, Ont. (CP)—Provincial police said today a truck overturned in a gravel pit here and buried him under a load of cement.

Mr. Beach, father of 14, was a passenger in the truck. The truck was driven by E. Pepin, 29, of Haileybury. Police said Pepin was blinded by lights of an oncoming car. The truck hit a ditch, Mr. Beach fell out and the truck overturned, pinning him beneath it.

Mr. Liskeard is 73 miles north of North Bay.

Polio Will Become Disease of Past Within 10 Years Says Chicago Man

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Poliomyelitis will become a disease of the past within the next 10 years, Dr. Morris Fishbein of Chicago predicted Wednesday.

Speaking to more than 100 doctors and laymen, he told the Niagara South district health unit he is up to them to make voluntary health insurance a success. Every voluntary plan, Dr. Mitchell said, was the alternative to a compulsory health service, imposed and dictated by the state.

Dr. Mitchell also called on the government to accept "its proper role" in taking care of those persons who are unable to pay for medical attention through such plans.

Sickening Details In Korean PoW Massacres Told

Americans Roasted Alive, Dragged, Tortured and Shot

By ELON C. PAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States army has released a documented indictment of Communist atrocities in Korea in which it says probably 6,113 American.

The statistics are not new. But it was the first time the army had given out gritty details of how captured Americans were dragged on death marches, roasted alive, lined up and shot.

The report on the bleak words of the report, compiled by the army's war-crimes division and released Wednesday night, there were charts and graphs and photographs of bound, charred bodies.

The figures—of 39,815 "probable deaths in Korea"—mean that 6,113 were listed as Americans — were in line with earlier estimates.

Ten Britons and 30 Australians were listed, but no Canadians.

After Col. James M. Hanley of war-crimes investigation staff issued a statement in November, 1951, accusing the Reds of atrocities, the official estimate was that the total would "approximate 6,000."

GRIM READING

But in the army's new report, what appalled the men who read it grim reading—"one of the boys had no head; it seemed to have been mashed or beaten and was laying all over the road . . . the other GI had all the ground out, and nothing remained where his eyes were except holes."

The charts and text indicated that most of the atrocities occurred in the first year of the war, when the Communists invaded South Korea and overran American and South Korean troops. There was a smaller upsurge of such like when the Red Chinese entered the war and pushed the allied forces southward from the Yalu river.

The Chinese were charged 27.3 per cent of the war crimes alleged. The North Korean Reds, who had no part in the truce talks, were charged with 59.6 per cent of the total in the last four days of the month."

TAEJON MASSACRE

That included the "Taejon massacre" where 1,800 men were said to have killed the occupants of the Taejon stockade in batches of hundreds at a time.

What was not spelled out in the army's report was the story of how in burying the detailed account at this Taejon massacre, Americans secured related to a report to the United Nations three days after the war broke. Lucius D. Battle, assistant secretary of state, a UN delegate and famous American surgeon.

Mayo's report gave a scientific account of how the Reds conducted their massacres. The American war prisoners about germ warfare—a propaganda point often employed by the Communists.

There were clues to the 'army' of the Red massacres in secretary Robert T. Stevens which accompanied the text.

He said releasing details of such "cold-blooded . . . torture and murder . . . is one of the best answers that can be given to anyone who suggests the need for strong military defenses."

Police Looking For Two Youths

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Provincial police are looking for two youths who raped a 16 - year - old girl in a field east of London Wednesday night.

The girl and an 18 - year - old friend met the youths downtown and when they were out behind a garage disposal plant and parked.

According to police the older girl got out of the car. The car doors were locked and she left.

The younger girl was attacked by each of the youths who then drove her back to the city.

The girl named only the first names of the boys.

Bus Passengers Escape Injury

PROSPECT HILL, Ont. (CP)—Fifteen bus passengers escaped with minor bruises and shock when a Gray Coach Lines bus crashed through a guard rail and rolled down a 30-foot embankment Wednesday night. They praised bus driver Karl Gaube, 42, of Guelph, who got them out of their temporary trap.

Mr. Gaube opened emergency doors and instructed other men passengers how to open windows and help the people out of the bus. The vehicle collided with a truck tractor.

Donald O'Donnell of New Hamburg, started to leave town driving the new tractor en route to New Hamburg from Windsor, was treated in hospital at St. Marys for minor lacerations.

BRIDGE COLLAPSES

WALKERTON (CP)—A 70-foot steel bridge spanning the Teeswater river at Pinkerton, 12 miles south of here, fell into the river as two three-ton trucks were passing over it. No one was injured.

Obituary

MRS. JOHN R. BUTLER

Widow of a United Church minister, who preached in many district churches, Mrs. John R. Butler, 82, died last week in a Belleville hospital.

The late Mrs. Butler was making her home with her nephew, Rev. Kenneth Stewart, Lakefield, B.R. 1, from where she was removed to hospital on Thursday last.

Born in Denbigh, in North Lennox and Addington county, she was the former Eva Mattie Lane, daughter of Charles Lane, Denbigh, both deceased. She was a member of High Park United Church in Toronto.

Her husband died in 1940. Mr. Butler held pastorates at Warkworth, Wooler, Frankford, Foxboro and Bayside, from which he retired in 1930.

She is survived by 21 nieces and nephews.

The body was taken from the Reinder Funeral Home, Belleville, to the Bowen Funeral Home in Cobourg, where service was held on Friday, October 23. The Rev. R. C. Kellowy, of Trinity United Church, officiated. Burial was in Union Cemetery, Cobourg.

Pallbearers were Fred Hempstead, Alex McKinnon, Joe Patterson, Art Hempstead, Len Bason, Ken Stewart.

DONALD McCOIL (Baiawa)

Donald McColl, 32 Haig Street, Baiawa, died suddenly on Tuesday, October 27. He was in his 72rd year.

The deceased was born in Murray township, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles McColl, and lived in Murray township until he moved to Baiawa eight years ago.

He is survived by his wife, the former Blanche Lapp, two daughters, Mrs. Joseph (Ruby) Moran, Murray township, and Miss Lucie McColl, Baiawa.

Also surviving him are two brothers, William McColl, Woodcock; David McColl, Toronto; three sisters, Mrs. J. C. Herrington, Wooler; Mrs. R. B. Barber and Mrs. Elsie Shaw, both of Sault Ste. Marie, and seven grandchildren.

The deceased had been employed at the Bata Shoe Company.

He was a member of the United Church.

Resting at the Rowe Funeral Home, Frankford; the funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

MRS. EFFIE JANE FARNHAM

The funeral of Mrs. Effie Jane Farnham was held from Bellefille Burial Company Funeral Home, Belleville, on Saturday last. Rev. Everett Smith officiated.

Bearers were Frederick Robinson, Jack Treen, William McKenna, Clarence Ostrom, Clarence Marshall and Lloyd Ash.

Interment was in Belleville cemetery.

MRS. FRANK MacDONALD

The funeral of Mrs. Frank MacDonald, Bleecker, a well and highly esteemed resident of Point Anne, whose death occurred on Sunday, was held on Wednesday afternoon from the Thomas C. Thompson Funeral Chapel, to Belleville, to St. John's Anglican Church at Point Anne, and thence to the Belleville cemetery, where interment took place.

Rev. L. A. Pace, rector of St. John's Church, conducted the services in the church and at the graveside, and was assisted at the church by Archdeacon J. B. Creegan, rector of St. Paul's Church, Belleville.

During the service Mrs. W. Ingley sang the Twenty-Third Psalm.

The bearers were: H. J. Legale, F. W. MacDonald, Joseph Huck, Minister MacDonald, Manly MacDonald and William Armstrong.

CHARLES HARRY HAGERMAN

Suffering from war injuries incurred in the First World War, Charles Harry Hagerman, 15 Foundry Street, Belleville, died suddenly in Sunnybrook Military Hospital, Toronto, early last Tuesday morning.

He was born in Sidney township, 71 years ago, and had resided in this community all his life.

He attended the World War One, serving overseas for the duration and was severely wounded. A member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' Association Branch No. 301; he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. (Pat) Natalie) Vandervater, Toronto, and Mrs. Earl (Catharine) Gray of this city. Friday afternoon the Bellefille Burial Company Funeral Home after Friday afternoon the announcement is made elsewhere in this edition.

BETTER BEEF CATTLE

STRATFORD (CP)—R. H. Graham, deputy livestock commissioner for Ontario, Wednesday suggested breeders aim at a perfect beef cattle by choosing top factors of the various breeds. Addressing a southwestern Ontario breeders group, he said selection of stock to arrive at the "steek lidy Shorthorn" pay some day prove unsatisfactory for general use.

Shrine Presents $1,000 Cheque To Belleville Hospital Fund At Enjoyable 'Ladies Night'

Generous Shrinedom, through the media of Ramses Temple, Toronto and the Belleville Shrine Club last night contributed $1,000 to the Belleville General Hospital Building Fund.

The gift was made at the annual "Ladies Night" party held in the club's well-appointed premises on Bridge Avenue, where upwards of 125 Shriners, their ladies and guests were in attendance.

The cheque donated by Ramses Temple was presented to the Shrine Club president, Noble Orvill Lloyd by Imperial Potentate Bill Emerson, Toronto, who was present with members of his executive. In a few past-president and ex-major of the city and now high priest and prophet of Ramses Temple, Dr. J. Storey, who represented the club, in turn presented a cheque to Mayor Lou McCain Haig, general chairman of the hospital campaign.

In making the donation to the club, Imperial Potentate Emerson said the Shrine clubs had nobly supported the annual Shrine Circus here in Belleville. "Last year we made a profit of $40,000," he said. "We decided to share it with the clubs. We earmarked $14,000 for this purpose. Total donations this year goes to the Belleville Club to do with it as they see fit to assist a local organization. I understand you are donating this amount to the Belleville Hospital. It gives me great pleasure to so present it."

"NEVER BE ASHAMED"

Later, addressing his remarks to the shriners present the potentate told them: "Never be ashamed of your pin and your fez. The Shrine is the greatest charitable organization in the world. Over one-quarter million crippled kids have been restored or helped through its seventeen hospitals and clinics. Right here in Shrine Clinics, which will be built to deal with the polio outbreak cases."

"We have been called the playboys of the Masons. People should remember that 75 per cent of the time spent in clubs is not done so on the serious side. Be proud of your emblem."

President Lloyd expressing the club's appreciation of the donation to the fact, that the club was formed nine years ago by a man "on a ten-dollar bill and a prayer." He said that each year it has been host to a dinner and some quarters with which to carry on the crippled children's work. "This is the largest bundle we ever got our hands on." He introduced Noble Dr. Storey.

Noble Storey outlined the work of the club early in 1945 when crippled kiddies are taken to Toronto to the Shrine Circus by the club every two years to the Belleville Fair, given their fare parties and a Christmas party. Many children's braces have been given those children needing them and transportation has been paid to hospitals in Montreal and Toronto.

MAY CONTINUE

He predicted that within a few years a Shrine Clinic would be operating in Belleville.

Noble Storey presented Mayor Haig with the cheque with the statement: "I shall try to do more."

"I cannot say how much we of the hospital campaign board appreciate this great gesture" the chief magistrate said after extending to the visiting shriners the official welcome of the city.

"Crippled children work is close to the heart of this city and we hope to have a pediatrics division in the new wing. I feel very very keenly and this token of kindness and generosity will be a help and provide a stimulus to other organizations in the city of Belleville to give to the hospital fund", he said.

FACILITIES LACKING

Chairman Jack H. Hunter of the Board of Governors of the hospital, said, "We, who are close to things in the institution have been grievously pained at the lack of facilities for the past few years. We have been woefully lacking in pediatrics, and one of our prime considerations in the new structure is a pediatric unit of 25 beds."

Raising $600,000 in the city and district is quite a job, he went on, "but we feel confident we shall have little difficulty in achieving that objective. I believe we are working towards a goal of one-and-one-quarter million dollars."

Mr. Yanover included government subsidies in this amount.

Belleville club secretary Noble Lionel Crawford drew attention to the hospital's fund drive, in counterpart of the one presently in Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth during her visit here as princess, which will be raffled off at Christmas with the proceeds going to the crippled children fund. He outlined the club's many activities with regard to the children and announced the annual Christmas party will be held December 23.

Noble Lou never so tall as when he stoops to help a crippled child, he remarked.

DIVAN PRESENT

Chairman of the Board of the Shrine Club, Noble Charlie Cawker, in his usual capable manner, in his introduced the head table. He introduced the new arrivals, before extending the club's welcome. These included. Imperial Potentate Bill Emerson and Mrs. Corstan, Divan Recorder Charles Edwards and Mrs. Edwards, Oriental Guide Fred Izard and Mrs. Izzard, Past Master Ernest Hall of Toronto; Mayor Haig and Mrs. Haig, Mr. H. Yanover and Mrs. Yanover, Mrs. Charles Cawker, president of the club, "Pudler" Lloyd and Mrs. Lloyd, and last but by no means least ex-Potentate Dr. Grant Fraser Storey and Mrs. Fraser of Madoc.

The party enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner at 7:30 prepared and served by shrine hostess Mrs. George Woodhouse and her three capable assistants.

Noble Jack Treen proposed the toast to the ladies. Mrs. Fraser in her charming manner made a fitting response.

Outstanding vaudeville entertainment was hugely enjoyed by the shriners, their ladies and guests, thanks to the efforts of the entertainment committee under Noble Jack Bush. He was assisted by Noble Lionel Crawford, Bill Holway and others.

Miss Jeanne Stedman, an attractive blonde dancer who recently toured Canada with the Canadian Ballet, received a fine ovation after her offerings of tap, adagio and acrobatic dancing.

Bernie Bray, a talented harmonica virtuoso, was outstanding in his offerings from a repertoire ranging from the "Flight of the Bumble Bee" to "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny" which he was assisted by a baritone. He used various sizes of instruments, the smallest being an inch in length.

"OH GEORGIE"

Miss Mildred Morey, singing comedienne, and radio star, practically brought the house down with her excellent performance. She did an excellent imitation of Gracie Fields, which in her offerings especially the "Oh Mr. Porter" and "Sally" which she vocally praised a visiting newspaperman for her ability which, he remarked, rounded out a fine show.

Mrs. Grace Lehman was the accompanist for the various acts and her artistry drew splendid appreciative ovation.

FROZE FORMAN DEATH

SARNIA (CP) — A Lambton county coroner's jury found Wednesday night that the death of George Forman in county jail October 23 was due to coronary thrombosis. Forhan, who had served about three weeks of a three-month sentence for drunkenness, was found dead in the jail dormitory shortly after he completed to fellow prisoners of a pain in his chest.

Director's Life Is Not Always A Happy One

"A director's life is not always a happy one," remarked director Syd Rose, interviewed on the radio program "Spirit". "It can become quite hectic when one member of your cast is visible, but intangible, and another is neither visible nor tangible."

Replete with unconventional and unusual spectres, Noel-Coward's "improbable Farce", will be presented by the Theatre Guild, next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at the Collegiate Auditorium.

BEAUTIFUL STAGE SETTING.

With a stage set of quite startling beauty taking shape about them, the cast are pushing a final polish to their characterizations of the beleaguered author, the cuckolded husband, the jilted fiancee, both seen and unseen.

Director Syd Rose, Wonnacott, and the ladies of the cast are in a flutter of excitement as they view the extensive wardrobe provided by Belleville fashion centres. And the air is full of technical terms quite beyond the understanding of the layman.

In line with their ultimate ambition to provide Belleville with a little theatre, the Guild have invested a portion of their last year's profits in improved lighting and new stage equipment. All preparations forecast the most attractive production to date.

ANAF Veterans To Hold Banquet Armistice Day

Armistice Day will be fittingly observed by the Army, Navy and Air Force veterans, when that Association will hold their annual banquet in their new auditorium on Front Street on November 11th. The banquet will be sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the ANAF and it is expected that the capacity of the auditorium, 250, will be utilized.

The program has been arranged by the committee with Archdeacon J. Creegan, Others, who are listed are His Worship, Mayor McLean Haig, Exalted Rt. T. T. Potter and Lieut.-Col. G. W. MacGregor of Napanee,—the entertainment will be first that can be procured and after the banquet and speeches, the committee will empty the facilities of their club rooms in a social hour.

This will be the first big function to be held by the veterans in their new home and the committee has a great number of city and district veterans are expected.

SELL 22 CATTLE

BLENHEIM, Ont. (CP) — Officials expressed satisfaction Wednesday when 33 cattle sold for a total of $6,000 at the first annual consignment sale of the Kent County Hereford Breeders at Blenheim Lions Hog. Many of Chatham said the total price was brought down by the offering of many one and two-year-old open heifers.

Mrs. C. A. Mott To Head Women Of Bowling Club

Nearly fifty members of the Women's section of the Lawn Bowling Club met recently at the club house for their annual meeting and election of officers after one of the most successful years in the club's history. Mrs. Gordon Vince presided at the lunch supper and at the business meeting which followed. The financial report given showed the club to have made a substantial amount during the summer with all bills paid. A new refrigerator has been added and other innovations about the club house completed.

Mrs. Charles A. Mott was the unanimous choice for the position for the office of president with Mrs. Vince becoming immediate past president. The first vice-president is Mrs. A. Lloyd and Mrs. R. Patterson second vice-president. Mrs. E. Jackman is secretary of the club with Mrs. H. Buchanan as treasurer. Mrs. C. L. Hyde is games chairman for the year with Mrs. T. Lynch as house convener.

A euchre party was held to conclude a successful meeting.

Approve Stand On Trieste Issue

LONDON (CP)—Parliament today formally wound up its second session since the election of 1951 and adjourned until Tuesday, when the Queen will open a new session.

The government now is studying preliminary arrangements for a five-power conference on Trieste after winning a Commons vote of approval for its handling of the explosive issue.

Prime Minister Churchill's forces cooped a 38-vote majority on the ballot, taken Wednesday night at the close of a lengthy debate.

Albert College Gridders Down Collegiate 13-6

By PETER UPPER

The Albert College Senior B Entry defeated the Collegiate Juniors 13-6 in a closely fought clash at Albert College yesterday afternoon.

The Albert Seniors drew first blood in the first quarter with a pair of rouges kicked by Vaughan. The Juniors came back early in the third quarter with a fifteen yard touchdown pass from Batchelor to Little which was converted by Genaja to make the score 6-2. Albert started back down the field on passes which were good for a T.D. but the attempted convert was missed and the score stood at 7-6 in favor of Albert.

On the kickoff late in the third quarter, LaBelle for B.C.I. took the ball on his own ten and broke through centre for an eighty yard gain but was tripped twenty yards short or a T.D. B.C.I. moved the ball into position for a field goal but it bounced off the uprights and Albert was awarded the ball.

Albert came back to end the scoring in the dying minutes of the fourth quarter with a con-

Given 6 Months Result Accident Which Killed 3

TORONTO (CP)—Peter Penak, 25, of Barrie, Ont., today was sentenced to six months for dangerous driving which caused an accident that killed three persons.

Penak drove a car that smashed into the rear of another March 20 near Newmarket, 25 miles north of Toronto. The car tank on the other car exploded. Mrs. Alice Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Hawkes Robinson, all of Newmarket, were burned to death.

Dr. Ward Smith testified a blood test on Penak after the accident showed enough alcohol to say he had been driving in an intoxicated condition.

verted T.D. to make the final score 13-6.

Albert will play host to St. Peter's of Peterborough on Saturday in a sudden death game to decide the winner of the C.O.S.S.A. of this district.

POLICE BLOTTER

Break-ins at the Canada Dry warehouse building at the corner of Coleman and Harriett Streets, and at the fish products building on East Moira, were reported to city police this morning. Entry to the two premises had been gained some time during the night but nothing was missing in either instance, police reported.

A John Street resident reported that a change purse containing between five and ten dollars had been taken from her purse while she was out of the house. A man, whose description she was able to provide police, is believed to have entered the house through the front door while the housewife was in her back garden.

THE ORIGIN OF HALLOWE'EN

Hallowe'en, so called because it is the vigil of All-Hallows or the feast of All Saints, is the one night each year when children from three to 103 put aside the veneer of civilization and give themselves up to the delicious tingle of primitive superstition. It is a night for ghosts and goblins. And while sophisticated adults profess to be only mildly interested in the capers of children, mothers put in a supply of candy, cookies and apples and fathers station themselves at their front doors so as not to miss a minute of the ensuing pantomime in which tiny, but fierce, apparitions extort their seasonal tribute.

However, such was not always the case. Hallowe'en, as the name implies, is supposed to be a "hallow evening" — a holy and sacred time in preparation for All Saints day on November 1. All Saints day as a festival was instituted by Pope Boniface IV in the seventh century on the occasion of transforming the heathen Pantheon into the Christian Church consecrated to the Virgin Mary and all the martyrs.

Today, Hallowe'en is associated in the popular imagination with the presence of supernatural influences. In the rural districts of Scotland the principal object on Hallowe'en is to consult the supernatural with the idea of discovering one's future husband or wife. In Scotland, as anywhere else, any old, natural or supernatural, is immaterial to the delicate and decisive matter. The poet portioned for this delicate and decisive matter. The poet Burns describes in detail the playful games indulged in by Scottish folk on Hallowe'en. Popular belief ascribed to children born on Hallowe'en the power to converse with supernatural beings.

These supernatural beings are portrayed, today, as witches, ghosts, goblins, and imps of all descriptions. Every witch-ridden, goblin-infested, ghost-haunted elementary school has several cardboard witches stuck during to outer space on broomsticks, black cats with arched backs and spitting fur, huge orange pumpkins with assorted jack-o-lantern grins, scowls; and scimitars of orange and yellow moons clawing across the inky night of the side blackboard.

It is not to be expected that such recognition in the classroom is an attempt to importune the powers of the unseen world to assist in the means of entertainment. Rather, it would seem to be the continuing manifestation of a desire to perpetuate a mystery that piques one's curiosity while it delightfully titillates a sense of the unknown combined with it almost impossible to beat for everlasting interest.

We refuse to believe that Hallowe'en has become a night for mischief because children are naturally mischievous. But it is an excellent excuse for mischief, for we have never yet heard of a policeman arresting a ghost, or a judge sentencing a witch.

And lately we have not heard much ado either about the Saints on All Saints day for whom Hallowe'en is supposed to a "hallow evening."

UP TO THE ENGINEERS

Peter Jaslin of New York City and Belleville residents whose homes are on the Trent Road, Highland Avenue, West Bridge Street, Dundas Street East and the Kingston Road have one thing in common. They are annoyed by the noises made by heavy trucks. One difference may be that Mr. Jaslin has what appears a practical suggestion for remedying this situation. In a letter to the New York Times he urges that "those in authority encourage the able engineers who design equipment and those who manufacture it, to observe the need for noise reduction."

He adds:—"They can do it if they are compelled to."

The key word in that sentence is "compelled." No matter how engineers and manufacturers do their muffling devices, it will do the general public no good unless these efficient mufflers are installed on trucks. They will not be installed unless truck owners are compelled by law to use and keep equipment. The only way for the public, which is annoyed by noisy trucks, to get effective action is to vigorously protest the use of inefficient mufflers and the failure of the authorities to force truck operators to eliminate the noise nuisance. Here, as in so many other instances where the general public suffers, the remedy lies basically in the hands of all of us. If we protest vigorously enough we shall get action.

Incidentally, Mr. Jaslin's suggestion regarding noisy trucks is not the first time we have seen a plea that automotive engineers need to exercise their unquestioned high talents in the solution of some obvious problems, rather than spending so much time in making cars increasingly speedable at ever rising speed laws. A few years ago there was a growing demand that the experts do something to remove the menace of "glaring headlights" which are universally blamed for so many of the accidents which mar our traffic records. In this connection a "magic eye" device which automatically dims headlights when it detects light from an approaching vehicle seems at least a partial answer.

But noise and glaring lights are not the only problems with which motorists can grapple. A few days ago the case a person than the Duke of Edinburgh remarked of that car designers ought to be able to eliminate handles or knobs which stick into the driver's knee or a piercing draught from a barely-open window.

PLUCK

That pluck means courage none denies.
The men who said it first was wise.

Words, since their use on earth began,
Are products of the mind of man.

Luck is a word the envious choose,
And for success too oft abuse.
When I see a heir of ore has struck,

They give the credit to his luck.

And yet, he may have faced despair;
Had disappointments great to bear;
Known failure, and when Hope seemed gone
Against the odds kept struggling on.

So, add one letter to his luck
And for his triumph credit pluck.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

A Belleville landlord with a number of houses which rent cheaply complains that everything else is paid for out of money except rent. Landlords are supposed to pay. They have to provide the relief fund and if their tenants do not pay the rent the landlord has to raise the money for taxes somehow, generally by a mortgage on the property. Food, fuel and medical attention are paid for out of relief, but as far as Belleville is concerned, says this landlord, shelter is not provided for by the municipality, although it is done in other places.

Ferdinand's Dirty Work

(Edmonton Journal)

In Spain nowadays, soccer outclasses bull fighting as the No. 1 sport. Even a sportswriter tells us one of the chief reasons for the decline is aggressive bulls. We strongly suspect that Ferdinand the Bull has been up to some sort of dirty work in the Spanish countryside, drumming into the bulls' heads that heads sound "horse sense"—if he'll pardon the expression.

Ferdinand was never one to be fooled by a little rag waved about in front of him. He's content to snuff at flowers or loll under shady trees; he's always thought thundering around a bullring like a man on a merry-go-round was silly. Playing to the gallery, after all, is strictly for humans.

His insidious campaign has taught the Spanish bulls that it's far easier to run their beings around outside the rings. So why go get them to make fools of themselves?

Oh! cry the Spanish bulls, let the Spanish soccer fans charge around like bulls in a china shop looking for goals. Let them use two for a change, when they fail to get one. It's the bulls' turn now, for sure, they bellow.

Anyone looking for a bullfight these days is in for a disappointment. More power to the good doctor.

Freedom To Be Better

(Montreal Gazette)

A high school principal in Philadelphia finds himself in trouble. He made a suggestion that has been roundly denounced as "undemocratic."

What did he propose? It was only this. It might be a good idea, he thought, if a special program of studies were prepared for outstanding boys and girls so that they could get along faster, and get more out of their years of education, if they didn't have to keep pace with those who were slower. But this, it appears, was a most undemocratic proposal to make.

Fortunately, this high school principal has not been without his supporters. After the first wave of attack had been launched against him, the other side was presented by those who thought there was a good deal to be said for his proposal.

One of those who came to his support was the eminent American educationist Robert Hutchins. He pointed out that the freedom to be one's best is surely just as much a democratic right as the freedom to be no more or social victim pulling down the group. It is the democratic thing to do.

As Mr. St. John said by way of reminder: Mozart was not an ass when he began by spending his time doodling. Mozart was not an ass, consolidated Edison was not an ass when he began by spending his time experimenting on a television set.

It is always necessary to be on guard against absurd ideas, and this may be needed for the time being, with all the seeming authority of power of the state behind it. But in the long time there is a curiously real possibility that democracy is going to be identified with mediocrity. As a result, the educational process is in some danger of being kept well within the capacity of the mediocre, so that the average intelligence must almost be encouraged to assume mediocrity.

Surely it is time that we had the good cosmos of forcing people to do more than they are able, for this is quite a different thing from trying to induce people to do what they are able. For whereas the simplified and easier studies are suitable for those incapable of anything better, they can lead the more talented to believe that long sluffings and taking it easy are somehow social virtues, deserving of moral sanction.

Yet there is little purpose to a theory that education should be "democratic" when the latter guarantees similar concessions. What Mr. St. John was trying to say, and said also by Dr. Sydney Smith the President of the University of Toronto in his last address, Dr. Smith used these outspoken words: "Education—real education—is not easy matter . . . It is a process not without pain . . . I am thoroughly afraid of making dull things interesting but I question whether it is in the interests of pupils to make difficult things easy."

The emphasis on mediocrity, the tendency to exalt a low common measure of accomplishment is not entirely separated from the theory that society itself should be organized against failure. It is not only in the class room that the mediocre are made the standard so that those who exceed the standard may be looked upon askance, exhibiting a non-conformist anti-social tendency. It comes from the ancient fear of the British Museum, examining a statue of three Egyptians and remarking, "Two of the experts has turned to the other and remarks: 'You know, my dear fellow, I don't think statue has greatly diminished of late.' To which the other replies that Rameses II is out of step."

Fortunately that high school principal has his supporters but not yet fallen into that way of looking at things. It is not a question of undemocratic or anti-social in students who are out of step with the group, but of step with the group they ahead. Nor does he see why they should necessarily be held back from dragging their feet. Perhaps he isn't convinced as yet, that democracy's mediocrity need be the same thing.

Are Too Many Negatives

(By "Simeon Stylites" In Century)

I have often wondered, as has nearly every copywriter, at the mystery of language, in that there are so many words of which the negative is in common use but which has no positive to go with them in contrast and opposition.

Here are a few: You may be "distraught" and you may be "taught" but are you ever "traught"? We know a lot of "unconscious" things. Did you ever hear of a "conscious" one? We say that a person is "ungainly." But do we ever say that he is "gainly"? He is "uncouth", we say of a man. Why not call the opposite number "couth"?

Thinking all this over, I get "disliked" for a change and I like to get "disliked" for a change.

Perhaps this dearth in language is part of something larger—the lure of the negative. It seems easier to handle. So many words are heavy on the negative, while the positive is not only weak but often meaningless.

Someone has observed that the vocabulary of invective is so much more extensive than the vocabulary of praise. If you want to call a man a scoundrel, a score of vivid words rush to your lips. But if you want to call him "a good man," you say that and the chances are you can't think of more.

This allure of the negative is right at the center of many of our things. Think of the highly artificial scares who spend 24 hours a day ferreting out communism. We are all against communism. But some people's anti-communism has become a holy religion, the Ten Commandments of which are Communism and not one. One might expect that such opposition to communism would produce a positive faith in democracy. Does it?

The word "anti" generates great positives. Too many Christians have bogged down in negatives. They have let the word "anti" become holy. Black used to tell of a little boy in Scotland who, on the first Sunday in May, was asked what was the religion of his family. He replied proudly: "We're anti-Beer." Even those who would positively accept non-beer, Christ as sound idea must admit that it lacks something as a religion.

Label Not Important

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The past season has been the busiest one that American money has been at a slight disadvantage in Canada. We still have considerable numbers of visitors from the United States who have not yet used to the idea. In some respects, it is no wonder. For every dollar spent here, it is spent around elsewhere, of the vast sums of their money that have been spent in Canada all over the world. They freely admit that they consider Canada known to what respect America is the best country everywhere on earth. And it must come as a shock to them to find it cost no more to counter a dollar that asserts itself to be worth only a couple of cents better than theirs.

Thinking people among the visitors realize the situation and are aware of the past years in which they could buy almost twice as much as they could with the American dollar; and in those years American money was at a premium. Their dime's dollar were few and far between. But among the visitors is a considerable number who do thinking except under extreme provocation. And to avoid unpleasantness with these, many a Canadian resort owner or businessman in the tourist belt has more or less cheerfully accepted the American personality. When he takes his American dollars to the bank, they are discounted.

I witnessed an example of this situation last week at a tourist resort that stays open in the autumn for the benefit of late visitors. A man was registering for a few days with his wife and family, and his bill came to a little more than $100 including meals and guides. Exchange was added.

The man blew a fuse.

"Well, didn't you accept the discount when you registered?" asked the resort owner, "when our dollar was down?"

"Maybe I did, maybe I didn't," said the outraged visitor. "But there's my money. That's what you get."

"Ah, I see," said the resort owner. "You prefer that I pay the discount, eh?"

"How do you mean?",

"Well, when I take this money to the bank, I get the same discount, they will deduct the discount."

The visitor paid the exchange.

More People

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

Perhaps the main reason there's more trouble in the world than ever before is that there are more people in it than ever before.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

WELL WORTH READING

O During this past summer I read a book which impressed me so favorably that I put down on the title to my card with the hope that they will get as much out of this book as I did.

The title of the book is "Don't Be Afraid," and the author is Edward Spencer Cowles, M.D. It is the only book of psychiatry which I have read in recent years that really makes sense according to my way of thinking. It goes back to fundamental principles of psychology in which many of us were trained thirty years ago. Dr. Cowles' book was written about 10 years ago and has had five printings. It deserves 500. This eminent psychiatrist is leaving behind him in the slender little volume a legacy for which thousands will be grateful in generations to come.

The theme of the book is that one, namely, that fatigue lies at the basis of many of our physical disorders. He suggests that the leagues in the medical profession a simple treatment which even the laity can understand. It makes sense to those of us who studied William James many years ago and clears an atmosphere which has been made murky by the writings of Freud and his disciples. It pokes a lot of fun at the complexities which many psychiatrists have complicated many people.

Personal Health Talks
By DR. WM. BRADY

HAVE YOU SPURS ON YOUR HEELS?

A recent doctor of the highest standing writes:

"I believe that the late Dr. [illegible] conclusively showed that most of the painful heels are caused by spines (or bursitis) called "bony spurs" but by spines bursitis. Treating the spur corrects the trouble. The surgeon who removes the spine (spur) inadvertently removes the bursa also, as a rule. I refer you to . . . (Dr. Brady's writings on the subject).

Dr. Brady

A bursa is a wee sac, pad or cushion, composed of tough fibrous tissue, containing a few drops of viscid fluid, placed naturally between a tendon and bony prominence over which the tendon slides—to lessen friction. There are several scores of bursae in the body, but one becomes aware of a bursa only when the people thing happens to be inflamed in consequence of injury, pressure, strain or infection; for instance, bursitis (said's knee (prepatellar bursitis) and miner's elbow—the are characterized by marked swelling but little real pain; whereas subcromial (shoulder) bursitis is characterized by no swelling and agonizing pain—let's change the subject.

The spurs, spikes, exostoses, osteophytes, as these outgrowths on the bed bone (os calcis) are variously known, are demonstrable by X-ray and in some cases, as Herbster stated, spontaneously disappear under conservative treatment, which means a week of absolute rest with (1) foot and ankle in absolutely strap rigid or (2) bet application and expedalin plaster—let's change the subject.

The spurs, spikes, exostoses, osteophytes, as these outgrowths on the bed bone (os calcis) are variously known, are demonstrable by X-ray and in some cases, as Herbster stated, spontaneously disappear under conservative treatment, which means a week of absolute rest with (1) foot and ankle in absolutely strap rigid or (2) bet application and expedalin plaster—let's change the subject.

There is a second issue as well. And that is why many things labeled "secrets"? Are we trying to hide the location of the Rocky Mountains, or Hudson Bay?

The military mind tends to look with distrust on the public's right to know how its money is being spent, how—or whether—its country is adequately defended. The rubber stamp "secret" is an easy way out. It can hide inefficiency and waste. It can stop questions which the public has a right to ask.

The taxpayer has the right to know everything about his country except those things which would actually help his enemies. He's his country, his money.

By no means let's start to cry "Wolf" about secrets. It is a sentence information. But let's be sensible about what is and what is not a secret and once we make up our minds, let no man pry it from us.

Farouk's Ansels

(Windsor Daily Star)

Ex-King Farouk's multi-million dollar assets in Egypt are to be confiscated by that country. We can't condemn this act. He got his ill-gotten gains out of the country, and none can say he earned them.

Secrecy And Defence

(Financial Post)

Too much secrecy in defence can have us relying on wooden muskets that will never fly, guns that won't fire, ships that won't float, installations that never existed.

Just now, some Ottawa circles are upset over the public's learning of Avro's "Flying Saucer," and other defence items like the Arrow fighter for jet fighters and the radar system called the "McGill fence."

In publishing these stories Canadian newspapers have performed a public service. They have shown the officials concerned that if information can be uncovered by anyone with intelligence and diligence, it is useless to call "top secrets" are so loosely guarded that the public can learn of them first through the newspapers or through rumors, what must trained enemy agents have discovered? Now at least officialdom has proof of the holes in the secrecy curtain.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

UPWARD—CHANGE

We live in a very fast moving age. Often I wish that it didn't move so fast. We need more time in which to genuinely live. No sooner do we become used to the outstanding article than it is replaced by an improved one. Or an invention may be so radical that it may have to create a separate industry.

Hardly before we realized it, we had our radio, our long-distance phone, our movies, our cars. Yes, and our TV. Now we are apt to wake up some day soon to see either in our TV sets—and perhaps before we are ready—new dimensions upon the screen in a new and improved form from what is being shown today, mysterious and amazing as that display is presented.

No change should be looked upon otherwise than gladly. All changes are for the comfort and happiness of the largest numbers. The original automobiles are strange-looking creations in the face of our present ones, yet tomorrow may give us a new automobile as radically different from the most advanced of today that our present ones may quickly fade away!

We can well welcome the Atomic Age so long as it shall mean an advance in human living and in a broadening of all nations, but not if its prime purpose shall be the invention destructive of all that centuries have proved as worth preserving.

The industry and genius of this western world are things that should be fostered and encouraged. But it is the spiritual in man that marks his progress through the ages. Let him discount this, and center all his endeavor upon material things of life and that fine element in his make-up will shrink, endangering as it has gone before in sacrifices too great ever to be forgiven, and memories too precious ever to die!

Fun for Father

(Hamilton Spectator)

By providing a new indoor tool with each 21-inch TV set, a local store has tidily solved one of the great problems of modern living—what does father do when the fifteen monopolize the living room to watch boxing operas?

PICTON

Bert Jones, Black River Maker, Wins Highest Total Cheese Score

PICTON — Bert Jones, maker at Black River Bridge cheese factory had highest total score in Quinte Cheesemakers' Factory Improvement competition. His total score was 98.4. Close runner-up was Donald Harvey of Bloomfield factory with a score of 98.06. Mr. Jones' score of 98.4 Gold Trophy given by H. J. McFarland and Sons.

This was one of many trophies and prizes presented at the banquet, attended by 215, in the Parish house last night.

Guest speaker was C. E. Lackner, director of dairying for Ontario. A group of Toronto entertainers presented a musical program. J. M. Hartwell acted as chairman, Dr. A. L. Gibson, Kemptville, was song leader. Mayor H. J. McFarland extended a welcome. Chief Dairy Instructor J. M. Bain of London spoke on the competition and his fine results. Dairy Instructor W. H. Henderson announced prize winners. Those who pu ented the trophies were Mayor McFarland, H. J. McFarlanna, John Arsand, G. S. Dunnett, Jack Latham, Phil Dodds, Dr. A. L. Gibson, W. D. MacArthur.

Five Leadership.

Quinte Cheese Association president Tom Wannamaker spoke of the fine leadership of the dairy instructor and presented Mr. Henderson with a gift and Mrs. Henderson with flowers.

This competition has been held for a number of years and has resulted in a great improvement in Quinte district factories and also in the quality of cheese manufactured.

Highest Average

Donald Harvey, maker at Bloomfield, had highest average score, 98.854, all his 1,453 cheese being in the first grade class for a perfect record. Of these, 1,004 graded 94 per cent or better, 383 were 93 per cent and 67 were 92 per cent. None was second or third grade.

Other average scores and percentage of first grade cheese were as follows:

3—Cloverdale, John Embury, average 92.32, percentage first grade 98.43.

4—Elmbrook, Nelson Sarles, average 93.331, percentage first grade, 96.47.

6—Royal Street, N. Atherton, average 92.971 first grade 97.26.

7—U.E.L., Dorland M. Sandford average 92.983 first grade, 93.48.

In the total of 22,187 cheese, only 67 graded less than 89 per cent first grade cheese from May 9 to October 10, 1953. The overall average was 95.3 per cent first grade cheese.

In second place, Ben Gill had 2,630 cheese of which all graded 89 per cent up and only 29 of them less than 92 per cent, while 1,631 were 95 per cent.

Cheese are graded 94 per cent and up for first grade, 87 to 91 for second and 83 and 84 for third grade.

The Quinte district average is very high and an improvement over last year.

Most improvement in factory over 1952 awards went to Elmbrook, Nelson Sarles; Black River, Bert Jones; Royal Street, Hank Atherton.

Gold Cup Regatta Will Be Held Again Next Year

PICTON—Success of the Gold Cup regatta on Civic holiday assures a similar event being held next year, the annual meeting of Prince Edward Yacht Club was advised. Treasurer W. D. MacArthur reported a profit of $400 on the regatta and an additional $500 from other sources on hand. Cost of staging the regatta was $3,350. Other expenses of the club, including operation of the club house, have been discounted by ships and donations.

Mayor H. J. McFarland, Commodore for the past two years, asked to be relieved of the office due to pressure of other duties. He was named honorary commodore.

Officers elected were H. B. Tully, commodore; 1st vice commodore, Sam Genille; 2nd vice commodore, Vincent Genille; rear commodore, J. R. Danbury; secretary-treasurer, K. J. Mitchell; house committee, W. G. McLean, Don Ward, J. N. Bailie; directors, Richard Hart, Barney Hepburn, Lawson Stutchings, Robert Biddle, Ross Maxwell, Vernon Vanhuss, Jack Cole, L. L. Calnan, C. R. Widdifield, Q.C., George Duncan, Frank Hart.

Officers will attend a regional meeting of the Power Boat Association in Brockville when they will ask that Style Holiday date be confirmed for the annual regatta here.

PICTON—A record of 37 years' service as secretary of the Separate School Board here has just been completed by David Herrington, To mark this lengthy period of unbroken service and to honor Mr. Harrington, who asked to be relieved of the duties, members and ex-members of the Board gathered at St. Gregory's Parish hall.

James Prout read an address of appreciation and Rev. J. G. Clancy made the presentation to Mr. Harrington of an easy chair and foot stool.

British Papers Urge Churchill To See Malenkov

LONDON (AP) — Two leading Conservative newspapers urged Prime Minister Churchill today to "go in alone" to a meeting with Soviet Premier Malenkov if he can set up a parade President Eisenhower to join him.

They expressed understanding of United States distrust for the Russians but said Churchill's idea of holding informal East-West talks on world issues at the highest level was the only way he can find out what is on the Russian leader's mind.

The Daily Telegraph said it reluctantly conceded President Eisenhower would not find the same degree of support in the United States for such a meeting as Churchill has in Britain, but added:

"The whole point is: Look where you will, nothing except the prime minister's idea has even the remotest chance of getting anywhere."

"Let the impossibility of Eisenhower's participation be accepted. That does not mean necessarily that it would be impossible for him to conduct exploratory talks (with Malenkov) by our prime minister."

Baby-Sitter Probably Dead Because of Favor

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Evelyn Hartley is missing—probably dead—because she did a favor last Saturday night for a girl friend.

The popular high school junior, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Hartley, has been the object of intensive search since her disappearance five nights ago from the home of Viggo Rasmusen. She was there only because a classmate at La Crosse high school asked her to substitute on a baby-sitting job.

"Three chances are Evelyn was an accidental victim," said district attorney John Bosshard. He declined to name the girl she substituted for.

The possibility that a boy friend of Evelyn's might be involved in her disappearance was discounted by Bosshard.

"She had few dates and no steady boy friend. We've even cleared boys who had asked her for dates and had been refused," he said.

Milk Strike End In New York Believed Near

NEW YORK (AP)—As end to the milk strike which began four days ago in the New York metropolitan area seemed imminent today, Mayor Impellitteri announced the "most troublesome issues" in the milk-boycott dispute had been resolved.

The strike has cut off fresh milk from about 12,000,000 persons in the New York City area and northern New Jersey. Hospitals and schools have been supplied throughout the walkout.

Thirteen thousand AFL teamsters went on strike at 200 milk plants last Sunday over a union demand for a $15 weekly wage raise and a 36-hour week. Current wages range from $52 to $125 for a 40-hour week. The companies have offered boosts up to $2.10 a week.

ORA MEETING PLANNED

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Education Association has announced that its primary school section will hold a conference on reading at Saddaby public school in Kitchener Saturday. Aimed at bringing the latest techniques in reading instruction to the attention of grades 1, 2, and 3 teachers, the conference will be led by expert demonstrators who will conduct sample classroom sessions.

Shoots 'Buddy' Then Kills Self

CALGARY (CP)—Fred Martin and Robert Samson, both believed in their early 30s, were found dead in Martin's apartment here Wednesday night. Both had been shot and police termed it a case of murder and suicide.

Police said Martin shot Samson and then turned the shotgun on himself.

The men were former RCAF buddies and both married.

Police said a deck of cards was found strewn on the floor.

HEADS FOR CANADA

REPORT DEMORALIZING

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Dr. Alfred Kinsey's Sexual Behavior in the Human Female was more demoralizing to United States troops in Korea than Red propaganda, says John Morley, a lecturer who recently returned from the Orient.

The Kinsey report, Morley said at a civic meeting Wednesday, told 200,000 American conversees that "one out of every four American wives has been unfaithful."

Security Police Raid Guiana Party's Offices

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—Security police have raided headquarters of the leftist People's Progressive party and seized about 10,000 copies of the party's official newspaper, Thunder.

The raid Wednesday was the third on the PPP office in three days. And the fifth since Governor Sir Alfred Savage took over emergency powers in this South American colony.

At that time, British suspended the country's new constitution and fired six PPP ministers on charges they were plotting to turn the colony into a Communist state.

Persons who saw the latest issue of Thunder said it described the recent British activities as "imperialistic."

British officials announced Tuesday that they had detained five leaders of the PPP, J. G. D. Hayes, a prominent lawyer acting for the PPP, said he will on the five today at the detention camp to prepare their cases. It will be presented before a British committee appointed by the governor and headed by the colony's chief justice.

Frank Costello Released After Serving Year

DETROIT (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello was released today from the federal correctional institution at Milan, Mich., after serving almost a year of his 18-month sentence for contempt of the United States Senate.

Costello left in a big chauffeur-driven car with a second man and a woman clad in black furs, believed to be his wife.

The New York rackets operator was sent to prison for refusing to answer questions of a Senate crime investigating committee.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Better Polio Vaccine From Live Virus Seen

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Polio vaccine made from live virus appears better than the widely-publicized vaccine made from killed virus, a scientist here believes.

Dr. Edward S. Sulkin, chief virus research at the University of Texas' southwestern medical school, said three different types of poliomyelitis vaccine are under study with some of the research on live-virus vaccine being conducted in his laboratories.

Just returned from the international conference on virus research in Detroit, Dr. Sulkin spoke Wednesday before a Dallas service club.

St. Andrew's W.A. Hears Interesting Northland Story

The W.A. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church met on Tuesday. Mrs. A. B. McLean presided and business re the Forthcoming bazaar was discussed.

The visiting speaker of the evening was introduced by Mrs. Alexander. Mrs. Henning gave a most interesting talk on her work of a nurse at a station 1,000 miles north of Vancouver. "Telegraph Creek" was once more prosperous than it is now, in the good old gold rush days. With scenery unsurpassing, deer, moose, caribou, wild goats and grizzly and black bears. Fish were to be had by just casting your line.

Mrs. Henning's mode of transportation ranged from plane to sailing, dog sled and walking.

Telegraph Creek was built in three tiers and consisted of three stores, including a Hudson's Bay store, two churches, telegraph office, a Government telecond school and a hospital. A doctor was 300 or 400 miles away.

On arriving one visited the Indians and one always had to partake of tea and often cake. They relied on wild life mostly for food as not canned meat, moose and deer meat and smoked large quantities of delicious salmon.

A wedding was quite a celebration and a bride could not marry into her own tribe. A burial was a three-day festival and the cause of great joy as the departed went on to a happier sphere. Life in the far north was not as simple as one would imagine, emergency trips having to be made in all weathers and under anything but ideal conditions.

Mrs. Henning told of several amusing conditions, and one just felt the breath of the far north as one listened.

Mrs. Mantle tendered a gracious vote of thanks.

Tea was afterwards dispensed.

White-Shrine of Jerusalem Sponsors Hallowe'en Tea

The I.O.O.F. hall glowed with movement and color yesterday afternoon as the White Shrine of Jerusalem staged into full swing with its annual tea and sale of handicraft, including scalloped-edged centrepieces of large dimension in white with edge in variegated yellows. This would be drawn for later.

PRIZES, $250 PERMANENT

Other articles were fancy pot holders in basket shape of white crochet edged in red and ornamented with a large red rose, much too pretty to use in such a common manner; there were also knitted tea cosies, terry towels with crocheted baskets for wash cloths, costume jewellery, plastician pictures, a lovely dressed doll in pink satin in grass the centre of the guest bed, handkerchiefs with crocheted edges, guest towels with tatted edging, a big red strawberry pot holder, doll's hood and cape, tatted quilted coat hangers, and little cacti in pots. Gracing this display of goods on a large pair of shears, typifying handicraft, and at the other, a large black cat with green eyes, gazing steadily into space, and near at hand an African violet, presided this Mrs. J. Williams and Mrs. A. Calhoart.

ASSORTED CANDIES

At the candy booth was a bowl of assorted homemade candies; maple creams, chocolate fudge, divinity fudge, prettily arranged with compartments. This also was in charge of Mrs. Wood and to be had by ticket holder.

The candies were boxed in little pumpkin carts, in orange and black cups and in boxes, and looked most tempting. These included the same assortment as shown in the large box. Mrs. G. Black and Mrs. A. Gilbert were the conveners here, assisted by Mrs. E. Baker, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. I. Beeller, Mrs. A. Little, Mrs. H. Mott, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. E. Duffin.

The red brick post office with its patriotic flags, interspersed with two neighborly blue and stripes, had a number of boxes in varying shapes and wrappings, which would be delivered to the party depositing 25 cents per package. Mrs. V. Hoig and Mrs. D. Stevens were conveners here, assisted by Mrs. M. Gill and Mrs. M. Gee.

DELIGHTFUL CAKES

The home cooking booth was conveners by Mrs. P. Kerr and Mrs. A. Brash, assisted by Mrs. C. Buck, Mrs. A. McDonald, Mrs. D. Westover, Mrs. V. Conway, Mrs. M. Miller, Mrs. Ethel Storey, Mrs. J. Wessels and Mrs. R. Smith. As usual there were many lovely and delightful cakes, both white and chocolate, little shortbreads topped with half a maraschino cherry, cookies, biscuits, white loaf cup cakes, light as feathers, pumpkin pies, apple pies, pink layer cakes and pies, sprinkled nuts, canned cherries, pickled red cabbage and dishes of apple sauce, jam and preserves.

Near the homecooking table was a small table holding a pretty green-lined cake, topped with a little lady in yellow walking parasol in hand, in a rose garden with arbor. This would be given to the person holding the corresponding ticket number. Mrs. C. Birney was in charge of this.

DRAWING CARDS

The other drawing cards were grocery baskets filled with groceries, in charge of Mrs. M. Coigher, and an electric tea kettle, in charge of Mrs. M. Nelson.

Those attending these items were: The crocheted centrepiece, Mrs. J. Marsh, city; of the large box of assorted candies, Mrs. L. Jordan, city; of the fancy cake with rose garden, Mrs. C. Shenycaniffon; of the electric tea kettle, Mrs. Yorke, city; of the grocery baskets, Mrs. W. Morgan, city; Mrs. Newton, city; Mrs. A. Briant, city; Mrs. Saunders, city, and Mrs. M. Nelson, city.

Many others were the conveners of the bazaar and tea: Mrs. B. Reid, Mrs. M. Black, with an especial "thank you" to the latter for the dainty little old time ladies which graced the tea tables, and the pretty green cake with the rose garden, also for many other items showing imagination as well as patience, and to all those others who pitched so tirelessly to bring the afternoon to a successful conclusion.

Miss Muriel Lavery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Lavery of Montreal, and Mr. Everett Winfield Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Harrison, of Plainfield, Ontario, whose engagement is announced. The marriage has been arranged to take place on Saturday, November 7th, in Wesley United Church, Montreal.

Queen Victoria H-S Assoc. Holds Tea

The Queen Victoria Home and School Association recently held a tea for the teaching staff and grade mothers.

The table was nicely decorated with mauve mums and green candles. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Tremaine and her committee. Mrs. G. Bradford and Mrs. E. Fairman poured.

Mrs. Dybie convened this delightful tea, which gave the staff members and the grade mothers an opportunity to become better acquainted and a pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by everyone.

On Saturday, at Queen Victoria School, Mrs. C. Powell convened the annual skate sale ably assisted by Mrs. G. Davies, Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Mathews, Mrs. Gilroy, Mrs. Weese and Mrs. MacKeen.

Mrs. Arthurs and Mrs. Sherwood acted as cashiers and the sale was considered a great success by the many youngsters, now ready for the coming of winter's snow and ice.

SEVEN-YEAR TERM

TORONTO (CP)—Roy Dunlop, 30 Wednesday was sentenced to seven years on two charges of armed robbery of Toronto theatres which totalled only $288. Beverly Munro, 28, got six years on the same charges.

Mother Visits Son's Grave

Mrs. M. Evans, who left in May of last year for a tour of England and Wales, returned home on the 5th of this month via the "Mauretania," is at present staying with her son, Mr. Alf Evans and family, 211 William Street.

During her stay in Europe, Mrs. Evans attended the Coronation in June, and in August visited the grave of her younger son, Flight-Sergeant Spencer Evans in the British War Victims Cemetery, in Kiel, Germany.

Flight-Sergeant Evans who had been shot down in 1943 had, for seven years, been listed as missing. In 1949, Mrs. Evans received word that he had been killed in action.

Mrs. Evans also visited her sister and family in Stockholm, Sweden, and upon her return journey was a guest for three weeks of her nephew, and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Rackoff and family, of Long Island, N.Y.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

How Can He Make His Dates Remember

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Although I am 30 years old, I have never dated very much. Now I have met a girl who is kind of special, and I would like to get off on the right foot with her. She is 19.

In almost a week, I have a date with her to go to a show. Now I get along fine on a date like this, except that after the show I get used we stop at the local soda fountain, it is usually still early, about 9 o'clock, and I have an awful time finding something to do to take up the next hour or so until I take her home. I know one way is to drive around and talk, but I am a person who really has to work to make conversation, and say way I am not so sure that just riding around is the right thing. I would really appreciate any suggestions you could give me as to what to do after the show.

G.L.

You don't say how large the town is in which you live, but isn't there some nice place in it to which you could take your girl for something to eat, where you could stay awhile longer than you can if you just go to a soda fountain? Most towns have some eating place where a young man and his girl can sit for awhile over hamburgers and coffee or something of that sort, and G.L.you get out of the show at ten o'clock, and then spend half an hour three-quarters of an hour over your food, it's certainly not too early to have any girl home then. I can't see any reason why you have to feel she must be kept out until midnight, for instance. In fact, I think it always a nice consideration for a girl of 19 if a young man doesn't try to keep her out till a late hour.

Of course you could reverse things and take the girl to dinner first, then go to a later show and stop at your soda fountain after that.

As for your conversational difficulties, if you will remember that everybody likes to talk about themselves and their interests, and give your girl a chance to do this by asking the right sort of questions and by then listening, too (occasional ones, of course—you will probably not want to hear her enjoy herself but you'll come upon some subject which interests you, and then you'll have a good time discussing it.

If you would like to have a list of books which might help you develop social poise and the ability to make conversation, send me a self-addressed envelope and I will be glad to forward it to you.

Incidentally, have any of you young people who may be reading this any suggestions of your own that might help the chap?

Unhappy At Home, He Wants To Escape

Dear Miss Fairfax:

The mother of my boy friend is very much against his going out with girls and keeps nagging at him all the time because he goes with me. They have fights all the time about it, but he says he loves me very much and won't let her come between us.

The other day he told me he was going into service, even before he was re-drafted, claiming that he just can't stand living at home any longer. Do you think this could be the real truth, or do you think his mother had in fact succeeded in talking him out of going with me?

Jane H.

Dear Jane:

It is very likely indeed that this boy did decide to go into the service to escape from a home situation in which he was unhappy and which was beyond his ability to handle. Whatever his feelings may be, you may be, what I think he is most interested in right now is getting out of the family quarrels.

Try to be a good friend to him during this period in which he is undoubtedly having a hard time finding himself, and don't expect too much of him. If he really feels that you are the girl for him, he'll be back, and if it turns out that he drifts away from you while he is gone, his being away will make it easier for you to adjust yourself.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

Modern Make-Up

Heavy make-up is no longer fashionable. Vivid lipsticks are still with us, of course, but the powders in use today come in natural tints that glamorize the skin. How you apply it, however, is important. Fluff it on lightly. No patchy work. No slapping the pad on your nose. Start on your neck, work upward and put the dull finish on your nose last.

If you have any natural coloring at all, do not play with the rouge pad. If your particular style of beauty calls for a blush, lay one on lightly and delicately, using the faintest touch you can find. Powder and rouge are carefully blended with an extra pad kept for that purpose.

The natural coloring of the lips is seldom all that it should be, hence the need of artifice. Though women are truly concerned with their health these days, lips are often pale. This beauty problem is especially common among career girls who do not get enough fresh air and outdoor exercise to keep their circulation stimulated.

Youth can flaunt lips of vivid scarlet but women of middle age should use lighter tints. In fact the older woman should never emphasize any detail of her make-up lest she call attention to facial creases, softened tissues and other evidences of age.

One can change the pattern of one's line. If the lower lip protrudes, use a light color there, but let the features are small, one can indulge in a Cupid's bow. Bread line should not be accented. That vogue is definitely out.

Protection For Flowers

Were you disappointed in some of the plants in your flower garden last summer? Were they killed off with rust or mildew just when they should have been coming into bloom?

Reporting the growing season the Botany and Plant Pathology Division of the Department of Agriculture at Kemptville received a large number of requests for information about the diseases of ornamental plants. A frequent request concerned mildew on hollyhocks, and as a rule the information is sought at a time when the plants are severely affected. Since the older fungicides were effective only on protectants, only requiring the leaves of the plants to be kept covered with it well before and during the time the disease might make its appearance, there was no question could be effected after the infection had established and became noticeable.

Some of the newer fungicides, however, are proving effective after infection has occurred. A Zineb wettable powder (Dithane Z-78, Parzate Zineb Wettable Powder, or Blighitox 50-W) used as a spray four times at 10-day intervals will successfully halt the progress of rust and provide protection from further infections without injuring the flowers. It has proved effective in controlling rust on hollyhocks and asparagus, and mildew on tuberous begonias and phlox, but a few plants are subject to injury from it, notably certain varieties of roses, so it should not be used indiscriminately. Follow closely the directions on the package.

Plants watered over in the garden should be tested as soon as evidence or infection appears and again if re-infection occurs.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

Thanking For Wedding Gifts

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

About acknowledging wedding presents. If you thank a person personally at the wedding reception, is it necessary to write a note as well? Which acknowledgment is considered the better?

E.P.

So many of today's brides-to-be are so maddeningly casual and thoughtless about the way they "express" their thank-you for their wedding presents that I can't say too emphatically that they should write a prompt and gracious thank-you note, even if they have thanked the giver personally.

As a matter of fact, nowadays many people who have been given the too-casual-thanks brush-off are becoming wary about spending a lot of thought and trouble and money for presents for brides. On all sides I hear, "Well, so many brides today are so discourteous or so ungrateful that they never write a decent thank-you anyway . . . so you might as well not give them anything, or at most just an inexpensive present."

An Awkward Plan

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

My brother and his wife are to have their Twenty-fifth Wedding Anniversary soon, and my husband and I are planning to give a dinner for them, about 24 guests. My brother's wife and I will be seated at the table because we'll be seeing about the serving and so forth. Is there any special place where my brother and his wife should be seated at the table?

O.M.

If seated service for your dinner party means that you and your husband will not be seated at the table with your guests, I wish I could persuade you to use buffet service, and delightfully easy to plan and carry through. A hostess and host should not give a seated dinner and not take their places as hostess and host at the dinner table — this is not proper, is extremely awkward procedure. "Everybody's doing it" . . . giving buffet dinners . . . and I hope you will follow this trend. However, if you insist on a seated dinner, you might have your guests of honor sit side by side at the head of the table. Be "host" at the right of the bridegroom."

Fiancee Should Pay Her Own Way

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

My fiance is a lieutenant in the Army, and is stationed quite a distance from where I live. We're to be married around Christmas time, and in about two weeks I'd like to go to visit him at his camp. He's written me the plans, and my mother and father approve of my going. But they objected when I said that my fiance would send me my round-trip ticket and would pay my hotel bill while I was there, and they firmly insist that I must not accept these "expenses." As we are engaged (and also as he is a very well-bred, and conservative person), I thought it would be proper. Are they right about this?

Betty M.

Yes, ma'am . . . you should pay your own way, transportation costs and hotel bill. This is true even though you are engaged. And since your fiance is so well-bred and considerate and polite, I'm sure you explain the decision to him, even more respect the sure judgment and taste of your family.

Hallowe'en Hokum

By Mary Moore

Since my youngsters have become adults our costume box has deteriorated until now all that it yields is a blonde wig with long flaxen braids that was Peta's pet prop when he was a rosy-cheeked fourteen.

Eleanor (my very brunette neighbor) is going to wear it this year at the bowling club Hallowe'en party.

For this party I've cooked up the menu and one simple game. Instead of ducking for apples they are going to nibble for doughnuts!

Doughnuts-on-a-String

Suspend a strong cord, on which doughnuts have been strung, across the corner of the room. Insist that each guest, in order to be eligible for the game and food to come, must set one of the cakes whirling with the help of his hands, directly from the string. Be sure to sugar the doughnuts with icing sugar, for it powders their noses so effectively.

Hallowe'en Light Supper

Toasted Cheese Rolls

Hot Ripe Olives
Hot Dill Pickles (optional)
Ice Cream Sandwiches
Hot Spiced Cider

Toasted Cheese Rolls

Spread wafer thin slices of fresh crusty bread with softened butter, and then with creamed cheese, which has been flavored with salt and a tiny bit of French or dry mustard or curry powder. Roll up diagonally and fasten toothpicks. Place on rack and toast under broiler in oven, turning once until rolls are golden. These should be served hot.

Stoned ripe olives in their own juice, emphasizes their characteristic flavor and is very popular.

If you want to serve more than a "snack meal" add this

Spook Salad

Firm canned peaches, blackberries or halves of red or purple grapes, bananas, tart apple peel, cloves or apple seeds, celery sticks. This is not one of those wacky salads, notable only for appearance. Delicious good, too. Use half of a well-drained firm canned peach on each lettuce leaf, for each spook. These are fearsome indeed if the eyes are made of small blackberries. Failing those, halves of red or purple grapes are quite effective also. Pineapple is fine, too. A sliver of pimento or red apple peel makes the mouth, and a clove or apple seed is enough nose for any spook. Ice cream cheese is the hair or the head according to your artistic ability. If you want to add some crossed celery sticks anybody with half an eye will know they are crossed bones.

Ice Cream Sandwiches

Cut two and one-half inch squares of chocolate cake about one-half inch thick. Between two of these squares, put a square of orange ice cream. Decorate with whipped cream and an orange mint or section of fresh orange. Or the orange cake with chocolate ice cream between.)

Hot Spiced Cider

To serve: To 3 cups sweet cider add 15 whole cloves and 3 3-inch sticks cinnamon. Bring to boiling point, reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat, cover and let stand 30 minutes. When ready to serve strain, add another 3 cups or little more to bring this up to 6 full measuring cups, and 1-2 teaspoon each grated orange and lemon rind, and heat just to boiling and serve. An interesting touch is to add 1-4 or 1-2 teaspoon butter to each glass or mug in which this is to be served, before filling it. If you would like to serve this cold, let it cool to room temperature then pour over ice cubes.

Pheasants In Good Supply On Pelee Island

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Few of the thousands of hunters who looked forward to the brief pheasant season in Essex county were happy as the annual hunt started Wednesday.

Some 150 of the 1,000 hunters who thronged over tiny Pelee Island in search of the colorful birds grumbled over the delay in ferry transportation to the hunting grounds.

One man was wounded shortly after the two-day hunt started on the Lake Erie island about 50 miles southeast of here.

Most displeased were some Windsor residents who criticized regulations which prevented many non-residents from hunting pheasants in nearby townships.

Still others complained of the damp weather.

Probably the only ones favorably interested were those who got to Pelee Island and other good hunting spots without incident, found pleasant accommodations before the rush started and managed to grab a fine catch of plump pheasants.

Victim of the first accident reported was E. A. Walsh, 56, of Toronto, who was struck in the arm and left side by shotgun pellets fired by his brother, Stanley, also of Toronto, police said.

Some 150 hunters, many of them wealthy business men from many parts of Canada and the United States, were left on the dock at Kingsville Tuesday after trying to get to the island by boat when weather conditions forced cancellation of flights.

As the ferry was being booked, RCMP officers were to count the passengers to make sure it was not overloaded. The boat is reported to carry 300 passengers.

However, of a little difficulties hunters on the island reported pheasants in good supply. The season lasts 16 days on Pelee but is of four days' duration in other parts of the county.

Waynes Divorced But Nicky Hilton Claims a Foul

By JAMES BACON

LOS ANGELES (AP)—No hands were raised in victory today in the bitter John Wayne divorce trial, but Nicky Hilton claimed a foul.

"I'm the loser in this fight," declared the former husband of movie star Elizabeth Taylor. "This is ridiculous."

He referred to the charge made by the movie box-office king that Hilton was the other man in the Waynes' stormy domestic life.

A peace-loving judge called a sudden halt Wednesday to the Wayne fight. He granted a divorce to each party, applying the so-called "human principles" of California divorce law. This seldom-used principle is reserved for cases where no concession is seen from either side.

However, the husband still pays. The double divorce came after Wayne charged—and his wife denied—that she was in love with Hilton. Both sides agreed as did Hilton, that the hotel heir spent a week as the guest of Mrs. Wayne at her home while the actor was in Honolulu.

WAS GUEST OF ACTRESS

"Everybody leaves out the fact that I was a guest of Betsy von Furstenberg, not Mrs. Wayne," Hilton told a reporter. "Betsy was my only reason for being in the house, not Chata (a Mexican nickname for Mrs. Wayne, freely translated as sweet little pigmoe)."

Hilton said Miss von Furstenberg, an actress and German countess who was Hilton's sweetheart at the time, also was a guest at the Wayne home.

Mrs. Wayne, on the stand, upheld Hilton's contention that he was there with Miss von Furstenberg.

Seguin Had Said It Would Be Easy To Rob Slain Man

CORNWALL (CP) — A bookkeeper testified Wednesday that Henri Seguin told him a few days before Leonard Hurd was found dead that "it would be easy to hit Mr. Hurd over the head and take his money."

Douglas McKibbon, former bookkeeper at Hurd's garage at Maxville, was one of 21 witnesses called by the crown before it closed its case.

McKibbon said he knew Seguin for some time prior to the discovery of Hurd's bullet-pierced body in a field on a sideroad near his home 30 miles north of here Aug. 1, 1953. He said he passed on Seguin's remark about slugging and robbing Hurd.

WANTED NO TROUBLE

"I told him I didn't want any trouble in Maxville, because I was getting along well," McKibbon testified. "Seguin said that if I gave him some food and money there would be no trouble. So I gave him some groceries and $10."

During other conversations, Seguin asked him about reports Hurd carried large amounts of money, he said. He told Seguin he took care of the garage money himself in the daytime but turned it over to Hurd at night.

McKibbon said that on one occasion when he gave Seguin $5 and some groceries, he saw a brown leather zippered satchel in the back of Seguin's 1954 model coupe. Shown a satchel entered as the trial as an exhibit, he said it was similar.

NOT TAKEN SERIOUSLY

Under cross-examination, McKibbon said he did not pay any attention to Seguin's remark about robbing Hurd because he did not think Seguin meant it seriously. He said that was why he did not report it to the police.

Johnny McBain, 15-year-old farm boy from the Maxville district, said that on the night of the slaying he saw Seguin's taxicab parked near the spot where it was later found in the ditch. Near it was another car which he identified from photographs as the one belonging to Seguin.

Seguin, 28, went on trial Monday. He was brought here from Williams Lake, B. C., after being wounded in a gunfight with RCMP during what police said was an attempted bank robbery.

Krakatau Again Spewing Fire

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Thousands of the island volcano which 50 years ago blew off its top in one of the world's most violent explosions were driven from their homes today as it blew its top 70 years ago, it spewing ash and fire in a new series of eruptions.

The Indonesian government's vulcanological service has reported more than 100 explosions from the craters of Krakatau in the last four days.

Shipping has been rerouted to avoid the fire-and-brimstone-belching island, which lies in the narrow Sunda straits between Java and Sumatra.

No damage or casualties have been reported thus far.

ASH ROSE TWO MILES

Government observers on the west Java shore opposite the volcano said a terrific blast rocked the area Monday morning. Shortly afterward, a cloud of sulphurous ash rose to a height of more than two miles. A series of 122 eruptions of varying intensity followed.

CAMPBELLFORD

Miss D. Sharp's Pupils Present First Recital

CAMPBELLFORD — A recital of tap, dancing and musical numbers by the pupils of Miss Donna Sharp, was held in the High School auditorium here, on Thursday and Friday evenings, with the youthful pupils playing to a packed house on both nights. This was the first recital of the pupils or the young teacher, and it was carried out quite well.

The program consisted of about 55 numbers with the smart little dancers and piano players decked out in colorful costumes for the occasion.

Following the program, Miss Sharp was called to the stage where she was presented with a silver necklace and bracelet from the I.O.D.E. who sponsored the recital. She also received a lovely bouquet of flowers and a table from her pupils, for which she graciously thanked them for their kindness, and also thanked the parents for their co-operation in helping with the children.

Canada's Economic Growth Will Give Room for Airlines To Compete Says St. Laurent

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent predicted Wednesday night that Canada's economic development will give airlines scope for competition among airlines and indicated his government will not block such a trend.

He said the government is opposed to the "abuses" of competition where there is insufficient traffic for two, three or four operators, but added:

"The government does not necessarily intend to guarantee every operator a permanent monopoly in his area."

In a speech to airline executives and aircraft manufacturers, the prime minister discussed an application by Canadian Pacific Airlines to run a cross-country air cargo service between Montreal and Vancouver. Opposing government policy has given the government-owned Trans-Canada Air Lines a monopoly in east-west trunk services.

The cabinet this week will hear representations from both CPA and TCA on the issue.

TWO PRINCIPLES

Mr. St. Laurent said the cabinet decision will be based on two principles: what is best for the public, "not just what's best for me or for individuals," and what is best for the industry itself.

"We will endeavor to determine whether or not there is enough business in sight for two lines to serve the public at reasonable rates and with reasonable profit," he told members of the Air Industries and Transportation Association, at a dinner ending their three-day annual meeting.

"Whichever way the decision goes now, it will not in the long run be a decision in favor of the perpetuation of monopoly conditions."

The government believed that as a general rule the public was best served under competitive conditions.

EXTORTION CHARGED

DETROIT (AP)—A Detroit contractor testified Tuesday that he gave an AFL Teamsters Union official $1,000 to keep peace with the union while he worked on a road contract. Joseph Gervagi Jr. said he gave the money to Daniel J. Keating, president of Pontiac, (Mich.) Local 614. He testified at the examination of six AFL Teamsters Union officials indicted by a grand jury on charges of conspiracy and extortion.

Major Stethem, Kingston, Made Staff Officer

OTTAWA (CP)—The army Wednesday announced that Maj. H. W. C. Stethem, 36, of Kingston, has become general staff officer, grade one, at the Army Staff College at Kingston with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. Now serving as general staff officer, grade two, at eastern Ontario area headquarters, Kingston, he will take up his new duties Nov. 1.

Maj. Stethem will be succeeded at eastern Ontario area headquarters by Maj. Richard Cunningham, 37, of Barrie and Weston. Maj. Cunningham now with headquarters, Canadian base units, Antwerp, Belgium, will assume his new appointment Nov. 3.

Police Looking For Place Where Girl Was Killed

IROQUOIS (CP) — Samples of earth and grass, taken from a nearby spot where police said Marie Anne Carrier may have been slain, were sent Wednesday to the provincial police laboratory in Toronto.

Police have been looking for the place where Miss Carrier was killed ever since the stabbed body of the 33-year-old reserve sergeant from Stenville, Que., was found beside a county road six miles north of here.

Investigators said they found an area of grass which had been beaten down on a narrow laneway on the western outskirts of this St. Lawrence river town. They said the area and the roadway were stained with some dark substance, and samples of this were sent to Toronto.

Ground Observers Pinpoint Crash Of RCAF Jet

NORTH BAY (CP)—Three district members of the Ground Observer Corps are credited with pinpointing the crash of a CF-100 plane Tuesday night which killed its two-man crew—FO. Edward Andrew Charles, 23, and FO. Gerry Robert Ormiston, 23, both of Vancouver.

The observers are chief observer Edgar Edwards, his son, Sydney Edwards, and Russell Eckhart, all of the Restoule area 30 miles northwest of here.

The $700,000 all-weather jet fighter plunged into rugged bush country near Restoule while on a training flight from the RCAF station here. The ground observers reported seeing the 17-ton plane veer off from the normal flight hurtle into a clump of trees. They heard an explosion and saw a ball of orange flame.

Wreckage was scattered over a fairly large radius. The fuselage burned fiercely and a crash crew battled little more than a mass of broken and charred metal.

The three observers helped searchers find the wreckage and the pilot's body is rain and darkness early Wednesday. Later another search party found the navigator's body a third of a mile from the crash scene.

WINS IN SWEEPSTAKE

Walter Burley, 43, of Toronto, is one of four Canadians who won $197,500 apiece when Jupiter won the 111th running of the Cambridgeshire Handicap Stakes at Newmarket, Eng. They were among 66 Canadians who held Irish hospital sweepstakes tickets on starters in the 1¼-mile race. Mr. Burley is with his wife and daughter Carol Ann. They plan a Florida vacation with part of the money. — (CP Photo.)

Lawson Urges Canada House In New York

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian Consul-General Ray Lawson has urged erection of a Canada House in New York, a $5,000,000, 18-storey modern building to house most Canadian enterprise in the metropolis under one roof.

It was Mr. Lawson, he told the Canadian Club of New York in a speech Wednesday night. With their support and the support of other Canadian interests in New York it could become a reality within two years, and without cost to the Canadian taxpayer.

The idea, he said, was a personal one, but it reaction were favorable among Canadians here, he would try to get "early and favorable" consideration of the plan by the Canadian government.

Lawson spoke at the 30th anniversary of the Canadian Club of New York.

The consul-general said in his conception of a Canada House it would serve as a headquarters for Canadians and friends of Canada visiting or living in New York.

In it could be concentrated all Canadian government offices, Canadian transportation companies, those Canadian businesses which wished to participate in the enterprise, and all Canadian organizations, such as the Canadian Club itself. He believed 80 per cent of the cost — which he estimated roughly at $2,000,000 for an 18-storey structure—could be amortized over 40 years.

Church Favors Recognition Of Communist Govt.

CLEVELAND (CP)—The United Church of Canada favors recognition of the Chinese Communist government and its representation at the United Nations, a church spokesman said Wednesday.

Rev. J. R. Mutchmor of Toronto asked a meeting of the National Conference of Canadian and World Order to consider the Chinese question.

The question—the proper view of the Chinese Communist government—was one of the issues for study drawn up Wednesday by the meeting, attended by some 430 clergy and laymen from 30 Protestant and Orthodox churches in Canada and the United States.

Delegates later voted overwhelmingly to reject any action favoring admission of Red China to the UN.

Radio Station Workers Fired, Used Bad Word

NEW YORK (AP)—An obscene word that went out over the Mutual Broadcasting System Wednesday night, bringing protests from across the country, has been traced to two radio station workers in Washington, the network announced.

The men were identified as an engineer and an announcer at station WWDC. The Mutual System said both were relieved of any future responsibilities on network programs. They were not identified by name.

The incident occurred during the 15-minute Fulton Lewis Jr. news program, broadcast from WWDC.

Salesman 'Moved'

GUELPH (CP) — Police said Wednesday some farmers in this district have fallen victim to fast-talking salesmen promising "income tax service."

Some rural residents paid more than $30 in advance for a two-year service that was supposed to include filing out income tax forms, consultations and keeping a set of books.

When the farmers wrote to the address given by the salesmen, their letters were returned stamped "moved."

27-Inch Screen One of Features At Exhibition

More than 120 television sets of all shapes and sizes were shown, but the 27-incher was built around the biggest cathode-ray tube ever produced commercially in Britain.

Such a set would cost the ordinary purchaser between £300 and £329, officials estimate. Not far from it was one of the earliest types of all-scan sets, built by J. L. Baird, the television pioneer.

Radio also had a big place in the show, with improved quality and lower prices compared to last year's displays.

GROWING INDUSTRY

Television and radio receivers however, account for only about one-third of the output of what is known as the radio industry in Britain. The show included such items as an electronic piano, a tape recorder and another electronic marvel that grades anything from cheese to haemorrhoids at a rate of millions an hour, separating the good from the bad by bombarding them individually with high voltage.

One instrument that attracted attention was a device that can be attached to a telephone receiver. A message written on any piece of paper is slipped into it, and two minutes later it is reproduced on paper at the other end of the telephone line which, of course, has been fitted with the same device.

In all its ramifications the radio industry in Britain now employs 135,000 workers. Its annual output is worth more than £100,000,000.

A popular feature of the show was a television studio where visitors could watch the production of BBC programs that go out regularly to the country's 2,500,000 telein sets.

BIG ORGANIZATION

The British Broadcasting Corporation has started on what it calls "the most ambitious documentary we have yet attempted." It will be a series of 13 half-hour films, recreating Britain's air power from 1914 to 1954.

The studio will be loaded with many historic shots. It will show the attacks on London as seen by German pilots in the blitz days, and enemy pictures of British bombing raids over Germany. The series will be ready for television in 1955.

TWO GET U.S. MEDAL

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Two members of the RCAF's search and rescue unit, Sgt. J. Coutourier of Montreal and Sgt. Alfred R. W. S. Trent of Pathlow, Sask., have been awarded the United States Soldier's Medal for heroism. The pair made risky parachute jumps to search for survivors of a U.S. bomber crash at Trinity Bay, Nfld., last March.

Canadian Forest Fires Take Annual Toll of Two Million Acres Valued at $4,000,000

WASHINGTON (CP) — Canada's forest fires take an average yearly toll of nearly 2,000,000 acres of timber, valued at about $4,000,000, Resources Minister Lesage said here today.

In a speech prepared for the fourth American Forestry Congress, Mr. Lesage said this rate of fire loss is estimated at double the rate "that could be tolerated for the practice of sustained-yield forestry."

He said an audience of forestry experts from across the United States that fire protection continues to be a principal concern of all provincial governments, and counting for half of all expenditures on forest management.

The federal government, he said, conducts research into fire protection methods and has developed a means of measuring fire danger which is widely used by protection services.

IMPROVING FORESTS

Mr. Lesage said the threat to Canada's forests from insects and disease continues to be serious, but that it is being met by constantly improving silvicultural practices. He cited an instance in New Brunswick where the Canadian government is paying contributed a $6,000,000 to aid 4,000 square miles of pulpwood forest of boxworm infestation.

Noting the common interests and objectives of foresters in the United States and Canada, Mr. Lesage declared:

"Our association in forest products research has grown increasingly intimate, and we would welcome closer contact expecially in the fields of silviculture and forest management industries."

Canada has the largest reserves of potential forest products in the "free world" outside of the tropics, with a total area of some 1,300,000 square miles in all classifications of timber. Only Brazil and Russia exceeded this figure, Mr. Lesage said.

To Hike Contribution

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada is prepared to boost her contribution to the UN technical assistance program from the 1953 figure of $800,000 to a maximum of $1,500,000 in 1954 providing other countries make substantial contributions.

The contribution is subject to approval by Parliament.

Canada's readiness to increase her contribution was made known Tuesday by Senator Stanley McKeen of Vancouver in a statement to a closed meeting of a special UN committee considering technical assistance funds.

Liquor Board A Mistake Says PC Member

TORONTO (CP)—Allistair Johnston, Progressive Conservative member of the legislature for Parry Sound, said Wednesday the appointment of the Ontario liquor licence board was a mistake.

"I think now we will all admit the Drew government made a mistake when the liquor licence board was set up," he said at a meeting of the legislature's select committee on reforms. "It should have been made a part of a government department."

Members said they agreed with Mr. Johnston that the liquor licence board is evidence that commissions or boards often lead to loosening of control by government and legislature members.

Proposes Some Ontario Jails Be Closed

TORONTO (CP)—Closing some Ontario jails as an economy measure was proposed Wednesday at a hearing of the legislature's committee on reform institutions.

Allistair Johnston, Progressive Conservative member of the legislature for Parry Sound, urged consolidation of jails to reduce staffs and cut the province's crime bill.

His suggestion followed comments by several members of the committee that they had found many jails with only a few prisoners in them. He said only political reasons kept some jails open.

W. J. Grummett, CCF house leader, suggested one jail might serve four or five counties, particularly in southern Ontario.

'Invitation Day' Enjoyed By Picton Students

WELLINGTON — On Friday, October 23rd, the pupils of Picton Collegiate Institute attended an "Invitation Day" held by the students of Wellington Continuation School.

The visitors arrived promptly at 2 p.m. with their basketball and volley ball teams.

A delicious hot supper was served the visitors by the Wellington girls.

After supper the schedule of ball games was completed.

The visitors and W.C.S. pupils held a dance in the assembly hall with Mr. Russ Diggins and his orchestra supplying the music.

The good sportsmanship of the W.C.I. students was much appreciated by the W.C.S.

Banner Held.

The ladies of the Order of the Eastern Star, held a banner and bingo in the Town Hall on Friday night.

Included among the attractions were a fish pond, a post office, a domestic table, a fancy work table and a table with home made candy.

Mrs. Walmsley of Picton won a draw for two pounds of chocolates, and Mrs. Thompson of Bloomfield won a hamper of grocories.

Proceeds from the event went to the hospital fund.

CLEVELAND (AP) — American church leaders have made it plain that they're worried about the fate of the United Nations.

Several gave speaker at an interdenominational conference rose to defend UN activity and to declare their confidence in the world organization.

The Rev. Dr. Richard M. Fagley, New York Congregational executive, blasted by a flood of dashing nationalism, social systems and economic blocs.

Mrs. Edith Sampson, Chicago Episcopalian, said: "The future of the United States is at stake . . . The UN deserved the full support of the churches we represent."

MRS. ROOSEVELT SPEAKS

Such sentiments were echoed repeatedly as 400 clergymen and laymen, representing 30 Protestant and eastern Orthodox denominations, sought to put world questions to the test of Christian doctrine.

Tuesday night, 2,000 persons joined conference delegates in listening to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt praise the UN's achievements and defend its cost.

CARTOONIST DIES

SCARSDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Herb Block, 44, who had carried on the cartoons of H. T. Webster since the latter's death a year ago, died here Monday night. Roth had been associated with Webster for 30 years before death broke up the partnership Sept. 22, 1952. Since then he had continued to draw The Webster feel and other cartoons which were syndicated in more than 100 newspapers.

THOMASBURG

THOMASBURG — In Christ Church on Sunday evening the fourth service conducted by Rev. T. H. Purvis was well attended.

The beautiful autumn weather lowered the attendance somewhat at morning Sunday School. However there were a faithful 30 present in the session. The superintendent, Harold Morton, gave a cordial invitation for more to attend.

The evening service in the United Church was well attended. Mr. H. Farrow of Hilton, lay supply minister, conducting. His new food for thought for young and old, in his children's story and concluding poem.

The many friends of Mr. Earl Adams, who has been a patient in Belleville hospital since June, were sorry to hear of his having to undergo further treatment in Kingston hospital. All join in wishing him a complete recovery.

The residents of Thomasburg are grateful for the recent installation of Hydro in the Carleton home. It seems if the residents want street lighting, they will have to join the old English custom of every householder putting on a light to all say 'thank you' to everyone who will let their light shine on dark streets.

There is no "overnight cure" for irregularity

But there is a simple, natural answer to the common problem of irregularity due to lack of bulk

There are men and women (perhaps you're one of them) who won't let Nature take its course . . . THEY TRY TO SUBSTITUTE UNNATURAL "FORCING ACTIONS" FOR THE NATURAL REGULARITY WHICH SENSIBLE DAILY HABITS AND SUFFICIENT BULK IN THE DIET COULD PROBABLY MAINTAIN.

Many fall into the habit of using laxatives in a way laxative makers never intended. They take "big gest willpower without even reading the directions on the label.

Naturally, such overdosing—with products intended only for occasional relief of a temporary stoppage—puts upon the delicate digestive system an unnatural strain.

There's nothing wrong, of course, with taking laxatives occasionally. If you feel the need for a laxative, just be sure you take it according to directions and recommended dose.

BUT THERE IS A WAY TO AVOID TAKING DRUG-TYPE LAXATIVES AND TO PLACE YOUR DEPENDENCE ON NATURAL BULK FOR BULK IN THE DIET IS YOUR TROUBLE.

In many natural foods—such as certain vegetables, fruits, and grains—nature grows abundant natural bulk which normally and naturally aids the rhythmic process of elimination.

In no other natural food is natural bulk so ideally found as in the outer layers of the whole wheat kernel, known generally as Bran.

Bran is nature's "laxative food" instead of a concentrate. When properly processed and shredded, whole wheat Bran supplies natural bulk that the digestive system can handle in a natural way.

The Kellogg Company has made whole wheat bran into a delicious breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN PERFORMS NATURALLY WHAT DRUG-TYPE LAXATIVES DO CHEMICALLY. IT HELPS CLEAR THE INTESTINES OF WASTE IN A NATURAL WAY. IT PROVIDES SOFT NATURAL BULK FOR EASY NATURAL ACTION.

There is no stomach upset, no churning, no after-effect except the feeling of satisfied All-Bran users. Their wrists of their own free will to tell us what natural relief they receive from eating Kellogg's All-Bran daily and drinking plenty of water.

EAT KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN EVERY MORNING FOR BREAKFAST FOR 10 DAYS. THEN, IF YOU'RE NOT COMPLETELY SATISFIED, SEND THE EMPTY CARTON TO THE KELLOGG COMPANY, LONDON, ONTARIO—AND GET DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK.

Remember—Kellogg's All-Bran has helped millions. Why not you?

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

TUNG THE STAGE!

The Maroos took a night off last night but will likely go back to the practice grind tonight in preparation for the battle with the Kingston Goodyears here tomorrow night.

Coach "Red" Doran has been working out with various front and blueline combinations but will not decide on the final line-up until Friday evening some time.

Jackie Wardhaugh, Keith MacDonald and Duke Doran have been dashing up and down the lootsore in one shock troops combination while the inseparable twins, Erwin and Elwin Duncan (they have played together since they juggled their first Fahlum bottle) have been teamed alternately with Gerry DesJardins and Ted DeGray.

Coach Doran is centering two flashy wingers in Peter Jones and Dougie Hull and the trio appeared to this department to be well balanced.

Behind the blueline Doran has joined Jake Wade with Bob Taylor and Tommy Schreiber alternating with Jud Semark and Vern Gerve.

The scrrel-loped coach shook his head when we asked whom he thought he would start on Friday night.

"I am trying to get the best combinations possible and will not know anything definite until late Friday. The boys are all working hard and appear to be rounding into shape. The new fellows are showing up nicely and I believe we have a strong defensive combination here. We are going all out to win this all important first game and that is why I am concentrating on getting the most powerful and best defensive combination together."

From what we hear the canny Johnny Carr-Harris, member of the Kingston Goodyears, along with Manager Art Castorino, also is juggling his combinations as he'll be danced if the haughty champions of 1952-53 are going to be humbled by the upstarts from Belleville.

However, we have it on good authority that Johnny has got himself a couple of duos of hard-hitting defencemen in Tommy Goodfellow and Joe Watts, and Bob Londry and Nicky Nicolson.

Carr-Harris is sending the combo of Don Murray, Clint "Thumper" and Jack White, a fast-skating trio up and down the line lanes while he looks favorably on the threesome of Kenny Parris (is that guy ever going to quit?), Don Ballringer and Tommy Tindall, ex-Chanoonerian. Red Chiles, Wilson Reid and Gerry Wagar round out another front-line brigade, but as in the case here, nothing will be definite until Friday evening.

But whero, O where, is George MacGregor, the gent who lifted the Goodyears by their skatestraps last year and sparked them to victory on more than one occasion. Johnny Miller's name is missing from the tentative line-up too. Wallace Hosey, 18 summers, has decided to stay away from the hockey wars this year.

Ken Johnson, goal-keeping hero of the 1952-53 champions, will be back in the old familiar spot with "Andy" Anderson standing by "just in case."

The hockey fever that engulfed the Kingston hockey fans has evaporated but kaola, it appears, for reports from Kingston state subscriber tickets are going like the proverbial hotcakes. Which should make the Community Centre's genial Jim McCormick's face to break out in appreciative smiles.

The old hockey mare who fuels on folding lettuce seems to have just as rapacious an appetite as ever.

HEAP BIG PUCKUM PLAYER!

The famous warrior Black Hawk after whom the Chicago entry in the National Hockey League is named, may have a living counterpart in the not too distant future.

Also the busy big puckum player may be cavorting with his relatives brothers over the ice-lanes of NHL arenas.

While the Hawks were in training this year there popped up a young centre by the name of Fred Saskamoose. He is, it was recently revealed, a full-blooded member of the Cree tribe of Saskatchewan and bears the honorable Indian name of "Chief Running Deer."

At first he was thought to be the run-of-mins of amateur hopefuls trying out with the club, but as time progressed the "Chief" blossomed out into something out of the ordinary and was fabbed by boss-man Bill Tobin and Coach Sid Abel as definitely possessing a hockey future.

Said Tobin: "He's been sensational from the time he's been in organized hockey and should be the first Indian to play in the National Hockey League. While he won't make the big jump this season, we definitely intend to bring him up for a three-game tryout."

Chief Running Deer was spotted by a Hawk western scout while the young fellow was lee-Hwarling with other Cree braves on the reservation at Duck Lake. He brought him to Moose Jaw where he starred with the Juniors for the past two years.

He was picked over the youngster tryouts at the Hawk training camp as being the best among the non-professionals.

As a Cree chief, Running Deer collects five dollars a year from the Canadian Government, but if he develops into a Hawk brave his "beauty" should be slightly higher.

Victory-Hungry Abel Team Grabs First Win in 8 Games; Costello Scores Solo Goal

By AL COLLETTI
Canadian Press Staff Writer

It took Sid Abel, the old Detroit star, just a season to prove that he could get a lot of extra mileage out of his players and apparently he still has the touch.

Always a great team man in his playing days, Abel took over as coach of Chicago's Black Hawks a little more than a year ago and the Hawks did better than anyone else figured they would in the National Hockey League race last season.

Old Bootnose, with mostly veteran and cast-off players, guided the Hawks into the playoffs after tying the Bruins for third place with 69 points.

FEW CHANGES

Abel made few changes in the club this fall and he got Larry Wilson, a forward, and defenceman Larry Zeidel from Detroit during the summer, brought up a couple players from the minors and unloaded forward Gal Gardner.

Until Wednesday night the Black Hawks of 1953-54 were a flop. They lost seven of their first eight games—the last four by one goal.

On New York ice Wednesday night, the victory-hungry Hawks finally found themselves. They scored in every period to whip New York Rangers 6-1 in the only game scheduled. It was the seventh time in eight games.

The clubs battled fairly evenly until the last minute of the first period when Wilson rammed in a 15-footer while the Rangers had a man in the penalty box.

RANGER GOAL

Centre Don Raleigh got the Ranger goal when he was in the middle session.

Pete Conacher and the veteran Bill Mosienko whipped through the disorganized Rangers in the second period for goals.

Gus Mortson started the third-period flurry when he converted Jim McFadden's pass at 7:26. Then McFadden and young Murray Costello finished off with solo goals to make the game a rout.

Al Dewsbury, Ranger defenceman, didn't get a penalty Wednesday night. He's previously been fined $50 by club president Bill Tobin for getting "sin-binned."

Tonight the Toronto Maple Leafs take on the first-place Canadiens in Montreal.

Royals Edge Vancouver 4-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New Westminster Royals turned back Vancouver Canucks 4-3 in a penalty-riddled Western Hockey League game Wednesday night while Victoria Cougars and Saskatoon Quakers fought a 3-3 tie.

A total of 38 minutes in penalties was handed out in the second period at New Westminster. A fight involving Jim Bedard of the Royals and Lor Soutinato of Vancouver kicked off the fracas.

Jackie Hamilton, Matthews, Love and Bob Fraser paced the New Westminster scorers. Larry Popein fired two for Vancouver and Andy Bathgate notched a single.

Sam Bettio tallied two for Victoria and Gene Achtymichuk scored one in the game at Saskatoon. Vic Howe, George Gee and Jackie McLeod counted for the Quakers.

BROWNS SUIT SETTLED

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A suit by minority stockholders against St. Louis Browns, last remaining obstacle to the transfer of the club to Baltimore, was dropped Wednesday by the complaining stockholders. Jerome F. Duggan, lawyer representing the minority group, declined to say whether there has been a settlement out of court or to discuss the matter.

Belleville Boxer KO's Opponent In Second Round

TORONTO (CP) — Roger Thibault, one of four Ottawa fighters appearing on the East York boxing card Wednesday night, put up the hardest fight of the night as he took a split decision over Ernie Percy of Oshawa. The two 175-pounders threw punch after punch during their five-round bout.

Also in the five-round, 175-pound class, Eddie Schamehorn of Belleville scored a third-round knockout over Gaetan Gauthier of Guelph at 1:47 of the second round.

Bernie Arcuniste of Toronto scored a technical knockout over Ray Collins of the Beaver Athletic Club, Ottawa at 1:25 in the fourth round of their scheduled five-rounder in the 138-pound group.

Queen's Edges RMC in Track Field Meet

MONTREAL (CP)—Queen's University Wednesday edged Royal Military College for honors in the fourth annual Ottawa-St. Lawrence cross-country track field championships.

A first and second in the broad jump and a fourth in the medley mile relay, last two events on the 12-event program, put the Queen's athletes in front with 51 points.

RMC finished a close relay but the five first-place points were not enough to overtake Queen's. They got 49 while Carleton College, Ottawa, finished third with 31½, McGill was third with 28½, and three other competitors finished this way: Sir George Williams College, Montreal, 13; Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que., 8; Carleton College, Ottawa, 7.

Norm Hopper of RMC scored a triple in the field events, winning the pole vault, high jump and javelin throw. Paul Fedor and Doug Wilson were double winners for Queen's, Fedor in the shot put and broad jump and Wilson in both the hurdles events.

Ted Ramsbahauser of RMC scored the only double on the track, winning the half-mile and three-mile events.

Abe Limonchik of Sir George Williams set a meet record by hurling the discus 127 feet, eight inches to beat the old mark by seven inches.

RMC Athletes account for seven first places to help Queen's but the cadets scored only one second and tied with McGill one another while Queen's took second second places.

Barrie Flyers Whip Bilts By 6-4 Count

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Barrie Flyers moved into sole possession of second place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series Wednesday night by defeating Guelph Biltmores 6-4 in Guelph.

Jim Robertson paced the Flyers with three goals. John Marian scored two and Arnold Smith added a single. Guelph, who fought stubbornly and tied the score twice were sparked by Bob Attersley with two goals. Other Guelph marksmen were Ted Brady and Johnny Gillis.

Hamilton Tigers Take Four in Row To Grab Top Place in Senior Loop

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The loss column is making the difference in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A race this year.

Although only two points separate the top five teams, three clubs have lost at least two games. The other two who have yet to taste defeat are leading the league.

Hamilton Tigers, who won their fourth consecutive game in as many starts with a 5-0 shutout over Owen Sound Mercurys in Hamilton Wednesday night, took over sole possession of first place.

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, after a late start in the schedule have taken three in a row without defeat. Their last was a 5-3 loss over Niagara Falls Cataracts in Kitchener Wednesday night. The Allan Cup champions share second place with Windsor Bulldogs, Chatham Maroons and Stratford Indians.

The Bulldogs defeated the winless Sarnia Sailors 4-1 in Sarnia and Chatham dropped Stratford 3-1 in Chatham.

SAULT WHIPS PEMBROKE

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern group, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Greyhounds defeated the Pembroke position when they defeated the second-place Pembroke Lumber Kings 4-2 in Sault Ste. Marie.

Tigers dug in early for their victory, taking a 2-0 lead in the opening period. Frank Liscombe, Murray Comfort, Gordon Peebles, Phil Ueger and Billy Hammond shared scoring chores.

Chatham Maroons, who had previously lost two games to Stratford Indians, finally turned the tide. Ed Dickens bagged two and Bill Lee the other for the Maroons. Don Oberholtzer clicked for the Indians.

Kitchener, who won their first two games by mountainous scores, were held reasonably close by Niagara Falls. Jack McKenzie, Charlie Brooker, Johnny Muretich, Art Hurst adn Gerry Theberge connected for the Dutchies. Lloyd Ferguson, Nick Dulcich and Jim Mc-Nulty scored for Cataracts.

THREE WINDSOR SCORERS

Jim McBurney, leading scorer in the OHA Junior A group with Galt Black Hawks last year, and Eddie Mulligan bagged two goals each in Sault Ste. Marie's victory. The game was marked by a third-period free-for-all, resulting in four misconduct penalties, two majors and a pair of minors. Jim Maxwell notched both goals for the Kings. Sault Ste. Marie Indians play in North Bay in a NOHA contest for tonight's only senior action.

Bombers Smother Sasky Rough Riders 43-5 In Western Series Opener

Winnipeg-Born Lorne Benson Scores Six TD's for Winners In Sensational Gridiron Rout

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers struck where they were supposed to be the weakest—along the ground—to smother Saskatchewan Rough Riders 43-5 in first of their two-game, total-point Western Interprovincial Football Union semi-final before more than 17,000 fans.

Bombers now will carry a 26-point margin, gained mainly on the air-to-ground efforts of backs and their Winnipeg-born fullback, Lorne Benson, into the second game at Regina, Saturday afternoon.

Known strictly as a passing club since Jack Jacobs came to Winnipeg in 1950, the Bombers moved mostly along the ground in piling up their victory over the favored Riders. Saskatchewans had beaten the Bombers in four out of six meetings during the regular schedule.

CANADIAN OFFENSIVE

With Joe (Black Magic) Zelaski at the helm, Bombers picked up 289 yards along the ground, compared with 39 by Frankie Filchock's second-place Riders. Benson, rookie award winner in 1952, alone well for 183 yards as coach George Trafton relied on Canadian players for his offensive backfield, and American imports on defence.

Throughout most of the game, Zelaski handed off brilliantly to Benson, Len Mortimer and Andy Stokel, while league-leading scorer Buddy Korchak took care of the flying wing chores with the Canadian-born.

Mortimer scored Bombers' seventh major, and Korchak converted them all and added a single on a long kick-off. Benson's six touchdowns were a league and possibly a Canadian record.

Bobby Marlow, all-American half back from Alabama, plunged for the Riders' five points. Del Wardell missed the convert.

But Bombers' strength was not in the backfield alone. The entire front wall turned in one of its best efforts of the year, and the defensive backs left little to be desired, intercepting eight Rider pass attempts. Buddy Grant, who plays most of defence, picked off five of the Rider throws, two of which set up Bomber touchdowns.

AIR FLICKERS

Quarterbacks Frankie Filchock, playing coach, and Glenn Dobbs, both former National Football League stars, failed to get the highly-regarded Rider backs going along the ground, but had fair success in the air. The pair completed 17 of 32 passes for 171 yards. But most of the gains were in their own territory or in mid-field.

Filchock started but gave way squad.

in the third quarter to Dobbs, still hampered by a knee injury. The Dobber, all-star western quarterback in 1951, pitched Riders into position for Marlow's touchdown late in the third quarter after Bombers had built up a 30-0 lead.

Herbie Johnson, import halfback, was Riders most consistent ground gainer, while Nelson Greene, a transplanted easterner, showed good advance with pass-backs of kicks and kick-offs. Marlow was the pick of the defensive

Buffalo Bisons Whip Barons To Widen Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Buffalo Bisons, jealous of their newly-won leadership of the American Hockey League, widened their lead Wednesday night, whipping Cleveland Barons 8-3.

Elsewhere, Hershey Bears climbed out of the cellar into fourth place with a 6-3 victory over Providence Reds, while Pittsburgh Hornets hung on 3rd-place No. 3 spot, dumping Syracuse Warriors 7-2.

At Buffalo, Eddie Shewchuk tallied three goals and Don Marshall two to pace the Herd to their second win in as many nights over the former league champions. Joe Crozier and Gerry McCormack and Steve Wochy fired the others for Buffalo.

Dune Fisher, Skip Teal, Arnie Kullman, Murray Henderson, Jim Pappin and Jack McIntyre were the Hershey marksmen. Pat Egan, Paul Larivee and Denis notched for Providence.

At Pittsburgh, Danny Lewicki sparked the Hornets' attack with four goals. Bob Sabourin, Ed Leier and Buzz Guignard each counted for Pittsburgh. Ray Timgren and Willie Marshall also counted for Pittsburgh. Ed Leier and Buzz Gagnon tallied for Syracuse.

Canadian Team Takes Honors At Riding Show

HARRISBURG, Pa.-(CP)—Led by Shirley Thomas and Lt.-Col. Charles Baker, the Canadian riding team Wednesday turned in its best performances of the 1958 Pennsylvania National Horse Show—coming second in both international jumping events of the day, and third in one.

The 18-year-old Canadian from Ottawa and Baker failed to win blue ribbons only by a small margin, Baker being beaten in an individual jumping event on time and Miss Thomas losing the individual championship to Lieut. Patricia Smythe in a special jump-off.

Miss Thomas and Miss Smythe, first women to represent their respective countries in international competition, finished the original eight-jump course for the Governor's Challenge Trophy with faultless performances, the only riders to do it.

In the jump-off, however, after Miss Smythe had re-run the course with three faults, Miss Thomas fumbled a bar obstacle on the third jump. That gave her four faults and she was whisked off the course.

Tigers Acquire Dutchies Players

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, last year's Allan Cup winners, Wednesday announced the sale of forward Al Buchanan and defenceman Harvey Jacklin to Hamilton Tigers of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

Buchanan, formerly with Toronto Marlboros of the OHA Junior A series, played left and right wing last year.

Jacklin, a regular defenceman for the Dutchmen since leaving Hamilton five years ago, can also fill in at centre.

Chicoutimi Tops In Close Quebec Scramble

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The three games played in the Quebec Hockey League Wednesday night did little to unscramble the closely-bunched teams.

Chicoutimi Sagueneens edged Springfield Indians 6-5 to take over undisputed possession of first place. The results of the other two games left Valleyfield Braves, of Montreal Royals and Quebec Aces in a three-way tie for second place, two points behind Chicoutimi.

Chicoutimi made their first appearance of the season on Springfield ice a winning one with Bucky Buchanan firing the clincher midway through the third period with a mate in the penalty box. The visitors had to come from behind four times. Norm Dussault paced Chicoutimi with two goals.

At Ottawa, the Royals scored a goal a period for a 3-2 decision. Dick Gamble, Vern Kaiser and Skippy Burchell scored for the winners and Howard Riopelle and Hugh Bolton for the home team.

At Quebec, Michel Labadie and Roy Kelly netted three each as the Aces swamped Valleyfield 9-3. Ken Pharrain got a pair of markers and Ray Powell got the other for the losers. It was Bruce Cline, with two, and Larry Kwong with hooks to the body and head throughout the fight.

Referee Trop Labranch scored it 5-0-3, judge Herb Williams 5-2-0 and judge Charley Bill 5-2.

A crowd of 4,982 paid $8,366.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Manager Marty Marion, his baseball future uncertain, is awaiting an important phone call from a man he never has met, general manager Arthur Ehlers of Baltimore Orioles. He may have to wait a few weeks for it.

Ehlers prefers, president of the Empire City, which holds its meetings at Jamaica, said the heads of Jamaica and Aqueduct had agreed to appeal to Governor Thomas Dewey and the state legislature for financial relief.

Butler said the tracks, which now get four per cent of the pari-mutuel betting figures, would need an additional two per cent in order to finance a new track. The state receives 10 per cent of the 15-per-cent total takeout.

Two sites are being considered for the proposed track, at the present Aqueduct plant, and on acreage in the Ravbetter section of the Bronx. Butler said it would cost about $30,000,000 to build at Aqueduct, where just 100 additional acres would be required to build a training track.

He said that if Baychester were built, it would cost about $35,000,000 because of submarginal lands there.

If financial aid is given by the state, Butler said the new track could be ready for operations by April 1, 1957.

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — British jockey Sammy Goulding, who rides for Prime Minister Churchill will ride the Irish-bred colt, The Pie King, Saturday in the $250,000 Garden State Stakes.

The 37-year-old rider who flew here from London rode The Pie King, owned by Ray Bell and Elwood Johnston of Los Angeles, in all of his stakes races in England. The Pie King is the two-year-old champion of England, having won the Coventry, Richmond and Gimcrack stakes.

A field of from 18 to 20 two-year-olds is expected to start in the 1 1-16-mile race.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rocky Castellani, a punching windmill when he turned on the power, smashed out an unanimous decision Wednesday night at the gaiety Mickey Laurent of France. Castellani weighed 138 and Laurent 139½.

The Cleveland fighter drew blood from Laurent's nose in the first round and pounded him savagely

Vessels Out For Season

WINNIPEG (CP)—Coach Darrell Royal of Edmonton Eskimos said Wednesday night he is doubtful if halfback Billy Vessels will be able to play any more football this year.

He said the Oklahoma import is still suffering much pain and is still in hospital.

Vessels was injured in the season's final game last Saturday against Winnipeg on a tackle by Buck Rogers of the Bombers.

OMHA to Hold Officials' Forum In Belleville

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association will again this year sponsor its popular "Rules Forum" at which managers, coaches, referees and other officials are given an opportunity to brush up on the rules and procedures of operating within the O.M.H.A.

Nine centres have been chosen for session of the forum. They will be held in Chatham, Simcoe, Wingham, Kitchener, Welland, Newmarket, Gravenhurst, Lindsay and Belleville. The first meeting, to be held in Newmarket, is scheduled for Friday, November 6th. The meeting in Kitchener will be held Tuesday, November 10th, and that in Wingham on Wednesday, November 26th. Dates of the other meetings will be announced later, but all will be held during the month of November. The O.M.H.A. annual will wind up the series in Toronto on Saturday, December 6th.

Headlining the rules discussions will be leading O.H.A. officials assigned by O.M.H.A. Secretary Christie with the appointment of O.M.A. head-referees, C. F. Patterson.

The meetings will discuss duties of a manager, duties of a coach, (before, during and after games); conduct of a referee; duties of a referee; and a general discussion of all playing rules. The last series of forums, held two years, were widely hailed as an important advance in the development of hockey referees.

Curling Comeback

KITCHENER (CP) — Curling is making a comeback in Stratford after 30 years, district curlers were told.

Neis Bellstedt and Don McKinnon of Stratford said at a Kitchener-Waterloo Rotary dinner the Stratford Curling Club has been revived.

The two delegates said operations of the Stratford club are expected to resume next month.

Sport in Brief

NEW YORK (AP)—The much-talked of modern race track in the metropolitan area of New York came up again Wednesday for discussion when the head of Empire City Racing Association said a combined effort would be made to reach some agreement on the planned super track.

James Butler, president of the Empire City, which holds its meetings at Jamaica, said the heads of Jamaica and Aqueduct had agreed to appeal to Governor Thomas Dewey and the state legislature for financial relief.

Butler said the tracks, which now get four per cent of the pari-mutuel betting figures, would need an additional two per cent in order to finance a new track. The state receives 10 per cent of the 15-per-cent total takeout.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — The news that Tom Fool, the eminent race horse, is calling it a day must have caused a great many persons to ponder the ways of the men who ornament the sport of kings. Anyway, this agent pondered.

Tom Fool has won 10 straight races this year and there isn't a horse around capable of giving him an argument since Native Dancer was taken out of training. Many think the Greentree phenom is the greatest handicap champion there ever was, and the figures prove well support them.

So, here he is at the top, and there's a $75,000 or $100,000 race going on somewhere close nearly every week-end. He can win any time he wants without trying hard, so why shouldn't he go on for at least another season and make a round million, anyway.

What it amounts to, we are told, is he must spend his summers in good to run against other horses. If he must around much longer bogging purses he would be made to regret it by John Campbell, Saratoga starter and handicapper.

Campbell already has asked the Fool to carry 144 pounds in one race, an invitation which was declined.

Not being a racing addict, we never have quite understood how a race fan is benefits a nag for being good—that is, to beat him badly if you have to near break his back doing it.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY, OCT. 30, 1953.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Friendly for home and family affairs; for new undertakings or expending, reasonably. But extreme care is advised in signing documents, etc.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Very opportune period. Make the most of your talents and capability now. Step forward with new ideas, new materials, equipment that can better the community, business, general interests.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Your Mercury's position now stresses need for close scrutiny and caution in signing agreements and legal papers. But Moon and Venus favor personal affairs, getting ahead on your own.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Encouraging vibrations. A peak day, with personal affairs topping the favored list. You should be able to make progress in your occupation, also in other fields for your talents.

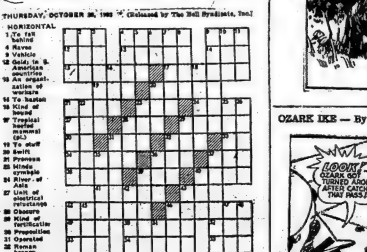
July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Most generous gains will probably come through careful, efficient management of matters under your direction. Financial transactions, sound business deals are sponsored. Finesse an aid.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — Sensible cues urged in written matters, signing legal or other important papers. Otherwise day can be productive, generous in returns for sincere effort. The arts, study in favor.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Monetary gains can be made in progressive, new things, such as materials, equipment, improved tools, machinery, medicine. Do be careful how you approach business propositions; don't be stubborn.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Returns for your efforts may not be wholly satisfactory. You must show consistent efficiency, wisdom in planning and management of day's schedule—without forcing others or being too demanding.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Your Jupiter favorably aspected promises much for your private as well as general affairs. Work under proper direction can advance, but heed your conscience.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Be optimistic but at the same time sensibly careful not to overreach your objective and perhaps thus fall short of attaining it. Be systematic, ambitious, but not in reason. You can advance.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Encouraging Uranus and Neptune aspects spell new achievements in your work or other fields of endeavor. All useful enterprises should make headway now. Be extra cautious in legal matters.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—This day can yield much particularity if you don't show anxiety but are richly aggressive where you should be. Personal work and interests favored as are other matters under your direction.

YOU BORN TODAY have a strong sense of duty and justice; are conservative, tactful, friendly, kind but not usually demonstrative. Perhaps too conservative at times, you may tend to keep to self and cause others to think you unsociable. We gain by association with intelligent, pleasant people and it broadens our outlook, maintains good will. You can succeed at either a profession or trade if properly trained. A desire for knowledge and travel is inherent. You may seek adventure for you like to pioneer. Birthdate: John Adams, 2nd U.S. president; Richard B. Sheridan, Irish statesman, dramatist.

2 REASONS WHY you should buy
a QUAKER OIL HEATER.

1. Commercial Standards Rating C S 101 (Certified performance)
Before you buy check for this high rating of efficiency.
2. Every Quaker unit is set up and properly adjusted at 50 extra cost.
2. The burner is equipped with Quaker Nozzle Rest. It holds it there to fall on start.
4. 79% more heat radiation by large cones.
5. Saves up to 43% chimney heat loss.
6. Saves up to 25% on fuel by speeded up circulating fan. Never produces unburned fuel.
7. Quaker, properly adjusted eliminates soot, odor, and smoke. Smaller heat loss due to soot coating inside flue.
8. Every heater sold on its merits or value to customer.

CHASED KIDS WITH CAR

TORONTO (CP)—Donald Exley of Toronto was charged with dangerous driving Wednesday after police said he chased children and women who were on the grass at a Toronto park Tuesday night with his car. Exley told the police he was just trying to frighten them. Somehow close he could come to them.

CD SHOW FOR TORONTO

TORONTO (CP) — Mayor Allan Lamport told board of control Wednesday the federal government's civil defence convoy will visit Toronto early in 1954 at no cost to the city. The mayor and the Toronto civil defence committee recently refused to sponsor the convoy here because it would cost the city almost $1,000.

Police Pressing Efforts To Identify Body

MONTREAL (CP)—Police, faced with one of the city's most mysterious murders, intensified a comb-out of missing-persons lists to identify the body of a headless man, found Wednesday wrapped in a canvas sheet in a deserted east-end alley.

They ruled out the possibility that the victim might be a longshoreman whose wife telephoned police her husband had been missing since late Tuesday night.

Although some 300 persons filed past the bullet-pierced remains in the morgue Wednesday, no one came forward who could say who the dead man was. Police said he may have been the victim of a "gangland" or a gangland slaying.

Police admitted they had several clues and that they hoped to get a break in the case soon. They would not discuss the matter further.

NO IDENTIFYING MARKS

They were hampered by lack of identifying marks. The body bore no scars, police said. Labels had been ripped from the green and black blanket in which the canvas-shrouded body was dumped. Hands and feet as well as the head had been chopped off, making identification more difficult.

Police said they hoped that an autopsy, started on the remains Wednesday night by Dr. Jean-Marie Roussel, medico-legal expert, might aid in solving the mystery. Preliminary checks showed the man was heavily-built, of average height and aged between 25 and 40.

He had been dead only a few hours, police said, when a call from a resident of Bourbonnieres street led to finding of the bundle containing the body. It lay in a lane at the back of the houses.

Inquiries among residents failed to pin-point when it was dropped there. A truck driver reported seeing it at 5 a. m. Wednesday on his way to work but did not examine it.

Nearby, a four-door sedan, its back seat stained with blood, and some newspapers, spotted with blood, were found.

Question Ousted East German Red About Beria Case

BERLIN (AP) — The United States high commission newspaper Neue Zeitung says that Soviet authorities in East Berlin are questioning Wilhelm Zaisser, ousted interior minister of East Germany, in connection with the Beria case.

Lavrenty Beria, the Soviet Union's dreaded secret police boss and interior minister, was charged last June with treason.

Neue Zeitung declared "it is known" in Communist circles of East Berlin that the Russian justice minister thus far has lacked material on Beria's alleged ties with foreign agents to present at his impending trial.

A long-time friend of Zaisser, Beria once obtained his release from a Russian jail after the German had been made a scapegoat for the defeat of his international brigade in the Spanish civil war. Zaisser was known as "General Gomez" during that fighting.

Beria's 1953 directives to Zaisser were blamed by Communist leaders for the June 17 uprising by East German workers, a revolt that caught the Soviet zone regime by surprise.

U.S. Farm Surplus Disposal Program Not Affecting Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — The United States farm surplus disposal program has Canada a little worried but so far it has not endangered Canadian exports, federal officials said Wednesday.

The latest move which brought some concern here was the disclosure that Britain, traditionally Canada's major food market, is negotiating with the U.S. to buy some American surpluses for sterling.

A London dispatch said that grain, fats, butter, meat and meat products have been mentioned as being available.

The U.S. has huge food surpluses and has been authorized by Congress to accept as payment sterling or francs. Britain and other countries must pay in dollars for Canadian goods.

DUMPING BARRED

Officials here observed, however, that the American disposal program calls for shipment of the surpluses through channels that will not disrupt trade between friendly countries. It also bars "dumping" of the surpluses in importing countries at rock-bottom prices.

But there was some question here of how the Americans will interpret "dumping" and what final steps will be taken to unload the big American food stockpile.

A dispatch from Washington said that the U.K. will take $20,000,000 worth of U.S. tobacco.

Officials here maintained this will have no immediate impact on Canadian trade since the U.K. already has stated it will buy 25,000,000 pounds of Canadian flue-cured tobacco from the 1953 crop.

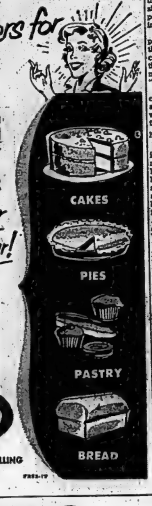
Got Her Wish

CLEVELAND (AP) — A grey-haired mother and her daughter stood on the West Third street bridge Wednesday, and the younger woman intoned part of the 139th psalm, "If I ascend up into heaven . . ."

Then they started rising slowly into the sky. The drawbridge was opening for a steamer on the Cuyahoga river.



The daughter jumped to the river bank, and the mother clung to the bridge until it was lowered again.

A spiritualist had advised the two to pray over water to cure the 61-year-old mother's speech impediment, and the daughter, 32, told police she believed the "ascension" improved it.

19 Meet Death As Plane Strikes Mountain in Fog

SAN FRANCISCO - (AP)—"The only survivors here are rescuers."

That's how United States coast guard chief Wilson Jennings described by radio the grim scene 25 miles south of here Thursday where a British Commonwealth Pacific Airlines DC-6 crashed and burned, killing all 19 aboard, including a Vancouver woman.

Among the 11 passengers were William Kapell, 31, brilliant New York concert pianist returning from an Australian tour.

Jean Chiverton of Vancouver was the only Canadian on board.

The plane from the airline operated jointly by Australia and New Zealand was only two minutes from its destination airport when it hit its trans-Pacific journey from Sydney, Australia, via Honolulu. It ground-looped and exploded in primal fog. King's mountain, disintegrated and burned.

RECOVER 17 BODIES

Seventeen charred and dismembered bodies were recovered. Search for the other two continued today.

Cause of the crash has not been determined. Veteran pilot Bruce Nelson had checked by radio with the control tower at San Francisco airport just before the crash. There was no indication of impending tragedy.

After a United States Air Force helicopter sighted the wreckage, ground crews had to claw through fog-soaked, mountainside brush and down a 45-degree slope.

The bodies were lifted out with a winch and 500 feet of cable. Stories like that of the pianist

Some men collapsed from the heat of numerous small fires. One news photographer suffered a heart attack; another a sprained ankle and bruises in a fall.

3,000 Red Troops Sent to Crush German Rebels

LONDON (Reuters)—Some 3,000 crack Red army troops have been sent into East Germany with orders to crush an anti-Communist rebellion, diplomatic sources said Thursday.

"Hit and run" guerrilla warfare, an official Soviet source said Thursday.

Government quarters here said they believe it possible that Field Marshal Friedrich von Paulus, former German army commander captured at Stalingrad, is directing the anti-Red campaign. Held by the Russians since 1942, von Paulus was freed this month and returned to Germany.

Besides the Russian reinforcements, military units sent into the East German people's police are being used to crush the partisans, the source said.

SUSPENDS CENSORSHIP

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—President Rojas Pinilla Thursday night ordered a two-day suspension of the press censorship which has been in effect in Colombia since the end of 1948. The president said he was doing this as a friendly gesture toward 120 members of the press from various parts of the country now meeting here for the Colombian National Congress of Newspaper Men.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Skies are clear in southern Ontario early and early morning temperatures varied from a chilly 25 at Killaloe to 41 in Toronto. Colder air has slipped down across Lake Superior and is approaching the Sudbury region this morning. However, a weak disturbance which formed west of Lake Michigan should retard the south-ward motion of the cold air and keep the low over Great Lakes in the warmer air today and Saturday.

SEGUIN TO DIE FOR SLAYING OF TAXI DRIVER

Now Serving 20 Years For Attempted Murder

CORNWALL (CP)—Henri Seguin 28, was sentenced Thursday to be hanged Jan. 19 for murder in the shooting Aug. 26, 1952, of Leonard Hurd, taxi driver from nearby Maxville.

A jury in Ontario Supreme Court deliberated two hours and 45 minutes at the close of the four-day trial.

Before passing sentence, Mr. Justice F. R. Barry asked the husky laborer if he had anything to say. Seguin replied:

"All I can say is that I am completely innocent."

Then two constables led him to the death cell.

DEAD OR HOMEROAD

Hurd, 41-year-old business man who operated a garage and a taxi service and was reputed to carry large amounts of money, was found dead in one of his taxis on a lonely sideroad. Bullets were found in holes in his head and two in his sideroad. Bullets were found in holes in his head and two in his chest, and his wallet also had been robbed of about $1,700.

When brought here for trial, Seguin was serving a 20-year penitentiary term for the attempted murder of a taxi manager in Williams Lake, B.C. During what police said was an attempt to rob a taxi there last December, Seguin was felled by a bullet in his abdomen during a fight with RCMP. Police linked him with the Maxville killing shortly afterwards.

His arrest came little more than a month after his car was found abandoned in the Cornwall area about 75 miles northeast of Cornwall.

Mr. Justice Barlow said the jury had only two possible verdicts: guilty or innocent or murder. "As said the evidence, while circumstantial, pointed strongly to Seguin.

Thirty-one crown witnesses were heard in the trial. Douglas McKibbon, former bookkeeper at Hurd's garage, said Seguin told him a few days before the slaying that it "would be easy to kill Mr. Hurd over the head and take his money."

U.S. Air Force Wrests Record From Navy Plane

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The United States Air Force claimed today to have wrested back from the U. S. Navy the world speed record for a 15-kilometer course.

Col. F. K. (Pete) Everest, 33, of Edwards air force base, flew an North American Super Sabre 754.98 m. p. h. Thursday on a 15-kilometer course in the ocean course along the Salton sea. His 10% speed was 10% faster than the 707.216 m. p. h. and he bucked the wind carrying 55 mile an hour p. h.

Fastest previous time was 733.4 m. p. h. by navy LL-Cmdr. James Verdin in the Douglas Skyray over a three-kilometre course.

Daily Sketch Editor May Face Charge for Comment on Case

LONDON (Reuters)—Legal authorities today established their right to begin contempt-of-court proceedings against Herbert Gunn, editor of The Daily Sketch, for an article the paper published about a soldier accused of cowardice in Korea.

The soldier, Pte. Patrick Lydon, was sentenced last week by court-martial to 28 days' detention barracks. The prosecution said he cowered in a foxhole while his comrades were under attack by the Communists. He was later taken prisoner.

The Daily Sketch summarized his case, said there were conflicting views, and invited its readers to write in with comments on the sentence. Most of those who replied thought Lydon had been dealt with harshly.

Solicitor-General Sir Reginald Manningham-Butler, on behalf of the government, said in court today that the article was published before higher army authorities had considered the findings of the court-martial.

He submitted that under Britain's strict law dealing with public comment on uncompleted court cases, the article was still sub judice (under legal consideration). Manning-Butler argued that if interfered with the due course of justice.

The lord Chief Justice, Lord Goddard, granted leave to apply for a writ of attachment against Gunn. If such a writ is obtained and served, Gunn can be brought before a judge in High Court.

U.S. Moves to Have Atrocities Considered by UN Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—American delegates took urgent steps today to bring the United States Army's documented report of Communist atrocities in Korea before the United Nations General Assembly.

Chief U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge announced the move Thursday night, a little more than 24 hours after the army war crimes division issued its account of the torture, murder and starvation deaths of 5,115 Pennsylvania national guardsmen—soldiers—behind Red lines in Korea.

The report, documented with blood-curdling photographs and eye-witness stories, touched off demands from shocked American public and private figures for UN action.

Lodge's terse announcement gave no indication, however, whether the U.S. would ask the assembly to pass judgment and condemn Communist China for the killings.

GET BITTER OPPOSITION

Diplomats said any U.S. demand for condemnation of alleged war criminals inevitably would result in run into bitter Communist opposition and Western countries believe that Red China and North Korea be invited here to answer the American charges.

The announcement came as the U.S. disclosed it will start further evidence of Soviet complicity in Communist torture to wring germ warfare "confessions" from captured American airmen to the UN's Korea truce political committee.

Lodge's swift reaction to the atrocity report caught his associates off guard. American delegates went into an immediate huddle to write an explanatory memorandum telling the UN why they thought the report should be placed on the assembly's agenda.

COMMITTEE TO DECIDE

The next step is for Mme. Pandit of India, assembly president, to call an extraordinary meeting of the steering committee to decide whether to grant the request. The Soviet bloc is keep the question out of the UN's expected to begin in that committee.

In the UN Security Council meanwhile, the Palestine question remained under consideration. Today the council was scheduled to debate further Syria's complaint that its Arab hydro-electric project on the Jordan river—now suspended for the present—will be debate here—diverts water from Syrian farmers in violation of the Arab-Israeli armistice agreement of 1949.

Thursday Arab delegates charged that Maj.-Gen. Vagn Bennike, UN truce supervisor in Palestine, had been threatened with death by the Israelis during his investigation of the Qibya raid. Bennike refused to comment because saying it was commonly known that he had bodyguards in Palestine.

Chevrier Hints Canada May Retaliate Against United States

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier hinted today that Canada may retaliate against the United States in a squabble concerning operation of a Trans-Canada Air Lines flight of Mexico.

The minister said in a statement that Canadian air transport authorities have "the position of U. S. carriers operating into Canada under review" as a result of a U. S. decision which has forced TCA to cancel plans for the Mexico service.

The new TCA service was scheduled to start Saturday between Montreal, Toronto and Mexico City.

TCA now operates from Montreal and Toronto to Tampa, Fla. It wanted to extend that service to Mexico City, and also to start the same planes for passengers disembarking at Tampa and for those continuing to Mexico City.

ORDER SEPARATE FLIGHTS

The U. S. civil aeronautics board objected, saying that two types of traffic could not be carried on one plane. They ruled that TCA should use a separate plane for each type of traffic.

Chevrier said the system "is widely used by airlines of the world" and Paris to Dusseldorf, Germany, is one instance where Air France operated through Montreal to Chicago.

He said he "regretted" the decision of U. S. authorities which in fact amounted to withdrawal of international service "which both the Canadian and Mexican governments would be in their mutual interests.

State Visit By Eisenhower For Two Days

OTTAWA (CP) — President Eisenhower's state visit to Ottawa next month will be for two days instead of three as originally announced, the external affairs department said today.

The president and Mrs. Eisenhower will arrive here by train at 11:30 a. m. Friday, Nov. 13 and leave for Washington the following night. The original schedule called for the president to remain here Saturday night and to start back home Sunday.

He will review a guard of honor in Confederation Square at approximately 11:40 a. m. and place a wreath on the national war memorial.

A dinner in honor of the president will be given by the governor-general at Government House Friday evening, followed by a reception.

Search for Cure For Son's Polio Ends in Deaths

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—A Hungarian watchmaker's years of efforts to find a cure for his paralyzed son came to a tragic end in the crash of an airliner near San Francisco Thursday.

James Feher and his seven-year-old son, John, both died in the accident. They were en route to New York and the polio treatments which Feher had devised for years to finance.

Since emigrating to Australia in 1949, Feher had consistently worked hours of overtime daily and Sundays, and almost all his spare sessions to raise money for the specialized New York treatments which he was told were his son's only hope of recovery.

His widow was receiving government aid today in making arrangements to fly immediately to the scene of the crash.

Chief Admits Department Up 'Against Wall'

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP)—Only a lucky break, it is felt by authorities here, will save the Republican city administration from being engulfed in a scandal.

Police chief George Long, who admitted Thursday his department is "up against a stone wall," was quoted here by Attorney General John Bosshard in the belief that it now is a matter of fortune whether another grand jury will be seated, been combing the rugged countryside for evidence of anything tangible.

"It is not a good break we may develop something," said Bosshard. "So far we have had none, despite the fact our searchers have worked hard at their job."

Bosshard conferred in his office Thursday with FBI agents, but declined to disclose the nature of the conference under the Lindbergh law, the federal agents could come into the case Saturday —one week from the girl's disappearance—if there is evidence of kidnapping.

There's no such evidence, Bosshard said. "This is a serious matter and I want to proceed with caution."

Bosshard disclosed that the state crime laboratory had determined that a hair found in a car, found several days ago under a railroad underpass are related with human blood. The underwear, the same type and size worn by Miss Harvey, has not been identified as hers.

Stains on a house near the Viggo Rasmusen home, from which Evelyn disappeared last Saturday night, also have been found to be the girl's baby daughter, also are of human blood, Bosshard said.

NORTH KOREANS AGREE TO HEAR RED PROPAGANDA

Decision Is Triumph For Patient Thimayya

PANMUNJOM (AP — Violently anti-Communist North Korean prisoners have agreed to attend Communist interviews Saturday, ending a two-week holdout which threatened to wreck the neutral nations repatriation commission.

"They are coming out tomorrow for explanations—so they say," Indian Maj.-Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the commission, today.

Five hundred North Koreans are scheduled to move out of their compounds Saturday morning for interviews with Red explainers, who will try to persuade them to return home. Another 500 are to be interviewed in the afternoon.

PERSONAL TRIUMPH

The Koreans' decision to attend the interviews personally represented a solid personal triumph for the patient Thimayya.

Thimayya, who has argued that after days of delicate negotiations, the POW leaders indicated two days ago they were willing to attend explanations. But they asked for time to "talk it over" among themselves before deciding whether to attend.

The talks will be the first North Koreans to meet the Reds since the explanations started Sept. 15. On that date, Communists got back 10 of 421 Chinese interviewed.

The Reds have since been scheduled to appear the next day, but insisted the 10 Chinese and 22 Indians prepared to use force to take them before the Reds.

The day after, the 10 communists contented themselves with Chinese again, getting back 30 of 420.

But then the interviews stopped when the Reds demanded North Koreans—a gunpoint if necessary—and other members of the communist command to approve the use of force.

URGED MODERATION

Despite the start, Thimayya urged moderation, stayed off inflammatory forced interviews and worked steadily with the prisoners to persuade them to go before the Communist explainers.

Although the big, suave Indian general was obviously happy at the outcome, he was still cautious.

Offered congratulations on the breakthrough, Thimayya smiled and said "wait until tomorrow."

Meanwhile, on the peace-talk front where the Reds have suddenly been busy, Communist diplomats today called an American proposal for setting up a neutral commission "absurd . . . a trick . . . absolutely unacceptable" and their political primary talks deeper into deadlock.

Although the Red reply was less caustic than usual, they made it clear that their answer was "no" to U.N. Lt.-Gen. Maxwell Taylor's proposal that the U.N. command's big-gun explanations start 10 days after the conference opens.

The meeting recessed until Saturday.

TOBACCO DINNER

LOS ANGELES, (AP) — The cost of living hit Jack Benny hard when she picked the leaves from a tobacco plant in the doctor's garden. And now the physician and his wife are recovering from nicotine poisoning, the health department announced today. Condition of the victims were not disclosed.

ROK Air Chief Says Reds Move In 400 Planes

Believed Based at Thirty Newly-Repaired Airfields

TOKYO (AP)—The chief of South Korea's Air Force said today that the Communists have spirited 400 warplanes into North Korea in violation of the armistice and based them at 30 newly-repaired airfields.

Lt.-Gen. Chel Yong Duk told reporters: "The North Korean Air Force now has 400 planes, MIGs and another division of propeller-driven craft south of the Manchurian border."

He said the Reds have another 2,000 planes in Manchuria, about two-thirds of them MiGs.

Chel stopped here en route to the United States, where he will tour air force installations and confer with military officials.

REPAIRS UNRESTRICTED

The Korean truce signed last July 27 bans the movement of planes into Korea except as replacements. The armistice does not restrict the repair and construction of airfields.

In the case of North Korea, Chel said, incessant bombings during the war had made most Red airfields unusable, and Communist planes were based north of the Yalu river boundary between North Korea and Manchuria.

As soon as the truce went into effect, the Reds quickly repaired 10 major airfields and 20 secondary landing strips and spirited in the planes, Chel said.

The United Nations command has complained to the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission that the Reds have shipped planes into North Korea in violation of the truce.

An inspection team was instructed to investigate the complaint, but no final report has been filed.

Earlier, the U.S. 5th Air Force reported trucking on radar Communist planes flying northward into North Korea immediately after the armistice went into effect.

Basic equipment of the North Korean Air Force is Russian, Chel said.

Russians have influenced North Korea's decision to increase the size of the Red army, Chel said. Originally, he said, the Communists planned to maintain a 200,000-man army, but after the Russians prepared to use force to take them before the Reds.

The day after, the 10 communists contented themselves with Chinese again, getting back 30 of 420.

But then the interviews stopped when the Reds demanded North Koreans—a gunpoint if necessary—and other members of the communist command to approve the use of force.

Meanwhile, on the peace-talk front where the Reds have suddenly been busy, Communist diplomats today called an American proposal for setting up a neutral commission "absurd . . . a trick . . . absolutely unacceptable" and their political primary talks deeper into deadlock.

Although the Red reply was less caustic than usual, they made it clear that their answer was "no" to U.N. Lt.-Gen. Maxwell Taylor's proposal that the U.N. command's big-gun explanations start 10 days after the conference opens.

The meeting recessed until Saturday.

TOBACCO DINNER

LOS ANGELES, (AP) — The cost of living hit Jack Benny hard when she picked the leaves from a tobacco plant in the doctor's garden. And now the physician and his wife are recovering from nicotine poisoning, the health department announced today. Condition of the victims were not disclosed.

Communists Have Lost Much Strength In West European Trade Union Circles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communists have "lost heavily" now membership and trade union support in Western Europe during recent years, a Senate foreign relations sub-committee said in a report published today.

The 50-page study surveys the strength, tactics and objectives of the Communist movement throughout the world—country by country and region by region.

While the report said Red strength in Western Europe reached a peak prior to 1947 and since has declined, it expressed no complacency about the Red menace there or elsewhere in the world.

On the contrary, Senator Alexander Wiley (Repr. Wis.) said in an introduction that "perhaps the most basic impression which will arise from this study is the very rapid growth of the Communist movement."

It said the Reds have succeeded in maintaining elections strength in Italy, France and Iceland.

Wiley commented, however, that "every often, large Communist votes, as in France and Italy, represent not so much pro-Communist votes, as anti-government votes."

In less than four decades since the bolshevik revolution in Russia, the observer, the Communists have grown in strength until they now control government of one-third of the population and one-fourth of the area of the world.

Russiaa Farmers Ordered to Grow 41 Per Cent More

BY SIDNEY WEILAND

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Soviet government today called on Russian farmers to produce 41 per cent more food this year than they did in 1950.

A decree published here said production thus far this year is only slightly over last year, and requirements of the population "were not satisfied."

The decree told the Russian people to expect "impressive increases" for their larders between now and 1955. It set specific goals of production.

Assam Tribesmen Slay 25 Indians

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Five hundred Abor tribesmen, armed with bows and arrows, are believed to have killed an Indian government party of 25 in the Assam jungle.

The party, 19 government officials and 15 troops, were distributing salt to the tribesmen when they were attacked last week, according to a report from Gauhati in Assam.

TENDERS CALLED FOR NEW POST OFFICE

Tenders for the construction of a new post office for the village of Wellington have been called by the Federal Department of Public Works. Site for the new post office will be at the corner of Colborne and Hillcrest on a lot purchased some time ago by the department. Actual construction of the building is not expected to start until next spring.

NO HALLOWE'EN PROGRAM FOR CHILDREN

There will be no organized Hallowe'en program for children in Belleville this year.

The Y's Men's Club, which sponsored a Hallowe'en frolic for children at the YMCA during the past few years has decided to discontinue the practice because of insufficient attendance.

Several years ago the Kinsmen Club sponsored a monster "Shell Out" party at the armouries but it was dropped after a few years.

Trooper Downes Returns Home
Mrs. Michael Downes received a letter this morning from her son, Trooper Martin Downes, who was stationed with the 27th Brigade in Hanover, Germany, stating that he expects to dock in Quebec on his birthday, November 9th, en route to his home in the city. Trooper Downes sailed from Quebec on November 10th, 1951, and almost two years to the day is returning on his 19th birthday.

Moira River Development Subject of Talk
The October meeting of the Belleville and District Fish and Game Club was held at the Corby Public Library.

Introduced by Inspector of Public Schools, Mr. R. H. Macklem, fieldman for the Moira River Conservation Authority, Don Bell, gave a comprehensive picture of the work that has been achieved and of that which is being planned. Tracing the river from its swamp source in Lake township, Mr. Bell touched upon such subjects as improved farm practices, flood control, reforestation, and the building of parks. He described the development at Deloro, the plans for the College Street dam and the historical development of O'Hara's Mill at Madoc.

Mr. Bell who is with the Conservation branch of the Department of Planning and Development introduced his address and discussion with a film of great beauty on the "Humber Bay Valley."

Miss Olive Elson, program convener of the local Council of Women, told of the November meeting will feature United Nation films.

Employee Canvass To Be Conducted By Chest Officials
After there was not active campaigning the local Community Chest organization has raised $20,169.39. The amount represents 75 per cent of the minimum goal of $28,000.

Chest officials announced today that a type of employee canvass will be conducted. It is pointed out that the purpose of this canvass is to give opportunity to many persons who were not contacted in the general house-to-house campaign, to make their contribution in support of the services rendered by the agencies in the Chest budget.

Since every call previously made was to a householder and not every person is a home, thousands of potential contributors were not contacted. The aim of this "place-of-employment" canvass is to contact these persons.

Through the genuine co-operation of hundreds of water employers, more than 100 industries, stores, offices and other business institutions will be covered during the coming week.

Brantford Resident Praises Care, Thoughtfulness of BGH Staff
"The excellent treatment and kind attention of the staff of the Belleville General Hospital has drawn warm commendation from W. H. Pierce, assessment commissioner for the city of Brantford," in a letter to the hospital superintendent. Kenneth E. Rose.

Mrs. and Mrs. Pierce, injured in a motor car accident on the outskirts of Belleville on Saturday, October 17, were taken to the Belleville General Hospital for treatment. . .

"I was a stranger in town and naturally ill when I was taken suddenly ill and also apprehensive of the treatment I might receive in your hospital," wrote Mr. Pierce.

He goes on to say that: "The care that we received from the doctors who attended us, the nurses' staff, the nurses' aides and ward aides was really wonderful. I would like to mention particularly the young nurse who was so kind to me and went out of her way to do little things for us and always had a 'word of encouragement' and 'get well wishes.'"

He concluded his letter, "I understand that your hospital is carrying on a fund raising campaign to build a new addition and allow my appreciation I have forwarded a small donation to the fund."

'Quality Control' Topic of Address To Y's Men
The Y's Men's Club had as their guest speaker, at a recent dinner meeting, Mr. A. D. Revill, a professional engineer employed by Northern Electric. Mr. Revill's topic was, "Quality Control Quality Assurance". His command of the subject, was evident throughout his speech in the manner in which he presented it.

The speaker opened his remarks by stating that "Quality Control, which is now of management's most effective tools in industry today, is based fundamentally on the same laws of probability that govern games of chance".

In the case of an operator producing a part on a machine, the speaker said, no two parts could ever be reproduced exactly the same, owing to the inherent variability in the process. However, he continued, this variability when measured and properly recorded is found to be confined within certain definite limits. Therefore, limits within which this variability in quality may be expected to occur can be statistically predicted and any variability occuring outside these limits indicates that a significant change has occurred in existing conditions. In the case of the operator producing a part on the machine, it may be that the machine requires some adjustment.

QUALITY CONTROL.

Mr. Revill stated that through the use of quality control, it is possible to keep the quality of a product at any desired level. The problem of what the purpose of this canvass is to give opportunity to many persons who were not contacted in the general house-to-house campaign, to make their contribution in support of the services rendered by the agencies in the Chest budget.

Since every call previously made was to a householder and not every person is a home, thousands of potential contributors were not contacted. The aim of this "place-of-employment" canvass is to contact these persons.

Many Hunters Ready for Start Of Deer Season
The guns are oiled and the hunting jacket is packed. Hunting cabins in the forested northland have been resided and the stage is set for the annual deer hunting rush.

North of Highway No. 7 the safaris will travel to the carpeted woodlands where the bucks and the does, caper. "The season in that area extends from November 15 to November 30.

For those who do not care to journey too far afield, there are soon roasts and steaks, a short season extending from November 2 to 15, that is being enjoyed by the government south of Highway No. 7 in an area that includes Hastings, Peterborough and Lennox and Addington counties.

But, remember. No rifles can be used in these districts. Take along your trusty bow and arrow and do a Little John or a Robin Hood. Or, if you feel these weapons a shotgun is permissible.

Reports from the deer country state that the trees are still heavy with leaves, making visibility poor.

This fact calls for extra caution on the part of hunters, especially the kind who shoots at anything that moves. Don't be like the hunter who shot at his target, then rushed back to camp and counted noses. Finding all present and correct he exclaimed, "Thank heavens, I shot a deer!"

Every season exacts its toll of hunting accidents. Some of them are unavoidable but a lot can be traced to carelessness and disobedience of simple rules. With natural hazards, such as weapons covered with mud, favoring mishaps, extra care should be taken.

Many hunting parties have been organized in the city, and it has been estimated that the largest "army" in years will leave for the north woods on or before November 2.

UP TO PARENTS

OTTAWA (CP)—The annual convention of the Eastern Ontario Women's Institutes Thursday voted down a resolution demanding that movie managers be "implored and, if necessary, compelled" to remove crime or love scenes from any movies to be shown to children. Parents should see that their children do not attend movies with "adults only" censorship rating, the group said.

GOOD OUTLOOK

WINNIPEG (CP)—Crops in India this year are good, despite damage from floods in some areas, said Sir T. Vijayaraghavan, adviser to the ministry of food and agriculture in New Delhi, visiting here. He is with a four-man mission studying co-operatives in Canada.

Interment was in Belleville cemetery.

C.N.R. Family Safety Rally Held at Temple
With the emphasis on "Safety," employees of the C.N.R., their wives and children gathered at the Masonic Temple Thursday night for the Belleville division's second annual family safety rally. Chairman A. R. Wilson, superintendent of the local division, extended the welcome.

The safety rally, which is sponsored by the management of the C.N.R., featured movie speakers, entertainment and prizes. It is designed for the purpose of stimulating safety in the home as well as at work. Mr. Wilson, general superintendent of motive power and car equipment for the railroad, was the his address "efficiency and dependability, safety first and safety prevention are all interwoven. You may not detract from one without having an adverse effect on the others. Efficiency is only course, but he added, "perfection must be our safety goal."

Rev. Andrew E. MacKenzie, principal of Albert College, also addressed the meeting. He reviewed the history of the college and lauded the gathering on its spirit of safety consciousness.

Greg and Cara Butler rendered several selections on the piano. Mr. and Mrs. William Grant and daughter, Mrs. Helen Gaffney, entertained with a xylophone and piano. They played three selections and on the last piece Mrs. Gaffney sang a solo, accompanied by her father on the xylophone and her mother on the piano. Also on the entertainment list was Bob Reeves, who sang three solos, accompanied by Mrs. Reeves.

Following the community singing, which was under the direction of Mr. Ayre Taylor, with Mrs. Taylor at the piano; Jack Muirhead, saxophone; Carl Brant, guitar, a safety picture was shown.

Mr. Bowen was thanked for his talk by D. White and the Rev. A. E. MacKenzie received an expression of thanks from W. A. Easton.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the Ladies' Auxiliary C.N.R.A.A.

STEADY JOB

STOUGHTON, Sask. (CP)—E.J. Cullimin, councillor in the rural municipality of Tecumseh for the last six years, has been trying new advertising to get himself voted out of office. His last attempt was to run a public letter to ratepayers, begging them to nominate a new councillor.

Witches, Goblins Will Prowl City Streets on Hallowe'en
Tomorrow night is Hallowe'en. Its the night the hobgoblins and the harmless prowl. Witches astride broomsticks will flit hither and yon and mysterious figures will hide behind trees.

Long John Silver and his pirates will be on the loose and Shelk Abou Ben Adam and his tribe will roam the streets. Mummies aflutter, Uncle Toms, Mammies, Pierrot and Pierrette, hobos of all descriptions, cats, owls and other colorfully - costumed "revivals" will make up the motley array that will celebrate the occasion.

Bands of youthful candy-seeking "guerillas" will emerge from the darkness of shrubbery and hedge, creep to your verandah, then with a rattling of doors demand "Stang and Deliver".

And there most probably be a large army of these young nocturnal visitors for if it is understood that the callers there will be no central place in the city, where formerly entertainment and sweets were provided for the youngsters.

WARNING TO GO.

Many school and youth organizations such as scouts, cubs, etc., have already held their Hallowe'en parties, so the youngsters are ready and "rarin to go" on the big night.

And usually the gaiety and venturing into the land of make-believe is not confined to the troupes alone. Numbers of oldsters take huge delight in donning masquerade and parading the streets or giving private parties for friends and neighbors.

Socially, several parties have been arranged in the city and district. The Belleville Club is holding an "Old Time Party" while a Hallowe'en Hoedown is slated for Tobe's County Gardens.

The warrant officers and sergeants of the 5th Anti Tank Regiment are holding their annual masquerade party in the sergeants' mess in the Bridge Street armouries. The 34th Battery Association will have a dance tonight with its first annual reunion smoker.

St. Michael's Academy is holding a masquerade party and dance tonight while several private parties have been planned.

Police Chief Warns Against Damage On Hallowe'en
An appeal to Belleville and district Hallowe'en celebrants to refrain from carrying out the revising of October 31, to the level of innocent fun, was made today by Police Chief Walter Probert, who at the same time warned that persons found guilty would result in prosecutions.

Uniformed patrol officers will be on duty Hallowe'en night and additional cars will cruise the streets with officers on the lookout for vandalism of any nature," the chief of police said.

The police have no objection to children and young people having all the fun they can but we want them to draw the line right there," he added. "The police first will not tolerate any kind of property destruction and offenders will have to answer for any damage they cause."

And striking it is! Its clear, pure red goes everywhere, touching brunettes and blondes alike with its vibrant magic. The lipstick texture is pure cream — the nail lacquer stays on and on.

Police Dept. On Look Out For Night Operator
City police are on the look out for a night operator or operators who in the past two nights have broken into two business establishments in the city and attempted to gain entry to two other business places.

Wednesday night the Carsquet Packers Ltd., on Moira Street was entered as was a soft drink plant on Harriet Street. Nothing was taken at either office police said.

Last night the intruders struck again but this time were unsuccessful in gaining entry. Police said an attempt was made to enter the Upper Canada News on Moira Street West, and also the McCarthy Milling Company premises in the C.P.R. freight shed.

Official Opening Of New Plant On November 20
MARMORA — The official reopening of the Dr. Hamilton Crawford Company plant is scheduled for Friday, November 20.

The installation of the artifical ice plant is now advanced to the point where the official opening can be planned and it is hoped to make it a memorable occasion.

With its enlargement and new seating accommodation at the north end, the interior presents a different face to that of last season.

The RCAF band of Trenton is to provide music for the occasion.

Some noted figure skaters will give an exhibition of their skill and a hockey-game will ensue between Campbellford 1952 champions of the Trent Valley League and an all-star team picked from other teams in the league and district.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Prices were mostly higher in moderate forenoon stock market trading today.

Utilities moved slightly ahead with Bell, Medicas Light and Bell Rights higher. Steels, papers, manufactures, liquors and construction showed some strong issues.

Junior and senior golds were weak with small losses to gains each. Holding companies were slightly higher as Prospectors Airways gained 15 cents.

In uraniums, New Delhi, New Mylamaque, New Normore, New Bidiamaque and Parbec, were trading less than 35,000 shares with little price change. In Bathurst-area issues, New Larder U jumped from its opening $1.58 to $1.95 in the first hour.

Western oils were higher with a few gains ranging to Great Plains' 20 cents.

Basemetals were slightly higher. Nesbitt-Labine, Sherritt - Gordon, and Emerald Glacier made small gains.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market was steady on grade A large and small but was weaker on medium types. Offerings were sufficient for a fair demand. Quotations for graded eggs in fibre cases were: A large 30; A medium 41; A small 37; grade B 41; grade C 34. Wholesale to retail: A large 35; A medium 46; A small 42; grade B 46; grade C 39.

Butter solids: Frist grade Ontario butter 60¾ cents; second grade 59¾ cents.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP)—Cattle receipts increased over last week at the Ontario stockyards this week. Prices were 50 cents higher on good and medium quality slaughter steers and heifers while trade was dull at about steady prices on common classes. Veal calves were actively strong while hogs lost $1.50 from last week's close. Lambs were in good demand at steady prices. Holdover at the close 700 cattle.

Cattle receipts of 8,367 head were added to 500 carried from last week. Included in fresh receipts 2,600 westerns. OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa is the first city in Canada to pass its objective in the Community Chest campaign, R. H. Hyndman, campaign chairman, told a meeting of canvassers Thursday night. He announced collections of $462,223, topping the campaign goal of $435,000 by six per cent.

Bill Bankier, Wins Short Story Liberty Award

Bill Bankier, 25-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bankier, 241 Albert Street, has won the short story of the month award given by New Liberty magazine for November.

The story, entitled "Fall With The Rain" is a sombre account of the survivors of a city ruined by an atomic blast, praying for rain to put out the many fires burning among the debris.

It is the first story that Mr. Bankier has had published.

Bill was an announcer on radio station CJBQ until the fall of 1951, when he won a contest for broadcasters in Montreal. He went to work in Montreal as an advertising writer on CFCF and then became an announcer on CBM, the CBC's Montreal outlet. Currently he is engaged writing comedy skits for "Can For Fun" a CBC Montreal television show, and acting in the show along with Frank Heron.

PLAN END DUPLICATION

HAMILTON (CP) — All Ontario universities except the University of Western Ontario have adopted a plan to eliminate duplication of evening classes for university extension work. Dr. C. B. U.S. TRADE ATTITUDE CHANGING

Wednesday, in Washington, a couple of important bits a very important dog.

The gentlemen of figuratively speaking, exercised their scholars were George Meany, president of the American Federation of Labor and Allan B. Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation. The pampered pup into which they spunk the fangs of economic logic had masqueraded under a variety of misnomers. Most popular name is "protection," a tag which was first applied to the pup's ancestors back when the United States was just commencing to flex its economic muscles and needed a little extended training before climbing into the market place and battling for the trade prizes of the world. But the days when most U.S. industries needed high protection to live has long since passed and such high tariffs, plus additional devices such as import quotas and outright embargoes, have recently done more to harm than to benefit the U.S. economy—besides endangering the very life of other nations.

This fact has now been publicly recognized by the leaders of labor and farm organizations and by a big step forward. These industrialists had earlier taken a similar stand. It is not surprising that leadership in the drive for freer international trade should have come from labor, for free trade is a border city geographically but its also closely linked, as a result of its automotive empire, with many other nations besides Canada.

These are all pointers that U.S. public opinion is slowly but surely gaining signs that U.S. public opinion is aware of the fact that, as a great creditor nation, the U.S. must promote international trade. Trade is the only means by which foreign countries can afford to return to their economic feet more than it can afford to return to the policies of political isolation. Trade is today its very life-blood.

Still, one ought not to expect any sudden revolution in the protectionist outlook which is deeply embedded in the life of the nation; because it was this policy of protection which aided in the growth of great industrial empires. Even as Washington, as Meany and Kline took a bite at the protectionist pup, there were signs of their continued love for the ancestor. Meany observed that the pup "has its sports coming in new and unmanufactured form." This is true, but the U.S. will eventually have to accept a gradual change in that condition, too, if the remainder of the world is not to be permitted to remain under-developed.

That raw materials will be moved across international frontiers for many decades, at least, is certain. But, for the economic health of the world as a whole, the United States cannot abrogate to itself the function of the major processor of raw materials but must eventually accept the theory that raw materials should be processed in the countries best equipped to carry out this work efficiently and cheaply and that the processed products, as well as raw materials, must then be freely exchanged between the nations of the world. With its vast industrial plant and skilled workers, the U.S. need have no fear that the acceptance of such a policy will push it into the trading background. Instead it is destined to be the dominant leadership in the economic life of the world is the existence of vast stores of cheap labor in many other countries. Raising the standard of living in these countries would benefit this threat—and the fastest way to raise living standards is to assist these countries to develop their industrial equipment and to process some of the raw materials they now export.

A FRAISEWORTHY ATTITUDE

Because it was particularly depressing to read accounts of the alleged slaughter of Arabs by Israeli forces, it is doubly encouraging to learn of Israel's conciliatory offer to Jordan to join in a new Jordan river hydro-electric project while the U.N. Security Council considers the implications of the work.

Because the Jews have been the victims of so many injustices in the course of persecution, down through the ages and in recent years also, many of us had come to expect great things of them. Under such treatment, one of two things happens. We love justice mightily, under the lash of cruelty he grows in kindness and tolerance and mercy. There appeared sound reasons to believe that the Jews, as a whole, had learned to temper justice with mercy. So it came as a shock to many to learn that they were, apparently, not immune from the plague of violence which today rocks the globe.

How pleasant, therefore, to read that though the Jews might act rashly in anger in a border dispute they were still prepared to adopt a conciliatory attitude in respect to their plans for developing their homeland, so recently regained.

It must be added that the Arab nations, with whom the Jews are in conflict, appear to have been as quick as any to grasp the significance of the gesture and to voice their appreciation.

Conciliatory attitudes may be unpopular in the world today—but they have lost none of their value in controversies where both sides, though divided by opposing interests, share a common desire to reach some acceptable solution to a problem.

DO IT NOW

If you've a cheering note to write,
Do it now.
Don't put it off until tonight.
Do it now.
If there's a friend you long have
Do it now.
Who needs to have your friendship shown,
That heartening visit don't postpone.
Do it now.
And if you're a task that should be done,
Do it now.
You'll rather seem when life's begun.
Do it now.

Neglected, it will fearful stay.
"More time tomorrow," never say.
No time is surer than today.
Do it now.
Is there some duty that you dread?
Do it now.
Leave it behind and not ahead.
Do it now.
You'll better feel when sets the sun
If all you could do you have done,
And better you'll enjoy your fun.

Old Canal Serves Well

(Windsor Star)

The Rideau Canal, completed in 1832, as a defence project to provide a waterway for boats bordering on the United States, now is used only by pleasure craft. That doesn't mean the six locks and 24,000,000 then spent were wasted. The waterway is paying big dividends in a way never contemplated by its engineer.

The canal, running from Ottawa to Kingston and the chain of the Rideau Lakes which it connects, passes through a storage reservoir of 255,000-acre-feet of water in the Rideau watershed, with a practical value of more than $15,000,000. The area it serves will never want for water provided the canal and the lakes can be kept clean and pure.

It serves a pleasant link through one of the most beautiful parts of all Canada. Several lakes in which fine fish still abound. The Rideau Canal has tremendous worth from the viewpoint of scenery and pleasure.

Strength for the Day

YOUTH LOOKS AT LIFE

Young people are generally highly critical of the world; of their parents, of politics, of social and economic systems, and of discipline. Practically all of us in our late teens knew exactly what was the matter with the world, and we wondered how people could be so stupid as not to see it with the clarity we did. We declared that what we came into our own, we would change things in a hurry and stop all this shilly-shallying and secrecy.

Well, the world is not much different than it was then. It is not youth, except that we have had two world wars and the stupendous moral decline which always follows such catastrophes. We were going to change the world, but instead we have taken a good licking. And so will the next generation, and the next, and the next. To say this is not to express despair. The human race goes forward 2 inches for 3 falls back 1¼ inches. Progress, as someone has said, is steady but jerky. Certainly if we lie down on the job, everything precious in human society would vanish in a decade.

The trouble with young people is that they overalimplify great world problems. The greatest minds in political history have been pondering these problems, through the ages, the solution is not so simple as it may seem.

But give them time—they'll find it.

Our Future Lies in North

(Montreal Gazette)

Lieut.-Col. A. J. Tedlie, DSO, who commanded the big military base at Churchill, Man., for three years, stressed, in a speech here on Saturday, the vital importance to Canada of Arctic research and development. Canada lies between the two most powerful nations on earth, the United States and Russia, and might be called "the ham in the geopolitical sandwich."

Colonel Tedlie, after listing the various fields of Arctic research that are being explored, noted that the results obtained by the military in special clothing and foods, machines and fuels, are equally useful in civilian expansion in the North.

This theme could be considerably extended. The best military establishment, and the least costly, is one which forms part of a civilian community which shares its costs as well as its facilities. As the Canadian North is immensely valuable in a commercial sense as well as a military one, there seems no reason why such dual-purpose communities should not grow at a satisfactory rate.

There seems no reason, but there is at least one which keeps the growth of the North from gaining momentum. The reason is that most Canadians aren't interested. Until this materialization grows, the young Canadians who are needed up there tend more or less to follow the line of the cities.

This is largely because the rigors of northern living have been over-emphasized in popular fiction, and the real opportunities in the North have never been sufficiently emphasized.

The result is that in many of our more remote areas, where manpower is needed, it is immigrants supplied by the Federal Employment Service who are often found doing the jobs.

The problem is obviously one of education, not just education in the schools and universities, but in all the information channels of the country, translating the North to the people. Information about the northern four-fifths of their country.

Not only our military, but our economic future lies there.

Emus Defy Machine Guns

(From The National Geographic Magazine)

Hated and hunted by farmers admired by ornithologists and crossword puzzle fans, Australia's queer bird, the emu, is a national pride and pest.

Big as the world's second largest bird, ranking just below the ostrich. Of all the island continent's bird species, the emu alone, perhaps has been dignified with a place on the Commonwealth coat-of-arms.

Once the emu was in danger of extinction but it has staged a comeback in recent years. Today the birds are counted by the thousands in parts of the mainland, New South Wales, Northern Territory and Western Australia. Soil conservationists have forbid their killing, but in other provinces—notably Southern Australia—the emu's destiny is paid for each emus beak delivered to authorities.

After vainly attempting to shoot, poison and trap the wary birds, farmers in Western Australia are trying to fence them away from wheat farms. The fields are open invade by birds as crops are ripening. They eat the wheat and then trample the rest. Emus also damage wire fences, and they are immune to the fences, and they are immune to the fences, and they are immune to the Movement on Foot To Enlarge Town Council

TRENTON (Special) — There is a movement on foot to enlarge the town council. Instead of the mayor and six councillors there may be a nine-man council. And the term of office for civic administrators may be lengthened to two years. Yearly elections have been the order since Trenton was established 100 years ago.

If the plan is adopted Trenton's election policy will be similar to Belleville's, where councillors serve for two-year terms and election for mayor is held annually.

Members of council will discuss the advisability of a two-year term for councillors at the town father's regular meeting this Tuesday night.

CARS COLLIDE.

Considerable damage resulted when two cars crashed head on at Mercia and Francis Streets.

Wilfred L. Leech, 35, of Kenwood, Manitoba, living with Sam Parks, R.R. 5, Trenton, was driving one motor vehicle and Harold Semple, 23, of R.R. 1, Trenton, the other.

Estimated damage to the Leech car, which was insured, was $350, to the Semple machine $200, which was not covered by insurance.

Hon. B. Claxton Visits Trenton Air Station

TRENTON, (Special.) — Hon. Brooke Claxton, minister of National Defence, visited the Trenton RCAF Station, on Friday morning, en route to officially open the new Army Ordnance depot at Cobourg.

Mr. Claxton arrived here by plane from Ottawa and spent two hours at the station before leaving by car for Cobourg. During his stay here he made a tour of the station and visited and inspected many of its facilities. Among those which he viewed was the new million-dollar hangar, now nearing completion.

Mr. Claxton was greeted on his arrival here by Air Vice Marshal J. G. Kerr, C.B.E., C.D., A.O.C. Training Headquarters, Trenton, and Group Captain J. B. Millward, D.F.C., O.C., RCAF Station, Trenton.

Besides inspecting the new hangar, Mr. Claxton also visited the Protestant and Roman Catholic chapels, the station hospital, where he talked to several of the patients the Air Vice Marshal Headnote school in Middleton Park, and the flight line maintenance, where he watched ground crews working on T-33 jets. Mr. Claxton also drove through beautiful Middleton Park, the quarters for married personnel.

Sales Training Films Success Says Chairman

Bill Wills, chairman of the retail section of the Chamber of Commerce, reported on the success of the sales training films, at the directors meeting held in the Shrine club on Thursday.

The films were shown to members of the Chamber of Commerce and their employees recently. Mr. Wills stated that from an attendance standpoint, they had been a complete success. He said further that attendance for both days had totaled 260 persons.

Another report came from Don Kingdon, secretary-manager, who reported on the regional conference of the Canadian and Ontario Chambers of Commerce held at the Y.M.C.A. earlier this month. According to Mr. Kingdon, there were 75 delegates present from 20 communities. He said it was an extremely successful conference.

Four new membership applications were approved at the meeting. The following are the new members: Walter Elliott, Elliott Motors; Ian F. March, March manufacturing Limited; G. A. Low, Canadian Pittsburgh Industries Limited; J. Lemmer, Caraquet Packers Limited.

Recovery Suit For $22,500,000 Ends in Mistrial

NEW YORK (AP)—James Rutkin's recovery suit for $22,500,000 against a former bootlegging partner and others ended in a mistrial in federal court today.

Judge Thomas F. Murphy discharged the jury of six men and six women after both sides moved for a mistrial because jurors had received letters from an unidentified source.

He instructed the jury to cooperate with the U. S. attorney and the Federal Bureau of Investigation in an investigation of the letters.

LETTER SENT JURORS

Judge Murphy called the jury into the courtroom this morning and told them "a number of jurors have received a letter from someone" which would be "highly prejudicial" to the case. He said he would grant motions made earlier by opposing attorneys.

The trial which began four weeks ago, was interrupted Thursday when FBI agents spent two hours conferring with both sides.

Rutkin is serving a four-year prison term for income tax evasion.

MUSICIAN ELECTROCUTED

HAMILTON (CP)—Albert Carroll, 21, came here from Stony Lookout eight months ago with ambitions to play saxophone in an orchestra. Finally, he arranged to start work with a dance band tonight. Thursday, working with an electric grinder in a welding shop, he was electrocuted. Police said he probably stepped into a pool of water while using the machine.

RECORD YEAR FORECAST

BRANTFORD (CP)—This year will set a record for production in Canada, showing a billion-dollar increase, Mitchell W. Sharp, associate deputy minister of the department of trade and commerce, said Thursday. He told a service club that he foresaw no recession.

Cold War Began Before Shooting War Ended Says Sir Winston

NEW YORK (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill says the cold war began before the shooting war ended with Russia's refusal to give immediate aid to Warsaw underground fighters being wiped out by the Germans.

With Russian troops less than 10 miles away, the Polish underground in Warsaw began Aug. 1, 1944, a battle to seize the city from the Germans. The Germans turned their "tiger" tanks against the underground, which pleaded for supplies from the Allies.

Sir Winston says Premier Stalin refused the use of Russian air bases to Allied planes dropping supplies to the underground, which also appealed for Russian aid. A joint appeal by Sir Winston and the late President Roosevelt was rejected by Stalin, who said:

"These people have exploited the good faith of the inhabitants of Warsaw, throwing many almost unarmed people against the German guns, tanks and aircraft. . . ."

Sir Winston tells of these events in Life magazine, out Thursday, which is publishing the second instalment of "Triumph and Tragedy," the sixth and final volume of his Nobel Prize winning memoirs. In Canada, publication rights are held by Weekend Picture Magazine and its associated newspapers.

"On Sept. 10, after six weeks of Polish torment, the Kremlin appeared to change their tactics," Sir Winston says.

"That afternoon shells from the Soviet artillery began to fall upon the eastern outskirts of Warsaw, and Soviet planes appeared again over the city. Polish Communist forces, under Soviet orders, fought their way into the fringe of the capital. They wished to have the non-Communist Poles destroyed to the full, but also to keep alive the idea that they were going to their rescue. Meanwhile, house by house the Germans proceeded with their liquidation of Polish centres of resistance throughout the city. . . .

"When the Russians entered the city on Jan. 17, they found little but shattered ruins and the unburied dead. Such was their liberation of Poland, where they now rule."

Efforts to Settle Milk Strike In New York Fail

NEW YORK (AP) — Marathon negotiations to end New York's milk strike broke down early today, and Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri, calling the situation "intolerable," immediately called a mediation meeting at city hall for later in the day.

A deadlock in the wage-hour dispute became apparent at 2:30 a.m. EST when representatives of the AFL Teamsters Union walked out of the bargaining room.

The walkout, which began five days ago, seemed on the verge of settlement for the last two days, with federal, state and city mediators taking part in the lengthy sessions.

Thursday, on the basis of optimistic statements issued by negotiators, fleets of big milk trucks rolled toward the city, ready to supply fresh milk for 12,000,000 metropolitan area consumers in New York and northern New Jersey. They were stopped, however.

OVER WAGES, HOURS

The strike began Sunday when 15,000 drivers and plant workers stopped work over their demand for a $15-weekly wage increase and a 35-hour work week instead of 40 hours.

Fresh milk supplies were exhausted almost immediately in retail stores and restaurants. Milk depots ran out Tuesday. But plenty of powdered and evaporated milk has been available.

Dairy farmers estimate the walkout is costing them $250,000 a day, forcing them to divert their product to less-profitable milk by-products such as butter and cheese.

In Edmonton's shoe stores after the city awoke Thursday to a storm that left more than three inches of snow on the ground. Wednesday the thermometer had soared to 71—a record high for Oct. 28. Thursday, temperatures dropped to 23.

Choir Honors Departing Member

Members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church choir met last evening in the church parlors, following choir practice, for a social get-together in honor of one of their members, Miss Pat Wilkie, who is being transferred from the city of Ottawa, by the Bank of Nova Scotia, at Toronto.

A presentation of costume jewellery was made on behalf of the choir, by Mrs. J. Dervell to Miss Wilkie, who graciously expressed her appreciation.

Addresses were made by the Reverend J. E. Wilson, choir master, Mr. Egerton Boyce, Mrs. Dervell, Mrs. Lucille Hall and Mrs. Wallace Hall, after which tea, with the table centre decorated with bronze chrysanthemums and flanked by white candles in silver candelabra, brought the evening to a close.

Two Local B.P. Club Women Honored at Provincial Conference

Honors befell two members of the local Business and Professional Women's Club of Belleville and district when they attended the provincial conference held in Hamilton this past weekend. Miss Norma Aykins, immediate past president, was elected Second Director for District No. 8. The clubs in her district are Cobourg, Port Hope, Colborne, Trenton, Napanee, Picton, Peterborough, Campbellford, the Kingston, and Belleville. Mrs. Simone McFarden, provincial co-convener of this year's Business and Professional Week, was appointed editor of the "Ontario Messenger", a quarterly magazine of club personalities, projects and activities for Ontario.

GIVES WELCOME

On a Coronation theme, the conference got under way Friday evening at the Royal Connaught with Mayor Lloyd D. Jackson extending civic welcome and Miss Pearl Pearson, president, Miss Dorothy Lew, convener, and Alderman Ada Pritchard, all of the Hamilton club, extending a warm welcome to all attending. Greetings from the Canadian Federation were presented by Miss Gladys Moffatt, Ottawa, and from the International Federation by Miss Margaret Hyndman, K.C.

Miss Harriet Bates, Lindsay, was presented representative of Honorable Leslie M. Frost, premier of Ontario.

Mrs. Margery Pawtress, provincial president, was chairman of the first day conference which included reports and resolutions arising from study of income tax structure, unemployment insurance benefits, pension plan benefits, pay duly for women and equal pay for equal work bill. An excellent report was presented by Elsie Gregory MacGill, B.-P. representative to the United Nations for women joint committees.

INTERESTING DEBATE

A highlight of Saturday afternoon's session was a debate on "Resolved that married women should have equal opportunity with single women in the matter of employment." The affirmative side included Mrs. Dorothy Brent

White Cane Club Enjoys Social Time

The White Cane Club held its monthly social evening Wednesday at the Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Alexander opened the meeting with a welcome to the members and their escorts.

Mrs. Collins introduced the entertainers, Mrs. Houston and two of her pupils, David and Gordon Jones, who played a selection on the piano which all enjoyed.

Mrs. Ross Preston led in a community sing song, after which she played the selections on the tenor banjo and later rendered a selection accompanying herself on the piano.

Miss Myrtle Peck gave a reading, "John Giplin" which was amusing and quite interesting, bringing back bygone days to quite a few of the listeners.

Two new members were welcomed, Mr. Gardiner and Miss Shirley Alporte.

Miss Leslie Warham and Mrs. Wright, who have worked with the club since it started, were made honorary members.

The Kinettes served the usual tasty refreshments which were greatly appreciated.

The evening was closed with Judith Burrows' reading thanks to the retailers. Kinettes members were responsible for making another social evening a huge success. "Auld Lang Syne" was sung, accompanied by Mrs. Houston at the piano.

What About Cinderella After the Ball Is Over?

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What happens when fame and fortune flitter through a movie star's fingers?

In the gilded lore of Hollywood, great stress is placed on the Cinderella angle. Publicity girls crowd the tales of how an unknown girl becomes a wealthy celebrity.

But what about the stars who fade after the ball is over?

Hollywood has to take a glance behind at the once-famous personalities who get lost in the constant search for new faces. But occasionally the faded names can't be overlooked. That's been true recently when Mae Clarke was brought into court on charges of fraud in obtaining $39 of state unemployment payments.

Miss Clarke is the leading lady in the '30s, was given a 30-day suspended sentence.

I called on Miss Clarke at her tiny $55-a-month apartment, where she lives amid the memorabilia of her film past.

How does a player slip from stardom?

Still lovely at 42 (she missed three TV roles because she didn't look old enough) Miss Clarke said all of a sudden the roles stopped coming.

"Perhaps it was no particular reason for it. The producers liked me, I got along well with the other actors and actresses, and the public still wanted to see me. But the jobs didn't turn up.

"So I just waited. It's that way in the acting business that you can't turn up tomorrow that will put you right back on top again."

For Miss Clarke it was well. She had starred in pictures like Frankenstein and Public Enemy.

DOUBLE LIFE

"During the past 10 years, I've led a double life," she explained. "I've worked as secretary and receptionist for the war department, and a couple of doctors but always with the agreement that if an acting job came up, I'd be free to accept it."

She once earned as high as $1,500 a week. When you ask where the money went, she smiles: "It's absent but accounted for."

Unlike some stars, she didn't shower her money away. Much of it went to support five members of her family. The rest disappeared in 10 years of scant work.

Hollywood is full of people like Miss Clarke. Some live comfortably in retirement. Among them: Janet Gaynor, married to designer Adrian; Theda Bara, to former director Charles Brabin; Louise Fazenda, to producer Hal Wallis; Dorothy Griffith, to George Marshall of the Washington Redskins.

Some are in other lines of work. William Haines and Mary Miles Minter became interior decorators. Rod Laroque sells real estate.

But most of the former stars still pursue their first love — acting. They do bit roles in movies or play in TV films, like shows and soap operas.

Housewife With Passion For 'Silly Hats' Scheduled To Be London's Next Mayor

LONDON (Reuters) — A grey haired housewife with a passion for "silly hats" is scheduled to become London's next mayor.

She is Mrs. Molly Bolton, mother of two adult children and a vivid socialist who has already proven her diplomatic skill by successfully cancelling her self through a long public career.

Mrs. Bolton virtually is certain to be installed as chairman of the 258-member London County Council next Tuesday when the council meet to confirm her nomination by the Labor party, which holds a majority of seats.

Her job, the toughest in British municipal politics, requires great tact and administrative ability.

HEAD GIVING HEART

She will be the active head of the 2,500,000 persons who live in London county, the heart of the capital's 8,000,000 population. She will not receive too plenty for her full-time job, and will only get a strictly-audited expense account.

The lives with her husband, an engineer, in a solid old Victorian brick house in the northwest London suburbs. Their daughter is an actress in a London stock company and their son is on duty in Malaya as an army medical officer.

During her early days on the council, Mrs. Bolton dazzled her fellow-councilmen by showing up wearing bold new hats notable for their garish, feminine style. But this year when she was elected as vice-chairman of the council, Gossamer got the better of her and she began to show up bareheaded.

Says Mrs. Bolton took her seat on the dais for the first time there was a ruffled chorus of groans from the male councilmen whose lives had been brightened for years by the hats.

"It just laziness, really," Mrs. Bolton apologized.

LONG A SOCIALIST

Mrs. Bolton's devotion to socialism dates far back into this country. For seven years she was the private secretary to Britain's famed Socialist team, Sidney and Beatrice Webb.

As chairman of the council she will be the head of a body which handles almost all the county's active civic life, from sewage disposal and civil defence to child welfare and the school system. The council even operates a string of rest homes.

It has no jurisdiction, however, over the city police, who are national.

Mrs. Bolton's job is not to be confused with that of the Lord Mayor of London, whose traditional-assigned post gives him jurisdiction chiefly honorary — over the square-mile territory known as "the city of London," the capital's financial district and the site of St. Paul's cathedral.

Women's Activities

STONE CHURCH W.M.S.

FOURTH SUNDAY — The Women's Missionary Society meeting of Stone Church was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. H. Whitfield with 17 members and seven visitors, also a number of children present. Mrs. R. E. Phillips opened the meeting and led the worship service, the theme being, "The life and task of the Church Around the World."

Not every year do we have this opportunity to widen our horizons. The life and task of the church begins with each individual Christian as he or she lives and works in his local church. It moves on through groups, congregations and Churches in widening circles of fellowship throughout our work in Canada and across the world.

Dr. Moffatt tells of listening to some behind the Bamboo Curtain in Communist China. A good part of the congregation had fled when the Communists had taken the city. These few faithful ones were singing, "Jesus shall reign where'er the sun does its successive journies run; His Kingdoms stretch from shore to shore, till moons shall wax and wane no more."

"What did Isaac Watts pen in 1718 talking about Jesus reigning around the world?"

Mrs. C. Rushnell, Mrs. A. Wright, Mrs. F. Tucker gave scripture reading, devotions, Mrs. Wright son of today.

The women helping followed with readings on Africa, Mexico and Berlin; Mrs. George Wright on Korea, by Mrs. Maxwell Lovey.

Mrs. Detloy took charge of the business part.

The allocation and supply work was given by Mrs. Bruce.

A duet was given by Rev. and Mrs. Dovey.

Next meeting to be held at the parsonage. Social half hour to be followed by refreshments by committee in charge.

Club Activities

The regular meeting of the Coronation Club of Bridge St. United Church Women's Association was held on Monday evening.

Mrs. J. S. Loynes presided over the business meeting. Mrs. T. R. Colden gave the devotional service on the theme of "Stewardship."

Mrs. G. B. Hyde introduced the guest speaker, the new assistant minister, Miss Collins, who gave a talk on the inter-relationship between the church and home.

Mrs. T. R. Colden thanked Miss Collins for her talk.

West End Fashion Parade Covers 75 Year's Fur Styles

By MURIEL HARRAWAY

LONDON (CP) — Period fur robes stroll sleek shoulders with modern Canadian mink and sable garments at a "West End Fashion parade covering scores of fur styles.

To celebrate its 75th birthday, a British company (National Fur) reconstructed styles they had sold through the years.

So, for photographic purposes, a mannequin wearing a $2,500 wild mink coat strolled down Park lane linking arms with a period model in egg-plant satin gown topped by a sealskin jacket bound with skunk and trimmed with jet.

ELEGANT MINK

The elegant Canadian mink, with its full swing back, deep Magyar sleeves tapering to small turn-back cuff and "smurvy" treatment across shoulders and back, is typical of the high-priced Commonwealth furs now sold by most ranking British furriers.

Back in 1878, however, it was a different story. In those days fashion-set Arnold Barder opened a small shop in Kensington' Brompton Road. He started producing fur jackets in sealskin, skunk and Persian lamb, which were acceptable to a wide parket, at times when were mostly by queens and princesses.

By 1901, the year of the Boer war and the death of Queen Victoria, the firm produced chinchilla coats for day wear and Russian sable lined with ermine for evening capes in the expensive bracket.

The Edwardian lovely of 1907, fancied ermine and sable. Then in 1911, coronation year of George V, fur taste reverted to mink, Persian and coney. Post-war year 1919 saw coats of antelope in loose fitting styles and by 1928, when women first got the vote, favorite furs were Persian lamb and skunk.

MUSKRAT POPULAR

By 1933 the trend towards Commonwealth skins was evident in the popularity of muskrat, known here as musquash. It remained a first favorite for many years. Just before the Second World War, women tired of muskrat might purchase black-and-white African kid coats. Then, with the 1947 new look, the trend turned to soft skins like natural otter.

Now, from the Queen downwards elegant women with money to indulge their fancy choose Canadian wild mink, ranch mink, sable and, of course, Muskrat and Canadian squirrel have lost ground to lesser-priced, brushed beaver lamb and baby beaver skins.

For preference and styles have changed little since last year. Coat backs are straighter with side fullness. Important sleeves have wide or narrow cuffs and collars diverge from small roll to deep capes that can be drawn around the ears.

Stoles still hold favor and a new favorite is Canadian sable in wide stoles of around six skins. Priced at £70 a skin, they are elegant choice for day or evening wear.

GOWNS ON TOUR

As the Queen packs off-the-peg cottons as part of her round-the-world wardrobe, Britain's newest and sleekest materials in gowns and suits are on their way to Australia for show in towns the Queen will visit. Among the gowns to be shown in this bali dress of topaz nylon, screen-printed in black by Worth of London. An over-panel gives side fullness to the sheath skirt. (CP Photo)

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

This Girl Thinks She's "Missing Something" and Asks the Is!

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am writing for my girl friend who was very much in love until this week. She is 15 years old and goes to high school.

She met this man she was in love about six months ago. He is 22 years of age, and everything was perfect with them until school started.

There are two things that bother her. One is that after class other girls meet their boy friends and go home with them. The second thing is that she has only gone out with one or two other boys and thinks she is missing something.

She is still dating this fellow, and if it weren't for school, she wouldn't be in doubt. When she is not with him, she misses him. For these reasons, I think she still loves him.

Please try to help my girl friend and her ex-boy friend, because they are the nicest people you would ever want to meet and I think they belong together.

A.J.T.

Dear A.J.T.:

Did your girl friend ask you to write to me, or did you just do it on your own? Sometimes, you know, it's a rather dangerous meddle in anyone else's business.

In your letter when you say "leaves me a little confused. In one place you say this girl was "in love until this week," a little later you say you think she still loves this man. In the next paragraph you call him "her ex-boy friend." Yet she is still dating him. This seems to me a pretty mixed-up state of affairs.

What I think is that this 15-year-old girl, who is still in school, would be very foolish to center all her thoughts on a chap of 23 who should be going out with young women of his own age and with interests more suited to that age anyhow. In my opinion, she is quite right in believing she "is missing something" when she has gone out with so few boys, and also in feeling left out when she sees other girls meeting their boy friends after school.

My advice to her would be that she stop dating this older young man altogether, and find her boy friends among her school companions, and my advice to you is to tell her so. I can't believe this older friendship is either appropriate or wise.

Sorry, Sir, But I Can't Forward Mail F.

Your Letter

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Could you please address the letter I am enclosing to Miss M.H.B. whose letter in a recent column of yours said that she was very lonely and she wanted to know how she could meet sons of her own age?

I enclose the clipping from the paper and assume that you know the address of this lady.

J.C.P.

Dear J.C.P.:

It is very good of you to be interested in this lonely woman's problem, and to want to make friends with her.

Unfortunately, I am unable to comply with your request to send on your letter to her for several reasons. One of them is that she gave me neither her name nor her address, so that I would not know where to send your letter. Since you yourself did not care to give me your name and address, you undoubtedly realize how many other people there must be who write to me and, whishing to remain anonymous, simply expect to find their letter and my answer in my column.

Another reason why I would not feel I could forward your letter even if I did know how to reach this woman, is that it does not seem wise to me to introduce strangers through the mails.

I am sorry not to be able to do

Readers' Friday Column

By Mary Moore

QUESTION:

On Sunday I'm having company for supper and I know they are both very fond of French fried potatoes and fish, but it would take me at least a couple of hours to make them at supper time, so I was wondering if I could make them in the morning and keep them some way and then reheated them in the oven when we want them. Can you help me on this?—A Young Wife.

ANSWER:

I have not recently tried what I am going to suggest to you to try. As you know you may buy frozen French fries and we are instructed to reheat these in the oven. You probably could fry your potatoes, hold them in refrigerator in single layers, then reheat them uncovered in a hot oven. It probably will even improve them if the oven is hot enough to crisp and fry the same with the fish—but with both of these foods make sure you understand them just a little on the original frying so that there is a little leeway for them to brown in the oven.

You may be sure though, that if there were any royal road to home-cooking fried foods the fish and chip shops would have discovered it. As it is they pretty well fry everything at serving time.

QUESTION:

Would you please send me any wine recipes you have also recipes for soft drinks except root beer which I already make. I believe my grandmother used to make a drink something like cream soda and it was called Boston cream. I find it so economical to make soft drinks at home.—Ruth H.

ANSWER:

You may be experienced enough to make wine from the two short formulas I am going to give you. I have not tried them but the formula book from which I took them is very reliable.

ROYAL POP

To 3 gallons of water add 1-2 teaspoon of tartar, 1-4 oz. ginger, 3 1-2 lbs. white sugar, 1-2 dram essence of lemon, 1-2 pint yeast. The formula warns that the corks should be tied on.

GINGERADE

Dissolve 3 lbs. granulated sugar in 2 gallons water. Then the beaten whites of 2 eggs and 2 oz. powdered ginger stirred to a paste in 1-2 cup water. Bring slowly to boiling in enamelled kettle, skim and stand aside to settle. When cold add the juice of 1 large lemon and, 1-4 oz. yeast dissolved in 2 tablespoons lukewarm water. Mix thoroughly, strain, fill bottles, cork tightly and tie corks on and put at once in cool place. Ready for use in two days, I have sent wine recipes.

QUESTION:

Would you please send me recipe for Fruit Cocktail. It called for fruit in baskets in your recipe.—Mrs. Glen C.

ANSWER:

CANNED FRUIT SALAD

One-half 6-quart basket each peaches and pears; 3 oranges, 1 grapefruit, 3 cups water, 5 cups sugar, 1 bottle maraschino cherries (approximately 30-cent size). Make a syrup of the water and sugar. Peel and cut up peaches and pears as for salad.

as you request and if you will send me a self-addressed envelope, I will be very glad to return your letter intended for this woman.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

Proper Dress For City Hall Marriage

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

As I was married before I can not be married in church, so we will be married in City Hall here. Afterward there will be a dinner for the immediate families and probably a few of the closest relatives. Please tell me the proper attire for us (bride and groom), maid of honor and best man for the ceremony at City Hall in the morning, and for the dinner either at noon or evening.

A.M.

For your civil marriage in City Hall, you and your attendant should wear simple street-length dresses or suits, and the groom and best man wear dark business suits. You and your attendant wear hats, of course, and gloves. Before the ceremony begins, you remove your gloves and put them with, or in, your purse. You should not carry a bouquet, but you and your attendant may wear corsages, which should be small and conservative.

If you wish, and depending on the time of the dinner and on your plans for leaving for the honeymoon trip, you and the groom and the attendants may change to other attire.

A Graceful Gesture

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

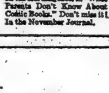
Recently a neighbor and I were having a discussion as to whether or not it is proper for a bride-to-be to send a wedding invitation to the prospective bridegroom's mother and father. She said she thought it would be humiliating. I said I was almost positive that I had read in your column that this would be a proper and thoughtful thing to do. Which of us is right?

J.

Your neighbor has the correct and sensible point of view that it isn't appropriate to send a wedding invitation (or an announcement either) to the prospective bridegroom's mother and father . . . because naturally they would be fully informed about the wedding with which they are so intimately connected.

However, I do suggest that it is thoughtful for the bride-to-be to make this devoted gesture to her parents-in-law-to-be. Just as soon as the invitations arrive from the engraver, to enclose several of them, complete with envelopes, in a packet and send them, with a graceful note of devotion to the mother and father of her bridegroom-to-be. For example, "David and I wanted to have you two dear ones, the guests of honor at our wedding, receive the very first invitations . . ." and so here they are, as keepsakes. If you wish, of the happy day to come. And with them comes dear-est love from all of us here, and the high-hearted anticipation of seeing you on "the tenth!" (Notice that these invitations are not sent actually as invitations, but as "keepsakes.")

When Office Workers Are Invited As A Group



Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband works in an office with about ten or eleven other men. One of his co-workers is to be married soon, and an invitation to the church wedding and reception was sent to the office employees as a group, (Just to "Mr." and not including "Mrs.") On the reception card was "R.s.v.p." My husband wants to have me ask you how this should be answered by the group.

"Mrs."

The proper way is for each co-worker to write his own reply, acceptance or regret. (This makes it most convenient for the hosts of the wedding to plan on the number of guests.) Or the prospective bridegroom may ask for verbal replies, and pass this number on to the bride or her mother.

Rats Are Costing Canadian Farmers Millions Annually

GUELPH— Canadian farmers are annually paying out millions of dollars to rats for the damage they cause. It costs a farmer about twenty dollars to maintain one rat on his farm for one year, a sum of money that at present prices would maintain the three months a brood sow producing two litters a year.

Rats and mice are often quite numerous without actually being seen. One authority has derived the following estimates — for farmers: no rats seen—up to 30 may be present; one rat seen occasionally—from 30 to 300 may be present; one or more rats seen quite frequently—300 or more present.

The Provincial Department of Health states that the Ontario rat population might be approximately 4,500,000 or about equal to the human population. As an example of rat population, the number of rats picked up after the use of cornmeal-warfarin bait in two area rat demonstrations on 97 Ontario farms indicates an average population of 15 to 20 rats per farm.

There are several methods of control, in the order of their popularity these are : trapping, poison baits, tracking down, clean up, and rodent proofing or exclusion.

Each of these methods is discussed in detail, with illustrations, in a new Ontario Department of Agriculture Bulletin, "Rats and Mice," prepared by Professor R. H. Osburn, Ontario Agricultural College. The bulletin is obtainable at the office of the Agricultural representative or from the Statistics and Publication Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

Woman Testifies

TORONTO (CP)—A woman in the property office of the Ontario department of highways Thursday testified in a fraud trial she overheard her boss say to another man:

"We can go to Florida on the money we make on this deal."

Her boss, James Cutteli, is serving a three-year-term for fraud, theft and conspiracy. Mrs. Audrey Marshall was testifying in the trial of John Kersley, facing 17 charges of defrauding the province of $30,000 worth of crown properties.

Police said Kersey was Cutelli's partner in the frauds during 1950-52.

ESCAPE BOREDOM

COPENHAGEN (Reuter)—Only 20 per cent of Danish couples marry for love, according to H. C. Dahl, a lecturer on the subject. Half of those who marry every year do so out of boredom, need of a home, or want of a child, he said. And 30 per cent wed because they like one another or share the same hobbies.

Frank Sinatra And Ava Gardner To Part Company

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Frank Sinatra and Ava Gardner have called it quits, and Miss Gardner said Thursday she would seek a divorce.

In a statement issued through MGM, Miss Gardner's studio, the couple said:

"Having reluctantly exhausted every effort to reconcile our differences, we find no mutual basis on which to continue our marriage. We still have great respect for each other."

They would have celebrated their second anniversary Nov. 7.

Sunday School Lesson:

Secret of The Miracle

By ROY L. SMITH

Let's look at the simple fact. Of all the nations of antiquity, the Jew is the only one that has survived and preserved his identity.

There are Egyptians, Syrians, and dwellers in the region of the Tigris and Euphrates, but with the passing of the centuries they have gone through the melting pot. Ancient Assyria, Babylonia, and Egypt have no successors. But the meteoric rise of the modern state of Israel is a political and racial miracle that calls for an explanation.

JEWISH FAMILY LIFE.

It is not the total picture, of course, but the sanctity of Jewish family life is one of the major explanations for the immortality of the Jew.

Beginning with the bitter days in the wilderness, when Moses gave the people their basic law and social philosophy, the Jew began building his racial destiny around his family. The father was the head of the house, the priest and teacher of his children. There were no public schools or professional educators. The training of the youth of the land was the responsibility of the fathers of Israel. If any son became a public problem no one ever thought of blaming the Boy Scouts, the school, or even the church for the failure. The charge was laid squarely at the door of his father.

Among the Jews, too, the stability of the home was a matter of racial concern, with the result that the problem of prostitution and divorce was less of a social menace than was the case among any other people of the ancient East. There is no serious historian who will not concede that the level of family life among the Hebrews was the highest to be found in the ancient world.

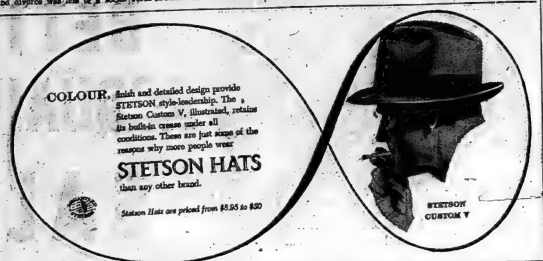
JESUS WAS ONE PRODUCT.

Regardless of what one's opinion may be concerning the doctrine of the virgin birth, any informed person will agree that Jesus of Nazareth was the product of a devout Jewish home.

The head of the house was, according to the New Testament, a man of some importance in the rather sizeable city of Nazareth. The word "carpenter" means that he was a contractor, or something corresponding to the commissioner of public works, and Nazareth with its 10,000 population was no petty municipality. As director of the carpenter business, following the death of Joseph, Jesus inherited that "just man's" business and professional standing, and seems to have been highly respected and admired.

Mary, his mother, must have been a great school teacher for again and again in his subsequent teachings we catch glimpses of her influence and instruction.

When Jesus appeared on the scene, and became the popular hero, he was a graduate of no school, he was endorsed by no nationally known doctor of the law, he bore no credentials from any theological or political party. He was the product of a superb home, and a magnificent home life.



The Christian church of today faces one of its major responsibilities when it considers the stability of the modern home. A hundred new enemies have appeared, each one digging away at the foundations of this basic social institution.

Church leaders can do no better—they can render no greater service to the cause they profess to love—than to throw all the weight of their influence in on the side of the home in an effort to protect it from the disintegration that is resulting from the pressure of modern life.

If the home goes down, it will carry the church with it.

St. Paul's Church, Stirling, Entertains Seymour Circuit

By MRS. PERCY MacSULLEN

RAWDON — Rev. A. K. Baker, Pastor St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, graciously welcomed the Rev. Gordon Whiteborne, B.A., B.D., and about 150 officials and members of Seymour circuit, which comprises Stephens at Hoards, Tabernacle at English line and Zion at Fetherbok's Corners, on Sunday evening for another Centennial service of note.

In 1866 Stirling became a part of the Campbellford district of the Methodist Church and this arrangement lasted until Church Union in 1925. The old records give a vivid picture of the work at Stephen's church and the whole area of Seymour circuit was travelled by various ministers, who resided in Stirling.

Mixed Choirs

A composite choir of 30 voices from the three appointments filled the choir loft and Miss Ann Nichols, Campbellford, officiated at the organ.

Mr. Bernard Barnum contributed a vocal selection, "Jesus of Galilee," and the choir rendered "The Voice of My Saviour."

Golden mums were used for decoration and Messrs Cecil Macklin, Claude Tucker, Harold Hagerman and Carleton Wright gathered the offering.

"HORIZONS UNLIMITED"

Rev. Gordon Whiteborne conducted the service and voiced congratulations and said he marvelled at the various achievements of the pastor of St. Paul's.

He read the lesson from Hebrews 11th on "The Faith of Abraham" and spoke on the theme "Horizons Unlimited." He pictured Abraham as a world adventurer and one of the most creative personalities of all time. When Abraham was 75 years old he received a mission from God.

"Today, in 1953, we are living in an age when the call is for youth, age is relegated to the side lines, and people forget that older folk have special potentialities and can work from their experience. Today the goal is beyond the horizon and with right and proper direction from God Himself the goal can be achieved and civilization will take on a new lease of life.

"Today each individual is challenged to answer the call that comes to the Christian church. We are in the shoes of Abraham, and each one must follow the faith that they possess.

"Horizons unlimited are always unfolding and pioneers of faith are especially needed. The slogan should be 'We are here to win, not 'here to compromise.' In 1953 we have our marching orders to 'go forward' and 'reap kindles our faith for future years.'"

THANKS TENDERED

Mr. Harold Hagerman voiced thanks for this challenging address. The large audience sang "Lead On O King Eternal," and another Centennial service came to a close.

St. Paul's W.A. committee served refreshments in the Sunday School hall and the visitors enjoyed a delightful fellowship hour. This was the first time the Seymour circuit had met together and they all were busy reminiscing.

Mr. Baker conducted a business session.

On Sunday, November 1st, St. Paul's will have an ordinary church service in the morning and the senior choir will lead the praise at King St. United Church, Trenton, in the evening.

On Sunday, November 8th, at the morning service the annual memorial service will be held for all who have passed on since Remembrance Sunday, 1952.

That evening, Major the Rev. Ray McClary, M.B.E., B.A., B.D., padre World War II, chairman Toronto East Presbytery and minister of Woodgreen United Church, will be the guest speaker at the annual War Dead Remembrance service. Veterans and their next-of-kin will attend to honor the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice.

Plan New Communities

TORONTO (CP)—New communities to replace those to be flooded by the St. Lawrence seaway and power development will be planned jointly by residents of the areas concerned and by the Ontario hydro commission, R. D. Rothwell, Hydro liaison engineer on the power project, said Thursday night.

Addressing the Canadian Industrial Management Association, he said Hydro will produce a plan to be presented to the Iroquois residents as a suggestion for a future community.

Foot Found In Ditch Part Of Mutilated Body

MONTREAL (CP)—Police said today a man's foot found in a ditch 35 miles north of Montreal, has "definitely been identified as part of a bullet-pierced and mutilated body found lidded Wednesday in an east-end lane.

They said the foot and ankle found Thursday night fitted the left leg of the dismembered body. They had been hacked off at the same time as the head, hands and other feet.

A further search of the area near Joliette, Que., failed to reveal other missing parts of the body.

A farmer, on his way home to supper, gave police their first major break in the killing of the unidentified man when he spotted the foot lying in a ditch.

Provincial police combed the area on both sides of the road without success. The limb was sent to Montreal's medico-legal laboratory where it was identified as part of the dead man's body.

FIRST BREAK

The discovery may mean the first break in the bizarre killing. When the torso was found early Wednesday by residents of Bourbonnieres Brest, it was wrapped in a canvas shroud and covered with a black and green blanket. All labels had been torn off.

Earlier hopes that the man's identity might be established were dashed when none of the 200 people who filed through the city morgue could identify him.

A report that he might be a longshoreman, said to be missing from his home since Tuesday evening, proved false, and blood stains found on the rear seat of a late model car near the scene of the discovery were not of the same blood-type as the dead man's.

Thursday, police said a woman

Serious Charge Laid Against Four Scotsmen

EDINBURGH (Reuters) — Scottish demands for home rule has entered the realm of the deadly serious with the announcement Thursday that four Scots will stand trial for plotting the overthrow of the government.

This rarely-used charge was brought against the men after the theft of arms from an army camp headquarters. There are alternative charges that they were in illegal possession of firearms and explosives.

The four are: Robert Duncan Watt, 22, Calcolm Johnston MacAlister, 34, Owen Gillan, 37, and Raymond Glen Fobres, 23.

More than 50 witnesses are listed to appear at their trial, opening in the High Court Nov. 17, to support the crown's allegation that they "engaged in conspiracy to overthrow the government or coerce the government into setting up a separate government in Scotland."

The men were arrested last June —the month the Queen was crowned. Police found the arms dump June 24 just a few hours before the Queen arrived in Glasgow on a Coronation state visit. The weapons had been stolen three weeks previously.

had been in touch with them who might be able to identify the remains. They did not disclose her name or give further information.

So far, all police scientists have been able to establish is that the man was of heavy build, average in height, and aged between 25 and 40.

An autopsy showed the victim was shot to death with a bullet fired at point-blank range.

Never Reached Capacity

BRAMPTON (CP)—Members of the legislature's select committee on reform institutions agreed on Thursday an attempt should be made to bring boys from other Ontario institutions to the Brampton reformatory.

The committee, visiting the reformatory, learned that the institution had never reached its capacity of 200.

Committee Chairman W. J. Stewart and opposition leader Farquhar Oliver suggested that the institution, usually a training school for boys under 15, should have a second reformatory removed from its title. The school, the only one of its kind in Canada, is an experiment in the reformation of first offenders.

Hallowe'en Parties in Schools, Clubs to Decrease Mischief

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The witches, ghosts and goblins who usually cries have started Canadians on Hallowe'en are getting tame. This year many of them will be at school parties.

The costumes of the little people will probably be as strange as ever, running from cowboy suits to bo-peep dresses, but there'll be fewer yelling "shell out" and banging dustbins.

A Canadian Press country-wide survey shows more excited activity in and service clubs planning sidings, with apple bobs, taffy pulls and popcorn balls, than ever before.

KEEP EYE ON KIDS

The result is expected to be a decrease in mischief-making. Police in most sections will have full staffs patrolling the streets, but little trouble is expected. Officers say the lockdown of citizens' garbage cans and soaped windows has been left to the children of earlier days.

Most serious Hallowe'en pranks are played by teen-agers rather than grade-school children, police say. This year most celebrations are expected to attend house parties and school dances.

Adults in many centres go to the house parties and church gatherings, but most hotels are not planning special affairs.

This year in Vancouver, at least 24 community groups plan parties for youngsters. They'll have bonfires, fireworks, candy and costume contests.

The old "trick-or-treat" cry is almost forgotten in Regina and Winnipeg. Stores there as in other Prairie cities are expecting a rush business on black-and-orange candles before the big evening arrives. Several dances are planned in Winnipeg.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

At Toronto, bigger hotels plan no special frolics for adults. Reservations for Saturday night dances are no heavier than on other week-ends.

Firms renting costumes say they're getting the usual demand for witch and black cat outfits. In Ottawa, many youngsters will wear plastic masks that cover the head. Sale of these and other masks in Montreal is reported "terrific" and stores report a greater run on candles. In Quebec, there'll be a special dance for adults at the Chateau Frontenac.

Hallowe'en customs date back 2,000 years. The Romans feasted to honor Pomona, goddess of the fruit of trees, at this time of the year. The Druids held a harvest festival and thanksgiving. In its Christian association, Hallowe'en means All Hallows' Eve or the Eve of All Saints' Day, in honor of saints known and unknown.

5th Anniversary.

A most enjoyable evening was spent on Friday when the members of L.O.B.A. No. 1188 of Wallbridge, with their husbands and families attended an oyster supper along with 11 more of good about 70 were present. It was the 5th anniversary of their lodge, and a beautiful birthday cake, donated by Mrs. Bernice Moore, a member, with 5 candles burning was placed in the centre of the head table and five members of the lodge, consisting of Sister Janet Twiddy, sister Margaret Hinchliffe, brother Albert Kingston, sister Mabel Harris, and sister Georgina Evans were asked by the Worthy Mistress Pearl Holmes to light the candles and the Worthy Master of I.O.L., Ross Fisher, was asked to blow out the candles. Then the L.O.L. presented the L.O.B.A. a beautifully framed picture of Queen Elizabeth II.

The Worthy Mistress thanked the members of L.O.L. for their lovely gift.

Then the supper all enjoyed a social time together.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris were, Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pound.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Smith and boys were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Dorothy Wannamaker, also Mr. Gordon Wannamaker and Miss Isabel Galbraith were callers in the evening.

ACCUSES 'RUSSIANS OF TORTURING PILOTS

Dr. Charles W. Mayo, United States delegate to the United Nations, tells the General Assembly in New York that Soviet personnel directed questioning of U.N. flyers held prisoner by the Chinese and North Koreans. He charged that Russians were responsible for methods used to obtain "confessions" of germ warfare. Mayo gave a detailed and scientific explanation of Communist torture.—Central Press Canadian.

FOR FASTER DELIVERY try the new, streamlined Dodge "Job-Rated" panel. It's so much lower that the driver can slip in and out of the seat with passenger car ease. Its easier handling and safe all-round vision will speed your job and reduce costs.

a brand new series of DODGE

"Job-Rated" TRUCKS

* NEW COMFORT
* FINER VISION
* GREATER SAFETY

YOU GET AMPLE POWER for heavy hauling in a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck. There are 6 great new truck engines including the new twin-carburetor, twin-exhaust 135 h.p. engine which is installed in the 3½ ton heavy duty models.

YOU'LL HAUL MORE at lower cost in this big, roomy, 1-ton express model. The deep, wide box is 9 ft. long and has a capacity of 67 cubic feet to the top of the tailgate. Improved sealing of the tailgate cuts "dribble" losses (to a minimum) when hauling gravel or grain.

YOU HAVE A WIDE CHOICE of Dodge "Job-Rated" truck models. Maximum Gross Vehicle Weights start at 4,500 lbs. for the nominally-rated ½-ton to 40,000 lbs. G.V.W. for the big six-wheeler which has a Gross Combination Weight of 60,000 lbs. All models are designed to suit standard bodies perfectly.

YOU HAVE A NEW, BIGGER ENGINE

In all ½-ton models — a 105 h.p. truck engine designed to haul your loads economically and provide dependable performance and long life. The ½-ton express illustrated has a 6½ ft. body. The long, foot-wide running board makes side loading easy.

NEW HANDSOME DESIGN...Low and massive...Easier to handle

Completely new in design, the 1954 Dodge trucks are "Job-Rated" to cut your hauling and delivery costs to a minimum. Their lower centre of gravity makes them easier to handle under all conditions and they're easier to load and unload. They have the shortest attainable turning radius, right and left.

The new Dodge cabs have been redesigned to make driving safer and more comfortable... floors and running boards are lower, doors higher and wider... the big, one-piece windshield and high side windows with lower sills, give safe, wide-angle vision for safer, easier manoeuvering... extra roomy 3-man seats are chair-high, with full luxury-type seat cushions... cabs are heavily insulated against vibration and sound.

In the wide range of models available, you'll find one that fits your job exactly—with all units which support the load and all units which help move the load "Job-Rated" to work together. See them today at your Dodge truck dealer's.

Red China Makes Overtures For Peace Pact With Japan After Signing Trade Treaty

TOKYO (AP)—Red China waved a peace banner at Japan today after signing an $84,000,000 trade pact with an unofficial mission of Japanese legislators.

But the Communists hinted that Japan break with Nationalist China and the United States.

Peiping radio said Chinese Vice-Premier Kuo Mo-jo told the Japanese that "normal relations," a peace treaty, and even a non-aggression pact "is quite within the scope of consideration." It also broadcast a long editorial from the Peiping People's Daily expressing the same sentiments.

WANT PACT ENDED

But, Kuo said, Japan must first break off diplomatic relations with Nationalist China and renounce its mutual security pact with the U. S.

The Communist move has long been anticipated since Peiping this spring started sending back about 30,000 Japanese held in China since 1945.

Before the Second World War Japan and China were each other's best customer. Japan has not done any sizeable business with China since 1945.

Eight Thousand Pheasants Shot On Pelee Island

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The 2,100 hunters from many parts of Canada and the United States who are taking part in the annual pheasant hunt on Pelee Island have shot more than 8,000 birds since the two-day season opened Wednesday. Three men were casualties.

Sam J. Walsh, 56, of Toronto, injured when struck by a shot fired by his brother, Stanley, underwent surgery Thursday for removal of pellets which lodged near his lung. Emmett Egan, of Grosse Point Farms near Detroit, was injured when his gun exploded and blew off part of his thumb.

Floyd Smith, Maple Heights, O., suffered minor injuries when struck by a car driven by Frank Adams, Leamington.

Hunters were more pleased with Thursday's sunny weather than they were Wednesday when fog and rain made hunting unpleasant.

French Senators Deliver Blow To European Army

PARIS (Reuters) — The Council of the Republic, upper house of the French Parliament, today delivered a major blow against the long-delayed European Army, a cornerstone of Western defence in Europe.

Senators voted 240-74 in favor of achieving "a real balance of power" in Europe before ratifying the European Defence Community setting up the six-nation army. By balance of power, they mean the full military co-operation of Britain as a foil to any renewed aggression by Germany.

West German units are to join those of France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg under EDC. Traditional French fears of German militarism, coupled with the Franco-German dispute over the future of the Saar, have held up ratification of the treaty since May, 1951.

After 69 Years Old Sweethearts Will Be Married

TORONTO (CP) — Childhood sweethearts who lived an ocean apart for 64 years will be married here next Wednesday in a quiet ceremony.

Jim McLaren and Sally Farmer, both 88, picnicked together on the hills of Scotland 80 years ago. Jim left for Canada, never expecting to see his sweetheart again.

He went to Brantford, became a factory worker, married and had a son. His wife died last January.

He went to the Coronation in June and while overseas decided to look up old hometown friends. He found Miss Farmer, still single operating a hardware store in his native Glasgow.

Mr. McLaren returned to Canada and the wedding was arranged by mail. Miss Farmer arrived in Canada Tuesday.

The couple plans a wedding trip to New York.

U.S. Marks Start Of New Era Of Ship Propulsion

LONDON (Reuters) — Jane's Fighting Ships, leading textbook on naval power, said today the United States' construction of two atomic-powered submarines marks the start of a new era of ship propulsion.

It said: "The application of nuclear energy will make sea power more formidable than ever before by giving every vessel so equipped the capacity for travelling vast distances without re-fueling."

The new edition of Jane's, published today, said the development may produce changes "as profound as the conversion from sail to mechanical power."

Jane's said Russia, with 370 submarines already in service, is building 100 more, all equipped with "snorkel" breathing devices enabling them to travel immense distances underwater. It said the Russian navy now has 320,000 officers and men.

The book said the Royal Navy has become dated "as regards the bigger ships." It said no battleships, aircraft carriers, cruisers or destroyers have been ordered since the Second World War. Three carriers, ordered during the war, are under construction.

To dispel any "undue alarm," however, it added that since the war Britain has carried out an "immense" program of conversion reconstruction and modernization.

Trucker Faces Manslaughter Charge in Court

CORNWALL (CP) — Max Roodman, 40-year-old trucker, Thursday went on trial for manslaughter in connection with a bus-truck collision near Morrisburg July 31 in which 39 persons were killed.

Police charge that Roodman, of Toronto and Ottawa, is the owner of a light truck with which a Colonial Coach Lines bus with 37 passengers collided in pre-dawn darkness on No. 2 highway. After the collision, the bus plunged into the Williamsburg canal, which parallels the highway.

Roodman is charged specifically in the death of Ordinary Seaman John Fanya of Hamilton and Churchill, Man., one of the bus passengers.

Dr. C. A. Linden, Morrisburg district coroner, testified that Fanya died by drowning.

French Forces Have Shattered Red Division

SAIGON (AP)—A French command spokesman said today that French forces have virtually wiped out the Vietminh's elite 320th division during 10 days of fighting.

Two divisions of French mobile forces, supported by tanks, artillery and planes, have been fighting the Communist-led Vietminh division.

The spokesman said the Vietminh unit has lost nearly 4,000 men and cannot now carry out its assigned objective, infiltrating the interior of the Red river delta to reinforce the 60,000 Vietminh troops already behind French lines.

Queen Receives

LONDON (AP)—The Queen received the diplomatic corps at Buckingham Palace Thursday night in a glittering presentation party.

Prime Minister Churchill was there in full evening dress and knee breeches.

The Duke of Edinburgh wore evening dress with knee breeches.

Mother of Quads Married Thursday To Sweetheart

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — At a hastily-arranged bedside marriage ceremony, Lansing's Trollman quadruplets found a father and became the van Alstine quads.

Mrs. June Trollman, pretty brunette divorcee, mother of the quads, was married Thursday in a simple ceremony to George W. van Alstine, 34, strapping Lansing automobile serviceman.

"I'm really happy now for the first time in months," the bride declared.

Marring the happiness for the couple was the death of one of the quads—the last born, a boy. The two other boys and a girl are winning their battle for survival.

Van Alstine told reporters he was the father of the quads.

The bridegroom, who also has been divorced, said he had been in love with the mother of the quads "for more than a year."

"I wanted to marry June a long time ago," he said, "but we had a little misunderstanding and it just never came off. I hope I can be a good husband and father."

New Managing Editor

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—Appointment of Cuthbert Jones, 47, as managing editor of the Sherbrooke Record was announced Thursday by Ivan Saunders, the newspaper's managing director.

A native of Sherbrooke, Mr. Jones has been connected with the Record for 26 years and has been associate editor since 1949.

The appointment was occasioned by the departure of Douglas Amyon, editorial director, who is resigning The Canadian Press where he was a war correspondent during the Second World War. Mr. Amyon has been appointed executive assistant at CP's head office in Toronto to Tampa, Fla. It wanted to extend that service to Mexico City. It planned to use the same planes for passengers that were getting off at Tampa and for those continuing to Mexico City.

American authorities objected, and said that two types of traffic should not be carried on the one plane. They said that TCA should use a separate plane for passengers travelling to Mexico City from Canada and vice versa.

The TCA spokesman said use of separate planes for flights to Tampa and for flights on to Mexico City would be costly.

POWER POTENTIAL

The Belgian Congo in Africa is estimated to have undeveloped waterpower potential of 130,000,000 horsepower.

Service Postponed Due to Objection Of United States

MONTREAL (CP) — A new Trans-Canada Air Lines service due to start Saturday between Montreal, Toronto and Mexico City has been postponed indefinitely because of objections raised by United States authorities.

A TCA spokesman announced the postponement Thursday night and said it will continue until the difficulties are overcome.

TCA now operates from Montreal

Little Benny's Note Book

I war sitting on my front steps with Pods Simkins talking and arguing about different subjects which is whether it would be worth while having a birthday every month even if it made you older that month sooner, and whether wrinkles on your face make you feel older or just look older, and Pods said, Here comes Daddy Morty, is he still sore at you?

I dont give a dern if he is or not, I'm not afraid of him, I said. I bet I can make him do whatever I tell him to, I said, and Pods said, Like hell you can, I dare you to prove it.

I dare you to dribble dare me, I said, and Pods said, Okay, I tripple dare you.

Okay, just wait and you'll see, I said, and Pods said, Okay, I'll wait but I bet I wont see.

Which just then Reddy came up and ressched out and pushed my cap down over my eyes, and I pushed it back again, and I said, Hay, you just do that again.

Okay, Reddy said.

And he pushed it down again, and I said, Now listen, you better watch your step. Just do that once more, I said.

Sure, Reddy said and he pushed it down again, and I said, Now I'm just going to tell you one more. You do that one last time, I said.

Here it goes, Reddy said, and he pushed my cap over my eyes again, and I pushed it back, saying to Pods, You see that, he did it every time I told him.

And I quick run in the house and slammed the front door before Reddy had time to realize what happened.

Strike-Paralyzed Gold Town Builds Up Wall of Optimism

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP)—More than half of its bread-winners are idle but this strike-paralyzed gold town of 28,000 has built a wall of optimism against early threats of mass evacuation and economic disaster.

Since July 11 the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) has called progressive strikes in the gold mines, basis of the town's economy, until now 6,000 of 7,000 miners are workless and six of 11 mines are closed. When the big 1,800-man Hollinger mine shut down Sept. 24 there were predictions that an economic crisis and departure of much of the population would follow.

But merchants, though feeling the pinch, still are in business; loan companies are willing to extend credit; and the early exodus of job-seekers has slowed to normal.

WILL WIN THROUGH

Local business men admit that the strike has pinched them to the point where some have had to lay off staff but their attitude was expressed by one:

"This won't last. Things may be tough for a time, but we'll come through all right."

Timmins, here in the centre of the Porcupine gold camp, an area which mines 16 per cent of Canada's $150,000,000-a-year gold output. Normally the annual payroll for the area runs to $21,500,000.

Now miners who averaged $65 weekly in the mines are living on union relief vouchers and their savings. The vouchers, which can be used only for groceries and other necessities, amount to $9 weekly for a single man. A married man gets $14 plus $4 for each child. In addition, each striker gets $1 weekly in cash.

SUPPORT PLEDGED

Cost of the strike to the union, Canada's biggest, is estimated between $60,000 and $65,000. The 75,000-member USWA has pledged both national and international support to the strikers and the 975,000 member Canadian Congress of Labor has also promised support.

Issues in the strike are union demands for higher wages—conciliation boards have recommended increases between seven and 15 cents hourly, a work week of 40 hours instead of 48, and checkoff of union dues.

The companies have balked at adding to their labor costs but the checkoff is the big stumbling block. The companies want no part of this, contending that if a man wants to support his union he can pay his own dues rather than have the employer deduct the dues from his pay and hand them over to the union.

Outside the miners, the hardest economic blows have fallen on small store operators and restaurant owners. So far the strike has had little effect on chain stores. One manager said, however:

"Things will get worse before they get any better. We realize that, and we're not kidding ourselves that the next few months are going to be easy."

SALES FALL OFF

One clothing store used to take stock daily. Now, said its manager: "It would be a waste of time. We're not selling enough to warrant it."

A union-operated kitchen serves 2,000 breakfasts, 3,000 lunches and 2,000 dinners daily. The kitchen is the gift to the union of Dan Macneil, Timmins business man, and was once the town's only night club, the Golden Hub.

Loan companies are still willing to give an attentive ear to a needy financial problem but one credit company manager said the average miner is wary of taking on new commitments with his future uncertain.

Many miners are going to the union which offers no-interest loans and is willing to wait until the end is working before demanding repayment.

At one stage of the strike seven or eight families plus many single men were leaving Timmins daily in search of work elsewhere. Now, moving companies say, business is back to "normal."

Arms Program Reaches Peak, Levelling Off

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian government placed orders for $4,000,000,000 worth of arms equipment since 1950, but the program has reached its peak and now is "levelling out," R. M. Bropby, deputy minister of defence production, has said.

Though the arms program still has some time to run, Mr. Bropby disclosed that the government now is grappling with the problem of maintaining a limited mobilization and production base to prevent a complete disruption of defence industry.

"As one means of keeping (production) lines operating at minimum economic levels, it is planned to make full use of the mutual aid program wherever possible," he told the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Under the mutual aid program, Canada supplies certain arms and equipment to North Atlantic partners overseas free. A total of $284,000,000 has been set aside for this program in the current fiscal year.

"Furthermore, measures will be taken to ensure that, if a line is shut down, it will be kept in a position where it can be reactivated with the least possible delay."

Brigade Officer Denies Report Soldier Killed

HANNOVER (AP)—A spokesman at headquarters of the 27th Canadian Infantry Brigade has denied a German police report that a Canadian soldier was killed in a fight Thursday at Dellinghoben.

The German police report said a Canadian trooper was killed and another seriously injured in the altercation.

The brigade spokesman said the report was based on a fight between two soldiers, both described as intoxicated, but that neither was killed. He added:

"One of the soldiers fell and struck his head. He was knocked unconscious. He was taken to a hospital where he revived. Neither of the soldiers was seriously hurt. Someone saw the soldier while he was unconscious, assumed he was dead and reported it."

The soldiers were not identified.

Murder Charge Laid Against Pregnant Mother

TORONTO (CP)—A 23-year-old pregnant mother has been charged with murder and accused of beating her one-year-old daughter against a table when she cried too much in a bathtub.

Mrs. Doris Martyn, who has two other children, was charged Thursday after Patricia Anne Martyn died in hospital of severe head injuries.

Police said the woman, her plumber husband and the three children lived in two small rooms in mid-town Toronto. They quoted the mother as saying she became upset at the constant crying of the baby while she bathed it.

Police said the child's head was battered against the table last Friday. The mother took Patricia Anne to hospital Monday and said doctors she had fallen from her crib.

DUKE WILL VISIT — It will be summer when the Duke of Edinburgh visits the port of Churchill, Man., in Hudson Bay. Eskimos and Indians still earn a living from trapping and hunting as they did in the early 18th century. The port is busy during the summer with grain shipments and three miles from the town are the important military installations. Here, soldiers and Eskimo children make friends in the long winter season.—(CP Photo).

Duke of Edinburgh Will See 2 Churchills, Both in Same Spot

By BERNICE MacEVER
Canadian Press Correspondent

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—When the Duke of Edinburgh visits Hudson bay next summer he will see two Churchills, both in the same place.

Eskimos and Indians still earn a living from trapping and hunting as they did early in the 18th century when prime beaver was the new world's principal export. But today Churchill, northern port for summer grain shipments to Europe and important military base, typifies in many ways Canada's new north.

Started as a trading post in 1717, Churchill now has a population of 850. Over the centuries the trade with the Indians and Eskimos has continued. In the harbor, Eskimos still harpoon whales. Inland the natives follow the migrating caribou.

Take it from an Indian named Powderhorn, his people are excited about the visit by "Queen Elizabeth's man."

Every Indian of the Churchill band of Chipewyans will be on hand to greet Philip, Powderhorn announced, and the women will do some extra special beadwork during the long winter months.

Churchill is quick to point out that though it sits just 500 miles south of the Arctic circle, and 610 miles north of Winnipeg, it has more in common with the Duke than moukties, huskies and Eskimos in mukluks.

Most important are the port and military installations. It is a port despite Arctic weather and icebergs and a military base because of them.

RECORD SHIPMENTS

Churchill's three-month shipping season ended in mid-October, the most successful in its 23-year career as a shipper of grain to overseas markets. Close to 10,800,000 bushels were cleared after arriving here from the south over the 760-mile rail link completed in 1929.

Soon, the terminal elevator towering over the surrounding barrens will again be filled to its 2,200,000-bushel capacity in preparation for the new season nine months away.

Three miles from Churchill proper are the military installations. For security reasons as much is said about the military Churchill as generally, its major task is to change the Arctic climate from enemy to friend.

The base is ideal during the winter months for testing equipment under Arctic conditions and in 1946 was headquarters for "Operation Muskox."

NOTABLE VISITORS

Churchill has been on the itinerary of a large number of senior officers in recent years. The army has men here. So has the RCAF and the navy and the barracks also house members of the United States armed forces.

The first men to try to put Churchill on the map couldn't even get a roof over their heads. The attempt to build a post at the mouth of the Churchill river was made in 1688, but fire destroyed the building before it was even finished.

Wars with the French prevented any further activity until 1717, when James Knight built a wooden fort a few miles up the river. This was named Prince of Wales.

Later, an immense stone fort was built at the mouth of the river and has been restored by the government as a historical monument.

SCOHARIE

SCOHARIE — Mr. Theodore Foster and Mrs. Blaine Foster attended the Masonic banquet at Shore Acres, Picton, Wednesday evening when the ladies were guests. A turkey dinner and fine entertainment was provided.

Leslie Jones, Doug Reynolds, Lawrence and Ross Foster accompanied Mr. Bruce McCorquodale to Ottawa Monday morning for a few days at the Winter Fair, where they will take part in the club competitions. They also spent a couple of days last week at Kemptville, Ottawa and Hull, on a coaching trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Foster and Darlene attended the party at Mr. and Mrs. Herb MacAuley's, Salmon Point, on Friday night.

Mrs. John Shaw accompanied friends from Picton to Stirling on Sunday afternoon where she was a supper guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harper Rollins and accompanied them to church service on Sunday evening.

Sincere sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hennessy in the loss of their little daughter, Sheila. A number attended the funeral services at Whattam's Funeral Home on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Ronald Foster, Rhonda and Kathy and Mrs. Arnold Hennessy, Toronto, spent a couple of days with relatives here. They came down for the funeral of little Sheila Hennessy.

Mrs. Burton Hobson and Roger, Miss Norma Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Foster and Ross attended Achievement Night at Allenville hall on Friday evening. Miss Norma Foster received her county pin.

Miss Norma Foster attended Young People's Union Conference at Peterborough over the week-end.

CARMEL

CARMEL — Mrs. H. Dafoe visited Wednesday with Mrs. J. Reynolds.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Patterson attended anniversary services at Foxboro on Sunday, and had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. J. Daniels.

Mr. and Mrs. W. DeMille spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. W. Runcone, Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Hanna, Frankford, and Mrs. J. Reynolds visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. P. Reynolds and boys.

Mr. J. Fox and Mrs. M. Ross visited Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. N. Guay.

Several from this community attended anniversary services at Canniffon United Church on Sunday.

Mrs. H. Dafoe spent the week-end with relatives at Fuller.

Several members of Carmel W.I. attended the area convention held in Belleville this week.

HARMORA

HARMORA — The Glee Club of St. Andrew's United Church met at the home of Mrs. Martha Wilkes, on Tuesday afternoon for its October meeting. Mrs. Annie Lowery presided over a fair attendance of members.

The Scripture reading was taken by the secretary, Mrs. Charles Sopha.

The program consisted of readings contributed by each member.

This was followed by a social hour after which the hostess served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Auger visited the latter's sister, Mrs. S. Finch, at Bylstone, on Sunday.

Mrs. John McFaul of Orrville, a former resident of this district, has returned home after visiting relatives and friends here for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Shorts and family have moved to Bonarlaw.

Mrs. Dean Turcotte and children, of Sulphide, are visiting her mother, Mrs. Annie Lowery.

County Master Gordon Mostert paid his official visit to Queensboro L.O.L. 437 on Tuesday evening, accompanied by Rev. R. J. Crawford and Past County Master W. J. Cottrell, who also gave addresses.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson, of Toronto, have purchased the restaurant business on No. 7 Highway and expect to open it on November 1, under the new name of "The Blushbird Restaurant."

Mrs. Annie Lowery has returned home from a week's visit in Ottawa with her son, Cecil Lowery and Mrs. Lowery.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cairns and two children, of Prince Edward County, who were on a visit to Mrs. Cairns' former home at Rockdale on Saturday, called on George R. Auger and friends at Cordova.

WHAT "LIFE-TESTED" MEANS TO YOU...

It's the extra test by Marconi engineers which gives you the ultimate in dependability.

Here's how we carefully check and test YOUR television receiver:

First, all components are checked by quality-control, sub-assemblies are carefully inspected and then the completed chassis is measured, checked and re-checked for picture and sound. But we don't stop there.

The extra step, "life-testing", enables our engineers to subject every receiver to tests equivalent to many weeks of normal home use. Because we "life-test", our TV receivers and devote more time and more care to testing and checking. Marconi TV receivers consistently exceed their guaranteed performance.

The new advanced design, quality engineered Marconi TV chassis is precision built to bring you clear, brilliant high definition pictures with accompanying noise-free FM sound. For your own protection, look for the "life-tested" seal — it appears on the safety glass of every Marconi TV receiver and it's your assurance of top performance and exceptional reliability.

FROM STUDIO TO LIVING ROOM IT'S MARCONI. Many Canadian radio stations have been completely equipped by Marconi. Marconi has supplied much of the studio, booths and transmitting apparatus used by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's television stations. For the finest transmission, for the best reception—it's Marconi.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

NEW, VARIETY

Michael J. Redden, noticeable sports sentinel and writer, has tossed the gauntlet into the arena. This cause celebre, composed of probable columnar rumors, is which the brutile Miguel stags lead the praises of his beloved Goodfellows and relegates the rest of the squads, at times, to the hands of rear-guard duties.

Michael fired the opening gun in a story published Wednesday in which he quoted this department as saying, and we quote: "In conversation with George H. Carver this morning, it was learned that the Memos await with confidence the coming of Goodyears on Friday night." The new machine is so strong that even big-Wren Joyce may be used as an alternate, if not all, during the early part of the season. Joyce and the Memos Ted Dwyer have been included on the regular defence or forward lines," unquote.

Come, come, Michael, m'lad, you shouldn't say such naughty things. True we gave you the names of the squad having had for the various positions, but as Coach "Red" Dawkins has not yet made up his mind as to what playing combinations will be out there tonight, how the hell could we give them to you.

Dirty looks at thirty paces, chum.

According to our friend, the "scribe," George MacGregor, speedy frontliner and Johnny Mills, both of whom we'd like on our side, have been tentatively dropped from the Goodyear squad. Says Michael: "They have refused the terms offered by the Goodyear executive and think will not be re-signed under any circumstances and that limit, although generous, happens to be not alluring to the swift MacGregor."

The Goodyears, who played an exhibition game in Brockville Wednesday night (they won 5-4), according to Mr. Redden, is a formidable aggregation. It is, in fact, he says, so well manned, that some of last year's regulars may not make the grade. Yes, indeed, looks good for Stay Stewart, Jack McKeown and Bud Chiles, but it is probable that all will be retained for emergency purposes.

That the Goodyears are taking no chances is seen in the statement that if Memos fail to live up to expectations, capable players now living in Smith's Falls will be brought in for reinforcements. It is also probable that five or three from Montreal will be given trials.

"God, men, that's determination!

THIS IS IT!

Anshee, tonight's the night the lid is prid off the senior "A" casket, and it should be a typical Kingston-Belleville bottle. Rivalry has always been between these two push-tossers of the ice-laces and tonight should prove no exception. Last night Queens has his hide nailed to the door and much of the future of the personnel might depend on the outcome. There is one thing certain and that is the Empire will go out and step all they've got to cop the nod in this all-important initial tussle and it goes without saying that Johnny Carr-Harris and his crew will do likewise. And remember the games gets under way at nine o'clock.

DON'T SAY YOU WEREN'T TOLD!

If you good burghers out there pass up this stellar vaudeville show at the McCarthy Theatre Sunday evening you will be missing what is by far the most entertaining stage offering ever presented to city and district fans. Headed by the well known Mentie Hall, radio luminary, the various acts represent the best in professional stage entertainment that is available. There is the colorful technicolor screen epic "Crazin' Down the River," which makes its city debut. As you should know by this time, the outfit proceeds on to Variety Village, a school for the rehabilitation of crippled kiddies. The show is being sponsored by the Bay of Quinte Theatre Managers' Association, which includes, besides these genial warm-hearted city boosters, Jack and Sam, Tommy Masson, Willard Fawcett and Larry Buck, their equally Variety Village-minded confreres from Picton, Trenton and Napanee. The attendance is by "invitation" and these can be secured from any of the theatres in the above mentioned places.

And by the way when we mean "invitation" please don't misconstrue the meaning. Some people have applied for "invitations" and registered disapproval when asked for a donation.

The Sunday night show cannot be charged for. But invitations issued previously or on the spot are expected to react in a donation. Please be generous. How else can the Variety Village be benefitted? It is a five-dollar show and surely a dollar donation should not be out of the way.

CHED BATTLE SATURDAY!

A COSSA gridiron title will be decided on the Albert College field here tomorrow afternoon when the strong St. Peter's Eight of Peterborough clash with Bert Faulkner's Albert juniors in a sudden-death tussle for the championship.

Secretary Pete Bench of the COSSA, told this department yesterday that since the Niagara Falls and Georgian Bay districts are not represented this year in junior circles, the title will be decided between Albert and St. Peters.

St. Peter's are said to boast a strong team. They won the title in 1931 but lost out last year to the Cobourg C.I. youngsters.

Faulkner's college youngsters are undefeated this season, but this is partly due to lack of keen competition since only two teams were entered in the group here. Albert's backfield has been showing plenty of gridiron ridding with John Kirkconnell, ex-Globe C.I. Oshawa, stalwart being an accurate passer and a good "T" quarterback. George Malenko (no relation to the Memo family) has been playing off big gains from a halfback spot, while two northern Ontario backs, Bob McCauig, from Heron Bay, and Jack McMillan, of Hearst, have been considered ground gainers. McMillan was good for three TD's in his last time out.

Malcolm Scott, a Belleville product, centres the line, while Fred Bothwell, also of this city, adds strength to a front wall that though light has proven extremely effective.

Johnson, Habs Defenceman Pinch-Hitting in Pivot Spot, Bags Two in Iron-Man Role

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

There's nothing in the National Hockey League constitution requiring a player to overtime pay, but if Montreal's Tom Johnson puts in a claim today, he'd entitled to a sympathetic hearing.

The Canadiens threw in dire straits Thursday night when yet-eran centre Elmer Lach went out with a match penalty after a stick-swinging episode with right-winger George Armstrong of Toronto Maple Leafs. They were leading 3-0 at the time, but they were fast running out of centres.

Lenny Mosdell and Paul Masnick, the latter a recent draftee from Montreal Royals of the Quebec Senior League, were the only available pivot-men. So coach Dick Irvin called on Johnson, a defence-man by trade, to fill in for Lach.

While Johnson was still getting acquainted with his wingers, Leafs' Eric Nesterenko tied the score, offsetting Mosdell's first period goal.

SCORES TWICE

That set the stage for the third period, in which the transplanted blue-liner, who was all but fired by Montreal last year, scored two goals, both on passes from Maurice Richard, to give the Habs a club a 3-1 victory. Still taking his regular turn on defence, Johnson made the Leafs' attack to a single shot on goal through the entire period.

Johnson's part in the game gave him four for the season, more than he ever scored in a full year and is only one shy of his entire output in three seasons as a Montreal defenceman.

The victory boosted the Canadiens into a four-point lead over the second-place Detroit Red Wings. The Habs, first place club in the three-plane tie with Boston Bruins.

The match penalty to Lach removed from the game for the second period in which the Canadiens scored. It was Armstrong, angered, swinging his stick at Arm, strong and the big winger lifted his own stick in ward off the blow.

Lach's sentence, the third match penalty of the year, carried a $100 fine. Armstrong drew a high sticking major which automatically cost him $25.

The Canadiens went into the game without regular centres Dick Shore and Babe Siebert, both out with injuries.

Canadian Riders Score at Show

HARRISBURG, Pa. (CP)—Canadian riders won second in one international event and tied for third in another at the Pennsylvania National Horseshow Thursday.

Lt.-Col. Charles Baker took the red ribbon in the afternoon hack-and-out jumping. At-night he and Shirley Thomas were locked in a show-by-tie at the end of the hi-and-out jumping.

England's Patricia Smythe, last rider of Thursday night's event, came up with the only perfect performance to win a $1,000 personal international victory here.

Her win gave the British team its sixth victory in the first eight of 11 international events, Ireland has won one.

Second was Mrs. Carol Durand of the United States, who had four faults.

The only second day in a row Baker just missed winning Canada's first blue ribbon. In the afternoon event Baker on Anchors Aweigh cleared 13 of the 14 obstacles without a one-fifth time limit was up and he was whistled off the course.

Capt. Michael Turbridy of Ireland, riding Ballynonly, cleared the 14 obstacles within a minute to take first place.

Betzel's Contract Not Renewed

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The contract of manager Bruno Betzel of the Syracuse Chiefs will not be renewed when it expires on the general manager Gene Martin announced Thursday night.

Betzel, 60, has piloted the International League baseball club for four seasons. It finished seventh in league standings for 1935.

The Chiefs' board of signed a working agreement with Philadelphia of the National League. Martin said the decision to drop Betzel was made after a conference with Joe Stecher, president of the Phillies.

Martin said no successor to Betzel has yet been chosen.

ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT

Nicholson spent 15 years in the National League with Chicago Cubs and the Phillies. He joined the Phillies in October, 1940, in a trade for Harry (the Hat) Walker. Last year, he appeared in 39 games, made 13 hits in 43 at bats for an average of .302.

He played his last game on Sept. 19 in Brooklyn when he appeared as a pinch-hitter.

'Billy' Hewitt To Be Honored By Sportsmen

TORONTO (CP)—A half-century of recording the heart beats of Ontario hockey will be marked here Dec. 4.

Sports celebrities from many parts of Canada and the United States will meet then to honor W. A. (Billy) Hewitt who is beginning his 50th year as secretary of the Ontario Hockey Association.

However, the guest list at the banquet won't be limited to hockey. Football, horse racing, track and field and rowing will be represented too. Billy Hewitt has been mixed up in them all.

The father of Foster Hewitt, president of Maple Leafs and radio broadcaster, he was appointed to the OHA post in December of 1903. Since then he has recorded 49 secclamations.

Keenly interested in football, he played a large part in the formation of the Interprovincial Rugby Football union in 1912 and was president of the Canadian Rugby Union in 1918 and 1919. He served as CRU secretary for a period during the First World War.

He was sports editor of the Toronto Daily Star from 1900 to 1931 and in 1914 spread the idea of a national body to govern amateur hockey in Canada.

LAUNCHED CAHA

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association came into being that year, largely through his doing, and he was named secretary-treasurer of the body. He became registrar-treasurer of the CAHA in 1922.

A turf authority, he became chief steward of the Canadian Incorporated Racing Association in 1937 after several years as assistant steward. Next year he was made a member of the Ontario Racing Commission and in 1950, appointed commission steward of the ORC.

Sam, James Patrick Gerard of Kingston, past president of the CAHA, has called Billy Hewitt the "miside man of hockey who has done more than anyone to guide the game through its scant and lean days."

Johnny Sain Quits Baseball

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP)—Johnny Sain, right-handed New York Yankee hurler-baller, Thursday retired from baseball to operate an automobile agency here.

Sain, who played in the major leagues for 11 years and in organized baseball for six years before that, won the opening game for the Yankees in the 1950 world series in a relief role. His record for last season with the Yankees was 14 victories to seven defeats.

He said he mailed his resignation to Yankee officials this week.

The 35-year-old hurler got his start with the Boston Braves in 1942 and played with them until 1951, when he was sold to the Yankees for $50,000.

Shocking Shellacking Given Saskies Causes Fearless Frankie to Ponder

REGINA (CP)—That shocking 43-5 shellacking Frankie Filchock's Saskatchewan Roughriders absorbed from the Blue Bombers in the Western Conference semi-final opener at Winnipeg came just as the old master was threatening to revolutionize football coaching procedures.

Most coaches stress hard workouts which are often lengthy and sometimes are a two-a-day clip. They scan films of past games and fill books with opposing team plays on scouting forays.

Not so Frankie.

He believes his charges should play themselves into shape during the regular season to arrive at peak form for the playoffs.

PRACTICES FAST

"His practices, compared to any of the others, are child's play," says sports editor Tom Melville of the Regina Leader-Post. "If the nightly drill lasts over an hour it is a long one.

"While Bomber coach George Trafton, in particular, has master charts, small notebooks, and redrimmed eyes from peering at films the Old Man looks at things in a different light. If he looks at all."

Where has this novel approach to coaching brought Clubs Filchock has coached?

In his coaching debut at Edmonton last season, his so-so Eskimos finished a comfortable distance behind the first-place Bombers. But in the WIFU playoffs they soared

Tigers, Larks-Argos, Riders Clash in Mad Grid Scramble; 'Yer Pays Yer Money And...'

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Eastern Canada football fans, still slightly ga-ga over the six-touchdown performance of hometown Lenny Dawson of Hamilton Flue Bombers in the western conference semi-final, turned today to things closer to home: The playoff scramble in the Big Four and Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Just about everybody who knows a football from a baseball has written off Saskatchewan Roughriders from the conversation after Hesson and the Bombers murdered them Wednesday night at Winnipeg with a 43-3 triumph. They figure Saturday's finale is by total-points semi-finals is just window dressing.

But it's anybody's guess about the eastern cup finalist with all Big Four clubs still in the running and a couple of interesting games scheduled for Saturday.

Montreal Alouettes and Hamilton Tiger-Cats, tied at the top of the standings with 12 points, meet at Hamilton and Toronto Argonauts and Ottawa Rough Riders clash at Toronto. Argonauts and Riders are tied for third place with 10 points.

BIG CASUALTY REPORT

The red-hot Alouettes appeared to have the inside track until last week-end when Ottawa walloped them 30-15 to snap a Montreal three-game winning streak and an Ottawa three-game losing streak. More than that, the hospital report on the Als after that loss shocked home-town fans.

The Coolies, towering import lineman and punter, suffered a fractured ankle and is out for the season. Five others — end Ray Purvis and lineman Ray Clute, Jim Tomlinson, Ed Bradley and Jack Sheridan—suffered such minor-to-serious injuries as fractured ribs, slipped knee cartilege and assorted bruises.

Coach Doug (Peahead) Walker, who has put the Als through "secret" drills in preparation for the Hamilton game, won't decide until game time whether to use some of his cripples.

Ottawa Rough Riders, Argonauts and Tiger-Cats, all remarkably free from injuries, have held stiff drills since the week.

All clubs have two more games to play after this week-end and it still is possible they could end in a four-way tie for points.

TEAMS NEED WIN

Sarnia Imperials, ORFU defending champions, have a stiff test against the league-leading Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen at Kitchener. The Dutchmen already have clinched first spot but Imperials need this game to hit the post-season series.

Imperials are deadlocked in second place with Toronto Balmy Beach with the week-end games closing out the schedule. The Beaches have a soft touch Saturday against the winless Brantford Redmen at Toronto.

Sole possession of the runner-up spot in the intercollegiate union is at stake. University of Toronto Blues and McGill Redmen, each with four points on two victories, clash at Montreal. The other college game brings together Mc-Master Marauders and Queen's Golden Gaels at Kingston.

The University of Ontario Mustangs, who lead the circuit with three straight victories, have an open date.

Former Goalie Now Councillor

WINNIPEG (CP) — Paul Goodman, former goal tender for Chicago Black Hawks in the National Hockey League, led the poll in Winnipeg's ward two Wednesday night to win election to city council. It was his first plunge into politics.

Goodman was one of three goalie used by the Black Hawks in winning the Stanley Cup in 1938. He was regular goalie for the Black Hawks 1939-41.

An injury cut short his hockey career and he entered business in Winnipeg.

Sugar Ray 'Quits for Good'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson said Thursday he has quit the boxing ring for good.

"I'll never fight again," the ex-champion said, scotching reports hat he was weighing an offer to challenge Bobo Olson, the middleweight titleholder.

Robinson once held the welterweight and middleweight championships but retired last Dec. 18 to take up tap dancing in nitery and dance short.

Last week Ray was quoted as saying he'd been offered a sizable chunk of money to fight Olson. Thursday Robinson said he was offered $500,000 and later $350,000.

"If I fight again," Robinson said, "it'll be because somebody hit me. when I wasn't looking."

Trappers Rally To Edge Soo

NORTH BAY (CP)—North Bay Trappers Thursday night blew a three-goal lead but came back with the only two goals of the final period to turn back Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Indians 9-8 in a Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern group game.

Victory hurdled the North Bay squad past Sudbury Wolves into second place in the five-team race. Newcomer Ged Pankhurst, 21-year-old centre from Winnipeg scored the tying goal in the third and added two other assists.

Veteran Smoothie Ab DeMarco set up the winning goal by George Gosselin.

Chester Konarski, Boelke, and DeMarco got the Trappers off to a 3-0 start only to have the Indians come back with four straight in the second period on two counters by Vip Palladino, and singles by Hank Backer and Stub Macey.

Six Clubs Form Senior B Group

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (CP)—Four western Ontario Senior B teams and two Intermediate A entries have completed plans for launching the Ontario Hockey Association.

Plans were made at a meeting here Sunday. Called the Big Six, the league will be comprised of Woodstock Athletics, London Privys, Wallaceburg and New Hamburg, all Senior B clubs, and Tillsonburg and Aylmer, Intermediate A teams.

The group opens a 30-game schedule Nov. 3 and will conclude league action Feb. 17.

International Loop Prexy Has Ideas, Would Add 8 Clubs to Major Leagues

MONTREAL (CP) — Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International Baseball League, Thursday night outlined plans he has submitted to major league clubs for the addition of eight teams to the present 16-club setup.

Addressing a banquet of the Snowdon Football League, Shaughnessy contended there are too many "losing teams" in baseball at present.

He said minor leagues got around the difficulty of having too many "losing" or non-playoff teams in the loop by letting four teams contest the playoff series.

Major leagues at present included the top club in each league in the world series playoffs, leaving seven losers in each loop. If a proposed plan to add two new entries in each major league was adopted, there would be nine teams in each league not making the playoffs.

12-TEAM LEAGUES?

Shaughnessy said his plan hinges on finding eight cities capable of building ball parks seating at least 35,000 and getting owners capable of financing a major league club.

He said four teams would be added each of the present leagues which would be sub-divided into east and west section.

In the National League, the east section would consist of Brooklyn, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Toronto and Montreal. The west would be made up of Milwaukee, St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati and possibly Los Angeles and San Francisco.

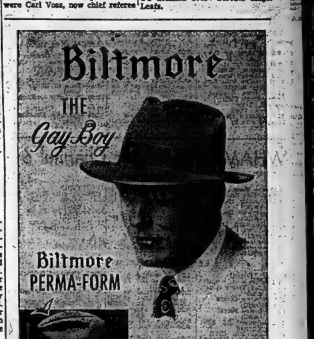
Former Queen's Trainer Feted

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal branch of the Queen's University Alumni Association Thursday night honored John (the Senator) Powell, former trainer of the university's football, hockey, and basketball teams, at a dinner here.

Powell, who left in 1950 after 26 years as trainer of college teams—including the great Grey Cup football squads of 1924-25-26.

Former football and hockey star Jack Carver presented Powell with a $600 cheque and expressed the appreciation of the alumni association for all "the great work and the fighting spirit" the Senator showed at Queen's.

John Connor, former president of the Montreal branch, said Powell was "gruff and silent" but "when he made friends with you, he was a real friend. He agonized over every game as much as the players."



Among those at the presentation were Carl Voss, now chief referee of the National Hockey League, and Herb Hamilton, general secretary of the alumni association.

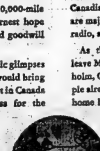
52 Canadian Ambassadors of Goodwill



THE CANADA STORY is being told abroad as perhaps no other living nation's story ever has been told . . . told as only art, the universal language, can tell it.

When The House of Seagram commissioned the painting of 52 portraits of Canadian cities by distinguished Canadian artists and then dispatched those paintings by air on a 50,000-mile international tour, it was with the earnest hope that greatly increased understanding and goodwill toward Canada would follow.

There was little doubt that these graphic glimpses of the Canadian skyline and landscape would bring to people of many lands a deeper interest in Canada and a warmer feeling of friendliness for the Canadian people.

Today the Seagram Collection is barely half-way on its international tour—and the actuality is daily outstripping the most optimistic of advance estimates. Throughout Latin America — in San Juan, Havana, Mexico City, Caracas, Rio de Janeiro, Sao Paulo, Buenos Aires — Canada, through Seagram's airborne art gallery, is Page One news. Not only at the time of the formal previews for leaders of government, industry, the professions and society, but throughout the seven-to-ten day public showings in each city the Canadian paintings and the cities they represent are major topics of interest in the news pages, on radio, and television, in everyday conversation.

As these Canadian ambassadors of goodwill leave Montvideo for Rome, Paris, London, Stockholm, Geneva and Madrid, more than 60,000 people already have studied the collection and carried home brochures reproducing the paintings in full colour. More than this, they have carried away vivid personal impressions of Canada as a great and growing country—a land of vast natural and industrial resources and remarkable human resourcefulness.

'Pie King' May Not Start

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP)—The Pie King, British two-year-old champion, came down with a case of squine "athlete's foot" Thursday and appeared a doubtful starter in the world's richest horse race—the $250,000 Garden State Stakes Saturday.

Co-owner Elwood Johnston said The Pie King had developed a foot condition very similar to athlete's foot in a human. He said the condition had been aggravated by the rainy weather and a slight infection since the horse arrived here to train for the race.

The first two doubles by west were for takeout. The third round doubles was for penalty. By then west figured he could beat a contract of four hearts even if his partner had nothing.

South and north bidding was true up to where north said three hearts. North had all that he claimed. South should have passed the three hearts. He lacked a trick or raising to four.

West opened trump cut with two spade tricks and south ruffed the third spade. Trump king was cashed. Then ace showed out on the spot it looked as if west would take two losing tricks.

A south club went to the dummy finesse of queen. A return spade was ruffed by south. The monarch and his lady took two tricks in the diamond suit. So did the two minor aces in dummy.

Dummy was now on lead when south and west were bared down to three trumps apiece. Trump nine was led and ducked by south. West got it with the jack and was forced to come back with a trump.

Whether he led the queen or eightpost, south had both tricks with ace and ten. West gambled: "Bosh. Endplayed, by gosh!"

AT THE CAPITOL—Doris Day, co-stars with Ray Bolger and Claude Dauphin in Technicolor Musical "April in Paris" opening today and Saturday at the Capitol Theatre. On the same program it's action, action, action in "Davy Crockett, Indian Scout" starring George Montgomery and Ellen Drew. Sunday through Tuesday, Nov. 1-3. Doors open at 11.30.

AT THE BELLE — Belleville favorite, June Haver, accompanied by Dan Dailey, Cora Williams and Dennis Day in the Technicolor musical "The Girl Next Door" opening today at the Belle Theatre.

Rocky Matched With Cockell

PARIS (AP) — Rocky Marciano, world heavyweight champion, will fight the British champion, Don Cockell, in a 15-round title bout next June, Al Weill, the world titleholders manager, said today.

The match will be held either in London or the United States, "wherever we could get more money," Weill said.

The manager made his announcement of the heavyweight bout after a one-hour talk with Jack Solomons, Britain's boxing promoter.

"No final decision on the matter will be taken, however," Weill said, "until I talk with International Boxing Club manager Jim Norris next week at New York."

Minor Soccer League

The final game of the Belleville Eastern soccer league will be played at the Fair Grounds on Saturday morning starting at 10.30. Wanderers, last year's champions, who have again been declared winners of the East Hill "A" League will play All Hughes' Holloway Street Church team who won the "B" league on the West Hill.

The Bill Harvey Trophy emblematic of Eastern soccer supremacy in the city will be presented to the winners.

A successful season, resulting in some very close competition will draw to a close. The boys have been quite enthusiastic with games being held every Saturday morning. Two grounds were used, the Cricket Field and the Fair Grounds. A double-header was played every week.

Competition on the East Hill was so keen that two teams, Holloway Street and Celtic finished the regular schedule tied for first place, necessitating a sudden death tussle to decide the winner.

On the Juvenile scene, Napanee are at present leading the league but can still be upset for the championship. On Saturday afternoon, the Belleville team travels to Brighton for a schedule Bay of Quinte League game.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tonight before the night before Hallowe'en, I decided to pay a call on that famed cartoon studio, Hell Lantern.

I thought Lugosi lived in a dark old house of the kind you see in Charles Addams cartoons. But Lugosi lived next door in a modern apartment.

I rang the bell and Lugosi answered. No cloak, no devilish appearance. In fact, he was amazing by handsome for his 65 years.

"What are you going to do Halloween'in?" I asked eagerly.

"I have no plans," he replied wearily.

"What about holding a wake with Boris Karloff? are you two on speaking terms?"

"I haven't seen Boris for two or three years. I started him out on his career as a boogey man.

After I did 'Dracula' at Universal, they wanted me to do the monster in 'Frankenstein.'

"But when I tested the make-up, it was heavy and painful. I got out of the role by having my doctor say it would be bad for me. I suggested Karloff for the role."

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, OCT. 31, 1953

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Your spurge of capability must govern how far you should go—on de sire or the suggestions of others. Study conditions, possibilities before acting. It saves time, money, energy.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Prospects should be well screened, fundamentals taken into consideration before acting. Then proceed with sound, hard intelligent effort. You can be so helpful to the less fortunate.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Ambition isn't talent, nor is speed a guarantee of success. Both are needed, of course, but in the right places. Spasmodic spurts of effort sometimes yield gains, but more often failures.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Frequently consult elders, the book of rules—especially these days when you can really make headway. We can learn from others' mistakes and successes; judge carefully.

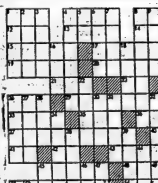
July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Financial surprises generally auspicious for business and personal matters. Many good propositions before you; choose well and make the best of your day. Try new methods, if practical.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Fine offerings. Discuss common problems with family, those truly interested, for better understanding and thus greater gains. Happy solutions often come quickly this way.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—You can mark up another excellent day's work if you are true to your Sign and extend self slightly. News may enhance your chances. Examine new fields for greater opportunities.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Everything encouraging during this fine period. This fact, plus your natural gifts, which include keen perception, should weld together forces hard to stop. Also favorable to personal matters.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Many fine opportunities offered this day. Both business and personal affairs can advance appreciably. It's up to you to take advantage and reap your just share.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Emphasize your alertness, astute management and forethought to achieve this day. Building, mining, manufacturing, merchandising can make headway.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—If "on the ball", reasonably speedy and unatrack, you can attain greatly. Stick to what you start, and expect the unexpected. That's where you may achieve most.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Satisfactory day if you keep emotions under sensible control and avoid contention. Your occupation should yield good returns for worthy effort. Romance, marriage in new favor.

YOU BORN TODAY have a sense of humor, are magnetic, dynamic. You form strong likes and dislikes (mostly the former good of all concerned). You have great perseverance and unlimited energy —a fine gift from God—but don't abuse it and impair health and happiness. You are most helpful in moments of emergency, and in sickness you will assist tirelessly. You make able managers, supervisors, musicians, artists, journalists, physicians. Overcome a tendency to worry and extravagance and enjoy a bright future. Birthdate of: John Evelyn, noted diarist; John Keats, famed poet.

RAWDON
Bride-To-Be Showered With Gifts

RAWDON, — Mrs. Edward Reasman with Mrs. Kress Carr as co-hostess entertained about 50 ladies in honor of Miss Evelyn Bush, bride-to-be.

The evening was spent playing court whist and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Mary Doran, Belleville and Mrs. Eva Parker, Stirling.

The rooms and archways were decorated with pink and white streamers, balloons and baskets of autumn blooms.

Mrs. Jack Bush read an address to the guest of honor, and little Miss Marla Reasman wheeled in a decorated wagon filled with gifts while the hostess carried in a decorated clothesbasket. The gifts were of china and linen and were numerous, useful and decorative.

The guest of honor was showered with confetti from the pricked balloons as she unwrapped the gifts.

Evelyn graciously thanked the group after which the hostesses and their assistants served bountiful refreshments.

Eskimos Place Seven Players, Coach On Western All-Star Offensive Team

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—Seven players from the first-place Edmonton Eskimos and their coach, Darrell Royal, crashed the 1953 Western Interprovincial Football Union all-star offensive team, chosen for The Canadian Press by managers and sports writers in league cities.

For the first time in Canadian football history, the selectors moved to these days of highly-specialized football performers and two-platoon system by also naming a 12-man defensive squad. The Saskatchewan Roughriders and two Winnipeg Blue Bombers made up the balance of the offensive team. The ball-end Calgary Stampeders failed to gain an offensive wound berth.

THREE CANADIANS

Three Canadian players made the first or offensive team, compared with two in 1952. They are middle scorer and flying wing for Bombers, and guard Jimmy Quance, dimetime and halfback Normie Kwong of the Eskis. Besides Kwong, halfback Rollie Miles of Edmonton was the only other holdover from last year's all-star team. One player—tackle Martin Ruby of Riders — was picked for both teams.

Heavy halfback Billy Vessels of Okla. all-American last year while Oklahoma and voted the outstanding player of the year in the United States, was the sole player named to every ballot.

Here are the teams:

OFFENSIVE TEAM

End: Bud Grant, Bombers
End: Mac Speedie, Riders
Tackle: Martin Ruby, Riders
Tackle: Leon Manley, Eaks
Guard: Jim Quandelacy, Eaks
Guard: Mike Cassidy, Riders
Centre: Eagle Keys, Eaks
Quarter: Claude Arnold, Eaks
Flying Wing: B. Korchak, Bombers
Half: Billy Vessels, Eaks
Half: Rollie Miles, Eaks
Fullback: Normie Kwong, Eaks
Coach: Darrell Royal, Eaks

DEFENSIVE TEAM

End: Frank Anderson, Eaks
End: Ernest Anderson, Stamps
Tackle: Martin Ruby, Riders
Tackle: Dick Huffman, Bombers
Guard: Gordon Brown, Stamps
Guard: Dean Sanders, Bombers
Linebr: John Wozniak, Riders
Linebr: Tony Momsen, Stamps
Half: Neil Armstrong, Bombers
Half: Ray Willsey, Eaks
Half: Bobby Marlow, Riders
Half: Tom Casey, Bombers

Braves Scalp Quebec Aces; Tie for Top

Valleyfield Braves have moved up into a tie with Chicoutimi Saguenens at the top of the Quebec Hockey League standings.

The Braves moved up from a four-team, second-place tie by defeating Quebec Aces Thursday night on home ice. Chicoutimi dropped a 5-3 decision to Sherbrooke Saints.

Sherbrooke's win enabled the Saints to climb out of the cellar, dumping Springfield Indians into the bottom slot.

At Valleyfield, the Braves, using Rene Haworth-Leclerc for two of their scores, jumped into a 1-0 lead in the opening period. Valleyfield outscored the Aces 4-3 in the second and held them scoreless in the last stanza. Roy Kelly got two of the three Quebec markers.

At Sherbrooke the Saints pumped in two in the opener, added two more in the second for a 4-0 lead, and picked up an insurance marker shortly before the final whistle. Dekhala Franche got both Chicoutimi's goals in the last stanza.

Tiger Juniors Win Grid Title

TORONTO (CP)—Hamilton Tiger-Cats Thursday night won the Junior Big Four best-of-three football final series in two consecutive games by defeating Parkdale Lions 20-6.

Razzy Dave Cathcart scored a touchdown, converted it, and kicked four single points to account for half the Ti-Cats' total score.

Hamilton led 12-0 at half-time on Cathcart's converted major, one of his singles and another major by Mike Volcan. Parkdale struck back in the third quarter for a touchdown by Bill Irwin that Tom Urowitz converted.

Rod Simpson fell on a Parkdale fumble behind the Parkdale goal line for another Hamilton major as the fourth quarter began and Cathcart rounded out the scoring with three singles midway through the quarter.

Middleweight Ratings Get Overhaul, Turpin Still Named No. 1 Contender

NEW YORK (AP)—The recent flurry of action in the middleweight class, including the title scrap between Carl (Bobo) Olson and Randy Turpin, has resulted in an overhaul of the ratings of the 160-pound division by Ring magazine. Only a few minor changes were made in the other weights.

Olson's decisive triumph over Turpin gave the division its first champion since Ray Robinson retired Dec. 18, 1952, and left the title open.

Turpin, of England, was placed in the No. 1 contender's spot, followed by: 2, Rocky Castellani, Cleveland; 3, Joey Giardello, Philadelphia; 4, Gil Turner, Philadelphia; 5, Joey Giambra, Buffalo; 6, Ernie Durando, Bayonne, N.J.; 7, Charles Humez, France; 8, Ralph (Tiger) Jones, Yonkers, N.Y.; 9, Randy Sandy, New York; 10, Garth Panter, Salt Lake City.

Turner, Durando and Panter were not on last month's list, and Giardello was moved up a notch.

Durando relished the first 10 by knocking out Humez in the sixth round in Paris. Giardello advanced with a good win over Walter Cartier. Panter climbed into the rankings for the first time by whipping France's Pierre Langlois, who was dropped. Turner, No. 3 welterweight contender a month ago, has been fighting at 155 pounds and was moved into the 160-pound class by Ring editor Nat Fleischer.

HEAVYWEIGHTS INTACT

The heavyweight ranks were kept intact with Roland La Starza, Excard Charles, Nino Valdes, Dan Bucceroni and Heinz Neuheuer running in that order behind champion Rocky Marciano. Canada's Earl Walls of Edmonton and Windsor, Ont., was ranked seventh.

Floyd Patterson's victory over Wes Bascom sent the Olympic champion back into the light heavyweight ratings, this time in the No. 8 contender's post.

Del Flanagan of St. Paul, who handed Steve Marcello his first defeat advanced from sixth to fifth among the welters. Johnny Saxton took over Turner's No. 2 berth.

LIGHTWEIGHTS SHUFFLED

In the lightweight division, Art Persley of Red Cross, La., returned to the first 10 as the result of wins over Phil Rizzuto and Henry Davis. He was given the No. 8 rating, one notch ahead of Arthur (Kid) Towne. Montreal's Armand Savoie, who meets lightweight champion Jimmy Carter in a title fight in Montreal, Nov. 11, was boosted from ninth to sixth.

The featherweight, bantamweight and flyweight divisions were largely unchanged and no Canadians were listed among the top contenders in those ranks.

Anti-Red PoW Kick, Yell, Curse At Interviewers

Only 20 of 430 North Koreans Elect to Go Home

By JOHN RANDOLPH

PANMUNJON (AP) — Defiant anti-Communist Korean war prisoners marched from their compounds today and with shouts, kicks and screaming curses overwhelmingly for Communist explainers they will not go back to Red rule.

By late afternoon only 30 of 430 North Koreans had elected to go back to the Communists, an Indian spokesman said.

The Koreans came out peacefully to meet Red "persuaders" after two weeks of negotiations with Lt.-Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

But once before the explainers, most of the PoWs were anything but peaceful.

SEE FOUR GUARDS

As many as four Indian guards were assigned to each prisoner, but frequently this wasn't enough.

One enraged prisoner broke free and hurled a folding chair into the faces of three smartly-uniformed Red officers. All were slightly injured.

In at least two instances, prisoners kicked over filled tubs used by the Communists as latrines in muddy buckets.

Almost all of them screamed, shouted and spat at the Communist agents. They writhed and struggled in the tight grasp of Indian soldiers.

Indian guards forced prisoners to listen to the explanations as long as the Reds wished to talk — or until he became obvious that the terms were declined.

Some interviews lasted only 30 seconds. Others continued for nearly two hours.

Swiss, Swedish, Polish and Czech observers were present at all interviews.

UN PROTESTED

At one point the United Nations command protested because Indian guards were using strong-arm methods to keep order in the interview tents. The UN command said that while the International Commission authorized the use of force to protect the explainers, some explainers are being dragged back after saying only that they wished to "go home."

Some individual UN protests were ruled out of order by the Indian and NNRC representatives.

There was no immediate comment from Gen. Thimayya. However, he said last week that under his definition, a PoW would not be resorting to force if they pushed or dragged a prisoner.

Red China's Peping radio acknowledged that the long-delayed explanations were in progress the way again. But the broadcast added:

"Obviously now that the Syngman Rhee regime has made concessions to attend the explanations they must have got words from their Anglo-American bosses and have prepared new tactics to wreck the explanations next week."

The Communists have until Christmas Eve to get coaxed back 14,500 balky Chinese and about 7,800 North Koreans. Previously 145 Chinese and 359 Koreans have asked to go back.

Nature Continues To Play Tricks

ST. THOMAS (CP)—Nature continues to play tricks in this district this fall. Raspberry canes are bearing another crop and some which usually run in springtime are being caught by gill net fish-ermen along the north shore of Lake Erie.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP)—Synopsis: In the wake of a disturbance which moved rapidly through central Ontario during the night, cold air has resulted as far south as northern Lake Superior. The weather map indicates the cold air will blanket the whole province by tonight and temperatures Sunday in southern Ontario are expected to be 15 degrees colder than today.

High-Ranking Russians Visited Korean Camp

WASHINGTON (AP)—A former war prisoner reports that some high-ranking Russians visited a North Korean camp where the Reds were trying to wrest "confessions" and information from captured Americans by starvation and other maltreatment.

The Russians made no attempt to conceal their nationality, he said, apparently thinking that none of the American prisoners would ever get back home.

The story is told by Capt. William M. Gregory of Batavia, N.Y., in a four-hour film recording by Defense Department officials a few day to newspaper men, motion picture and television representatives.

The film, part of which was shown early this month to the United Nations General Assembly by the United States representative, Henry Cabot Lodge, represents another round in the American psychological battle with the Communist camp to refute "confessions" wrung from prisoners and spread worldwide by Red propaganda.

The UN assembly saw a film recording of the statements of 10 of the men. But in the showing Friday the recording of Gregory's story were shown as well.

As a military interrogator announced, concerning the latter, that in spite of pressures brought to bear on him since, "he remains physically and mentally to the point where they would make good statements and give information wanted by their captors.

Convict Indian Of Manslaughter

KENORA (CP)—An assize court jury Friday convicted a two-year-old treaty Indian of manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Sutherland.

Samuel Keesick was charged with murder but died upon the gallows in Fisher, 35, at Delaney Lake. The jury found him innocent of murder.

Keesick was remanded for sentence at the close of the sittings. Chief Fiser Lake followed a fight at the Indian encampment about 40 miles north of Kenora where both the men were employed at the lodge as guides. He died from wounds received by a heavy stick wielded during a fight following a drinking bout.

Irish Pub Changes Hands Because Owner 'Heartily Sick' of Pickets

DUN LAOGHAIRE, Republic of Ireland (Reuters)—Downey's pub changed hands Friday, but its pickets were trying to prevent "customers as they have for nearly 15 years."

Patrick Neville, brother-in-law of the late owner, James Downey, paid $28,000 ($22,400) for the secret of the world's longest pub strike because of it, the most famous barroom in Ireland.

Mrs. Downey, who took over after her husband died last May, sold the pub because over grew "heartily sick" of seeing the daily picket parade outside the place.

Neville said he didn't know exactly how the strike would continue. "Days, and I haven't made up my mind yet," he explained.

The pub's customers' longest campaign began March 6, 1939, when Jim Downey fired a barten-der and refused to take him back. Next morning, the Irish National Union of Vintners, Grocers and Allied Trade Assistants set up a picket line. They've been there since.

Once the picket line became a permanent fixture, Jim Downey discovered he had inadvertently stumbled on a unique and valuable advertising gimmick. His pub became a rousing £32,000 business annually.

During the long association, Downey and the pickets developed a strong friendship. He'd send them out drinks on holidays and anniversaries of the strike, as they plodded endlessly. If a picket was late, he quickly telephoned union headquarters and told the union to get its man to work.

The bartender who was fired? He too has long since died.

POLICE SEEKING IDENTITY OF BODY FOUND IN DITCH

Residents of Area Report Hearing Shots

BARRIE (CP)—A middle-aged man found dead in a ditch Friday, shot through the head and chest, still is unidentified.

Police asked 25 bartenders from this district 50 miles north of Toronto to try to identify the man. None could.

Robert Graves, 57-year-old farmer, spotted the body while driving along a concession road near Barrie, a little south of here. A trail of blood led from the road to the two-foot-wide ditch.

Nearby police found a cartridge from an automatic.

The theory is that the man was killed by a hitchhiker bent on stealing his car. Another is that he was the victim of gangland vengeance, possibly at the hands of members of Toronto's underworld.

NEW CLUES

He had nothing in pockets but a Toronto street-car ticket and a chain letter.

Police described the man as five feet, eight inches tall, weighing 175 pounds, of stocky build, well dressed in a brown suit and grey topcoat. They said his head was shaved, fingers with a nearly grey hair. His age was estimated at between 30 and 40 years.

Residents of the area reported hearing shots Thursday night.

Mrs. George Ayres, who lives less than a quarter of a mile from the spot where the body was discovered, said there were two shots, seconds apart, about 9:45 p.m. Thursday. She said she thought at the time they were fired by deer hunters.

HEARD SHOTS, CARS

Donald Gibbons, 13, told police he also heard shots.

"I heard one shot and the engine of a car start," he said. "Then there was another shot and the car door slammed. Then the car took off at a terrific rate. I could hear it churning up the road."

Assessor Robert Sproule of Strood said he saw a man with a brown suit buy a newspaper in Strood about 6:30 p.m. Thursday. Police said they would like to find it might be that of the man.

Police report of the area to preserve tire tracks in the mud.

Accept Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—The Newspaper Guild of Delivery and Sales has accepted a contract offer by the Publishers Association of New York, ending a 17-day strike of the strike tonight at midnight.

The association earlier had authorized a strike which would have tied up seven-of-nine New York newspapers unless agreement were reached.

The contract includes an increase of $1.50 a week in the minimum salary, a 35-hour week and a union checkoff.

The association represents the Times, Herald Tribune, Journal American, Daily News, Daily Mirror, World-Telegram and Sun, Long Island Star Journal and Long Island Press.

PM's Hopes Centre on Asia In February World Tour

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent will have his thoughts and hopes on Asia when he leaves the capital next Feb. 4 on a globe-girdling air journey.

Mr. St. Laurent will visit many points in Europe, Asia and the Far East on the most extensive good-will tour attempted by a Canadian prime minister.

But his real reason for the trip is to visit Asia and his main hopes are centred on Prime Minister Nehru of India.

It is a good bet, and Mr. St. Laurent has virtually said so on occasions, that he believes Nehru can be the man in the best position to exercise an influence for good, or for harm, to all the peoples of the world.

RENEWS MISGIVINGS

During a talk with a Canadian Press reporter the prime minister said he looked for a most important that any misgivings Asian people may harbor about the western world and its intentions should be removed. Good relations between East and West are essential and could be created and maintained.

He believes that Canada is a good example. Canada, once a colony of Britain, has developed a neat-door neighbor to the United States, possessed its own form of government, manage Ns own affairs and maintain cordial relations with the United Kingdom and the United States. It would be helpful to Asian leaders to have among their people, even for a brief time, the prime minister said, the same opportunity as Canada.

The western world is more advanced in the economic sphere than the standard of living and make for a better life for its peoples, he said. The Asian world places things with more of a spiritual than material grip.

Canada no doubt could benefit from the difficulties and hardships also being material benefits to that area. There was no need to discuss how Communism was superior or inferior.

STRENUOUS JOURNEY

Mr. St. Laurent was reluctant to discuss specifically his hopes and expectations from the journey for the unprecedented tour. He will be 72 years old Feb. 1 and he knows he is undertaking a strenuous journey but he feels fit and ready.

The February trip is expected to last six weeks and four days with a return to Ottawa March 22. It will be made in the huge RCAF C-5 aircraft which government officials have used for trips.

The party will travel east with stops in England. Paris will be headquarters for a week while the prime minister visits army and air establishments in Europe and the West German government at Bonn.

Then he will go to Rome, Karachi, New Delhi, Ceylon, Indonesia, the Canadian forces in Korea, Tokyo, Australia and New Zealand. The return journey will be by way of Fiji, Hawaii and San Francisco.

Gen. Marshall, A. Schweitzer Receive Nobel Peace Prizes

OSLO (AP)—The Nobel Peace Prize for 1953 has been awarded to Gen. George C. Marshall, American soldier-statesman who gave his name to the Marshall Plan for the same European aid for 1952, previously omitted, was awarded to Albert Schweitzer, Alsatian medical missionary.

The Norwegian Nobel Institute, a five-member board, announced the selections Friday. In keeping with tradition, it gave no explanations.

Marshall, 72, was convalescing from a heart attack at his home in Pinehurst, N.C., when he received the news. "This award is a great distinction and honor for which I am deeply grateful," he said.

Instrumental in setting up a $17,000,000,000 program to help the war-shattered economy of Europe, Marshall in 1947 received a series of 175,292 Swedish kroonor ($33,940) from the funds set up under the will of Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite.

Schweitzer, 78, is to get 171,570 kroonor (about $33,200). Fluctuations in the rate of exchange account for the difference.

CANADIANS CONSIDERED

Canadians considered this prize included Prime Minister St. Laurent and External Affairs Minister Pearson of Canada. Neither has been nominated for his work as chairman of the United Nations General Assembly.

Nobody will be surprised that the peace prize should go to the candidate "who has worked the most or best for promoting brotherhood among people, and for the abolition or reduction of the standing armies, and for the establishment and spread of peace congresses."

Marshall was the fourth chief of staff in the Second World War. He was credited with engineering three times in the following five years.

He was sent by former president Truman to China on a fruitless mission to bring the warring factions of the war which the Communists eventually won. He was named secretary of state. Later he was secretary of defence.

Schweitzer is long renowned as a medical missionary, musician, philosopher and author. He enjoyed a wide reputation when he went to Africa in 1913. Jungle at years ago to serve humanity as "man to my fellow man." In 1952 his wife established a hospital at Lambarene, in French equatorial Africa.

Schweitzer has been called the world's "greatest living missionary," a group of prominent artists-writers and musicians of 17 nations in 1930 named him "the man of the century."

800 Ford Workers Will Be Laid Off Until Change-over

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Some 800 Ford of Canada employees will be laid off during the annual change over to new models, it was announced Friday.

Robert D. Hodge, vice-president in charge of manufacturing, said in a letter to employees that some of those laid off will be out of work for about four days.

The letter said the payroll at the Windsor assembly is as large or perhaps even larger than it was Oct. 2.

The model changes will be completed about five weeks after the last plant which produces passenger cars assembly next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Production of some 1954 model cars will start about Nov. 19 and full production will resume Nov. 9. Other models will start rolling at Ford plants at Windsor and the new plant at Oakville, Dec. 14.

5 Quebec Youths Killed When Jeep Runs Into Tree

PLESSISVILLE, Que. (CP) — Five youths, members of a Canadian Legion band, were killed early today when their jeep veered off the highway and crashed into a tree near this town, 45 miles southwest of Quebec City.

Provincial police said the five occupants of the vehicle have been identified as Ernest Daoulle, Paul and Leo Lavole, brothers, and two other youths identified only as Comtois and Langvin. Their ages were not immediately known.

Divers Examine Cargo

SARNIA (CP)—Divers from the McQueen Marine Salvage ships Friday climbed into the hold of the sunken German motorship Wallachfelt to examine 200 tons of cargo which will be lifted out before she is refloated. The Wallschiff, about 20 feet down near the centre of St. Clair River channel, sank Oct. 8 after collision with the ore-carrier Pioneer.

WEEK-LONG MILK STRIKE IN N.Y. IS SETTLED

Deliveries to Stores To Start Immediately

NEW YORK (AP)—A settlement was announced early today in the week-long milk strike which has cut off milk supplies for 12,000,000 persons in the New York-Long Island metropolitan area.

Agreement was announced at city hall after 15 hours of bargaining sessions.

Company and union negotiators said deliveries to stores should start within quarts a day.

In industry spokesman said the agreement, granting a wage increase to members of the AFL Teamsters Union, would result in a retail price increase of about a cent a quart.

OPERATE IN A DAY

The spokesman said that it will take only a day before processing plants can be operating at normal to meet all area demands for milk. The region normally uses about 3,- 000,000 quarts a day.

Union counsel Samuel J. Cohen said the 200 companies involved in the milk industry faced an increase of about $8.50 a week.

The agreement announcement came after about 30 New Jersey milk dealers had broke bare on receiving word from the union that contracts were about to be signed. They waited through the night while the regular union and company negotiating teams were at city hall, where the settlement was announced.

Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri got the regular negotiators together at city hall on Friday after threatening to lock them in until the deadlock in the dispute was carry out the threat, however, although a police guard had instructions to prevent anyone from leaving the negotiators.

The negotiators were still in session at dawn.

Milk industry negotiator Irving S. Wisch, during a recess, said he thought it "impossible" that the night's sessions would produce a settlement. Asked how the city hall meeting would be replied:

PROGRESS LOUDS

"They are going lousy—and you can quote me."

Richard Keber, secretary-treasurer of a teamsters' local in northern New Jersey, said the union demand was for an $8.90 package which included a 40 week year, increase, a three-week vacation after five years of service and time for welfare fund. Originally sought by the union was a $15-a-week boost for a 35-hour week instead of 40 hours.

Milk last reported offer from the 200 firms involved was $6.50.

Wages now range from $82 to $125 a week.

THREATENED COMMUNIST

PARIS (Reuters)—Louis Rico, a street trader, Friday got one year's imprisonment for espionage into the residence of the French Communist party leader Jacques Duclos May 6 and threatening members of his staff with a pistol.

Toronto Woman, Little Girl Killed Early Saturday

Three Persons in U.S. Car Killed on Curve at Chatham

NAPANEE (CP) — A young mother and a nine-year-old girl, both from Toronto, were killed today in a car-truck collision only a few hundred yards from their destination.

Hospital attendants said Mrs. Ann Jillings, 32, and Jean Wingar, 9, died when the car in which they were riding was in collision with a brewery truck at the entrance to a farm run by Henry Jillings, a relative.

They said Jean Winger's sister, Geraldine, 13; George McTaggart of Toronto; and Thomas and Gary Jillings, small- sons of the dead woman, were hurt in the accident. Mrs. McTaggart was not hurt.

Truck driver David Corbett, 34, of Toronto was uninjured. Another truck later struck the overturned brewery transport, but did little damage and driver Howard Jenkins of RR 6, Cobourg, was unhurt.

CHATHAM (CP)—Three persons were killed and an unknown number injured this morning when a transport truck collided head-on with a United States car a few miles east of nearby Thamesville.

The accident happened at Fair field curve on Highway 2.

It was the second accident and other details were not immediately available.

Saw Pickup Truck Without Lights Near Crash Scene

CORNWALL (CP) — A Smiths Falls transport driver told an Ontario Supreme Court jury Friday that he saw a pickup truck without lights near the scene of a head-on truck crash that took 20 lives early July 31. A few minutes later he saw a bus plunge into the Williamsburg canal near Morrisburg.

Mervyn Burleigh was testifying at the manslaughter trial of Ivanhoe Max Nicolaas, 46, of Toronto and Ottawa.

The trial was adjourned until Monday. Three Toronto survivors— Anthony J. Bowes, Terrence Sumner and Mabel Bowes—testified they estimated the speed of the bus at the time of the crash to be between 45 and 50 miles an hour.

Burleigh said he was travelling east and pulled into a highway camp 250 feet from the crash scene.

"I had to swing sharply as I pulled into the camp to avoid an unlighted red truck which was either stopped or moving very slowly sideward down the centre of the highway," he said.

RCMP to Guard Eisenhower On Ottawa Visit

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCMP will have full responsibility for the safety of President Eisenhower during his two-day state visit here.

The visit, originally planned for three days, has been cut to two, the external affairs department said Friday. From the time he crosses the border Nov. 13 until he returns to United States soil his safety will be the job of the Mounties.

Three uniformed Mounties will join the presidential train at the border and form the President's personal guard until he reaches the boundary on his way home.

U.S. secret service men will accompany the President and security details will be worked out in consultation with the RCMP and city and railway police.

6,961 Units in Week

DETROIT (AP)—Motor vehicle production in Canada this week will total 6,961 units, Ward's Automotive Reports said Friday.

The statistical agency counted 6,082 cars and 879 trucks in the total. Last week 6,949 cars and 829 trucks were produced. In the comparable 1952 week 6,036 cars and 2,353 trucks were built.

United States factories will build 124,280 cars and 14,113 trucks this week, Ward's said.

Flin Flon Folk Favor Formation Of Northern Province, Pre-Cambria

FLIN FLON, Man. (CP)—This border-straddling mining town—population of other unusual ideas—has come up with a dilly this time.

Brainchild of Flin Flon mining engineer Lew Parres, it would create a new northern province in west of Hudson Bay, including the Northwest Territories and the Yukon.

The new province would have its chief capital at northern Manitoba, northern Saskatchewan and northern Alberta. The remains of these three provinces would be patched together into one province.

There would be a new boundary lines between Ontario and British Columbia, with the total land mass left to nine Indians or 10.

The Flin Flon Chamber of Commerce has taken up the idea, but local residents receive it with mixed feelings.

Contractor Ole Sorenson, asked his views on the project, removed his cigar just long enough to say: "How!"

"An utterly impossible, ridiculous nightmare," said lawyer Lorne Mitchell.

Mrs. Parres' idea is to take the northern country out of the hands of a largely farmer-elected Manitoba government and form a province—Pre-Cambria—dominated by miners, trappers and lumbermen who would own the land.

Mr. Witney agrees that "northern Manitoba would have more to say in northern affairs."

Flin Flon, spotted strategically on the border between northern Saskatchewan and Manitoba, came up with another news-making idea not so long ago. It threatened to secede the section of the city in Manitoba from that province unless a highway was built in from the south. Flin Flon now has the highway.

MOTORISTS REQUESTED TO DRIVE CAREFULLY

An appeal for motorists to drive carefully and to take every precaution due to the throngs of juvenile Hallowe'en celebrants expected to be on the streets, was made today by Police Inspector J. C. Mayne.

"Hundreds of kiddies wearing masks and other costumes which partially block vision will be on the streets tonight, and a bit of extra caution on the part of motorists might well save some child injury," the police inspector said.

SAFETY BADGES ARE AWARDED

Ontario Safety League bronze badges and certificates for safe driving were awarded this week to three employees of the Northern Electric Company.

E. F. Booth, plant manager, made the presentations to Ross Bonnell, company chauffeur for six years received the two-year award along with Dave Burdette, while Norman McFadden received the one-year award.

HEAVY FOG BLANKETED DISTRICT

A heavy fog blanketed the Bay of Quinte district Friday night, slowing highway traffic to a crawl and was the cause of at least one accident in the Marmora area. The fog started to close in about midnight and in many cases tied up transports as drivers were forced to pull off to the side of the road before attempting to proceed.

Community Chest Campaign Needs Effective Support Of Every Belleville Citizen

The Community Chest's drive for $39,000 has already been extended for two weeks due to the 28 per cent short of its objective.

There are several reasons for this disappointing showing. During this early stage of the campaign hundreds of city dwellers were attending the Templeton Missions in Memorial Arena. Thanksgiving holiday followed and much valuable time in the initial stages of the campaign thus had been lost through no fault of the organization. Much of the impact of the initial appeal was destroyed by force of circumstances. The Chest has also had to compete with the appeal of Kinsmen Week. Belleville's General Hospital will launch its drive next week.

SHOW WRONG ATTITUDE

But the chief reason for the failure of the campaign to go over the top is the attitude of Belleville residents towards it.

The Community Chest was originally devised to combine in one appeal the separate campaigns for many worthy causes. The aim was intended that the Chest would be the most economical for people to discharge their responsibilities toward the various organizations in the city. It was not designed to be a means of extracting for the general public to shirk their responsibilities by saying that a united appeal rather six separate "nose" to the money of the public.

The list of the members of the executive committee of the Community Chest drive in Belleville is studded with the names of men prominent in the business and professional life. They are busy men who would not devote their time and effort to unworthy causes.

MORE THIS YEAR

The budget of the Chest this year is an increase of $3,000 over that of last year.

The budget committee is composed of Hugh C. Anderson, R. G. Quartly, regional manager of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission, and Stanley E. Goodwin, manager of the Belleville branch of the Bank of Montreal. They have given this year's budget the most careful consideration. It is not only the continuing expansion of this city, with a consequent increase in the services rendered by member organizations of the Community Chest that prompted them to increase the Chest's objective. Six organizations are included.

The six agencies co-operating in this united appeal are the Y.M.C.A., St. John Ambulance, Victorian Order of Nurses, Children's Aid Society, Navy League, and Boy Scouts.

The Y.M.C.A. provides a recreational centre in which certain services are provided that are not available elsewhere in the city. The Y is housed in an old building and heavy maintenance costs make operations expensive. The YMCA rooms are available to service clubs free of charge for meetings and activities of all sorts. It certainly states that the annual membership fees are not sufficient to meet the cost of the services rendered.

The St. John Ambulance brigade trains persons to assist the sick and injured on an emergency basis. Its activities are not publicized widely but they do fill an essential need in the public services available in times of crisis.

500 BOY SCOUTS

The Boy Scouts in the city, numbering some 500, have the use of Kinsmen Hall for their activities but they have no permanent headquarters. The Boy Scouts, through their apple days and waste paper drives, work to raise funds themselves but they are unable to provide the funds considered essential for their particular needs. Their share of the Chest this year is a modest $1,000.

The Navy League, a voluntary organization, has been active in the sea cadet project. During the last year 23 sea cadets from the Belleville area left the Canadian navy. HMCS. Quinte needs a headquarters, at least part of the cost of the land-based "ship" amounted to nearly $2,000. The sea cadets' share of the Community Chest is simply its $3,000 maintenance fund.

ESSENTIAL SERVICES

The Victorian Order of Nurses and its nursing staff in the city provide services that are essential that responsible citizens readily support in the Canadian way of life.

Much of their work is done without publicity. But their silence does not mean that they are inactive. Rather it is the degree of efficiency and public service, the quietness of their work, that is a clarion call to the wholehearted support of the community.

Each portion of the Chest's Community Chest is deserving of public support. Rather than the convenience the general public with a series of appeals for funds they have consented to present a united appeal that deserves more public support.

PUBLIC MUST HELP

If the public expects the services provided by these organizations to be available then the general public must make sure that the organizations present. The voluntary efforts of hundreds of civic-minded people in these organizations is a service that would cost big money many times the price we are asked to pay the Community Chest.

The Community Chest provides the necessary machinery and framework of organizations in which work of much greater value is accomplished. It would be a pity if a shortsighted approach to the Belleville Community Chest robs this city of much necessary and extremely valuable public support for the sake of a few more dollars.

Eric McInroy, Deloro, Injured In Rear-end Crash

Eric McInroy, 38, of Deloro is in Belleville hospital with chest injuries and possible fractured ribs as result of a rear-end truck crash which occurred in a dense fog on No. 7 highway east of Marmora shortly before three o'clock Saturday morning. A passenger in the McInroy car, Anne Cherrier, also of Deloro, escaped serious injury.

Police Chief Gordon Caldwell of Marmora, who investigated the accident said that the McInroy car had crashed into the rear of a truck parked on the side of the road, apparently without lights.

He quoted McInroy, passenger in the McInroy car, as saying they had come out of the dense fog and had seen nothing until they crashed into the rear of the truck.

The driver of the truck is said to have driven away after the accident and police are still trying to learn his identity. The damaged side rack from the truck is in police possession.

The front end of the late model McInroy car was almost completely demolished in the crash and McInroy was pinned in the damaged vehicle for 20 minutes before he was released by a transport driver George Metcalfe. He was brought to Belleville hospital by Thompson's Ambulance of Belleville.

A particularly heavy fog blanketed the Marmora area at the time of the accident and police were unable to determine the exact cause of the collision. However, both men in the wrecked car said they had seen nothing of McInroy's car truck crash a third vehicle driven by Murray Mahoney of Marmora jumped into the rear of the wrecked car causing minor damage.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Emerson Tweed, Married 60 Years

Residents of Tweed for the past 32 years, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Emerson will mark their 60th wedding anniversary on Sunday, November 1st.

Due to the fact that Mr. Emerson is seriously ill at the moment, no special celebration will be held by the family to note the occasion of milestone of wedded life.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Emerson were born in Hungerford township. Mr. Emerson is 87 years of age and Mrs. Emerson 82. The elderly couple grew up together, went to school together and a long, youthful friendship culminated in marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson are lifelong members of Grace M.E. Church. Allen Morton, 126 West Bridge Street, Belleville, who by a happy coincidence, celebrate their diamond anniversary on the same date.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson have three children: Mrs. Harry Francis (Evelyn) of Stirling; Mrs. A. J. Maynes (Helen) of Marmora, and Mr. Harold Emerson, Tweed. They plan to be with their parents on Sunday.

Neighbor's Lad Puts Ghosts to Shame If 'Treat' Not Ready on Hallowe'en

Look that door, close that window, take cover, for tonight's the night when the goblins, ghosts, witches and spooks-of-all-sorts roam the countryside.

Don't you don't believe in such things? Well just you try to escape the "tricks" of the neighbor's lad if you don't have a treat that pleases him. Soon he'll put those ghosts to shame.

Yes, soon the townsfall will ring with, woe-be-tide, windows will be coated with soap and wax, not to mention the many other pranks of the trade.

You will see Hoppy, Robin Hood, clowns by the dozen, Superman, tramps, fat girls and ball.

plump boys, skeletons, ghosts and the cost and only Frankenstein. Some little girls will be dressed like princesses and may sing you a song while others won't say a word.

Not only the children will be out, but many of the "Mom and Pops" will return to their childhood for just one night. They may get tired and end up at their friends about a block away but they did give it a try.

Just remember, folks, you were a child once too, so put a damper on that temper, buy a good supply of candy and get set because soon they'll start to come.

Oh! Excuse me, there's the door bell.

Lovely Flowers, Fine Fruits, Vegetables Highlighted Market

The morning's market was decked with lovely chrysanthemums in many shades and colors: creamy white, deep cream, deep bronze mulberry and red, yellow, pink, shading to deep red, pink, salling in pots at $1 to $1.50 each, and in bunches, plain or fancy, at 50 cents per bunch.

Belleville As I Remember It 60 to 70 Years Ago

By Edgar S. Vandewater

Editor's note: The writer of the following article is a former Belleville resident. He has a remarkable memory and has been able to recall names and locations of many businesses and families which are unknown to the majority of our city residents of today. The concluding part of Mr. Vandewater's article will appear on Monday.

About forty years ago we moved to Toronto and have always made annual or semi-annual return visits ever since. In recent years I have noticed remarkable changes and it occurred to me that it might be interesting reading for the readers of the Ontario Intelligencer if I note some of these changes.

I will begin by saying I was born in Sidney in May, 1876 and about 1880 we moved from the farm to Belleville, father having purchased a stone house on the north west corner of Moira and Frank Street. We lived there for a short time but during that time I remember seeing the boys return from the North West Rebellion. It was a great day in Belleville. They had a small boy and Front Street very crowded, Dad had my brother and I on the parade from an office window over Stroud's bus and china shop, then on the east side of Front Street a little south but nearly opposite the first Post Office.

The soldiers marched down Front Street from the Grand Trunk station and came to a halt very near to where we were. This was one of Mr. McCormick, the photographer, could take their picture. They were as brown as the Indians they had been fighting; dressed in bright red coats, wearing small fur caps with pillboxes, and carrying heavy muskets; after the picture was taken they marched on down Front Street to their barracks. On different trips to Belleville, I have tried to locate one of those pictures, but failed.

FEW PUBLIC SERVICES.

Belleville then had no cement roadways or sidewalks and very few, if any, streets had any water mains or sewer connections, no electric lights, the streets being lit by gas and in many cases, coal oil lamps on lamp posts.

The first house we moved to was to Coleman Street and later to the east side of Albert Street, about half way between Bridge and Dundas. (A cousin has been living there lately.)

I will now take a trip north on the west side of Albert Street beginning at Dundas Street, where there was a large cider vinegar works. Next to this lived John Pepper, the builder. Later the Foleys. Two children, Tom and Nellie. Next north was the Burtons, then the Corbetts with four or five daughters. I remember Ida, Maude, Minnie and Belle. Next was Police Sergeant McCrodan, two children, Maggie, John and Harry, then several vacant lots when we come to the Jamiesons, two sons, Mac and Jim. Next was the Websters, customs' officer, two daughters, Grace and Margaret. Now turn west on Bridge Street toward Front Street, the first brick building was John Lewis' stable, then his home; had one daughter, Ella. Between Charles Street and Ann Street was Major Carswell; had two daughters. Also F. K. O'Flynn, sons Eddie, John and daughter Suzie, and on the corner of William Street was the Clark's family, (I think).

From Ann Street to William Street was Colonel William Brown's beautiful residence, owner of foundry, corner of Pinnacle and Station Street; across William Street was MacKenzie Bowell, later Sir MacKenzie Bowell, Prime Minister of Canada. Next was Dr. J. J. Farley, our family physician. Across George Street was Thomas Ritchie's home, Ritchie Street's largest dry goods merchant, occupying the entire block to John Street. I don't remember who lived on the south-west corner of John and Bridge, but south of this residence on John St. was the Leighams, who owned a large sawmill on the bay above at the south end of Foster Avenue. In connection with this mill he had a large dock where all the boys in east Belleville, including myself, learned to swim. Boys' bathing suits were unheard of then. Getting back to Bridge Street, on the east St. Paul's Anglican Church Rectory, with Canon Bedford-Jones, a very outstanding personality. Crossing Church Street was the Carmen Opera House, owned by Tom Carmen who also owned the Ontario Steamboat Company, lived in beautiful residence on Dundas Street; had daughter Phillis, now Mrs. Stanley and Russell. From the Opera House to Pinnacle Street was John Lake's fine wood and coal office; across Pinnacle Street was the Post Office, about the busiest spot in the city, as everyone had to call for their own mail. Next west was Piteathly and Kelso's wholesale grocery warehouse; then was Wallbridge and Clarke's stores, a liquor store and a very fine grocery, on the north-east corner of Bridge and Front was Donald Ross' fine residence; across Front Street was the Balmoral Hotel.

THE DAFOE HOUSE.

Now to return on the north side of Bridge Street was the Dominion Bank; crossing Front Street to the north-east corner was William Templeton's Drug Store. Next east was Thompson's private bank and express office. A couple of small stores, a hotel and Oliphant's meat market, telegraph office and Bill Schuster's coal office on the corner of Pinnacle Street. Across Pinnacle Street was the Dafoe House, a large frame colonial hotel (I'll have more to say about this later). Going east was the Bridge Street Methodist Church; across Church Street was St. Thomas' Anglican Church, where as a kid I was baptized, and over sixty years ago, confirmed.

Then east was the Urquhart residence and then Harry Ackerill, veterinary surgeon, then across John Street was the L. W. Yeomans residence, a Front Street druggist; going east was the Thompson residence and across George Street were four or five residences to William Street. Across William Street was W. H. Biggar's home, a lawyer and M.P. Next east on corner of Ann was the Hybrid residence; across Ann Street was the Campion home, then the Tyrrell and Furnivilles; across Charles Street was the Gough residence, Front Street clothier. Next east Dr. Joseph Caldwell, dentist, a son, Wilfred. Next on the corner of Albert Street was W. B. Robinson, partner with Mr. Johnson in Ontario Business College. Across Albert Street was Mr. Lockhart's (Haines and Lockhart, shoe merchants) had son Laurie; next east was A. J. Bird, son Arthur and daughter Edna; next Sam Spangenburg, Front Street jeweller, sons Fred, Sam and Carl and daughter Bessie. Going farther east the homes were more scattered, but there was Phillip's the banker, Warwick's grocery, Dr. Herrington, cheese buyer, Curtis' lawyer; son Ellis and daughter Grace, also the Twinings, sons Allen and Ernest; the Philippens and D. A. Weese, photographer, three daughters, Florence, Lois and Bessie.

Now let's go north on Charles Street on the east side from Bridge Street; Gough on the corner, next were the Hoyle sisters and later the Crowthers, three children, Stillman, Lil and Belle. Next north was J. J. Flint, city magistrate, who owned two pretty cottages on Bridge Street. Irish terriers then in existence. Next north were the Donaldsons, sons and David. Next north was W. Walker, two sons Alfred and Luther and then the large frame house of D. P. Hollon, one son Will, the Hollon's were former merchants. Next north was Williams (Clubb-Williams, lawyers). Across Queen Street were the Diamonds, city clerk, next Dave Sinclair, Front Street dry goods merchant.

Now to the west side of Charles Street, beginning at Bridge, were the Reeves, son Jessie and daughter, Mamie; next the Gormans, one Gorman and Bob and daughter, Elsie; next north, Norman Phillips, daughter Kate and two sons Jim and Arthur.

Let's take George Street, south of Bridge. There was Jim MacDonald and Selby Gillam's home, also Harry Corby, the popular M.P.'s daughter Ella. Then the Kelsos, daughter Lillian, also the Walkers, son Will (Bus) and across the street the Parkes, Annie and Albert, later Sir Gilbert Parkes, the novelist.

Let's go south on Pinnacle Street from Bridge; on the east side was Lake's Livery Stable, then Allen's Planing Mill, then a coal and wood yard, then Crook's Livery Stable. Going farther south to the corner of Front and Dundas was Tisdale's Boat House, Allen's Bowery and Schuter's Coal Yard, then the Mary Ethel Ferry Boat Dock. This ferry ran back and forth to Rossmore as there was no bay bridge then.

The wharf was a busy spot, with the fishing boats having regular bay trips and lots of excitement. Annie Lake, Varins, Nellie Cuthbert, Ella Rose, Alexandria, and there were also many excursion steamers and large lake-going, cargo ships.

A Lift for Living
Prisoners of Ourselves

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

During past weeks the eyes of the world have been focused on the prisoners of war being released in Korea. We have tried to learn from them what life was like in the Communist prison camps. We have tried to imagine the feelings of those men as they regained their freedom. But those of us who have been free can enter only a little way into the experience of prisoners.

Some years ago I shared the platform with a speaker who had once been confined in a Soviet prison. She told of the nights when at intervals the loud speakers would blare through the building calling out the numbers of those inmates whose time had mercifully had come.

There could be heard a shuffling of feet in the corridor, then in a few moments the sound of shots in the courtyard.

One night her number was called. It seemed the sound of doom, but a few moments later, there came the words, "Hold you were!" Her execution was postponed, and eventually she got out. She tried to tell of that experience, but of course the listeners could not fully appreciate her inmost feelings.

Our Prisons

Not all prisons are made by iron bars. Many persons are in prisons of their own making. Some of us may be prisoners to a degree we do not realize.

For one thing, we may be prisoners because we are so wrapped up in our bodily interests. Our spirits dwell in bodies during this earthly life, and the state of our bodies helps to condition the state of our minds. But these bodies are meant to be the servants of our spirits, not their masters. And whenever our bodily interests get the upper hand our spirits begin to be imprisoned.

Doesn't it often seem that the body has gotten the better of the mind and spirit? That which was meant to be the servant has become the jailor.

We can become imprisoned by our material possessions as well as by our bodily concerns. It is natural that we should like to surround ourselves with belongings which we enjoy and which a person's character is revealed in part by the furniture of his home.

Possessions Show Taste

These possessions show his taste. They should enlarge his life. But a house is made to be lived in, not lived for. And that is a point where our possessions begin to get the better of us. When our conversations are filled with cars and clothes, when our first thoughts on awaking are of property and profits, when our earthly possessions and social standing give us more concern than our character and spiritual welfare, then we are getting too much wrapped up in our possessions.

And we can imprison ourselves by becoming too much wrapped up in our mental interests. We have seen persons in the most comfortable surroundings and yet suffering mental hell. They are shut in by their fears, many of them foolish.

Stand In Own Way

Also we imprison ourselves in our minds by standing in our own way. So often we blame other persons or adverse circumstances for blocking our way, when in reality we ourselves are standing in our own way. How? Oh, by always putting ourselves first so that we shut off the approach of real friendship and cooperation, or by always looking out for Number One so that we do not lose sight of ourselves enough to see the other factors in a situation or by seeing everything as it affects us.

How can we bring ourselves out of these self-made prisons? Here are a few suggestions.

(1) Stop catering to our bodies and let them serve us.

(2) Laugh ourselves out of our littleness.

(3) Spend some time with little children. Their spirits are still free.

(4) Take stock of the things we can live without and the things we can't take with us.

WORDS FOR THE WORLD

O Thou kind Lord! Thou hast created all things from the same original parents. Thou hast intended, that they should form a bond of love for each other. Thou hast made them as Thy servants and all mankind are gathered beneath Thy Commands. Thou art kind to all. Thou hast provided for all. Thou does shower all. Thou art never tired of showering Thy Favours on all. With kindness and Providence all are encompassed in the ocean of Thy mercy. Then, dear Lord! Unite all, let the religious agree, make the nations one kind and all the people of the same fatherland.

A LAUDABLE DECISION

The Ontario Cheese Producers, in accepting an estimated 28½ cents per pound for 10 million pounds of Ontario cheddar cheese, have voluntarily taken a 2½ cents per pound loss on this production. Had they waited until November 1st the Cheese Producers could have sold surplus cheese to the Canadian government for a guaranteed price of 30 cents per pound. They did not do so.

Cheese producers, like any group of businessmen, are alert to the necessity of making a profit, and the decision to accept such a financial beating was not made lightly. The reasons for such a move have been explained in detail in an article in the Ontario Intelligencer of Saturday, October 24th. Complete clarification of the move will likely be forthcoming when the Board holds its annual meeting in the near future.

The Cheese Board had been negotiating with the British government for a year trying to get it to release dollars for the purchase of cheese. When the money was finally made available, the producers decided to complete the deal "rather than slam the door on a year's negotiations." They explained that an export market is essential to the stability of the industry and expressed the desire to re-open the British market which had been closed for two years—the only time since Confederation when Ontario cheese was not shipped to the United Kingdom.

The Cheese Producers realize also that their industry has been further jeopardized by a cut in the import quota of this country to the States. Support prices for the American cheese industry have resulted in a huge government surplus of cheese, which certain parties in the United States wish to reduce by free gifts to European countries. This humanitarianism is laudable but the effect of the United States dumping cheese in Europe could be disastrous to the Canadian industry, which has been sorely tried in the past few years.

There is also some hope that the British government, which has controlled British purchases of cheese by restricting the amount of money available for such purchases, will return to private trade channels for such purchases, will return to private trade channels for such purchases, will return to private trade channels

The Wesleyan Methodist Church plan of 1878

As a memento of early church days in Hastings County, Rev. A. E. Baker of St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, has forwarded to the Ontario Intelligencer for reproduction in the paper two Methodist pioneer circuit plans. They are shown above. These were drawn for Stirling and district and have been used during the centennial year observance of St. Paul's Church, formerly a Methodist congregation.

In explanation Mr. Baker says that the plan issued by the Methodist Episcopal Church of Canada in 1870 listed the preaching appointments, their service hours and leaders for a period of four months. Four preachers and four exhorters were listed by name.

The Stirling Church, Salem, Town, line (Mount Carmel) and Scott's alone remain of these appointments today.

Eighteen preaching appointments are listed in the 1878 plan, the Wesleyan Methodist Church plan of 1878 listed nine preaching appointments of which one had the forebidding name of Sodom. Stirling, Wellmans, Salem and Eggleton now alone continue as preaching appointments. This plan listed two ministers and six local preachers.

The early Methodist plan of organizing congregations in school houses and community centres often separated only by short distances has been gradually yielding ground as that many of these centres have ceased to be used as centres of worship. Indeed, many of them have ceased to exist.

Good roads, motor transportation, the shortage of ministers and rural depopulation have been responsible for the discontinuance of numerous one time healthy centres of church life and work.

Mr. Baker, in commenting on the changes that have taken place says: "The rural church is fighting a rear-guard action. Unless steps are taken to watch the rise of the consolidated school with a consolidated or community church the present rural church will continue its rearguard fight with a steady loss of power.

"Although viewed by denominationalists with grave misgivings it is the opinion of this writer that the community church embracing all denominations is on its way and is coming to stay and to serve the future as its predecessors served in the past."

Big Question Hangs Over Scene Of Every Aircraft Accident

By ART BRYDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—For experts of the RCAF directorate of flight safety the question mark hangs over the scene of every aircraft accident.

The answer to the question may be found through a bit of metal twisted around a wireless or even through the meal of a hungry cow.

The keynote of the DFS is safety. Its aim is to find the cause of every air crash and prevent a repetition. The tiny service has paid the full cost of its operation many times over in equipment and personnel saving.

The DFS maintains a staff of inspectors, each covering a section of Canada. They are specialists in the operation of almost every RCAF aircraft type.

COVERS BIG AREA

Sqdn. Ldr. W. S. Johnson of Toronto and Belleville operates out of Winnipeg, but like all inspectors, is responsible to Ottawa. He covers the area from the Lakehead to the Alberta border. Married, with a three-year-old boy, this sturdy six-footer has a background typical of the directorate.

After becoming a pilot, he was an instructor and then flew operational fighter aircraft during the Second World War. He did a tour in transport command, took an accident prevention course, spent some time at the Institute of Aviation Medicine at Toronto and also worked with the director of flying training in Ottawa.

As an inspector of accidents, Sqdn. Ldr. Johnson gets around—but fast. In a Manitoba crash that may mean travelling by plane, car, snowmobile, snowshoes or just walking.

Guards are posted at the scene of accidents to prevent the removal of anything that might aid investigators. Clues turn up in unlikely places. A piece of metal wrapped around a wire fence once proved valuable. By finding which part of the aircraft it came from Sqdn. Ldr. Johnson learned the angle at which the plane hit the ground.

On another occasion, a twice-engined Anson trainer was missing. A farmer's cow was also missing and a search for bossy produced the plane. The cow was found standing on the aircraft fabric-favored because of its dope coating.

PAINSTAKING CHECK

The inspector works closely with technical as well as flying personnel. He takes a crew from the home field of the aircraft to the crash scene and under his supervision they meticulously dismantle every part of the aircraft, checking for structural or mechanical failures.

It is slow work. Often the men live in tents and have to contend with snow, rain, mud and wild animals.

"We stay until the evidence has been sucked dry and there is nothing more to be learned," said Sqdn. Ldr. Johnson.

They model planes help witnesses unfamiliar with aircraft to identify the plane they saw and explain, with actions, how it crashed. The inspectors may canvass door-to-door for the information.

By plotting the trajectories of bits of wreckage, RCAF specialists can even determine the position in the air of a plane which exploded above the ground.

Determining the cause of an individual crash is only the first step for the directorate of flight safety. The inspector's report to Ottawa is analyzed by statistics experts and accident trends are determined for various types of aircraft.

Once a trend is determined, the aircraft involved may be grounded until the cause of accident is eliminated.

Chest Officials Sure Objective Will Be Reached

The first returns from the place of employment canvass of the Community Chest campaign show an average gift of $1.56 per person. These figures are based on 31 contributions $51.50 Chest officials feel that if this average is maintained and every person contacted contributes there is fairly good reason to hope that the goal of $28,000 will be reached.

The overall picture today reveals that the 800 Chest canvassers have raised $10,226.26 through 3,433 donations. Statistics of last year's campaign show that $23,487.83 was raised on the strength of 3,639 cash donations. Comparison by divisions is not feasible because the most divisions are set up on a different basis this year.

The breakdown into divisions is as follows: House to House, 3,972 donations for $5,703.39; Special Names, 61 donations for $2,899; Business 280 for $3,141.50; Industry 32 for $4,365; Professional 254 for $2,227 and employees 23 donations for $51.50. Thus the total money raised represents 72.39 per cent of the objective.

Car Hits Truck, Runs Into House, Ten Are Injured

BISMARCK, Ont. (CP)—Ten persons were injured Friday night when an automobile carrying eight Grimsby high school students home from a football game was in a head-on collision with a truck and then smashed into the side of a house.

The students had been to Welland to watch their school team play Welland Notre Dame Collegiate. They were returning on Highway 20 when the crash occurred at the intersection of Highway 20, about 17 miles west of Welland.

Several of the girls in the car were Grimsby cheerleaders.

Police said they believe Barry Bource, 18, was driving the car. He suffered head and chest injuries.

The other injured students are Marian Rushak, 16; Ann Brad, 16, Beth Ann Tuer, 16, Maria Toderoff, 16; Douglas Young, 16; Robert Evans, 16; and Clifford Desjardins, 16.

Injured in the half-ton pick-up truck were Peter Goretzoen and Edward Walsh, 24, both of Beamsville.

Greyling, a Fighting Fish, Will Rise to Any Lure

By DAVE STOCKAND
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP) — You don't know too much about sports fishing? Small matter if it's Arctic Greyling you're after.

The greyling, a fighting fish of silver beauty, will rise to any lure. Its numbers are countless and it makes a fine table fare.

The greyling are natives of the north, of the waters flowing into Hudson Bay and the Arctic ocean.

TRANSPORTATION TOUGH

Northern Manitoba is greyling country, and Manitoba government bureau of travel and publicity says the fighting fish with the big dorsal fin are gaining popularity with sportsmen—despite some of the credit to obstacles thrown up by the land.

"Camping and guiding arrangements must be made well in advance of the actual jaunt into greyling country," the bureau says. "Most greyling fishermen travel by chartered plane. But some go as far as they can by rail and take to canoes for the rest of their transportation.

"The greyling are there—they're just hard to get at. And if that isn't a challenge to the eager angler, what is?"

Chief Justice E. A. McPherson thus describes the changes which have taken place during the 50 years he hasn't missed an opening day of the duck-hunting season on Manitoba's Delta marshes.

"The ducks have decreased considerably in number and the number of hunters has increased."

"When I started shooting the limit was 50 birds a day and the season was longer," recalls the chief justice, who bagged his first duck 59 years ago. "Now the limit is 10 each day and the season is shorter."

Nevertheless, he isn't worried about coming back empty-handed in future shooting seasons. He says: "It's true there aren't as many ducks today as there used to be, but there are still lots of them."

On opening day this year the judge got his limit in about two hours.

Restrict Entry Of Journalists Into Trinidad

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (CP) Trinidad has introduced a new immigration ruling restricting entry into the country of journalists and other persons connected with newspapers.

The ruling, announced Thursday night by Governor Sir Hubert Rance, also classes as "undesirable immigrants" members of some 147 other professions and trades. The move came two days after the Trinidad Supreme Court ordered the immigration department to investigate the status of a reporter employed by the Trinidad Guardian to determine whether he was a prohibited immigrant.

A previous restrictive immigration order made no reference to journalists or any specific class of persons.

Included in the list of "banned" professions are: Linotype and teletype operators; wireless operators; radio announcers, machinists, electricians, laundry process workers, dental mechanics, musicians, medical technicians, refrigeration mechanics and bookbinders.

This elegant evening gown by Hubert de Givenchy of Paris is made of black embroidered satin print. The fabric has all the beauty of the fascinating orients and is fabulously incorporated into a spectacular costume.

The motif includes the pale yellow of a Chinese lantern, touches of bright to navy blue for the temple print. The satin is picked up in the solid color of the matching stole.

One Man 'Point 4' Program

(By Mary Hornaday in the Christian Science Monitor)

Sam Coles is a big, good-natured, soft-spoken Negro. Negro-why has been conducting a technical assistance "Point Four" program "in the heart of Africa for the last 30 years.

Not many people have heard about this humble, patient son of a Georgia sharecropper. He left home with a college education, a blacksmith's skill and a "Ph.D. in ordinary cussedness" and went to Angola, Portuguese West Africa, to spread the word of God, only to find his efforts lag blocked by the spectre of hunger and starvation. Up now, he simply has been too busy to seek publicity.

When the Rev. Mr. Coles started his first sermon in his Galangue mission in 1921, a tribal chief stopped him and asked: "Have you any corn that will mature in less than six months? That is what we need now." Chimed in another tribesman: "In a village where there is hunger, the word of God is stalled."

Upon investigation, Sam Coles found the natives cultivating only the thin soil of the ridges, believing the rich compost for a crop-to be haunted by the spirits of their children looking for food in vain. Mr. Coles was sympathetic. He remembered a similar superstition of the south. But he was also determined. Alone, he cultivated the bottom lands and after four years the Coles' crop yields and absence of disaster broke the native taboo.

For the tough new grasslands the tribesmen needed hoes and plows. Mr. Coles set to work. He built the Stables in 1929 and got 11 plows and 20 shovels, the latter a gift of Boston's Old South church. Then he gave out seed and bonuses to the tax discreet natives. By the 10th year they were raising enough wheat to pay their taxes and to set about teaching the African tribesmen a basic working technology, sufficiently simple to enable them to make their own hoes, plows and carts.

When World War II broke out, Mr. Coles came home and took a job in a Long Island shipyard where he learned to bend and twist iron. The work was hard and every but night-times he took a course at the Greenwich School of Pottery, because he was determined that all the people of Galangue should eat dit of pickles.

Then he moved on to the Columbia Machine Shop in Venice, Ill., where he spent eight months in the foundry drinking coffee in a special dispensation from his union "to do something of everything." At night he took part-time making electric, and gas welding and some other courses at Pratt Institute.

Now he not only has a three year course in farm blacksmithing at Galangue but has built his own crucible furnace and has equipped his shop of notation workers each with a cart, corn and a set of carpenter, blacksmith and mason's tools.

Mr. Coles described his first iron foundry demonstration: "I was praying and my heart was in my mouth, but when we looked out the first thing I saw was a 'perfect' green point. I was able to show what could be done by a humble missionary in the jungles of Africa."

As the tribesmen overcame their apathy and superstition and began to work, Sam Coles was there at their side, helping them, telling amusing stories, praising their good work and pointing tactfully to the bad. He talked to them simply in such phrases as: "Everybody is building houses to the glory of church" and "Let your hoe down and your heart will rise." "Work will grow tax rebates."

He had his troubles with a plague of locusts and with jealous officials, out of which he drew the conclusion that "Every potentiality existing group must either be sold on the program or controlled or both."

Today, Sam Coles', "Point Four" includes about 100 villages and about 60,000 people in a country that has grown from one of the least productive in its province to the most productive. The Portuguese colonial government has copied his work, distributing thousands of hoes of corn, beans and wheat seed. Christian natives are buying bicycles, building better homes schools and churches.

But Mr. Coles isn't satisfied. As he sat in the air conditioned luxury of the United Nations building the other day, he told some of the big dreams that are always surging through his thoughts. "I need a million dollars," he said, "and I need $8,000 for a dairy barn and $2,000 for equipment for a co-operative dairy. And I need the salary for five years for an agricultural

100 Women In Britain Wait For Judge's View

LONDON (Reuters)—A hundred women, most of them wives are waiting for a judge's decision to tell them whether they are married for life by invalid "marriages of convenience" contracted in order to slip through the Iron Curtain.

With divorce court justice Baylee Karminski presiding, the first decision on whether these refugees, most of them young, can hope for further freedom.

Karminski, presiding at a test case involving the marriage of a 17-year-old Hungarian girl to her 18 year - old French schoolboy cousin, called for aid from the highest legal authority in the country.

And Attorney-General Sir Lionel Heald gave his opinion that such marriages must continue under British law "unless and until proved to have been contracted under conditions of "fear and duress."

Lawyers estimate that a favorable judgment by the prosecution will bring applications from about 100 women now in this country which will entitle foreigners only to gain their nationality and escapes from Iron Curtain countries.

and industrial family trained either at Hampden Institute or Tuskegee. I am sure you are glad to get this. I am drawing an educational line because from these children will grow will get a good rural background. And I want to go into gardening. With a lot of land I can see a big thing we have hides we can ship to Europe.

He went on: "One of the things I'm going to do when I get back is to ask it to build a power grist mill. My heart goes out to those African women. They have to grind half a bushel of wheat into meal each week with a rock and pole. The Buffalo Forge company has given me a pattern."

Mr. Coles needs something in lasting in a type of Christianity, that widens horizons, not creates, new visions for people but fails to make its influence effective in assisting men to actualize those ideals. He believes he has demonstrated in his own work what Christianity can do on a big way if they don't pick for a cure a job people with a one-sided approach, point of view and interests.

Experts Say

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Housewives have probably heard enough about the new "miracle" preference when listening to soap operas.

Soap soapsters don't actually call it that, nor do chemists. Chemists prefer it that the new detergents "do say bright and white and don't mention about the technical aspects."

Sometimes described as the "sunlight ingredient" BMU is a chemical that is a white and synthetic detergents.

BMU is a white or pale yellow powder which emits a blue fluorescence when dissolved in a slightly alkaline solution such as is found in most mild soap products.

The fluorescence makes the natural yellow cast of detergents, gives a blue light which bubbles light and foam and lends a whitening effect to washed fabrics. The results are called "optical bright" or bluing. BMU doesn't deposit a film or leave a residue. However, the brightening effect is lost in subsequent rinsing and things unless BMU is used each time.

This "optical bleach" harnesses light energy, absorbing the invisible rays of the sun or some types of artificial light and converts them to longer, visible wave lengths. Thus white fabrics seem whiter and colored ones brighter because they reflect more light than they would under normal conditions.

Chemists have been finding other uses for their hard-to-pronounce brain child. They add it to some preparations to help stop sunburn by blocking out the ultraviolet or violet light.

BMU may prove to be the sought after stabilizer against the deteriorating action of ultraviolet light on certain plastics.

Aborigines of Australia Show Great Art Talent

(Written for UNESCO by Frank Rogers)

When an artist's work is described by a critic as "the most important development in the art of our country during the last hundred years", it is natural to assume various things about the artist's background and his training; he is the representative of a long tradition; he was encouraged in self-expression by understanding parents; his genius, in fact, was fostered, continued for many years before he achieved success.

These assumptions must be reconsidered, however, in view of developments which have taken place at Hermannsburg in Central Australia during the past few years. To begin with, the Arunta culture from which Albert Namatjira sprang is ordinarily described as that of a Stone Age hunting people who are ignorant of pottery, who domesticate animals, no permanent homes and who consider's wear no clothing. Namatjira had not concerned himself with art for the first 30 years of his life. His formal training—and it was rather slight—started for him only two months.

If his case were utterly unique, it might be regarded as a mere oddity and it might not be necessary to look for the social characteristics of the past that the Australian aborigines have undergone in the production of circumstances."

Inherently incapable of development, etc." The fact is, however, that his case is far from unique.

What happened at Hermannsburg was not originally intended to prove anything. Rex Battarbee, who is the main storeman in the extraordinary Hermannsburg story was only another case of a combination of circumstances."

Mission Founded In 1877

The mission was the circumstance of Hermannsburg itself. In 1877, some Lutheran Germans founded the mission in the country of the Arunta tribe, which then numbered about 200 or so Aruntas gathered about the mission station. It was a centre for the training of natives and for the training in various skills and trades such as carpentry, as a living; but they still kept their identity as aborigines, living in their tribal groups, etc., and keeping contact with the traditions and customs of their people.

It was another circumstance that in 1934, two Australian artists, Rex Battarbee and John Gardner, came to Central Australia on a painting trip. They arrived at Alice Springs, Hermannsburg country, a country that Granville Australia accepted, from above all, of colour. A brilliant light and clear atmosphere rendered the amazing red of the sky to form a variety of tones with the ochres, the foliage of the trees and the shadows of the valleys.

Exhibition Was Revelation

Shortly after their departure, the artists gave an exhibition at Hermannsburg Mission Station of the pictures they had painted. It was a revelation to the Aruntas who crowded in to see it. Their eyes depicted the Central Australian landscape as they knew it very well in a way which was beyond the scope of their own art.

The Arunta art was limited to four natural colours; charcoal black, yellow ochre, clay red, and yellow-ochres. It was limited, too, by strict traditional forms. Simply set telling a story, it uses a good geometric figures, lines and circles arranged in decorative patterns, and these symbols had to be interpreted by someone versed in the traditional meanings. The Hermannsburg aborigines therefore gazed with delight at the vivid-coloured pictures by Battarbee and his friend which needed no aid from the spoken word to be understood. Among them was Albert Namatjira, whose name shows the nature of influences to which he had already been exposed. His first name Albert was given him as a child at the mission school; Namatjira was his family tribal name and meant "flying white ant" in the Arunta language. By the time of the exhibition in 1934, Namatjira was 32 years old, a man of re-

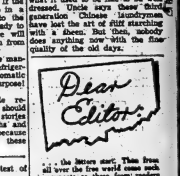
LAUNDRY

The old washing machine tat us down this week, so off we went for the first time to a community laundry depot where each person puts a machine to wash her own clothes on the spot.



First thing, our clothes were given a hot soaking that with soapy water was drained off after a few minutes and then boiling hot water. Reason for the initial lukewarm bath is to gently ease out all perspiration and food marks on clothes and linens.

But newspaper editors know that once established that is flash clothes around in boiling water right off, and then scrubbed on, for all the world like crime stories. People like grim reality, related in minute detail. They like to read about tragic misfortunes and gruesome accidents.

Any woman, any mother, must have felt sick on reading the report that the remains of a young girl, allegedly murdered, were viewed in a small city's undertaking parlors by nearly 10,000 people.

Makes you wonder sometimes, if our country is as civilized as we believe it to be.

Uncle Frontenac says he likes to put on one of his old fashioned hard collars once in a while, just to feel what it used to be like to be well dressed. Uncle says these fancy pantaloon Chinese laundrymen have lost the art of stiff starching with a fiance. Then, nobody does anything now with the fine quality of the old days.

Mother Accused of Child Murder

Accused of murdering her year-old daughter, Patricia Ann, Mrs. Arnold Gaynor receives aid from Toronto police station to answer the charge. She was arrested after a medical examination of Patricia Ann showed she had died of a skull fracture. Mrs. Gaynor, mother of two other children, told according to police, that she hit the child's head against the table when the little girl bullered in the middle of the night.—Central Press Canadian.

The cost of fine fabric cut on narrow but interesting lines, and with an embellishment of fine detail is a big success this season. A fine example of this phase of fashion is a coat of grey chiffel line, narrow of silhouette, but still smartly flare-defining. The collarless bodice is molded and has loose, drapey sleeves with decorative seaming on the outer edge. Slant-wise slit pockets radiate from the V-shaped bodice which has smoky pearl buttons and slanting buttonholes.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THE MAN WHO WANTS TO "EAT HIS CAKE AND HAVE IT, TOO"

"Why does a man want his wife and the 'other woman,' too?"

This is the question asked us by a wife who has had the following experience:

"After rearing four wonderful children, and having many years of happiness with my husband, the 'other woman' entered my life. The discovery of this, a broken heart and the humiliation known only to a woman who shields an unfaithful husband, brought on a serious illness. My husband's health, too, has been impaired, and through that, his work has suffered.

"Now after years of prayer morning, noon, night and in between, and faith in God, I have acquired a peace of mind which carries me through. On the realistic side, my reward is the saving of my home, dignity, the love and respect of my children, restored health and unbroken marriage vows.

"My husband asks for help and sympathy, and says he loves me although he still sees the 'other woman.' I look on him as a weak mortal who needs my help, who know that through all this I have become a stronger and better woman.

"But just one question: Why does a man want his wife and the other woman, too?"

It is possible, of course, that only an exhaustive professional analysis of an individual man's personality and background can supply the true answer to this question. But it is also possible, sometimes, for a wife herself to put a finger on the reason why her husband has precipitated such a crisis in their lives.

FINE CHARACTER

This particular wife is obviously a woman of fine and strong character to have lived through her experience and come out of it with the fortitude, the self-control, and the faith and poise that enables her to put up with the situation as she does. What I wonder, though, is whether or not she made any well-organized effort to uncover the reason for her husband's infidelity as soon as she learned of it.

The first thing that most thinking women cry out under these all too familiar circumstances is: "Where, did I fail him?" But, unfortunately, in too many instances this thought remains nothing more than a vague sense of miserable guilt and the woman simply goes on wailing and wringing her hands without setting down to believe it through from beginning to end.

Sometimes a woman is able to follow "method" herself. Sometimes she needs the help of an understanding and intelligent relative or friend, a professional marriage counsellor, or a psychiatrist. But whether she analyzes her problem alone, or calls in help, it is as a rule sometimes possible to find the cause of the trouble and, in finding it, to make an adjustment that removes the problem.

MANY REASONS

There are so many reasons why a man indulges in extra-marital affairs. Perhaps he is the type that must go after sex adventure regardless of who gets hurt. Perhaps he has a scolding, nagging wife, and so he stays away from home and hunts a happier companion. Perhaps he has a wife definitely superior to him in intelligence and he resents it. Or a wife who came from a wealthier or more cultured home than he did, and he resents that, too. Or a wife who has a marked ing personality that makes him feel like a stupid dolt. So then, to bolster his self-confidence, he seeks out some woman who is inferior to himself in every way, or else is smart enough to make him feel that she is, and so he gains the reassurance and the feeling of security he so badly needs.

There, of course, are only a few of the more familiar reasons why a man is unfaithful to his wife. A woman with unusual insight into her marital relationship might discover a quite different one to account for her own difficulties.

FOR APPEARANCE SAKE

As for why a man will "want his wife and the 'other woman,' too"—ever hear of a person who wants "to eat his cake and have it, too?" It's the same idea. For, inexplicable as it may seem unto us, under the circumstances he may be genuinely devoted to the woman he married; yet he will hold on to her with all his might even while he is pursuing another. Or it may be, and his wife but his standing in the community dies not permit of a divorce, so he aims to maintain the appearance of a good marriage at the same time indulging in conduct that well might wreck it. In other words, he wants to enjoy any new pleasures he desires and "have his cake" for appearance sake.

Perhaps, of course, any

With Long and Proud Record, Belleville C. I. Bids Grads God Speed at Commencement

A year's work was rewarded last evening as Belleville Collegiate Institute held Vocational School held its annual commencement exercises.

Academic certificates and prizes, athletic awards and prizes for extra-curricular activities were covered in hundreds of students by the teaching staff, members of the school board, proud parents and friends looked on.

Nearly 400 graduation certificates including 49 secondary school graduation diplomas, were presented, in a program that included nearly fifty items.

The program lacked nothing but the intermission as 21 interested certificates (Grade 10 graduation) and 133 secondary school graduation diplomas (Grade 13 graduation) were officially presented.

LONG, PROUD RECORD

"This is a great school with a great record," said Mr. C. W. Gray, B.A., district high school inspector, Department of Education, delivering the principal address of the convocation.

"It is a pleasure for me to be able to participate in the exercises in which it salutes its students and wishes them God speed."

He congratulated the students, the teaching staff, the Board of Education and the parents for the parts which they have played in the education of Belleville's young people. He extended the congratulations of the Department of Education to all those responsible for the splendid vocational and educational program in this city.

Mr. Gray, an honor graduate in English and History from the University of Toronto, taught in the St. Thomas Collegiate staff and was school's principal for nine years before being selected as a high school inspector by the Department of Education in 1938.

HE WINS QUESTIONS

"I am moved as I think of the students who graduated from my former school — but as well, proud of the success of many former students. "As I think of them I am reminded that each graduate must ask himself two questions as he comes to the end of his high school career. They are, 'Where are you going?' and 'Why are you going there?'

Mr. Gray, in pointing out the different paths which people may take through life, used as an illustration the story of "Victorian House." In the poem, the landlord of a man who was first to arrive in the "Victorian House." He has lived a rich, full life there but now is selling the house to a business man, Mr. Hammer, whose only goal in life is to increase his personal bank account.

"The landlord said Mr. Gray, had learned the secret of living, while Mr. Hammer, who is nearing his end of life, has yet to learn. It is better to run the risk of living than to be a high school graduate who "has had too low an opinion of human beings," said the speaker.

"How important is knowledge today?" he said. In the first two chapters of the Book of Genesis we learn that man was created in the image and likeness of God, and that God blessed him.

WHAT A BIRTH!

"What a birth!" said Mr. Gray. "Thinking that man is great takes a man and turns him into a Sir Phillip Sidney." he said, explaining that on the playing fields of the great men of Elizabethan England, Sir Phillip's status stands as a pedestal engraved with his immortal words, "Thy cord is greater than mine." Sir Phillip uttered these immortal words as he was dying in France. He was offered a cup of water but refused it, asking that it be given a fellow soldier who was nearer death than himself, because the soldier's need was greater than his own.

"Thinking that man is great is what turns a Scottish millboy into a David Livingstone, and a London shopkeeper into a Richard Grenville" said Mr. Gray.

"It is not easy to keep one's hopes and visions before one all the time," said Mr. Gray, "but it becomes the writer of Genesis had to write chapters three and four in which he described the fall of Adam and his expulsion from Eden, does not mean that he should never have written the first two chapters in which he described a man's magnificent birth."

"The great conception of man never changes. The writer of Genesis, the Phillip Sidneys, the David Livingstones, and the Richard Grenvilles are right. If I did not think so I would not be here this night."

You are a very privileged group," said Mr. Gray, addressing the graduates directly.

"Therefore you must assume greater responsibilities. You have been given proof that you have had good companionship, and good schooling. You have been a goodly company but now you must take your ranks and go forward into a world that needs you badly."

LEGEND ON STONE

Mr. Gray stated that at Christ Church College, Oxford, there is a memorial garden, planted as a tribute to the students and former graduates who died in World War II. Buried in stone at the entrance to the garden is a sword, and written on the stone is the legend "My sword I give to him who shall succeed me in my legacy."

"Where is such a sword at the gate of each school," said Mr. Gray. "It is the sword of dedication to life through service."

"When you leave school you must accept or reject this sword. I urge you to pick it up and wear it. Then you will be free."

Mr. Gray was introduced by Roy Reynolds, B.A., Currie who noted that he had been responsible for many changes in the teaching of history and social studies in Ontario high schools. The thanks of the students were extended by Dr. Bolton, newly-appointed assistant principal of the collegiate.

PROCESSION OF GRADUATES

The program opened with a procession of graduates, members of the staff of the Collegiate.

The Rev. J. Gordon Hornsby invoked the blessing after the singing of O Canada.

Mr. Clifford Barber, chairman of the high school board, gave a brief account of the activities of the board during the past year.

"The board is proud of this school and the students," said Mr. Barber. "Principal Tyndall is standing is due to Principal G. E. Currie, who is doing an excellent job in administration in the school. He had 1233 students registered on the first of October.

"Mr. Currie has an excellent staff and the students have made possible the efficient running of the Collegiate despite the crowded conditions involved. That they have succeeded in increasing the pass list by 10 per cent of all upper school papers tried this last year were passed."

WILL RELIEVE CONGESTION

Mr. Barber pointed out that the congestion at the Collegiate would be relieved by the construction of the new 23-room Bay of Quinte High School. Area Collegiate that is expected to be opened next year.

He paid tribute to the co-operative spirit shown by urban, and rural members of area schools board in their efforts to solve the many problems which have arisen during the past few years in connection with education in this area.

A musical interlude in the middle of the program included Liszt's 11th Hungarian Rhapsody, and Chloe de Lune played by Miss Cara Butler, and a cornet solo: "One Alone," from Sigmund Romberg's operetta "Desert Song," played by James Phillips.

The program is published in full entirely elsewhere in this edition.

INDIAN SUMMER.

In these days so brightly tranquil
Nature's heart and life are calm,
Dreaming in the quiet woodland of the days of summer past,
And the sun shines very kindly with a soft and tender gleaming
In these days of Indian Summer
On that they might longer last!
Harold of Prince Edward county, summer's spirit she is keeping
All along the cottage shore line where the wavelets lie asleep,
Of the wonderful beauty of these days so fair and fleeting
Fondest memories we will cherish when winter comes its deep.
—Helen B. Anderson.

WELLINGTON — October has given us very beautiful weather with mellow sunny days and quiet nights. Surely the fairies must be busy in the garden place preparing for Hallowe'en. Would it not be wise to greet their coming with a parade or some social attraction for the youngsters and so avoid disaster.

Mrs. Durant Sr., has gone to California on a visit friends. She went by plane from Malton.

An enjoyable evening of the past week was the visit of Bishop Wilkinson to the church service Thursday evening. Bishop Wilkinson has been a missionary in India for many years and his visit drew a congregation of interested people. Rev. C. P. Hasden was in charge of the service. The old missionary hymns "Onward Christian Soldiers", and "From Greenland's Icy Mountains" were stirring and impressive, and the Bishop's sermon was heard with appreciation by all. At the close, views of India were shown. A social hour followed in the town hall where tea was served.

Mrs. Edna Platt is spending a few days in Welland, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. MacArthur and family. In her absence, her mother, Mrs. MacDonald is stopping with her granddaughter, Mrs. Boyle.

Friends extend sympathy to Mrs. Alice McCoy on the death of her husband, whose burial took place in Wellington cemetery on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. McCoy were former residents of Hillier and Wellington.

The sale of household effects at the home of Mrs. Geo. Ingram on Thursday, and that of the late Miss Emma Wellington on Saturday will be conducted by Mr. George Bailey with Clifford Corley, secretary.

The sectional rally of the W.M.S. on Tuesday in the Friends' Meeting House was well attended. An interesting program was presented. Wellington ladies served dinner in the United Church basement room. A full account of the proceedings will appear later.

Mrs. G. C. Blakely was among those in attendance at the annual meeting of the Women's Institute held in Belleville this week. She was the guest of Mrs. Lottie Fox.

FAMILY REUNION.

A pleasant family reunion was held on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wannamaker, Maple Ave., the guest of honor being Mr. Wm. Vandusen, a brother of Mrs. Wannamaker, who is visiting friends in Ontario for the first time after thirty-seven years in the west. Mr. Vandusen is accompanied by his wife and with her visited relatives in Orillia. On motoring east from Vancouver he visited his brother, Mr. Wellesley Vandusen in Saskatchewan and helped with the harvest. He reports that his brother has 4,000 bushels of wheat at homeelevators full.

Mr. Wilbert Vandusen was born at Fort Stewart and when only 10 years old went west with friends following the closing School term, last Wednesday and Thursday night in driving from Toronto.

Mrs. Clarence Pitchett spent the week-end with friends in Toronto.

Mrs. A. Lloyd Hunter of Stirling, Mrs. S. Danford has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ward, Mrs. Harry Clarke for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Ashley, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. R. Morgan on a motor trip through Northern Hastings and Renfrew on Sunday.

FIR SOCIAL

A most successful pie social under the auspices of the local W.A. was held recently at Eggleton Church.

Mr. Bert Reide was chairman for a program consisting of piano solo by Miss Joanne Reide; vocal solo by Miss Carol Sharpe, of Mount Pleasant, with Miss Betty McConnell playing her accompaniment; a duet by Misses Gladys and Grace Clarke; piano solo, Mrs. Thomas Bridge; vocal solo, Miss A. Clarke.

EGGLETON CHURCH

Mrs. William McMullen, W.A. president, then introduced Rev. Mr. Bridge Cooking School who showed colored pictures of the European trip he and Mrs. McConnell had enjoyed recently. Mr. McConnell described the places and the interest, as he showed the pictures.

Dust, Misses Gladys and Grace Clarke.

Mrs. Clarence Pitchett on behalf of Eggleton W.A. thanked Mr. McConnell for the beautiful views shown and also all others, who had taken part on the program.

The ladies served coffee, sandwiches, and an abundance of every kind of pie.

MARMORA

Cordova Church Observes Anniversary

MARMORA — Cordova United Church observed its anniversary on Sunday, with Rev. H. E. Sexsmith of Springbrook, as guest preacher for morning and evening services.

The congregation was joined by members of Marmora Zion and Havelock United churches.

At the morning service the choir rendered "Whispering Hope" and "Beautiful Garden of Prayer" at the evening service with Mrs. Harry Bowen at the piano.

The soloist for the day was Miss Donna Carlisle.

The front of the church was tastefully adorned with bouquets of snapdragons, fern and house plants.

MADOC JUNCTION

MADOC JUNCTION — A good number of the ladies from this community attended the "Robin Hood" Ladies Cooking School last Wednesday and Thursday night in Stirling Town Hall.

Mrs. Clarence Pitchett spent the week-end with friends in Toronto.

Mrs. A. Lloyd Hunter of Stirling, Mrs. S. Danford has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ward, Mrs. Harry Clarke for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Ashley, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. R. Morgan on a motor trip through Northern Hastings and Renfrew on Sunday.

6TH TYENDINAGA

6TH TYENDINAGA—Mr. and Mrs. Lorne McKenzie and boys were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKenzie of Consecon.

Mrs. A. Goodman and Clarence spent a few days recently with her sister Mrs. Clare Cochins.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Treverton called on several of their friends in Trenton on Sunday.

Mrs. A. Goodman is spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. A. Goodman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Treverton visited with Mr. and Mrs. J. Emerson, Consecon, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Treverton and boys spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Treverton.

CANNIFTON

CANNIFTON — Walter Morgan was home from Toronto for the week-end having his mother who has been in the Belleville hospital, but is home again. All with her a speedy recovery.

The Women's Institute held its October meeting in the town hall with a Hallowe'en party. There was a nice crowd and all reported having had a good time.

The Canniffon - Centreville Rebecca Club held its meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Parnell with seven ladies playing 500. Prizes were won by Mrs. Rose Cope, Jean Lywood and Edra Parnell. Lunch prizes were won by Ivy Parn, Allan Smith and Mildred McMahon. The lone hands by Jean Lywood. The draw, Mrs. Dafoe and Mrs. Parnell. The monthly aggregate, Mrs. Windsor.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sobis and children, of Port Hope, were visitors in the village for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fremantle and children, of Port Hope, were visitors for the week-end of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mathews.

Mrs. Alburn Boyd is in the Kingston Hospital after having had an operation. All wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. Ken Bradshaw had an operation on Saturday afternoon, with quite a nice crowd there.

PRIVATE COLLECTION

BAILDON, England (CP) — An 8,000-volume library of fiction and poetry compiled by the late Tom Turner, postal clerk in this Yorkshire town, has been purchased by an official of the University of Illinois with a view to using some of the books in the college library.

GOOD MEDICINE

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP)—Laughter "is as good a general all-round physical training as you can get," said Prof. Isabel Laird in an address to Queen's alumni here. An outstanding psychologist who called to Queen's University from KEIGO in 1927 years ago, Professor Laird said humans do not laugh enough.

TOO COLOSFUL

KNAPHILL, England (CP)—Tenants of a council-owned housing estate in Knaphill, Surrey community protested at doors painted in yellows, blues and creams, and windows of pink and orange. "Too ridiculous," said complainants, demanding repainting to their own tastes.

STIRLING

'God's Advertisement' Topic at St. John's

STIRLING. — Last Sunday at St. John's Anglican church, the children and young people had charge of the service. The three senior grades of the school proceeded in with the choir and occupied the choir pews. The Junior classes were seated in the front pews of the church on the left, while the senior choir took the front pews on the right. The service was taken from the Book of Common Prayer.

Marvin Tanner read the lesson from I. Samuel 3; Douglas Harding read the 23rd Psalm and special prayers were said by Barbara Woodlock, Lois Vardy and Marjorie McArton. Sidesmen for the congregation were Bob Noble and Art MacConnell; for the choir John Noble and Bob McArton.

The members of the J.W.A. under the direction of Mrs. M. Tanner sang "Tell Me The Story of Jesus". Three special hymns were sung by the boys and girls with Mrs. H. Morrow at the organ.

GOD'S ADVERTISEMENTS

The rector, the Rev. H. C. Seckar, spoke to the school on the subject, "God's Advertisements".

Following the processional hymn, and the reading of the Psalm, the rector dedicated a new lectern Bible. This Bible is a gift from Mr. and Mrs. James Warren in loving memory of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Thompson, who were faithful members of the church.

Beautiful flowers on the altar were in memory of Maurice and Irvin Woodlock, placed there by Vera and Burton Woodlock.

ST. PAUL'S W.A.

The W. A. of St. Paul's United Church met for its regular meeting in the church parlor last Tuesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. A. Wells, proudly welcomed all and opened the meeting.

Several items of business were dealt with and plans for an afternoon tea and bazaar in December were made.

Calling committee is composed of Mrs. H. Morton and Mrs. Jessie Donohoe.

Mrs. Volney Richardson, convener of the program, opened with a hymn. The Scripture reading was read by Mrs. Ralph Vanderwoort followed by prayer by Mrs. H. Donnan. Mrs. F. Jefferey favored with a beautiful solo, "My Task", accompanied by Mrs. A. E. Baker.

THANKSGIVING

Mrs. C. Lansing, the guest speaker, gave a wonderful message on "Thanksgiving", and read one of Edna Jacques' poems on "Let Us Give Thanks."

"Thankfulness is an essential Christian grace and we need to cultivate diligently as we give thanks to God for homes and loved one and let us not forget to give Him thanks that we are living in a country where we are free to worship God in the church of our choice."

Several suitable poems were read.

Following the benediction, refreshments were served by the group in charge. Mrs. J. Thompson graciously thanked the guest speaker and all who had in any way helped with the program.

ALBURY

ALBURY—Rev. T. F. Townsend conducted Mr. C. Alves and Mrs. Grace Jamieson.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williamson spent a couple of days with her sister, Mrs. Percy White, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Weese and Mrs. Earl Bonter spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Holmes, Chatham.

Mr. and Mrs. James Garbutt, Belleville, and Mr. Harry Frankin, New York, visited their cousin Mrs. Orbey Alves.

The October meeting of the Redpath Mills W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Hugh Weese on Thursday evening with a large attendance. Roll call, business and her assistants served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Weese spent Friday afternoon with her father, Mr. Charles Carwrite, at Kingston General Hospital who had undergone an operation on Thursday. All wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Orbey Alves, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Alves, Mrs. Grace Jamieson and Doreen Ellis attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Azelda Alves at Ameliasburgh Funeral Home, Wellington on Saturday afternoon. Interment was in Albury cemetery.

Mrs. Kenneth Weese is spending a short time at London.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Chase of Toronto, spent the dinner hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Weese and the tea hour with Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Peck. In the afternoon they all called on Mr. and Mrs. Mac Allen.

A large number attended anniversary church service at Albury on Sunday evening. Rev. C. W. Neelands B.A., B.D., of Deseronto, preached an inspiring sermon. James MacKay, of Redoreville, was the guest soloist. The junior choir sang "Rock of Ages" which was enjoyed.

Kingston Goodyears Shade Memos 6-5 In Thrilling Senior 'B' Opener

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

GOOD SHOW!

If that certain-relay clash between the Kingston Goodyears and our side in Memorial Arena last night is a yardstick of things to come along senior "B" hockey lines, then scope of things to come along senior "B" hockey lines, then the fatherly need not worry about the saltiness of the sport the fatherly need not worry about the saltiness of the sport the fellow misses.

The 1953 edition of the Memos looked all right from this angle, especially the defence duo of Bob Taylor and Jake Wade, who teamed up with Bob Taylor and Jake Wade, who teamed up with Bob Taylor and Jake Wade, who teamed up with

Injury-Riddled Montrealers Have Longest Winning Streak; Top League by Four Points

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Canadiens have the National Hockey League's longest injury list, but few teams are being hard in the current.

The Stanley Cup champions travel to Chicago for a date with the last-place Black Hawks tonight without centres Dickie Moore and Ken Mosdell and defenceman Doug Harvey. But they own a four-game winning streak, the longest of the season, and a four-point league lead over nearest competitor, Detroit.

The history of the Habitants is riddled with comeback stories after they opened the scoring of the opposition. The most recent example was Thursday night's performance by Tom Johnson, who switched from left defence to centre and scored the two goals that beat Toronto Maple Leafs 3-1.

Even with the loss of all-star defenceman Harvey, who suffered a broken finger in late stages of the Toronto game, coach Dick Irvin considered he had many eyes stocked with blue-liners that he could use in place of Harvey, Tom Mc-Carthy of Montreal Royals, as a replacement.

That means Johnson will be back at his regular post with Jim McPherson, Butch Bouchard and Doug-ald St. Laurent. Doubliers will be Elmer Lach and Maurice Richard every Saturday. Romeo Public School and Eglinton Public School packed players to form teams by themselves. But by pooling their forces, they found they could enter a strong team in the Rotary-YMCA League which includes some 200 school children.

Like other school districts, Romeo, officials named after characters in the plays of Shakespeare, from William Shakespeare Stratford gained its name.

HAMILTON (CP)—Hamilton Tiger-Cats signed as a free agent Monday.

MONTREAL (CP)—Appointment of Professor Bob Osborne of Vancouver as assistant general manager of Canada's team in the 1954 British Empire Games was approved at a meeting of the B.A.A. Association Thursday night. H. E. Herschorn of Montreal was appointed general manager some time ago.

HALIFAX (CP)—Kid Howard, Maritime lightweight boxing champion, bolted out a majority decision over Johnny Purdy of Glace Bay, Cond., in a 10-round main bout here Friday night. Howard was in command throughout the fight, marred by Purdy's clinch tactics. Howard weighed 135, two pounds lighter than his opponent.

NEWMARKET, England (AP)—Sir Gordon Richards, Britain's star jockey, booked home his first winner at Newmarket horseracing track Friday and brought his total for the season to 269 in as many rides. Richards has ridden 200 winners each season since the end of the war. He has 11 more racing days to do the trick again this season.

Sport in Brief

TORONTO (CP)—A couple of real sports enthusiasts, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Waghorne, celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary today.

Waghorne, the "grand old man of Ontario lacrosse, 84'a he's 85. Mrs. Waghorne won't admit her age.

The former Mary Louise Hetherington she married the young athlete 45 years ago—was a lacrosse player herself and "knows everything about it."

The beloved Mr. Lacrosse career in lacrosse until he quit at 34. Then it was lacrosse and hockey referee until he was nearly 70. He also held a long string of sports executive positions.

Waghorne was instrumental in founding the Toronto Lacrosse League, forerunner of the Toronto Hockey League of which he was president for many years. He also heeded the Canadian Lacrosse Association and the Ontario Lacrosse Association.

He estimates he has refereed 2,000 lacrosse games, mostly in the OHA, and 1,500 lacrosse contests.

STRATFORD (CP)—Romeo and Juliet will play Stratford Monday every Saturday. Romeo Public School and Eglinton Public School packed players to form teams by themselves. But by pooling their forces, they found they could enter a strong team in the Rotary-YMCA League which includes some 200 school children.

Wing Shooting

By JOHN MACNEIL KNIGHT,
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Gun Expert, Fellow Member Wales)

Last fall, while indulging in my annual pheasant-shooting trip, I saw a sight which was probably the all-time high in poor wing shooting. We were invited to hunt on a certain bottom land that, unfortunately, were about twenty minutes away.

Already this cover was being hunted, so we stood on the hillside and watched. Three men and one small dog were driving the cover, and a bird got upwind an open, plowed field.

As they neared the end of the heavy cover, a big rooster flushed directly in front of the fellow nearest me—a youngster in his late 'teens. He emptied his gun at the bird, then reloaded.

The pheasant passed the second man, 40 yards range, and took three shots at it. The third man did likewise—nine shots in all—and the rooster, by now a good thing. Moreover, he showed no sign of being hit. I hope he lives to a ripe old age.

PHEASANT EASY TO HIT

Of all the game birds which inhabit our upland covers, a flushing pheasant is the most wonderfully set to hit. Instead of taking off on a low fast, twisting flight, as does a woodcock (in sparse cover) or a grouse, his flush is a blatant thing.

Nine times out of ten he bursts from the heavy cover with thundering wings, towering straight up, and then, at an altitude of 30 or 40 feet or more does he attempt to move off in level flight. While in the latter flight, no hunter could hit him with a handful of rocks. Certainly, a man who can hit anything with a shotgun should have no trouble killing a ringneck pheasant.

Driven pheasants are sometimes quite fast, but not nearly as fast and as tricky as passing ducks or doves, but flushing pheasants are the easiest of upland targets. In addition, they are the largest, with the exception, of course, of the wild turkey.

Yet time after time men missed that flushing bird with nice straight shots. All of them, I noted, made the same error. Each time one of then pulled the trigger, he stopped the swing of his gun and failed to follow through.

MUST NOT STOP SWING

Stopping the swing of the gun as the trigger is pulled is almost a universal fault among amateur wing shots. At the traps and on the skeet fields of Newarket horseracing track Friday and brought his total for the season to 269 in as many rides. Richards has ridden 200 winners each season since the end of the war. He has 11 more racing days to do the trick again this season.

Will Not Play Cobourg Ghosts Says Hamilton

TORONTO (CP)—Bill Fry, Intermediate Ontario Rugby Football Union secretary - registrar announced Friday night that Hamilton Panthers had said they would not play Bowmanville Golfballs Cobourg in the Intermediate B championship.

The Panthers were to play host to the Ghosts in the first game of the two-game, total-points series. The title is decided between the second-place teams in the eastern and western groups.

Oakville Black Knights, who finished ahead of the Panthers in the western group, meet Peterborough Orphans in Oakville tonight in the first contest of a two-game, total-points series for the Intermediate A title.

No reason was given for Hamilton's withdrawal.

Canada Finishes Second At Riding Show

HARRISBURG, Pa. (CP)—Canada finished second in Friday's final low-score event to take runner-up honors in the three-day international low-score competition at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show.

Canada had 13 faults on three knockdowns, four more than the winning United States riders, to finish with an aggregate of 21 faults.

The United States team, with 9 faults, won the total of 30 faults in the 104th Cavalry Trophy for the three-man competition.

Third was Ireland with a total of 22 faults and England was fourth with 31 faults.

Leading the Canadian team was Chef-de-Mission Thomas de Saravia, who rode White Sable, followed by W. R. Ballard on Sinbad, Lt.-Col. Charles Baker on Anchoix Aveigh.

Guelph Wins WOSSA Tilt

GUELPH (CP) — Guelph Collegiate Green Gaels erased an 11-0 deficit late in the third, quarter to defeat Kitchener-Waterloo Collegiate 18-11 in a Senior Western Ontario Secondary School Athletic Association game here Friday.

Kitchener-Waterloo was the junior champion last year.

Substitute quarter Connie Milne threw for 10 points in the last third quarter to spark them to their upset win. John Hockey, Bill Donson and Bill Scott scored touchdowns for Guelph with Dimson converting two. Ron Leslie and Harry Seegmiller got majors for Kitchener with Leslie converting his own five-pointer.

Old Dispute Over Goalie Is Renewed

QUEBEC (CP)—One of last season's bitterest hockey disputes between the life threatened by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association found itself embroiled in the case of six-year-old goaltender, reported reluctant to leave home.

Parties to the dispute are Quebec Citadelles, the outcasts of Quebec hockey, and the Frontenacs, who have succeeded them in the Provincial Junior Hockey League. Association. Both clubs claim the services of Jacques Michaud. Citadelle last spring and a Frontenac this fall.

Backing the Frontenacs is the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association, still bitter over its campaign by the CAHA last spring over a similar case involving Ken Atwell of Montreal Junior Canadiens.

Behind the Citadelles, who played in the Provincial Junior Association's Junior A loop, is the CAHA, which claims that Marcotte must return to his old club.

Secretary-manager George Dudley of the CAHA announced Friday that a telegraphic vote of branch executives had ordered the goalie to the Citadelles. President Frank Byrne of Timmins, in Montreal-area, would sign up the youngster as soon as possible.

Citadelle boss Gerald Martineau, honorary president of the Quebec City club and a member of the Quebec legislative council, refused that Marcotte would wear a Frontenac uniform while his club plays again Sunday.

Meanwhile, Frontenac Conway CAHA president, said Friday night that the club had no legal right to demand Marcotte is anybody and that it is the CAHA's prerogative to decide whether a player may be transferred out of the Quebec branch.

Cougars Extend Winning Streak

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Victoria Cougars extended their undefeated streak to five games as they battled Calgary Stampeders into Canada Quarters in a Western Hockey League game here Friday night.

Defenceman Sam Lavitt tallied for the Cougars late in the first period at Victoria. Jackie McLeod tied it in the second stanza on a pass from Alex Kaleta.

Lavitt won his team five minutes to play gave Vancouver Lorne Worsley his first shutout of the season as the Canucks blanked Seattle Bombers 1-0. The victory, at Vancouver, extended the Canucks' first-place lead over the idle Calgary Stampeders to four points. Cy Denneny scored the only goal on a scramble around the Seattle net.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Signs of the times: There was a slam-bang hockey game at Madison Square Garden the other night between New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks. Afterward, it was a slight that the management didn't charge admission for the crowd. The previous evening more than 15,000 had paid their way into the famous arena to witness a boxing show and satisfy themselves that CBS had nothing to worry about their favorite television entertainment.

Did it ever bother you the nonchalant way in which the football referees step off penalties? Sometimes in highly important games the man in the striped shirt doesn't even bother to step it, but just tosses the flag to one of his confederate who planks it down somewhere in the vicinity of the proper spot.

For certain, we have seen them miss by three or four feet on a 15-yarder, but have yet to see a coach go railing out to protest. Probably it's none of our business, but it does look rather silly when the same official a few minutes later toes the chain and gets down and sights like a surveyor before he'd a first down has been made.

It seems only reasonable that a quiet youngster named Mickey Mantle moved up at the Yankees' training camp at Phoenix and promptly set off one of the greatest, most publicized, rookie in this generation. The kid from Commerce, Okla., came a miss being the game's next super star. He had everything.

But after three full seasons the fact no longer can be escaped that the Mantle legend is a monument to disappointment. He possibly can hit a baseball as far as any other player, and he did hit two vital home runs in the 7th recent world series. But he also came near setting a new series record for strikeouts, and he was no Joe Dimaggio in centerfield.

On Monday in Springfield, Mo., Mickey will undergo an operation on his right knee. If it is successful, the boy may yet go on to fulfill every promise and make one of the largest salaries in the game.

Fearless Frankie Filchock Says West Will Win Grey Cup

By WILF CHESLETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA (CP)—Fearless Frank Filchock says "the team that wins in the West this year will win the Grey Cup" but not even the most hopeful of Saskatchewan fans has a chance of carrying the Prairie banner East.

The old warrior leads his Saskatchewan Roughriders into the second game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union semi-final here today against Winnipeg Blue Bombers and what appears to be insurmountable odds. The total point deficit in the two-game total-point series.

Only a miracle could recoup the stunning 43-5 loss the Riders suffered in Winnipeg Saturday night in the first game of the series and send Saskatchewan into the final against Edmonton Eskimos.

BIG CROWD EXPECTED

A crowd close to the record of 18,585 set here Thursday night for the first game of the game depends a forecast of near-freezing weather and possible snow.

Filchock made his prediction Friday night after the Riders watched a film of the first semi-final game. Coach Frank Shaughnessy of Saskatchewan couldn't pull the football upset of the year against the Bombers although he claimed he was "going to be tough to get all-Canadian backfield."

Filchock said his team was in "pretty fair shape" now "we're going out there and really play ball." He toned off the list of the injured: Gerry Fashoway, left defence; tackle Martin Ruby, sore knee; halfback Johnny Harper, head injury; halfback Fred Hamilton, sore side, and end Mac Speedie, sore back.

Add to this Stan Williams, Mel Hall, Art Mickelson and Monty Bissett, players sidelined from earlier games along with quarterback Glenn Dobbs, still hobbling on a dimpy leg.

Winnipeg has most players in good shape. The only switch from Wednesday is expected to be a substitution of tackle Roger Savoie for Ross McCallum.

ANCIENT CITY

Karatepe, a city of the old Hittites in Asia Minor, flourished for several centuries from about 1900 BC.

"THE CAPITOL"—"From Here to Eternity", filmed chiefly in Hawaiian locales, stars Burt Lancaster, Deborrah Kerr, Montgomery Clift, Frank Sinatra and Donna Reed. The Columbia picture, now breaking all records in Toronto and opening soon at the Capitol Theatre in Belleville, is based on the daring best-seller by James Jones. Watch for play dates.

THE McCARTHY—Jeanne Crain, starring in "Dangerous Crossing" at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre on Monday, has a heart-to-heart talk with Marjorie Hoshelle in this scene from the new Twentieth Century-Fox mystery drama. The lovely Miss Crain stars with Michael Rennie in the film.

MONTE HALL, famed Radio and Television personality, who will appear at the McCarthy Theatre, (in person), Sunday, Nov. 1st, at 9 p.m. as master of ceremonies of "Variety Night of 1953", introducing an all-star bill of professional vaudeville. On the screen, "Cruisin' Down the River", in Technicolor.

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP)—Three used motorbuses purchased at Windsor, Ont., have arrived here to form the nucleus of a small fleet to be operated by former employees of Medicine Hat Transit, Ltd.

FUSSY LIZARDS

LONDON (CP)—Two moloch lizards at the London zoo rejected all brands of English nuts as food. The zoo cabled to Australia, habitat of the lizards, for air shipment of an Australian nut colony.

METAL RAINCOATS

MANCHESTER (CP)—Women's raincoats with a metal lining have been introduced by a Manchester firm. The manufacturer claims the thin aluminum tissue, weighing only 2½ ounces, underneath the fabric keeps the wearer warm in winter and cool in summer.

LIVELY CHOIRBOYS

LONDON (CP)—Rev. N. C. Wells, vicar of St. Peter's Church in Fulham, dismissed eight of the 12 choirboys for unruliness. The offenders were talking during church services and carving on stalls.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, NOV. 1, 1953

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Well-aspected planets encourage kindliness and favor domestic duties. They stress wholesome interactions and action. Necessary work also sponsored. Think of God.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — The best of two worlds enjoy. Favored: church services, children's activities, home and family, social functions. Without fuss or worry necessary tasks can be done and benefits gained.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Fine influences for Sunday. Be equal to them. Spend some time and resources with spiritual gain in mind. Help others—friend and stranger—toward better thinking, living.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Your Moon, Venus, Mars and other planets favorably aspected. Home interests, family, relatives, church and useful social activities especially honored. Seek spiritual benefits aggressively.

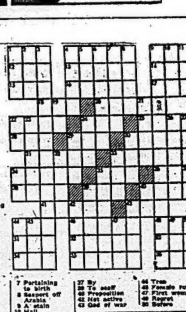
July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Mild indications for advancement in work or for seeking business gains but the arts, good entertainment and reading, healthy sports and hobbies are particularly favorable for you now for soul and family needs.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Pleasant, health-giving influences. Enjoy some of the activities that develop soul, mind and talents for which you don't always have time during workweek. Visit friends, rest; pray, too.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Your Venus lends happy vibrations to gladden old and young. Good reading, study, necessary duties and wholesome recreation favored. After church services: Pray for and help the less fortunate.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Stirring, benefic vibrations. Mars is among the well-aspected planets and that spells initiative, energy and gains for our armed forces. Work for God and your soul's needs.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—New and original ideas, creative work, activities for the benefit of youth and oldsters, healthy sports and holiday encouraged this Sunday. Do not forget God. Thank Him for our blessings.

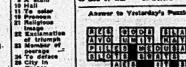


December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Ideal indications for a pleasant and wholesome day. Start it right by going to church and praying for God's guidance and aid in all you do. Keep it a happy day.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Travel, scientific interests, creative ideas, religious and home interests under benefic aspects. Accomplish some good now and don't neglect God or family. Fine time for attainment.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—As for all good-living people, today offers contentment and opportunities for material as well as spiritual betterment. Domestic and other essential work, rest and good fun favored.

YOU BORN TODAY are purposeful and strong-minded but inclined to be combative at times, especially if opposed in what you think is right. Generous, active and with a variety of talents, you can succeed in a profession, business or at a trade. Be not too dictatorial and cultivate system and order to save self from over-doing and last minute rushing. You should profit by the company of children, and they by your companionship. Pray daily for guidance: don't procrastinate, and do develop your talents.



Birthdate of: Antonio Canova, Italian sculptor.

THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE

By-law No. 6548

A BY-LAW TO REPEAL BY-LAW No. 6547 PASSED ON THE 19TH DAY OF THE PROHIBITION AND THE CONTROL OF THE DISCHARGE OF CERTAIN MATERIALS INTO THE SEWERS MADE WHOLLY OR IN PART OF CLAY TILE AND TO PROHIBIT THE BARBED MATERIAL WITHIN OR UPON PREMISES WITHIN THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE.

WHEREAS Section 390 of The Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1950, Chapter 243 authorizes the Council of any City for the health and welfare of the inhabitants of the municipality as may be deemed expedient,

AND WHEREAS it is considered dangerous to the health and welfare of the inhabitants of the City of Belleville that any of the materials mentioned in Section 1 of this By-law be discharged into the sewers within the Corporation, because of the explosive quality of such materials or any other barbed material,

NOW THEREFORE the Municipal Council of the CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE ENACTS AS FOLLOWS:

1. That By-Law No. 6317 be, and the same is hereby repealed.

2. That from and after the passing of this By-law it shall not be lawful for any person, firm or corporation to discharge or deposit or cause or permit to be discharged or deposited into any sewer or in part of the sewerage system of the City of Belleville any material, nor shall any person, firm or corporation throw, deposit or discharge upon any premises belonging to him or occupied by him, or upon any public place without permission from the Council of the Corporation of the City of Belleville, any material

(a) Which is explosive in nature within the meaning of the provisions of this By-law, shall forfeit and pay to the Corporation of the Corporation of the City of Belleville, a penalty not exceeding Fifty Dollars (50.00) and costs for each offence, and in default of payment of such penalty and costs forthwith, the said penalty and costs shall be recovered by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the offender, and in case sufficient distress cannot be found whereon to levy the said penalty and costs or any part of which such penalty can be levied, the offender may be committed to the common gaol of the County of Hastings with or without hard labour for any period not exceeding six calendar months unless the said penalty and costs be sooner paid.

3. This By-law shall come into force and take effect immediately on the final passing thereof.

READ A FIRST, SECOND AND THIRD time this 28th DAY OF SEPTEMBER, 1953.

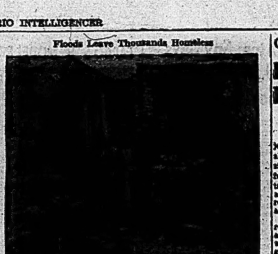
Little Benny's Note Book

I had to go to the market for ma, and so did Puds Simkins for his mother, so we went together, making it seem less like work, and half ways there some man stopped us, saying, Where are you going with those shopping bags, boys? So the market, I said, and Puds said, We're going on an errand for our mother.

That's what I thought, and it's an outrage, the man said.

Being a man with a floppy black hat and long hair sticking out underneath I figured children into the boorishwah habit of blind obedience, so they will grow up satisfied to be the helpless hirelings of greedy selfish capitalists. Instead of serving the state like free men. Throw down your bags of servitude and go home and tell your mothers you are free. Free to run and play and grow up into happy servants of the state with wills of your own, he said.

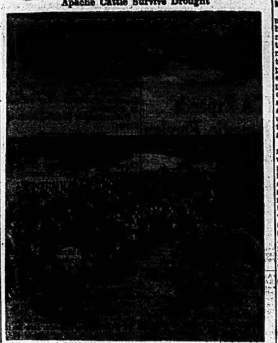


And he walked away shaking his head sad, and I said, Oh boy, what luck they are if we went home and told them some man told us we dont have to go any more errands!

Oh boy, let's go home and try it and see what happens, Puds said, and I said, Well G, I've got frankfurters and beans on my list, and that's my favorite thing.

Heck, I forgot, 2 things I'm suppose to get is a package of mackerony and a pound of cheese to make macker mackerony and cheese, Puds said. I dont want to miss that. The back with net wanting to be slaves, he said.

And we kept on going to the market feeling better instead of worse.



Floods Leave Thousands Homeless

AT THE RELIEF—Shopping out in the Vanderbilt Theatre, Coney Island, Brooklyn, N.Y., are Mrs. Ethel Dunn and her son, Robert, at the Relief Theatre, in newly flood-stricken Waterloo, Ontario. Dick Bailey and Dennis Day.

Torrential rains which lashed southern Italy brought death and destruction to dozens of small villages. Thousands are homeless with vast sections of the country flooded from the Apennine Mountains in the north to the tip of the Italian boot. This mother, daughter and grandchild, made homeless in the flood, are standing amid the rubble of their home. — Central Press Canadian.

Apache Cattle Survive Drought

While an estimated one million head of beef cattle have been moved out of western range-lands of south and central western U.S. this year, to be sold at sacrifice prices or destroyed, Apache Indians of the San Carlos Reservation, Arizona, have increased their herds and lost none through drought. Above, cattle men give the Indians credit for long-sighted range management that has provided water in this period of drought and admit the Apache can still teach the palefaces a good deal about raising cattle. This cattle round-up on the Gila River shows the Indian herd in prime condition. — Central Press Canadian.

'Flexible' Agenda 'Sleight-of-Hand' Reds Retort

By SAM SUMMERLIN

PANMUNJOM (AP) — American Ambassador Arthur H. Dean today proposed a "flexible" agenda to speed up talks for arranging a Korean peace conference, but the Communists immediately rejected it as "sleight-of-hand."

The diplomats debated an hour and three minutes, 201 newsmen for the sixth straight day, and called it quits until Monday.

Dean told reporters he was not depressed over the lack of headway in his week of talks with the Communists to set up the Korean peace parley.

He still felt the Reds wanted the conference and "it is not surprising that it has taken us some time to get shaken down on a working basis."

Dean proposed a "flexible or unnumbered agenda" under which the negotiators could skip around among various problems that must be settled before the political conference can convene.

The American envoy's plan would allow the diplomats to sidestep tough issues, settle easy matters and then come back to them still unsolved.

Dean, speaking for the United States, South Korea and the 15 other United Nations members which put troops in Korea, urged the Reds all week to talk first on the matter of fixing a time and place for the conference.

But the Communists have countered with demands that the delegates first decide who should attend the conference. The UN assembly has decreed that only the belligerents may attend plus Russia, if she is invited by the Communists to sit with them. The Reds want to invite Russia as a neutral, in addition to such Asian neutrals as India, Pakistan, Burma and Indonesia.

CRITICIZED LEADERSHIP

BERLIN (AP)—Georgs Handtke was named East German deputy foreign minister over the head of Anton Ackermann, state secretary Thursday night. Ackermann had criticized Communist party leadership after the June 17 revolt.

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Printing Pressmen's Union (AFL) announced Friday that it is seeking a package deal, equivalent to 23 cents an hour, for its 900 members in the Toronto printing industry.

Union officials said a statement of demands emphasizing an industry-wide contributory pension plan, was presented to employers.

A reduction in the work week from 40 to 37½ hours with the same take-home pay, and three weeks vacation after 10 years were among the other demands. The old agreement which expired Oct. 15 provided a basic hourly rate of $2.

How to Obtain Best Results From Use of Mulches in Garden

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

The fall days bring more garden jobs than there are hours available. One of the chores which should be finished before the heavy fall rains is the digging of the vegetable garden, and the beds where annuals bloomed. Leave the soil in rough clods so the action of frost and snow can work on it.

Raking up the leaves may be regarded as tiresome work, or as a chance to get out and enjoy the weather, and benefit soil of your garden. Left to mat down they smother the grass or make a breeding place for slugs, and other pests that happens. Do not burn the leaves, but pile and compost with soil. Piled up and covered with a thin layer of soil and a light dusting of chemical fertilizer they will form good stable manure that is improve the texture of the garden.

Hardwood leaves make an excellent mulch material. Soft woods leaves mat and smother. Hardwood Mulches Are Important

This is a good time to consider mulches. They are not used enough because their various functions are not understood. A mulch will keep the soil cool in summer, retain moisture, supply organic material to build up poor soil, prevent plant roots, and bulbs being heaved out by freezing and thawing and protect tender plants and roots canes from direct cold. A clean surface is provided for such fruit as strawberries and tomatoes by using a mulch, and it helps prevent the spread of certain decease spores.

By keeping the soil cool with a mulch many plants may be grown where high summer temperatures and dry periods would make it otherwise impossible. Sweet peas are a good example of this. Digging in old mulch around plants before renewing it supplies organic material to the soil. These particles act as water conductors to carry rain, snow and rain down deep into the soil to feed the plant roots. They also act as a sponge taking up moisture when it is available and retaining it slowly as the soil dries out. Acting as an insulating blanket, mulches help to even out temperature for roots. They guard against sudden rises and falls, thereby reducing the shock of welting, or freezing.

Winter Kill

Some of our shrubs, plants and rose canes are semi-hardy. That is they can stand freezing temperatures if the mercury does not drop too low. But strong winds are often drying factors, and the combination with low temperatures cause what is known as "winter kill". A mulch will guard against this.

Many disease spores are spread by splashing mud in rainy weather. A thick loose mulch which should be more or less antibiotic will prevent splash.

And of course no one likes sand in his salads, or strawberries. Clean straw, or other good mulch material will keep keep these and your tomatoes clean. And, clean tomatoes do not become host to disease spores.

There are always two sides to a story and the other side of the story is when not to mulch. Many plants require cold weather to thrive. The alpines are accustomed to mild summers and severely cold winters. They should not be covered. Then, too, there is danger in adding a heavy mulch before the ground has frozen. Plants are apt to be killed by excess heat, and smothering.

Canadian Manufacturers Not Aggressive Enough In Selling Goods Abroad

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que. (CP) — Many Canadian manufacturers are not aggressive enough in selling their goods abroad, J. D. Ferguson, president of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, said Friday night.

In an address prepared for delivery to the Drummondville branch of the CMA, he commented:

"It is true that export markets are not as easily or readily available as they were in the past and success in export sales demands a high degree of initiative, energy and perseverance.

"But there we make a study of export say opportunities do exist, particularly in Latin America, and that there is still a surprising volume of business available to Canadians even in the dollar-short countries.

FIRMS MISS BOAT

"CMA officers feel that many Canadian firms fail to follow up business opportunities drawn to their attention by Canadian trade commissioners. They do not take advantage of the opportunity to visit their head reports on overseas markets by interviewing these trade commissioners during their Canadian tours and generally do not avail themselves of the comprehensive services of Canada's foreign trade service.

"Export business is important to Canada's economy and will be of increasing importance to individual firms and industries as expansion of their productive capacity outstrips the growth of domestic demand. This is a time when we must not allow any opportunities to pass us by."

Trade between all countries of the free world has, on the whole, expanded considerably in the last decade, Mr. Ferguson said, "and it is to be hoped that Canada, as well as other countries, will adopt sound constructive policies which will permit a continuation of this trend."

However, to establish a sound trade situation "the United States must take the lead in opening up the markets to imported goods." Such action would, in turn, enable other countries to remove their quota and exchange restrictions on imports."

At present, judged by 1951 and 1952 figures, the United States is, he stated, selling to other countries $5,000,000,000 worth of goods more than she is buying from them.

"HOT POTATO"

"In trade, the free world has a hot potato in its lap that only the United States can pick up; and I don't think Uncle Sam would burn his finger if he did pick it up. He will certainly have to if he is in the business of international cooperation to stay.

"When the United Kingdom was the world's creditor nation, her policies were appropriate. She became a 'creditor' through the export of capital for resource development in the far-flung parts of the globe. That development created trade and in that trade Britain was just as active a buyer as an exporter."

MARMORA

MARMORA—An estimated crowd of over 450 patronized the annual fowl supper under auspices of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild in the recreation parish hall on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ellis and family of Bankhilles, spent the week at their home in the Vanekle Settlement.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Henry and young daughter of Fort William, are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Henry and other relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ellis have moved to their new home at Cordova.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Phillips have moved into their new residence on Pearce and William streets.

Mrs. N. H. McConnell, of Belleville, is spending the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Lorne Bowen and Mr. Bowen.

Mrs. Rose Provost has returned home from St. Joseph's hospital, Peterborough.

Rev. and Mrs. L. Purvis, of Roslin, attended the fowl supper in St. Paul's parish hall on Thursday evening.

Leo Huisman who went to western Canada on the harvest excursion recently, returned to his home here.

Dr. R. C. Shatford has purchased the large red brick residence on Bertram street from Dr. C. V. Wallace. The latter is going with Mrs. Wallace to Bermuda for the winter.

Atom Spy Says U.N. Announcer Soviet Agent

NEW YORK (AP) — A Senate internal security sub-committee counsel said today that atom spy Harry Gold has linked a former American radio announcer for the Russian UN section with a Soviet spy ring.

The sub-committee counsel, Robert Morris, said the announcer is Alexander Svenchansky, 44, who was dismissed from the United Nations staff for refusing to say if he ever had been a member of the Communist party.

Morris said Gold gave a sworn affidavit about Svenchansky in federal penitentiary, Lewisburg, Pa., where he is serving a 30-year prison term as "co-conspirator of Julius Rosenberg, the executed atom spy.

Svenchansky, who lives in New York City, was a witness before the sub-committee Thursday.

REFUSES TO ANSWER

He had worked for Amtorg, a defunct Russian trading firm, from March, 1933, to April, 1952, and was asked if he had introduced an Abraham Brothman to an Amtorg official for espionage purposes.

He refused to answer on the ground that to do so might tend to incriminate him.

Svenchansky admitted Thursday that at times he used the name, Boris Swan.

TCA Expands Domestic, Foreign Air Services

TORONTO (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines yesterday announced that beginning April 1, 1954, TCA's first direct Toronto - to - London flight schedule is inaugurated.

The flights will leave Toronto each Tuesday at 11:35 a.m. EST and arrive in London at 11:30 a.m. GMT the following day.

TCA also announced a new non-stop daily Toronto-Cleveland service will begin Sunday.

FARGO'S "H" MODEL REPRESENTS ENTIRELY NEW 1954 TRUCK SERIES

Lower cab and body design, and an exceptional short-turning radius are two of the many convenient features built into the completely restyled 1954 Fargo trucks now on display in the Dunnister-Plymouth-Fargo showrooms across Canada. Chrysler-Plymouth-Fargo showrooms across Canada. The lower body design makes for quicker loading and unloading, while the excellent maneuverability aids "close-in" handling on narrow streets and loading areas. All Fargo trucks, including the "H" series model shown above, which has a maximum gross vehicle weight of 16,000 lbs., are distinguished by smart modern styling. The Fargo "Town panel for example, which can be fit into a standard garage, is styled especially for the prestige-building work of making home deliveries. Canadian-built Fargo trucks are available in 6 series, from the low tonnage B models to the heavy duty load carriers which have dual carburetors, dual exhausts, and are powered to handle a gross combined weight of 36,000 lbs.

TO END STRIKE

WALLACEBURG (CP) — Employees at the Dominion Tin Casting Company here voted Wednesday night to return to work. They have been on strike since April 22.

Officials of the United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL) today refused to comment.

'High Living' Cost $100,000 In Eight Years

TORONTO (CP)—The Star said in a newspaper story yesterday that Igor Gouzenko has squandered about $100,000 in "high living" since he informed on the Russian spy ring in Canada eight years ago.

A guardian of the former Soviet embassy clerk is concerned with his conduct in recent months, the story says. He appears overanxious to talk and "for money will say just about anything, whether fact or not."

The guardian said he thinks Gouzenko's expressed desire to appear before Senator Joseph McCarthy's Communist investigation committee in Washington is a move to make more money.

EXCESS $100 A WEEK

Gouzenko receives a nominal sum from the Canadian government but "has become so accustomed to a high standard of living that nothing short of $100 a week is enough."

The former Soviet employee received $75,000 from a movie company for his life story and earned about $25,000 more in royalties from a book.

Other disturbances of Gouzenko, his wife and two children is secret. He is living under an assumed name in Canada but is not guarded. Interviews with him are arranged by RCMP headquarters in Ottawa but are not censored.

Eisenhower's Talk to Commons To Be on TV

OTTAWA (CP)—President Eisenhower's address in the Canadian Parliament Saturday, Nov. 14 will be carried both on CBC television and radio networks. A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC board of governors, said Friday.

This will be the first time that TV cameras will be allowed into the House, though there have been rare occasions when live radio broadcasts have been made.

Normally broadcasting of the session is forbidden. This rule is overcome by calling a temporary adjournment of the session.
